New 1-Way Plan Would Cut Across E Street School

Committee Hears Criticism Of Circle Now Under Trial

A new traffic plan for San Rafael—extending Third street through E Street School and extending Second street through the Hess Lumber Co. yard and out to San Pedro road—won unanimous approval of the mayor's one-way street committee today.

The action came on a motion by Gerald Stone and a second by Thomas Parks.

The committee met this morning at King Cotton restaurant and voted to ask the city council to finance the program with a bond issue or any other feasible plan.

The committee members declared this is a long-range plan that would take the place of the much more expensive First street extension. Stone said he has no idea how much the program would cost, but estimated it would be less than half the cost of the million-dollar First street extension.

CALLED MEETING

Stone said the idea was generated at chamber of commerce meetings. Richard Cuthbert, chairman of the one-way street committee, called today's meeting to air the chamber of commerce plan presented by Stone.

The new plan is this:

Make Third street one-way westbound from Irwin street, extend it through E Street School to Latham street, then out to Second street near Ida street. Second street would be one-way eastbound from near Ida street straight through the Henry Hess Co. area, behind Ames Ford and United Markets and out to San Pedro road behind an existing service station at Montecito Shopping Center.

EAST-WEST ROUTE

This would provide the much needed east-west thoroughfare through downtown San Rafael.

OPPOSES BONDS

Harry Williams said he would be opposed to any bond issue unless the one-way street program is worked out for the entire city, not just for Second and Third streets. "If we're going to have a bond issue, let's make Fourth street parallel—the whole thing," he declared.

George Kaenel suggested that an assessment district for the whole city would be another way to finance the plan. The committee decided to let the city council choose the best financing method.

The newly adopted "one-way circle" at the Irwin street underpass area came in for considerable criticism, especially from businessmen in the Circle area.

MORE CONGESTION

Thomas Parks and Fred Pape said the "Big Circle" is creating more congestion than be-

A. E. BAGSHAW
Seeks re-election

Bagshaw Files For Re-Election As City Atty.

Any doubts that City Atty. Albert E. Bagshaw would seek re-election in the face of opposition from Thomas P. Boyd were dispelled today with Bagshaw's formal filing.

Both Bagshaw and Boyd are in the race for the $550 per month post, City Clerk W. L. Morgan reported today. Roderick Martinelli has filed for re-election to the board of education.

The only incumbent who had not completed filing this morning was Dr. Charles W. Aby, city councilman. His papers were still circulating today. So were the papers for Bill Thompson, radio announcer, who seeks a post on the board of education.

Bagshaw, lifetime resident and former Marin district attorney, was appointed to the city attorney's job in December, 1956. He succeeded Judge Harold J. Haley, who was named to the municipal court bench that year.

Bagshaw heads the San Rafael legal firm of Bagshaw, Schaal, Martinelle and Talley.

Martinelli, the school board aspirant is one of five who will seek the three posts that are open. Martinelli was appointed in March last year to fill out the term of Thomas Boyd, who resigned.

Martinelli, Rex Silvernale and C. Paul Bettini, the incumbents, are all seeking re-election. C. Roy Calder has filed also for a school board post.

Poison Oak Out In Miserable Abundance

By WILLIAM L. EARLE

Remember the story about the man with the seven-year itch who got five months behind in his scratching?

An unfortunate gentleman, to be sure, but perhaps no more so than the hundreds of Marin County residents destined to scratch their way through nasty cases of poison oak in the months ahead.

Poison oak, the innocent looking shrub that carries a concealed weapon, is with us the year 'round. But you stand a better chance of coming in contact with it during the "outdoor living" months. Hikers and campers are particularly vulnerable.

The current warm spell is bringing out the poison oak leaves in all their miserable abundance. They have a reddish hue now, but in another two weeks or so they'll be a nice shiny green.

"They look luscious," said Thomas W. Peryam, county agricultural commissioner.

Peryam, whose spray crews already have started their annual campaign against the noxious shrubs, said poison oak leaves resemble those of California's deciduous oaks.

Can Marin expect a bumper crop of poison oak this year?

Peryam chuckled. "We don't have to expect it," he said. "It's always here and always has been."

Some of the heaviest infestations, he said, are along South Novato and Sir Francis Drake boulevards and in the Strawberry district, Tiburon's older section, San Anselmo's wooded areas and Bayside Acres.

"Up in the hills we run into it all the time," Peryam said. "Fortunately, it doesn't bother me. I can take hold of it raw. In my younger days I used to grab hold of the twigs and pull myself up embankments."

But the agricultural commissioner conceded he isn't necessarily immune to poison oak.

"The person who is most resistant could easily get it from the smoke of a burning poison oak shrub," he said. "And once you've had a bad attack, you're more likely to get it from then on. Burning poison oak—even the dead wood—is very dangerous because it gives off a volatile oil which can cause a skin infection."

The Independent-Journal asked Dr. Paul Fasal about poison oak "immunity." Is there any such thing?

The San Rafael dermatologist said it is folly for an individual to belive he is immune, even if he has gone 20 or 30 years without a case of poison oak. He recalled that some brave souls have handled poison oak on a dare and wound up in the hospital.

A wide variety of poison oak remedies is available on drug store shelves. Pharmacist Joseph E. Nygren of Webb and Rogers Drugs, San Rafael, said he finds the greatest demand is for external applications.

"Other remedies are taken internally. They're supposed to

Would-Be-Bay Bridge-Builder Dies Obscurely

At 3 p.m. last Saturday, an elderly man watching the horses run at Tanforan in San Bruno suddenly collapsed at a moment of high excitement.

A doctor was called. The racing enthusiast ("he never made a bet," a friend recalled later) was pronounced dead. San Bruno police took the body to a mortuary.

The only identification they found on the body consisted of some letters addressed to "T. A. Tomasini." The name meant nothing to San Bruno police. Until yesterday, the body lay in the mortuary without further identification.

The name would have meant something had word of the death reached the Marin County Courthouse.

Back in the '20s, when transportation across the bay was by ferry, T. A. Tomasini staked his half-million-dollar fortune on a proposal for a grandiose bay crossing scheme, which included a tube and bridge from Albany to Tiburon to link Marin and Contra Costa counties and a bridge across Richard-

COLD VIRUS ISOLATES 31 AT JUVENILE HALL

Thirty-one youngsters at Marin Juvenile Hall in Lucas Valley are isolated from the rest of Marin today because of a cold virus that has plagued the hall since Sunday.

The county physician's office ordered that no more youngsters would be placed at the home until the virus has been checked. Acting Supt. Nick Minitsky at the hall reported the virus struck Sunday, leaving two boys with temperatures of 104 and 103. But within a day or two, both were down to normal. Then other boys got the fever. At the height of the plague, about six boys were down with colds.

No girls have taken ill as yet.

Because of the virus infection, the three Novato boys who admitted burning down Burdell School were sent to Santa Rosa Juvenile Hall.

Financing Completed For Ross Hospital Addition

Financing of a $225,000 Ross General Hospital addition was completed today with the First National Bank in San Rafael, announced Dr. John C. Siemens, the hospital's administrator.

Construction is expected to begin in about three months on a new wing which will add 20 beds to the hospital's present capacity of 56 beds for general medical cases; a new surgery with four operating rooms; a new clinical laboratory, and a new physical therapy department which was formerly in an old house which will be demolished to make way for the new wing.

Dr. Siemens said the hospital is now operating at 90 per cent occupancy.

Architect Jack Hermann of Greenbrae has completed preliminary plans for the addition. It will lie in the portion of the hospital site within the limits of the Town of Ross. The Ross Town Council last month granted a variance to allow the construction. The directors expect to issue a call for bids soon, said Dr. Siemens.

Remodeling of the 43-bed tuberculosis ward behind the main hospital is scheduled to begin in about a month. A sprinkler system will be installed by the Grinnell Co. of San Francisco. The reconstruction and sprinkler system was required by the state fire marshall.

Three Novato Boys Admit Setting Burdell School Fire

Three teen-agers from prominent Novato families yesterday admitted burning down Burdell School last November with kerosene and matches because they wanted to destroy evidence that they had broken into the building.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos said two boys are 15 and the third 14 years old. All attend Novato High School.

Acting Sgt. Edward Levine and Deputy Sheriff Harold Goerndt got an anonymous tip yesterday from a woman. This led to the arrest of the three last evening.

The young tria, one of whom said he was glad to get caught because it had been bothering him ever since, gave this account of the night of crime:

Last Nov. 23, two of the boys were staying at the home of the third, whose parents were away. Shortly after midnight, they strolled toward Mill road and Trumbull avenue, where they stole a car. They drove to the Burdell School. On the spur of the moment, one said, "Let's go inside." They broke a window, entered, and rummaged through drawers.

Fearing they might have left evidence, one of them suggested burning the building.

They found some kerosene and poured it over rags in a closet, then tossed a match on the kerosene and fled. They abandoned the car where they had found it, ran home and jumped into bed before the parents returned home. Just as they got home, they heard the fire whistle blow.

The three were booked for arson, burglary, and car theft and turned over to juvenile authorities.

Sheriff's deputies said the youngsters have no previous record, and have not been problem students in school.

Big Sports-Boat Show To Open Here Tomorrow

San Rafael will become the sportsmen's capital of Northern California this weekend when the Marin Rod and Gun Club presents its sixth annual Sports and Boat Show at Bermuda Palms Motel.

Newest in boating, hunting, fishing and other outdoor equipment will be displayed and visitors will be treated to demonstrations by the Marin Skin Divers Club and the Northwoods Bowmen's Club of Marin. The show opens tomorrow at 6 p.m. and runs through Sunday.

To salute the event the Independent-Journal today presents its annual special Sports and Boat Show tabolid section.

Congress Votes Hawaii Statehood

House Action Adds 50th Star To Flag

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress today voted admission of Hawaii to the Union as the 50th state.

The "aloha" for the statehood long-awaited by the tropical Pacific islands came when the House gave final approval to the bill passed by the Senate 76-15 last night.

The House action sent the bill on to President Eisenhower whose signature was assured.

ADMISSION DELAY

The actual admission will be delayed for several months by the mechanics of procedure which includes holding an election in Hawaii. It likely will be late July, possibly as late as October, before the 50th state formally joins the Union.

As the House roll call reached the 218 affirmative votes needed for passage, Gov. William F. Quinn who was waiting here, telephoned a signal for bonfire celebrations to be touched off in Hawaii.

LONG-AWAITED

It was a moment the 575,000 residents of the last incorporated territory under the American Flag had awaited for more than 50 years.

Hawaii will be the first island state. But Alaska's admission as the 49th state had already broken through a long argument from some Congress members against admitting territories not joined geographically to the other states.

In Honolulu, the congressional action started the maneuvering today among Hawaii's politicians seeking backing as candidates for the 50th state's five new elective offices.

Gate Theater To Reopen In Sausalito

A new legitimate theater for Marin County is scheduled to make its appearance next month when Sherman Wayne Productions, Ltd., of San Francisco will reopen the long dark Gate Theater in Sausalito as a weekend repertory theater.

Approval for the operation was given by the Sausalito Planning Commission last night.

Gary Eastman of Eastman-Ravizzi real estate agency, who handled the transaction, said principals in the operation are Leslie Abbott and Sherman Blas, both well known in theatrical circles.

The theater at 673 Bridgeway has been closed for more than six years after being operated by the Blumenfield Theaters for motion pictures. When the property was sold to Albert Lanier of San Francisco, the deed prohibited its re-use for films.

Eastman said the producers are planning to open the 250-seat house in mid-April with a presentation of "Pajama Game."

In other action, the commission set April 1 as the date for a special meeting to receive a report from a subcommittee headed by Richard F. Gram-bow covering recommendations on the proposed plans by J. Eugene McAteer for creation of an elaborate restaurant and shops on the sandspit property.

The planners last night also granted approval to Woodley B. Smith of Mill Valley for operation of an automatic laundry at 518 Caledonia street.

Ceremony Marks Opening Of Novato Sheriff Substation

A brief ceremony this afternoon opened the new sheriff's substation at Novato, which will be staffed by four deputies headed by Acting Sgt. Edward Levine.

North Marin Supervisor William Gnoss was to hand over a one-dollar bill to shoe store owner Aaron Hiller, who donated the use of an old railroad office to the sheriff for a token rental of one dollar per year. The office is leased by Hiller from the Northwestern Pacific Railroad.

San Anselmo Schools Face Big Deficit

San Anselmo School District will be $35,000 "in the red" to start the new fiscal year in July unless state appropriations are increased, Asst. Supt. James R. Jordan told district trustees last night.

Jordan presented an analysis of next year's budget problem based on the present state allocation system. The projection included a 10 per cent raise — not yet granted — in teacher salaries.

After hearing Jordan, the trustees voted to write to State Sen. John F. McCarthy and Assemblyman Richard H. McCollister urging support of AB 1000, a measure which would increase state appropriations to all school districts. It would provide San Anselmo District with an additional $42,000, said Jordan—more than enough to meet the anticipated deficit.

A committee of the Sleepy Hollow Parents Club, headed by Mrs. Paul Talbot, presented a report on materials available for a special program for rapid learners.

OFFER TO IKE GETS HER A HORSE

Kathy Hewitt, 11, of Miami, Fla., had saved up $61 toward purchase of a horse. Then last week she started to worry about the national debt. So she offered her $61 to President Eisenhower — no strings attached — to help the nation pay its bills. He politely declined. A Miami woman, touched by Kathy's generosity and good citizenship, presented her with a horse. Kathy poses with it here. It's named Baby. (AP Wirephoto)

Meadowsweet Rezoning Due New Airing By Supervisors

The proposal to rezone the 3.5-acre Balzarini-Moats property in the Meadowsweet area south of Corte Madera to block construction of 35 apartment units will come up for another airing March 24 at 8 p.m., the county board of supervisors has decided.

Members of the Meadowsweet Improvement Assn., who stand opposed to the apartments in what is now a "planned residential" area, asked for the night hearing.

Opponents to the apartment plan have requested that the Balzarini-Moats property be rezoned to its original designation, "limited agricultural."

County Counsel Leland H. Jordan has given his opinion previously that the property could be rezoned back to its original zoning "only if it is shown that there has been a substantial change of the conditions surrounding the property since the time it was zoned planned residential."

The present zoning would permit the co-owners—Mr. and Mrs. John A. Balzarini and Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan C. Moats—to build the apartments subject only to approval of a master development plan for the area.

The property was rezoned last summer as a planned residential district.

San Rafael attorney Phillip A. Kennedy, representing the property owners, has insisted that the supervisors and planning commissioners are "in full accord" that the 35-unit apartment plan is acceptable.

San Anselmo Police Had A Busy Year

The 14-man San Anselmo Police Department had a busy year during 1958. So busy, in fact, that its members put in 1,613 overtime hours, according to a report prepared by Officer James A. Farmer.

During 1958 the San Anselmo Police Department handled 1,938 complaints. A total of 136 persons was arrested.

The largest number of arrests (41) in a single category was for intoxication. Another 13 persons were arrested for drunk driving.

OTHER AWARDS

Other arrests included in the total were two for armed robbery, one for rape, 11 for forgery or bad checks, and nine for automobile thefts.

Bad check cases, a specialty of Asst. Chief Sam N. Serio, totaled 104 last year. The sum of money involved was $8,411. Of this total, $6,666 was lost through fraud or embezzlement. However, the report listed $7,583 as accounted for either by arrest, restitution or no prosecution.

The indefatigable San Anselmo police last year checked doors 235,560 times. On 166 occasions, the doors were discovered to be unlocked.

JUVENILE ARRESTS

The number of juvenile offenders arrested dropped from a total of 534 in 1957 to 132 in 1958. Of the total last year, 124 were boys and eight were girls.

Petty theft, drinking and traffic offenses accounted for the largest number of arrests.

Most of the complaints about youngsters under 18 were complaints of malicious mischief. Last year these totaled 101.

Voter's Lament

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — Mayor Joseph N. Langan spotted a man pilfering a newspaper stand coin box. He looked around for a policeman and, seeing non, ran after the thief, collared him and held him until an officer arrived minutes later.

Police said the thief admitted his guilt, commenting ruefully, "and I voted for Langan."

BUSES BURNING LIGHTS DURING DAY AS SAFETY EXPERIMENT

Fog in San Francisco? Overcharged batteries? No, a safety experiment is the reason this week for Greyhound commute buses burning their headlights during daylight hours.

A clerk in the San Francisco safety office of Western Greyhound Lines said the test will continue about a month to see whether the headlights help in preventing accidents.

The use of headlights during the day would be in line with common railroad practice in the United States.

3-Hour Flight To Moon Seen Eventual Reality

WASHINGTON (AP) — Space flight to the moon in less than three hours may some day be possible, a noted scientist says.

So might a four-and-one-half year flight to Pluto, the most distant planet in the solar system, says Dr. Lee Dubridge, president of California Institute of Technology.

But, he indicated, space distances are so enormous that any visions of flight to even the nearest star beyond our sun appear out of the question.

Reason: The spacemen would have lived through a normal lifetime thousands of years before the trip was over.

If a spaceship could be developed having a speed of 90,000 miles an hour—or 25 miles a second—it could reach the moon in 2.9 hours, the sun in four days and Pluto in four-and-one-half years, Dubridge said. But it would take the same ship 30,000 years to reach Alpha Centauri, the nearest star beyond the sun.

"It is true," he said last night at a symposium sponsored by Resources for the Future, Inc., "we can some day probably exceed the speed of 25 miles per second.

"But the 25,000 miles per second required to bring the nearest star within reach is not in sight."

Kentfield Fireman Due Honor

Elie F. Faure, Kentfield volunteer fireman for 35 years, is to be awarded an honorary life membership in the Kentfield Assn. of Volunteer Firemen.

Fire Chief John R. McLeran said Faure submitted his resignation from the association Friday night. McLeran said members voted unanimously to give Faure the honorary membership.

Faure, whose brother, Peter, is also a member of the association, was first a member of the department when the only equipment was a hose cart. He is a machinist and resides at 11 Edna court, Kentfield. He is a past president of the Marin County Assn. of Fire Departments.

His most recent position in the Kentfield department was as first assistant chief.

Whatsit Without Wings Or Motor Flies At End Of Rope

Do-It-Yourself Copter-Glider Built For $67

SONORA (AP)—In this jet age, John D. Carter has taken to soaring through the air in a wingless, motorless glider. It looks like the maverick offspring of a helicopter.

Carter calls it a "gyro glider." He and two friends built it for $67.

His do-it-yourself contraption flies on the end of a tow rope. Motive power is supplied by a pickup truck at the other end.

A pair of 10-foot rotor blades, similar to those of a helicopter, lift the thing into the air. The forward movement keeps the blades whirling. A "stick" tilts the rotor to control movement up and down. Turns are made by banking the rotor.

Besides the rotor and blades, the flying gadget consists of a rudder, a chair to which the pilot is strapped, a simple metal frame and four wheels. That's all.

It is made up of such unlikely things as conduit pipe, plywood, pieces of metal, leather straps and the front hub of a Model T.

So far it has never been in free flight. Its career has been limited to the 50-foot tow rope above the Columbia airport.

"If we can get it more than 300 feet in the air, we could probably use the thermal currents and keep the glider flying," Carter said.

He and his aides are building floats so it can be towed on water.

"If we can get it working on water," Carter said, "we should be able to ride longer and higher and not be bothered by power lines, trees or roads."

Church Loyalty Oath Repeal Bill Passed

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill repealing the loyalty oath requirement for churches filing for tax exemptions received final approval in the Senate yesterday.

The bill was authored by Assemblyman Glenn Coolidge (R-Felton) and contained an urgency clause so that it will take effect immediately upon signature by the governor.

The bill provides that all taxes be refunded along with any penalty or interest for any fiscal year beginning with 1958 on church property.

Fight Vowed For Elective School Board

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Assemblyman Sheridan N. Hegland (D- La Mesa) said today he would attempt to revive a bill which would make members of the state Board of of Education elected by the people instead of appointed by the governor.

The Assembly Education Committee voted yesterday to send Hegland's proprosal to an interim committee, a procedure which usually kills a bill for at least two years.

However, Hegland said he discussed the action with committee members after the meeting and he thought he had lined up enough support to give his bill another hearing.

Assemblyman Gordon H. Winton (D-Merced), who supported the motion to farm out the bill for two years, told the committee that he was opposed to an elected education board. "But I certainly would like to give it a lot of study and thought," he said.

Who's The Chairman?

STAMFORD, Conn. (UPI)—Before it could hold a meeting to discuss campaign strategy for unseating the GOP, the Democratic City Committee had to borrow 20 chairs from nearby Republican headquarters.

Tighter Drunk Driver Definition Studied

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A state Senate committee will try to decide today if drunk driving laws should be tightened up to snare the cocktail hour set.

Up for discussion in the upper house's Judiciary Committee is a bill sponsored by Dist. Atty. Roy Gustafson of Ventura County, the man currently engaged as prosecutor in the Duncan murder trial.

Gustafson's bill would repeal the present law which says you are a drunk driver if you drive while "under the influence of intoxicating liquor."

He would substitute in its place this definition:

A drunk driver is under the influence "if his ability to operate a vehicle has been lessened in any degree by the use of intoxicating liquor."

Because of the sensational Duncan murder trial, Gustafson could not be present to argue for his bill—but he sent one of his deputies, Stanley E. Cohen, to try to persuade the legislators.

Cohen's argument went like this:

"The present definition allows a driver to impair his ability as long as he is still able to drive as well as an average man.

"By telling a driver he may drink to the point where his ability to drive is appreciably impaired, although not down to the standard of the average driver, the law is saying that a driver may unnecessarily endanger life and property."

What Cohen and Gustafson were shooting for was to win Judiciary Committee approval of the new definition of drunk driving and then, later in the session, achieve passage of a bill permitting chemical tests to determine the exact amount of alcohol in the bloodstream.

Cohen produced evidence to show that for the average 150-pound man, two ounces of whiskey or two beers ingest enough alcohol to put him on the border line.

At blood alcohol levels over .05 per cent a driver may be impaired and at .15 per cent all persons are impaired to some degree.

With the new definition and chemical blood tests a driver's impairment would be measured against his own ability to drive when sober.

Humane Slaughter Measure Approved

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate passed and sent to the Assembly yesterday a bill calling for the humane slaughter of "all cattle, calves, horses, mules, sheep, swine and other livestock."

The measure, authored by Sen. Fred S. Farr (D-Carmel), would aso set up standards for humane slaughter.

State Wage Hikes Favored

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—An Assembly group has gone against Gov. Edmund G. Brown's proposal and voted a 50-million-dollar pay raise for state employees.

Despite warning that their action might mean an additional 20 million dollars in new or higher taxes, a subcommittee of the lower house Ways and Means Committee voted 4-3 yesterday for a bigger boost for 100,000 state workers.

Brown originally recommended a 5 per cent pay increase, which would cost 32 million dollars.

But Assemblymen Thomas J. MacBride (D-Sacramento), Republican Party whip Bruce Sumner of Santa Ana; Assemblymen Pauline Davis (D-Portola) and Bruce F. Allen (R-San Jose) boosted the program by 20 million dollars more.

As revised by the subcommittee, all state employees except statutory and constitutional officers would get a 7½ per cent pay raise starting July 1. Academic personnel at the state university and at state colleges would get an extra 5 per cent for a grand total of 12½ per cent more.

Enforced Idleness Irks Pianist Cliburn

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time since he was 3 years old, Van Cliburn's piano is silent.

The blond, bushy-haired 24-year-old Texan is under doctors' orders to stay away from a keyboard for two months, while the middle finger of his right hand heals from an operation. Then he will be allowed to practice only lightly for another month.

A complete rest is distasteful to Cliburn. He has practiced daily for 21 years, four hours a day before concerts. Now, after the operation on an abscessed fingertip, he is restless to resume his heavy schedule.

"The fact that I can't play is more injurious to my morale than the pain I sustained," the pianist, clad in pale blue pajamas and a blue plaid robe, remarked at the Hospital for Special Surgery.

Despite his weakness, he has kept busy in his private eighth-floor room.

Now he has a chance to watch television — "Something I never had much time for before."

"I've done a little reading, too," he said. "Poetry, for the moment — poetry more than Prose." A favorite is Lord Byron.

On his bed lay an orchestration of Samuel Barber's "Capricorn Concerto," and he had just finished playing a Metropolitan Opera recording of Barber's opera "Vanessa."

An abscessed finger is more serious than it may sound, and Cliburn's physician has ordered him to rest in the sun when he is released from the hospital.

"Every concert is only postponed," he replied, smiling, to a question about cancellations. "I don't believe in cancellations. Never close the door, you know.

"I have received several invitations to play with my good hand—some pieces like Ravel's "Left Hand Concerto" — but the doctor thinks I should rest."

One major regret was postponing a concert trip scheduled in the Soviet Union next month — the country where he became famous by winning the Tchaikowsky piano contest last April.

Cliburn thinks his finger became infected while he was clipping his nails—a necessary chore for pianists—and he apparently cut the one nail at an odd angle.

"I've had lots of sore fingers before, and played in spite of them," he remarked. "In fact, one finger was split down the side the night I won the competition in Moscow. But this one was so bad I could hardly play."

The five physicians who worked on his half-hour operation Feb. 27 had one unusual difficulty, due to his constant piano-playing—cutting through a callus one-eighth inch thick on his finger.

MUSICAL INTERLUDE — Pianist Van Cliburn, the 24-year-old Texan who has been used to a daily practice schedule on the keyboard for 21 years, is like a fish out of water these days. The concert artist is recuperating in a New York hospital after an operation for an abscessed fingertip, and he's under doctor's orders to stay away from the piano for at least two months. Ike-Macmillan Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House announced today that the Berlin crisis conferences between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will be held at Camp David, in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland.

Macmillan will arrive in Washington next Thursday.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President, Macmillan and their immediate staffs would go to Camp David the following day. They will confer at the secluded White House retreat Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

West Expected To Offer Russ Summit Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Western powers are expected soon to offer the Soviet Union the definite possibility of a summit conference later this year.

The major Western condition for a top level meeting probably will be that an earlier conference of foreign ministers should make progress toward settling the Berlin crisis.

There is behind-the-scenes British dissent on this point, however. London leaders have informed other Allied governments they believe that direct and personal negotiations with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will have to be arranged sooner or later in any case.

The central strategy on which all the Western powers are agreed is that negotiations must be employed to the fullest limit possible in order to overcome the danger that the Berlin dispute could eventually explode into a nuclear war.

President Eisenhower told a news conference yesterday that "we are certainly not going to fight a ground war in Europe."

Nikita Warns West On Use Of Force

BERLIN (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev warned the West today it would meet with "appropriate resistance" if it tried to solve any of the major world problems by force.

Khrushchev delivered the warning shortly before he flew home to Moscow after eight days of conferring with East German Communist leaders and visiting the Leipzig spring trade fair.

"If the aggressors should try, in spite of everything, to carry through their adventurous aims and—as they say—try to 'break through' anywhere, they would meet with the appropriate resistance," Khrushchev said.

"We would like to believe, however, that those on whom it depends will not permit any irresponsible acts and will take decisions in the interest of all countries which fought against Hitlerite Germany."

Khrushchev repeated earlier pleas to the West to end the cold war on his terms—by signing a peace treaty with Germany and winding up the occupation of West Berlin.

He said Russia would "continue obstinately" trying to persuade the West to sign a treaty with both German states. He denounced as "irresponsible" those in the West who have charged him with increasing international tension and threatening the world with a war by his latest proposals on Germany.

"Such statements can only be made by those who are deliberately distorting the Soviet Union's peace-loving policy," he charged.

Thousands of East Berliners who were marched into the streets and handed paper Russian flags cheered Khrushchev's farewell motorcade in East Berlin.

Khrushchev, accompanied by East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht, Premier Otto Grotewohl and other Soviet zone officials, drove through the city to an undisclosed military airfield where he boarded a TU 104 jet airliner for the flight to Moscow.

She got a great cheer from the Midway crew, which has been in the Far East seven months.

TWO BIG PENNEY STORES TO SERVE YOU—CORTE MADERA AND SAN RAFAEL

Hearings Scheduled On Two School Merger Proposals

Two proposals for unification of various school districts in Marin were set for public hearings last night by the County Committee on School District Organization.

A third such proposal, involving unification of the Novato and San Jose Districts — turned down by voters of the San Jose district in January and now being re-studied — moved a step closer to re-submission to the voters.

A proposal that unification of all school districts in Marin be studied was set for public hearing at 8 p.m. March 30 in San Rafael, tentatively at San Rafael High School.

WEST MARIN PLAN

Set for hearing on April 2 was a petition asking study of unifying nine West Marin districts and establishment of a new high school in the Olema-Point Reyes Station area. The hearing will be at 8 p.m. in West Marin School.

The proposal for unification of all Marin school districts was presented last month by Mrs. Vera Woodworth of Homestead, bearing her signature and those of 15 other persons from various areas of Marin.

The West Marin unification proposal came up this week when trustees of the West Marin Elementary School District voted to ask the county committee to study unification of that district with eight other districts in Marin's west coastal area.

NINE-DISTRICT MERGER

It would involve creation of a "Point Reyes Area Unified School District" embracing the present Bolinas, Lagunitas, Marshall, Nicasio, Pt. Reyes, Stinson Beach, Tomales and West Marin elementary districts and the Tomales High School District.

E. L. Blackmore, assistant county superintendent of schools, said today that the April 2 hearing in West Marin may also be used as a continuation of the March 30 hearing on county-wide unification for the convenience of West Marinites.

The West Marin unification study won approval last night of trustees of the Stinson Beach School District. The Stinson Beach board voted unanimously to join in requesting the study, reported chairman Henry B. Lacaze.

COLD SHOULDER

The plan got a cold shoulder, however, from Tomales Joint Union High School District trustees. Four representatives of the West Marin District—Chairman Tobias Giacomini, Trustees Gus Kovats and Donald J. McIsaac and Supt. George Stratton — appeared at the Tomales board's meeting to urge the study. But the Tomales trustees voted to take no action.

The West Marin trustees emphasized that they were not necessarily endorsing the unification but thought it should be taken under immediate study as a possibility.

Trustees of a third district which would be affected by the unification—Lagunitas — also met last night. But Supt. E. L. Frye said the unification proposal was not discussed "before, during or after" the meeting. It has been put on the agenda for the Lagunitas board's April meeting.

The district organization committee, with additional members sitting in to form the "augmented" committee on Novato-San Jose District unification, last night held the second of three study sessions required by law for reconsideration of the proposal after defeat at the polls.

NEXT SESSION

According to Blackmore, no recommendation can be made by the group until its next session, set for 8:30 p.m. April 16 at Novato High School.

At that time, the committee may recommend resubmitting the unification proposal to voters of the two affected districts within one year from the date of the recent election (Jan. 13), may recommend some other proposed solution of the North Marin district organization problem or may even set the matter for additional study sessions.

One possible alternative proposal which might result from the committee's studies is unification of Novato, San Jose, Dixie, San Rafael and San Quentin School Districts, Blackmore noted.

In connection with the April 16 committee meeting, he said, the Novato school board has set up an open house at Novato High School, starting at 7 p.m., and invited residents of the San Jose district to visit the school. Staff members will be present to show them through the institution and explain its program.

ONE-WAY

fore. They urged that the one-way street be extended beyond the Big Circle to relieve the pressure built up at Third and Irwin and Third and Lincoln.

"We've developed a little monster," said Parks. "Before the one-way circle, the only congestion was at the underpass. Now we have two other major congestion points."

Both Parks and Pape said they are not urging that the Big Circle be thrown out. "We just want it extended."

Their plan is to make Third street one way westbound from Irwin to E street, up E street to Fourth, and one way on Fourth to the Miracle Mile. Second street would be one-way eastbound to the Irwin street underpass. (This is almost identical to the plan originally proposed by the city traffic advisory committee. West End merchants expressed opposition to this plan.)

Ross Council To Study Little League Request

The Ross Town Council will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the town hall to consider a request from the Ross Little League that the baseball diamond in the park be relocated.

The way it is now, according to director Elden C. Friel, the fielders are forced to look into the sun.

POISON OAK

develop a sort of immunity—not fully, but to some extent, at least," Nygren said.

Dr. Fasal cautioned that immunization claims made by some manufacturers of such remedies should be checked carefully by prospective users. He said the subject of poison oak immunization is, in general, a controversial one among doctors.

Nygren said some poison oak victims become frantic and try "almost everything they shouldn't use," including coal oil, kerosene, gasoline and bleach solutions.

Describing poison oak as a generally self-limiting disease, Dr. Fasal stressed that not all cases require treatment by a physician. But in extremely sensitive cases, such as those causing the eyes to swell up and close, the affliction becomes more than self-limiting, he said.

He also made these points:

1. In general, once a poison oak victim has broken out with skin blisters, it is highly unlikely he will transmit the affliction to others.

2. Scratching does not cause poison oak to spread, but it is still a bad practice because it irritates the skin and can cause infection. Extent of the ailment is generally determined by the degree of original contact.

3. If persons exposed to poison oak would wash themselves all over within a short time after exposure, they might avoid the itch. But very often an individual isn't aware he was exposed.

4. Method of local treatment depends on the degree of the affliction. In mild cases, cool compresses with a boric acid solution or even cool tea are sometimes effective. In moderately severe cases, an antihistamine taken orally often can relieve itching. For alleviation of great distress and discomfort in severe cases, corticosteroids may be administered orally or by injection.

5. Home remedies that benefit one person may do nothing for another. Certain emulsions applied to the "weeping and blistering" type of poison oak merely cover it "like a cast," but do not eliminate it.

For the eradication of poison oak shrubs, Peryam recommends a non-poisonous growth regulator known as 2,4-5-T, or, if you prefer the scientific name, trichlorophenoxyacetic acid.

"It will kill—or distort and deform — any broad leafed plants," Peryam said. "But keep it away from the plant you want to keep, and don't use it in a wind. Just spray it on the leaves of the poison oak."

The agricultural commissioner said the best time to spray with 2,4-5-T, available at most garden or pesticide supply stores, is between now and October.

TOMASINI

son Bay from Sausalito to Belvedere.

Besides a tidy fortune of his own, Tomasini claimed the backing of eastern financiers for his scheme.

On July 3, 1928, the Marin County Board of Supervisors granted Tomasini a 50-year franchise for the Sausalito-Belvedere bridge, to be operated as a toll bridge. There was a provision that construction must be started within three years.

Tomasini's scheme spawned a batch of lawsuits. There were expenses for plans, research, promotion. The half million dollars Tomasini had made in Sonoma County business ventures dwindled.

Tomasini asked for more time. His franchise was left standing while he attempted to interest new investors.

Then the State of California and the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District came into the picture. Publicly-built bridges spanned the Golden Gate and San Francisco Bay.

Still left was one portion of Tomasini's plan: The bridge from Sausalito to Belvedere. He assured acquaintances that eastern financiers were prepared to pay him $350,000 for the franchise.

Freeways arrived. New bridges appeared on highway engineers' drawing boards—and took form in steel and concrete.

Last Sept. 30, County Counsel Leland H. Jordan called to the attention of the board of supervisors that Tomasini's 50-year bridge franchise was still on the books although the original three-year limit on start of the structure had expired more than 27 years earlier.

The supervisors revoked the franchise.

There was nothing left of T. A. Tomasini's dream—nor his fortune. In place of building bridges, he took vicarious pleasure from watching the ponies run. ("Of course he couldn't bet," the friend said. "He didn't have any money.")

Four days after his sudden death at the track, a niece of the one-time financier was found and claimed the body. She said she would arrange for burial in Golden Gate National Cemetery.

A cemetery attache reported today that no arrangements have yet been made.

Marinite's Sister Dies In Benicia

Ellen W. Greaver of Benicia, 86-year-old sister of Sabina Haley of 611 B street, San Rafael, died at her home yesterday.

Born in California, she had resided in Benicia 25 years.

Also surviving are three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at St. Dominic's Church, Benicia, with burial in the church cemetery. The Rosary will be recited tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Passalacqua Funeral Chapel, Benicia.

OBITUARIES

1st Principal Of Coleman School Dies

Augustina M. Clark, the first principal of San Rafael's Coleman School, died early today at a local hospital after being hospitalized several days. She was 85.

Miss Clark was a native of Marin County. Upon her retirement four years ago, she moved from Oakland where she taught in the public schools and at St. Francis de Sales Parochial School for many years. Her home since then had been with her two nieces, Misses Loreta and Irene Pacheco, at 161 Bayview drive, San Rafael.

Miss Clark, who had taught at the now-demolished B Street School, was made principal of Coleman School when it opened about 1910. The school building at Grand avenue and Linden lane is now used as a county office building.

Coleman School was the fifth in the San Rafael school system. At that time, the high school was on E street where the E Street School now stands, there was an old grammar school on Fourth street now no longer standing, Short School which is still used, and the B Street School now replaced by the San Rafael Bank of America.

Miss Clark remained at Coleman School until about 1913. The remainder of her 65-year teaching career was spent in Oakland.

A Requiem High Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael. The cortege will form at 9:45 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be in Mt. Olivet Cemetery. Recitation of the rosary will be at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening at Keaton's Mortuary.

James Maffei Of Greenbrae Dies At 68

James J. Maffei of Greenbrae, 68-year-old partner in a San Francisco spice cleaning and grinding business, died this morning at a local hospital.

His death, caused by virus pneumonia, was unexpected. He entered the hospital last Friday.

Maffei is survived by his wife, Zelda, with whom he lived at 5 Corte De Sabla in Greenbrae. His son, Raymond, his partner in the Commercial Seed Cleaning Co. in San Francisco, lives at 15 Corte De Sabla, and his daughter, Mrs. Estelle O'Donnell, lives around the corner at 210 Bretano way. Maffei is survived also by seven grandchildren.

Before forming the partnership with his son 13 years ago, Maffei was with another San Francisco spice firm, had been a banana importer and had operated a hardware business in his native city of Sonoma. He had been a Greenbrae resident for five years.

Funeral arrangements are pending with Valente, Marini, Perata and Co., 649 Green street, San Francisco.

Oliver Huskinson Dies In Hospital

Oliver G. Huskinson, Mill Valley resident since 1929, died last evening at a local hospital after long illness. He was 75.

A onetime stock ranch hand, he was a native of Quincy, Plumas County. Since retirement, he had lived in Mill Valley at 138 Sunnyside avenue and 298 Oakdale avenue.

His wife, Florence, died in 1950 and he leaves no close survivors.

A Requiem Mass will be said at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church in Mill Valley at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, with the cortege forming at the Russell and Gooch chapel at 9 o'clock. Rosary will be recited tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the chapel. Interment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

FIBERGLASS FENCE IN KENT WOODLANDS

H. Murray Koch, whose Corte Madera factory manufactures fiberglass products, had to go to court to establish his right to put up a fiberglass fence in front of his home at 609 College avenue, Kentfield. The District Court of Appeals upheld his right in December, deciding against neighbors who had brought suit to restrain him. Today, the fence was partially completed. A passer-by, shown in photo, Mrs. Ada McCann of Hillside avenue, Kentfield, finds the green fiberglass fence neither an object of distaste nor one to cheer.

United Fund Allocates Sums To 17 Agencies

More than a quarter of a million dollars has been allocated by Marin United Fund to Marin's 17 United Crusade agencies for the current year, Mrs. Thomas J. Mellon, fund president, announced today.

This amount includes the $140,000 raised last fall in the Marin campaign of the United Bay Area Crusade, Mrs. Mellon pointed out.

Character-building services for youth received $113,118; Boy Scouts, $46,000; Girl Scouts, $19,700; Camp Fire Girls, $19,050; CYO, $13,868, and YMCA, $14,500.

Family and children's services were allocated a total of $57,576: Family Service Agency, $25,000; Catholic Social Service, $16,000; St. Vincent's School for Boys, $7,500; Sunny ills, $6,200; Children's Home Society of California, $2,376, and Marin Assn. for Retarded Children (in the Crusade this year for the first time) $500.

Six other services received $79,740: Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, $1,697; American Red Cross, $58,950; Marin Jewish Community Center, $5,883; Urban League, $250; Marin Council of Community Services, $10,635, and USO, $2,325.

Most local agencies use these funds Oct. 1, 1958, to Sept. 30, 1959. In other cases the calendar year 1959 is the period being financed. In one case (the Red Cross) it is the year July 1, 1959, to June 30, 1960.

Toastmaster Club Elects Officers

Eric Lane of Mill Valley has been elected president of Marin Toastmaster Club 890, succeeding Roy Calder of San Rafael.

Other officers elected Monday at a meeting in Woodlands Restaurant in Kentfield include Joseph Cranmer, Tiburon, educational vice president; Dr. John Misenheimer, San Rafael, administrative vice president; Paul Hwoschinsky, Tiburon, secretary; Jack Van Houten, Mill Valley, treasurer, and Robert Aldrich, San Rafael, sergeant-at-arms.

The new slate of officers will serve for six months.

Easter Floral Display Set In Mill Valley

Mill Valley merchants again will display colorful window boxes of blooming plants for the Easter season.

Normand D. Black, chairman of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce committee handling the event, said he expects that many more merchants will participate this year than the 80 who joined in the spring observance last year.

Black said roses, hydrangeas and azaleas will be featured plants, with occasional miniature chrysanthemum plants supplying added color.

"We are again planning the attractive miniature barnyard adjacent to Stiveson's restaurant at Lytton Square, using the familiar display loaned each year by Bob Robertson," Black reported.

Last year, the little house with a front "yard" surrounded by wire screening provided a temporary home for chicks, ducklings, rabbits and piglets that was the center of attraction for youngsters and grown-ups alike.

Black said his committee plans to again have two youngsters in bunny costumes traveling the streets adjacent to Lytton Square, watering the flowering plants with quaint watering cans.

"We are also planning decorative treatment in the center of Lytton Square near the city's flagpole using plots of flowering plants surrounded by decorative field stone," he said.

School Orchestra Plays Tomorrow

The Redwood High School Orchestra tomorrow will play before pupils of two neighboring elementary schools in what director Sidney Gordon said he hopes may become a tradition for the new school.

The 21-member orchestra will present identical programs to pupils and teachers at Adaline E. Kent School in Kentfield, and later at Neil Cummins School in Corte Madera.

Several soloists will perform, including Joan Bamberger, who will play Leroy Anderson "Trumpeter's Lullaby." Roxanna Reid and Janet Christensoin will play a duet entitled "Fruit Cocktail." Roxana also will be featured as student director in an aria from "Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart.

U.S. Planning Test Convoy In Berlin Crisis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has drafted a plan for sending a test convoy through a Berlin blockade if the Communists impose one.

The need for a test convoy would arise if Russia abdicated its Berlin responsibilities, signed a treaty with East Germany and gave the East Germans control of traffic routes to Berlin.

It can be reported that blueprints for the test convoy and for putting America's 330,000 military men in Europe on increased alert now exist. Further, they can be adapted to whatever needs emerge from allied conferences.

The plan as it now stands apparently calls for sending a normal size unarmed convoy of four to 10 trucks over the 110-mile road from Helmstedt in West Germany through East Germany to West Berlin.

If the convoy were stopped, it might then be strengthened with tanks and go ahead. What would happen if it drew fire from East German guards was not known.

It can be said that there are plans for Western military forces to establish control of the highway through East Germany if high policy dictates.

The increased alert presumably would apply to British and French forces as well as to U.S. Army and Air Force in Europe. The U.S. Army has about 230,000 men in Europe, of whom 175,000 comprise the 7th Army.

Other plans available for various contingencies that might arise include:

1. Increasing the number of Strategic Air Command bombers kept on 15-minute alert in this country.

2. Beefing up strategic Army corps divisions in this country to "over-strength" status and readying them for immediate movement.

3. In the realm of possibility, but not being seriously considered, is the callup of a few National Guard and reserve units.

Big Snowstorm Hits Northeastern U.S.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A driving snowstorm slashed at the northeastern section of the nation today, moving eastward from Ohio and making highway travel treacherous.

At Delaware, Ohio, a 56-year old man was killed in an auto-truck collision, the first storm-attributed death.

In New York City, about four hours after the snow started falling before midnight, three and one-half inches were measured by the Weather Bureau, which predicted moderate to heavy accumulations before the fall abated in the afternoon.

It already was the heaviest snowfall of the winter for the city. The heaviest previous fall was three inches Dec. 8-9.

In Western Maryland, state police reported 8-12 inches in the mountains, with mixed snow and rain across northern counties.

In western central and northeastern Pennsylvania authorities issued warnings of hazardous driving. In all affected areas, sanding crews were out in force attempting to keep highways open.

Snow accumulations during the early morning hours amounted to eight inches in sections of western Pennsylvania. Some flights were canceled at the Greater Pittsburgh Airport.

As snow moved into Connecticut, the Weather Bureau forecast four to eight inches. Temperatures were slightly under freezing. The storm entered Connecticut from the southwest, where it originated in West Virginia. Up to 8 inches of snow was forecast for other sections of New England.

In Ohio, Zanesville had eight inches, Cincinnati five, Columbus three and one-half, and Cleveland six inches on the ground and expecting more. Schools in Clark County were declared closed because of road conditions. Schools in several other rural areas were not expected to open.

The storm was attributed to a disturbance moving north and east from the upper Ohio Valley, and reinforced by an air mass which moved in from the Atlantic Coast.

The snowfall came during the 71st anniversary of the great blizzard of 1888—which began March 11 and ended March 14.

Marinite's Car Wins Show Honor

A gleaming custom-built modified 1932 Model-B Ford, outfitted with a 1953 Chrysler engine, and owned by S. David Soderstrom of 17 Manor drive, San Rafael, was awarded first place in last week's Fifth Annual KarKapade Auto Show in Monterey.

The car took another first place award last month at the 10th annual National Roadster Show in Oakland. It will be entered again in the Fresno Auto Show opening in about two weeks.

The body and paint work on the car was done by Hal's Body Shop of San Rafael. Upholstry was installed by Richard Harrison of Alto. Soderstrom did all of the other modification work, which includes many features ordinarily found only on late model cars.

Hawaii Exuberant Over Statehood

HONOLULU (AP) — Exuberant Hawaiians air-expressed 600 leis to Washington for members of Congress today after Senate passage of the Hawaii statehood bill.

The flowers were sent to Territorial Delegate John A. Burns, who will present them tomorrow on behalf of the Hawaii Legislature. Territorial Gov. William F. Quinn flew to the nation's capital for the big occasion.

Acting Gov. Edward E. Johnston proclaimed a two-day holiday throughout the islands to start immediately after Congress completes passage of the bill.

His proclamation said passage of Hawaiian statehood would mean the culmination of patient striving and the long-nurtured hopes of Hawaiians.

Senate passage of the bill yesterday was greeted joyously. After receiving the word by telephone from Washington, Johnston exclaimed: "It's wonderful news!"

The Honolulu Star-Bulletin hit the streets with an extra and radio stations interrupted programs to broadcast the news.

In anticipation of the House completing approval of the measure, preparations were rushed for fireworks and celebrations. Hawaiian Airlines planned to fly flags with 50 stars and flash the word to its pilots in flight for passengers' information.

Senate approval was hailed by politicians, businessmen and civic leaders. The Honolulu Stock Exchange reacted with the heaviest trading in months.

Usually languorous island folk reached a fever pitch as the 40-year fight for statehood appeared nearing an end. That's about all people talked about in offices, restaurants and on the street.

The luxury liner S.S. Lurline sailed from San Francisco yesterday with a huge, 50-star flag aboard—to be unfurled when Congress completes action.

Also aboard the Lurline were giant redwood logs, presented by California's Gov. Edmund G. Brown for burning in giant bonfires in Honolulu.

Congress Moving Fast On Hawaii Statehood

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress moved swiftly today to vote the mid-Pacific vacationland of Hawaii into the union as the 50th state.

The House was expected to pass a statehood bill by nightfall, less than 24 hours after similar legislation sailed through the Senate on a 76 to 15 roll call vote.

There was a possibility that a final measure could go to the White House today. But this depended upon backers getting unanimous consent for House acceptance of the slightly different Senate bill.

Jubilant Hawaiians stood ready to touch off a two-day celebration, including hula dancing, fireworks and a gigantic bonfire as soon as news of final congressional action was flashed to the territory.

Senate passage of the statehood measure came after brief opposition from Southern Democrats. Thirty Republicans joined 46 Democrats in voting for the bill while 14 Democrats and one Republican — Sen. John Marshall Butler (Md.)— were opposed.

Rep. Leo W. O'Brien (D-N.Y.), Hawaii's floor manager, predicted the legislation would win House approval by a margin of better than 2 to 1.

O'Brien said he hoped to tack Senate amendments on to the House version and then ask unanimous consent to substitute the Senate-passed measure for the House bill.

If his maneuver fails, final congressional action will be delayed until the Senate and House iron out the minor technical differences in the two measures.

Following enactment of the legislation, Hawaiians will go to the polls to elect state officials and representatives in Congress, and vote to accept statehood.

President Eisenhower is expected to issue his official statehood proclamation this fall. Chances are good that Hawaii will have selected its congressmen before Congress adjourns this summer.

The source of the Mississippi River is in Minnesota's 32,000-acre Itasca State Park.

Muir Improvement Assn. Folds Up

Muir Beach Improvement Assn., Inc., formed about a year ago with the objective of improving the community's water system, has gone out of business. Its assets (and liabilities) were turned over to the recently formed Muir Beach Community Services District.

Leslie Smith, a director of the district, was former president of the association.

Smith said that with the district now in operation as the water supplier and an improvement program under way, the need for the association has disappeared.

Marin Gets Share Of Highway Fund

Marin County received $49,716 as its share of highway users tax apportionments for last month, State Controller Alan Cranston announced today in Sacramento.

The Marin apportionment is part of $6,500,340 distributed to counties for February. In addition to the money paid the counties, $18,508,146 was placed in a fund for expenditures on state highways last month and $2,517,588 was set aside for cities.

PROPERTY DISPUTE

High Court Rules For Marin Church

Trinity Lutheran Church of San Rafael is forgiven for its long-standing trespass into neighboring property, the state Supreme Court ruled yesterday in a reversal of the District Court of Appeals.

The decision means the church, located at 1415 Fifth avenue, may retain a strip of property 140 feet long and nine-tenths of a foot wide adjoining the property of Mrs. Jessie F. Ernie of San Rafael.

Attorney John B. Ehlen, representing the church, asked the courts to "forgive us our trespasses," on grounds that the church had built a rectory, sidewalk and fence on the strip in 1926 and had been using it continuously.

Mrs. Ernie went to court in January, 1956, claiming the strip belonged to her. Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court ruled in favor of the church. But his decision was overruled by the District Court of Appeals.

Attorney Ehlen went to the state's highest court. The state Supreme Court yesterday upheld Judge Keating's original decision. The church can now claim the strip of land as its own with a clear conscience.

State's Demos Meet Saturday In Fresno

FRESNO (UPI)—There will be Democrats talking, listening and learning in practically every nook and cranny in Fresno's downtown buildings Saturday.

That's when the California Democratic Council stages its first statewide issues conference in conjunction with the group's annual convention. Nearly 3,000 delegates and alternates are expected to take part in the one-day conference.

"Our purpose is to develop new ideas about old issues and some new issues," says Mrs. Caroline Barrick, Fresno party leader who is in charge of the conference arrangements. "We will not develop immediate resolutions or planks for the party platform. We hope to have an educational and informative program for delegates, which is one of the functions of the council.

The conference, first of its kind to be held on a state level, will be divided into seven topics. They are foreign policy, public finance, economic problems in a growing society, election reforms, planning for population growth, national resources, and human rights.

"Pre-convention interest has been high in foreign policy and human rights," reports Mrs. Barrick. "We will have about 60 meeting rooms and it's sure been tough to find the accommodations."

The conference will begin at 9 a.m. with general topic meetings, breaking into section sessions an hour later. There are a dozen sections scheduled for foreign policy, while the other topic sections will range downward to six on public finance.

"Most congressional districts already have had pre-issues conferences or orientation meetings," says Mrs. Barrick. "Without them it would be difficult to accomplish very much in one day.

"Each section meeting will have about 35 persons participating, with some delegates and alternates being observers. Most of the Democratic legislators also are expected to participate in the various meetings."

The conference was proposed in the council's 1958 candidate endorsing convention and later approved by directors. They denied it was an off-election year stunt.

"It was planned as an annual activity with the hope it will spread into conferences on local levels," says Mrs. Barrick. "In this day and age, a voter not only must know who to cast his ballot for but why. We think the issues conferences will be very helpful in this respect."

The conference will conclude late Saturday night with reports to the convention on each topic.

The convention opens Friday night with addresses by Gov. Edmund G. Brown and other party leaders, nomination of council officers, and a resolutions committee session. Resolutions will be voted on Saturday night with the convention closing Sunday with election of officers.

Nasser Accuses Iraq Chief Of Resisting Arab Unity

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser accused Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem today of isolating Iraq from Arab nationalism and trying to bring all Arab peoples "under a Communist reign of terror."

This was the strongest attack Nasser has yet made on Kassem. Speaking to students demonstrating before the presidential palace, he use words much harsher than he did yesterday when he criticized Kassem for hostility to the United Arab Republic.

Nasser alluded to the strength of the U.A.R. air force.

"We are determined never to attack another Arab state or kill another Arab brother," he said in explanation of why the U.A.R. had simply protested a reported Iraqi air attack Tuesday on a Syrian village.

The attack had attended Baghdad announcements of the collapse of the nationalist rebellion against Kassem's Communist-influenced regime.

"We are capable of returning the blow double, but we refrained from doing so because the villages we would have hit are purely Arab villages, with which we have close Arab ties," Nasser said.

Labor Accepts Brown's Union Reform Program

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Organized labor agreed today to accept Gov. Edmund G. Brown's proposal for a sweeping new California labor relations act aimed at reducing intra-union strife.

C. J. Hagerty, secretary-treasurer of the California Federation of Labor, announced the decision after negotiations with the governor's office which led to 16 amendments.

"We are ready to accept the bill in its present form," he said.

"It's not our own, but I think we can live with it."

FIRST HEARING

His statement came in advance of the first hearing of the legislation before the Assembly Industrial Relations Committee.

Employer representatives indicated, however, they still have some reservations, particularly on proposed repeal of the present jurisdictional strike act.

The bill seeks to:

1. Set up the state's first machinery whereby employees working in intra-state commerce may select or reject a union as their collective bargaining representative.

2. Allow the Department of Industrial Relations to step in to settle jurisdictional disputes.

CAN GO TO COURT

Employers can now go to court to obtain an injunction against a jurisdictional strike, and they have indicated serious reluctance to yield this legal weapon.

Brown contends the injunctive provisions have not served their purpose; that they actually have led to bitterness and strife.

Assemblyman Allen Miller (D-San Fernando), who introduced the bill for the governor, said most of the amendments which brought labor's acceptance were technical.

THREE METHODS

The bill provides three methods, all voluntary, to resolve jurisdictional disputes. One of the substantive changes would make it mandatory for the department to step in within seven days if neither side acts voluntarily.

"I am convinced the bill as amended is workable," Miller said. "It would be helpful especially to small businessmen who are plagued by jurisdictional disputes that can be stopped only by expensive court litigation."

Brown also is sponsoring so-called "union democracy" legislation, designed to protect rank-and-file members against boss control. That bill is scheduled for a hearing before the Senate Labor Committee next Monday.

Woman Sues Gym Over Back Injury

A $25,000 damage suit against the Vic Tanny Gym in San Rafael was filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court on behalf of a 33-year-old housewife, Mrs. Eileen Gartland, who alleges that she suffered rupture of a spinal disc while following a prescribed course of exercises at the gymnasium.

The accident happened sometime between March 19 and April 1 of last year, said Lasher B. Gallagher of San Francisco, Mrs. Gartland's attorney. Mrs. Gartland, then living in Greenbrae, consulted a Marin physician on April 4, 1958, but no X-rays were taken and the injury remained undiagnosed until recently, said her attorney. Three weeks ago she entered St. Luke's Hospital in San Francisco for removal of the ruptured disc.

Mrs. Gartland, mother of two young daughters, is the wife of Eugene L. Gartland, an attorney. The family now resides in San Francisco.

In the civil action filed yesterday, Mrs. Gartland sues for $25,000 plus medical payments.

Tree Limb Falls, Cuts Off Power

Residents along Ames and Upper Ames avenue in Ross heard a resounding crash last night at 7:42 o'clock and then found their homes without electricity for two and one-half hours.

The crash occurred when a tall branch from a tree near Ames avenue and Shady lane toppled, apparently from old age, and cut through two Pacific Gas and Electric Co. power lines, dropping the "hot and sizzling" wires to the street below. About 30 homes were affected, PG & E reported.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

We're Sure Sunny Hills Will Solve Its Problems

Every time we solve one set of problems, we seem to be confronted by a new set tougher than the last.

Such is the course of human history. And that is what we are seeing in at least one development in Marin County right now.

Sixty-five years ago in Marin, there was the problem of how to care for homeless boys and girls, including those whose parents were deceased, institutionalized or had deserted their youngsters.

Out of that problem, Sunny Hills Presbyterian Orphanage and Farm was born in San Anselmo, thanks to initial donations from Capt. Robert Dollar and E. K. Wood, two wealthy Marin residents of that era.

We rather imagine that a careful study of history will disclose subsequent periods when Sunny Hills wasn't big enough to handle the growing number of youngsters for whom admission was then sought.

Ultimately, our society contrived other ways of caring for orphans. Public funds (tax monies, we mean) are now utilized to support a program for putting homeless children into foster homes and provide for the most part a much more appropriate atmosphere for "growing up" than did the old fashioned orphanage.

So the orphan problem has been pretty well solved.

Does this mean that Sunny Hills is now obsolete and can go quietly out of business?

Not at all. Comes now the problem of "emotionally disturbed" children. These are youngsters who have "had it so tough" that their misbehavior makes it difficult if not impossible to care for them in foster homes. They need a type of institutional care; but not "reform school." They need psychological and at times psychiatric counseling. In some instances they need special medical care, but not hospitalization.

Where can they go when they don't have a home of their own?

We are finding that there isn't much of any place for them to go. And their numbers are, sad to say, increasing.

So it is that Sunny Hills board of directors has received a recommendation that it develop a center for resident treatment of emotionally disturbed youngsters.

So it is also that having solved one set of problems we find outselves facing a new set that seems tougher to solve than the set which preceded it.

But we have confidence that today's board of Sunny Hills directors will "find a way," just as their predecessors did 65 years ago.

How About The Dandelion?

Last week the U. S. Senate debated a resolution to make the carnation the national flower of America. Its supporters were eloquent in praise of its beauty and other sterling qualities.

A senator from Texas, with support from Kentucky, stretched a point and came out four-square for grass, the backbone of the cattle industry. Illinois suggested the corn tassel as truly American and economic as well. New York backed the rose.

All these have merit. But it seems to us the obvious choice which everyone missed is the dandelion. True, it is considered something of a pest by many people, but that should not deter us. Indeed, it makes it more appropriate. America's enemies, as well as many of our friends, often regard us as a dreadful nuisance.

What qualities make the dandelion a suitable symbol of America? Botanists tell us the dandelion is the most highly complex and developed of all plants. It is persistent and rugged as were our forefathers who carved their homes out of the hostile wilderness. It, like the American ideal of individual freedom, is hard to kill. The dandelion grows in every state and has a handsome flower. While the economic value of this plant is not great, dandelion wine and dandelion greens are prized by those who know them.

We don't expect anyone to be trampled in the rush to support the dandelion, but we do present the idea for serious consideration.

Actor Would Rather Kiss A Horse Than A Temperamental Actress

NEW YORK (AP) — In the old Westerns the he-man hero usually wound up being bussed by his faithful pony.

Because of a growing feminine interest in these hoofbeat sagas, however, horse kissing has died out as a major American art.

To please the ladies in the audience, the story now ends with the hero in a tender clinch with the faithful dance hall hostess — and the faithful horse can go eat grass, for all anybody cares.

Kissing pretty actresses seems an ideal job to the average man. But there are days when Gene Barry would just as soon turn this chore over to a stand-in.

For a temperamental actress, he implied, can be worse than a temperamental mustang.

"Some of them try to give you that old feminine flimflam," Gene said.

"Then it's pretty hard to make love to them. But a fellow can always manage. I always ask myself, 'If their own mother loved them, why can't I?'"

Barry, like that real-life Western character, Billy the Kid, was born in New York City. In his first stage role he played Bluebeard in the sixth grade in Public School 121 in Brooklyn.

He began his professional career at 16. He sold jewelry, shoes and women's wear before making the big time on Broadway.

Since then he has been in a dozen films, traveled the night club circuit, and appeared on more than 100 television shows before he hit the real pay dirt as Bat Masterson.

HIS DERBY HAT, tight suit and gold-headed cane—it often takes the place of a pistol — are now symbols of elegance to the teen-agers and middle-aged ladies who idolize him.

He hopes to go on to directing and producing. But if the present mania for Westerns should fade and leave him stranded — unlikely, since he is a man of many talents — he's ready to take up a new career.

"I'D GO in for contracting and building," he said. "I recently built my own house, and I like the field."

Barry recently said his goal was to have "a greater concern for the more simple and basic things" in life.

Then he added with a grin: "But first you gotta get rich. Then you don't have to worry about dough and can afford to squander your money on the simple, basic things."

Charity Appeal Results Gratifying

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

In behalf of His Excellency, Archbishop John J. Mitty, and the Archdiocesan Committee for Catholic Charities, I wish to express our deep appreciation of the editorial page support and news coverage you gave our recent Archbishop Mitty's Charity Appeal.

The results of the Appeal were gratifying, and will materially help supplement support received from the United Bay Area Crusade in maintaining our services in the face of the area's rapid growth in population, with attendant increase in calls upon all agencies for assistance, counseling, etc.

I-J Should Print More About Sports

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

You devote two to four pages to women in their society columns every day. I am certain with additional help, you can give your capable sports editor, Jim Gilmartin, a larger space for an increased sports section.

You display loads of society pictures every day; why not give us more pictures of local sports events?

Also, I would suggest in Saturday's paper you make up a box or section of sporting events schedules for the following week, starting Sunday to Saturday, so we sportsmen can be reminded of sports events we plan to see during the week and make up our own personal schedules. Trust you will increase your fine sports section.

Would Bury Civic Center Under Park

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Most taxpayers have seen the wisdom of consolidating the facilities for the many County functions. They seem to have approved the site but they are not agreed on the architecture nor the cost. These problems could be resolved by building the new offices underground after the fashion of Brooks Hall in San Francisco. With shadowless lighting and conditioned air working conditions would be ideal. After making provisions for parking, the rest of the surface area would be landscaped into a beautiful permanent public park.

OLD CHRISTMAS CARDS

Builders Know What Not To Do With 'Em

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Homebuilders are up to their TV antenna in Christmas cards. And nobody knows how to dig out.

To get the picture, you've got to understand about trade associations. Next to government, the big business around here is dealing with government, so trade associations are thick as flies.

They are set up to look out for the interests of their members. In this case it is the interest of people who build houses and who wish the government would stay out of their business except for keeping it booming.

ANYWAY, IT WAS quiet around the National Association of Homebuilders' big, flossy national housing center when somebody got out for the women's pages a nice little story on a timely problem: what to do with old Christmas cards?

"Hold them," said NAHB confidently. "Two nuns in the art department in a small girls' college in California would love to have those cards. The cards can be sent to them through the national housing center."

About a week after Christmas NAHB's daily mail sack turned up unusually heavy.

"How nice," said Mrs. Pat Bittner, the boss of the mail room, "the school girls will be happy."

THE NEXT DAY it wasn't one bag any more. It was a dozen. The mail man, who use to lug the mail in through the front door and on foot, started backing up to the rear loading platform with a truck.

He never has quit. One day he brought 50 bags. Some days this has left him so pooped he hardly has strength to collect the postage due.

While Uncle Sam unloads in at the rear, local folks lug cards in at the front. The NAHB reception desk these days looks like a relief mission as cheerful citizens unload boxes and grocery sacks bulging with missives.

Not only Christmas cards. But last year's St. Patrick's Day greetings. Easter sentiments. Assorted encouragements to "Get Well," "Drop Dead," etc.

THIS WOULD BE great except that what the nuns wanted was a few hundred cards. After receiving from NAHB 61 cartons, each 3 by 3 by 3 feet, they hollered uncle in proper but unmistakable language.

NAHB tried other prospects. They found a few takers, each good for a handful. Now they've made a deal with the trash man. He hauls 'em away by the truckload, and as of today has reached the 8,000 pound plateau.

So NAHB has a bright new suggestion on what to do with old Christmas (and Valentine) cards:

"Buy a house. With a fireplace. Then burn 'em."

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Dizzy Dean, one of the all-time baseball greats, tells this story on himself. When he was pitching for an Arkansas hillbilly nine in his salad days, a rival outfit, determined to undo him, sprinkled broken glass around the mound. Diz, barefoot, hurled six shutout innings without a squawk, but then he stalked over to the rival manager and grumbled, "Joe, you just gotta get this broken glass away from here. It's cuttin' up the ball!"

Can you explain the difference between a hurricane, a typhoon, a tornado and a cyclone? Well, there really isn't any. A severe storm and wind in the West Indies is called a hurricane; in the Far East it's a typhoon; in the Indian Ocean it's called a cyclone, and in the U.S.A. it's usually referred to as a tornado.

When countless quiz shows were infesting TV, a contestant was asked, "What's a metaphor?" He stunned both M. C. and audience by responding "To keep cows in."

How Can Insurance Be Stretched To Cover All Jobs Of A Fireman?

JUST WHAT a fireman can do in the line of duty and still be covered by State Compensation Insurance in case of injury has become a cause celebre in Marin County.

Fire Chief Charles Thornton of Fairfax is one man at least who doesn't want to be out on a limb.

"We ought to have a resolution," Chief Thornton told the Fairfax City Council on Monday night.

Take as an example the general alarm that was sounded last year when a Fairfax man fell into the raging Manor creek and was drowned, he said.

The fire department is not set up for such rescue operations and the volunteers who searched for the man's body were not covered by State Compensation, declared Chief Thornton.

Other jobs which the Fairfax Fire Department is called upon to perform and equally outside its line include rescuing cats from trees, opening houses when someone is locked out, lifting a paralyzed man who has fallen from his bed and putting him back in, said Chief Thornton.

Unless we are given the authority to answer these calls we are not insured for injury, he told the council.

City Attorney Wallace S. Myers could see some difficulties looming ahead if the council tried to list every authorized duty from milking a cow to rounding up stray children.

"Why don't we set up a rescue and disaster crew and make Charley the head of it," suggested Councilman Rolfe M. Ockenden.

Mayor Edward A. Smith favored waiting a while to see what other cities or fire districts decide to do about spelling out specific duties for fire departments.

DISASTER WAS the subject at another point of the Fairfax council's Monday meeting, this time connected with confusingly similar street names like Merwin and Meernaa avenues or Wood lane and Woodland road.

These names could result in costly confusion or tragedy if someone reporting a fire or other emergency should be misunderstood, said Councilman Ockenden.

Planning Commission Chairman W. E. Radtke had an answer. He could remember a couple of years back when the planners tried renaming streets to eliminate too much similarity in names.

"You have no idea what we ran into," said Radtke. "People don't want the name of the street they've lived on for 50 years to be changed."

DEVELOPER Thomas Hotchkin, arguing for apartments behind Manor School, told the Fairfax Council that the land in question was not suitable for single-family houses because "it's on the gloomy side of the hill."

Several of the councilmen looked at each other blankly, not quite seeing the connection.

The theory behind the "gloom" argument turned out to be this: apartment house dwellers usually are people who are away at a job during the day. They aren't at home during the morning when the building is in the shadow of the hill, but they do get the benefit of some afternoon sun when they get home.

Hotchkin got his apartments approved, but probably more on the strength of other arguments than to save stay-at-home housewives from the gloom of a morning without sun.

CAPITOL REPORT

Change In State Speed Law Involves More Than Numbers

By JAMES C. ANDERSON

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Californians will face a new set-up in speeding laws starting Jan. 1, 1960.

The major change will be to junk the present 55 mile an hour prima facie law and substitute a top speed of 65 on the open road.

The present law provides a motorist may drive faster than 55 — but if he does, he must prove that he was going at a safe and reasonable speed if he becomes involved in an accident or is stopped by the Highway Patrol.

The new law, passed by both houses of the Legislature last week and ready for signature by the governor, says 65 is the top limit, period.

In addition to a fixed maximum limit, the new law says that the state Department of Public Works, after engineering surveys, may zone certain sections of the state highway at lower speeds. These zones will be at five-mile-an-hour intervals and before the new law takes effect, the state plans to put up signs so motorists will know when they must drive below the 65 mile top.

WHILE THE 65 limit is a fixed one, all areas zoned for slower speeds will retain the prima facie feature of the present code. That is, if the motorist can prove he was going at a reasonable speed for the traffic and condition of the highway, he may drive faster than the zoned limit.

Both the Highway Patrol and the State Department of Public Works asked for the new law. Both major automobile clubs support it. They all think it will be an assist to highway safety, that motorists will be less confused than they are under the present law.

But in the State Senate, a body of 40 men most of whom go in for high-horsepower automobiles, there was plenty of opposition to the bill by Assemblyman Walter I. Dahl (R-Oakland).

SEN. CHARLIE BROWN of Shoshone, a wide spot in the road in isolated Inyo County, said he thought a 65 mile an hour limit was unrealistically slow.

Brown, who tools around in a 300-plus horsepower late model sedan capable of speeds up to 140, said this during debate on the Dahl bill:

"On some roads, especially freeways to Los Angeles, you'll get run over from behind doing only 65.

Sen. Hugh Burns of Fresno, owner of a 350-horsepower 1959 limousine, groused:

"When you get into Charlie Brown's bailiwick it doesn't make any difference whether you drive 65 or 165 because you can't hurt anything."

Burns said a 65 mile an hour limit was fine on some highways but he thought straight, isolated stretches of highways should be zoned for even higher speeds.

Sen. Donald L. Grunsky of Watsonville, who pilots a red hot foreign sports car, also opposed the bill.

"A 65 mile an hour limit will not prevent accidents," he said.

Despite all the Senate opposition, the upper house voted approval of the bill 28-6 and sent it to Gov. Edmund G. Brown who signed it into law.

Parents Ask Why Wives Yell, How To Cure Tantrums At 8

(Dr. Richmond Barbour, author of this column, will speak at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Sir Francis Drake High School, San Anselmo, under auspices of several Parent-Teacher Assns. His topic will be "Male vs. Female.")

MR. J. M.—"Why does my wife yell at the children? She loves them and they know it. Sometimes when she asks them quietly to do something they ignore her. Then she gets mad and yells at them. The kids jump. Surely other mothers don't act this way. Is my wife a bad mother?"

Reply. — There are times when every mother gets mad and yells. Children have good days and bad days. Sometimes they obey readily. Sometimes they don't. Mothers' tempers vary accordingly. Don't blame your wife. She's human. It will be a help to her to set up clear-cut jobs for each child, and rules for doing them. It will pay to use reasonable rewards. Wise punishment will teach needed lessons. But she'll still yell sometimes. Try to understand.

MRS. A.T.— "When our boy was small his tantrums were cute. He had them frequently. Usually we gave him what he wanted. Now he is 8, and the tantrums are embarrassing. Should we let him have them in public?"

Reply.—I'm sorry you gave him what he wanted when he had tantrums. You rewarded them, so they continue. Also, I'm sorry he has tantrums in public An audience makes them worse. You'll have to be both patient and firm with him now, while he gets over his mistakes. Isolate him when he gets angry. Don't give in to him. Explain repeatedly why tantrums are wrong. Punish carefully. Reward good behavior. Help him to be successful at school and with his pals. Be sure he stays well. Let him sense your continuous love and support. His tantrums may continue, but if they do you should have him studied by a qualified psychologist. He could need therapy. You'll find psychologists on the faculty of your nearest college.

MRS. V.V.—"Did you say that most children need spanking at times? I thought you didn't believe in corporal punishment."

Reply. — My point is that spankings should come rarely. Then they can teach important lessons quickly. If they're overdone, they accomplish nothing.

YOUNG CHAMPION—Janine Peters, 11-year-old San Geronimo dog trainer, shows Tweeny Weeny Stardust to championship at Oakland Kennel Club show. With her is Helen Rosemont II, co-superintendent of show. Janine lays claim to being the youngest dog trainer ever to show dogs to championships as high as that won for her by Stardust: Best working dog in the big Oakland show.

Marin Dog Trainer, 11, Wins High Show Honor

An 11-year-old San Geronimo girl whose hobby is dogs may have accomplished a dog training feat unequaled by any other child her age in the nation.

Janine Peters, sixth grader at St. Rita's Parochial School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Peters of San Geronimo, showed a Dobermann pinscher to the title of best of breed and best working dog at the Oakland Kennel Club show this month.

"We've never heard of a child taking a dog that high in any major show," agreed the Oakland show's superintendents, Bernice Behrendt and Helen Rosemont II.

The Shetland Sheepdog Club of Northern California has added its acclaim by nominating Janine as its candidate for the coveted Gaines Award, to be given by the Gaines Dog research Center of New York.

Since the yong dog fancier started showing animals at the ripe old age of 7, she has collected 108 ribbons and 37 trophies. She was the youngest person ever accepted as a member of the Shetland Sheepdog Club of Northern California when she joined in 1956 when 9 years old.. She is a former member of the Belgian Sheepdog Club of America, which nominated her for the Gaines Award in 1957. She won third place that time.

Janine, an active member of the San Geronimo Valley 4-H Club, already has picked out her career: She'll be a veterinarian, she says.

Easter Egg Hunt Slated In Fairfax

An Easter egg hunt is planned for 2 o'clock on Easter afternoon in Fairfax Park.

Youngsters will meet at Fairfax Central School and "parade" to the park together for the special event sponsored by the Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission, aided by a $25 donation from the Fairfax Merchants Assn.

Because there will be only 300 Easter baskets to give out, the hunt will be limited to Fairfax children. "We are kind of concerned about getting too large a crowd," said Mrs. Jean Secchitano, chairman of the event. "We are trying to avoid the fiascos of other years."

Good taste dictates that you refrain from using hotel blankets and pillows, so bring along the dog's own. Never travel without an identification tag on the dog giving the owner's name and address.

Transit Committee Expansion Sought

Enlarging the Rapid Transit Advisory Committee in Marin County from its present five members to about 35 has been suggested by Thorpe J. DeLasaux, Marin County director of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

DeLasaux, who made the suggestion Tuesday before the County Board of Supervisors, said that the committee should be enlarged to take in representatives from each of Marin's cities, chambers of commerce, junior chambers of commerce, labor groups, improvement clubs in unincorporated areas and others.

Purpose would be to spread information regarding a proposed $750-million bond issue, expected to be put before the voters of the district by May of 1960, said DeLasaux.

County Administrator Donald A. Jensen was instructed by the board to work with DeLasaux in preparing a list of suggested names for future board consideration.

Duncan Prosecutor Lashes Out At Son

VENTURA (UPI)—Dist. Atty. Roy Gustafson says Olga Duncan paid with her life for falling in love.

Prosecutor Gustafson made the observation as he argued for the conviction of 54-year-old Elizabeth Duncan on charges of bargaining for the death of the pregnant wife of her son, Frank.

Gustafson, a precise, methodical attorney, said intense love and hate—mixed in deadly quantities—motivated the "for hire" murder of Olga, a 30-year-old Canadian-born nurse.

He was expected to finish the opening of his final arguments by noon today.

The district attorney was deliberate yesterday as he faced a jury of eight women and four men and examined a mass of testimony accumulated in the trial, now in the fourth week.

He pictured the matronly defendant as a "clever, clever woman" but not quite clever enough, and her 30-year-old attorney son as a "spineless jellyfish" and a "liar."

"It is obvious that Frank Duncan never did love Olga Duncan," Gustafson said. "Olga Duncan loved Frank and she paid for it with her life."

While Gustafson argued against Mrs. Duncan, he blasted Frank, who testified he didn't observe the wedding vow "to forsake all others" because he was afraid his mother would kill herself.

The affection between his mother and Frank was much greater than normal, the district attorney said.

"She (Mrs. Duncan) didn't want anyone to have her son," Gustafson said. "She particularly didn't want Olga to have her son."

But, the district attorney argued, there was no special reason why it was Olga who was killed last Nov. 17 by Luis Moya, 22, and Augustine Baldonado, 25, two ex-convicts who said Mrs. Duncan offered them $6,000 to do away with her daughter-in-law.

If it had not been Olga who was kidnaped, strangled and buried, it could have been someone else's sister or daughter, he said.

Welfare Policy Repeal Favored

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Assembly Social Welfare Committee favors repeal of laws which require relatives to help support old or blind persons.

The committee voted unanimously yesterday for repealers by Assemblymen Phillip A. Burton (D-San Francisco) and Vernon Kilpatrick (D-Lynwood).

The bills are expected to meet more opposition as they advance through the Legislature. They now go to the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Atom Burn Cure

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Atomic skin burns can be cured by skin grafts, says a plastic surgeon.

Dr. J. Barrett Brown of St. Louis told the Southeastern Surgical Conference that recovery can be attained by removing the burned skin and replacing it with grafts.

The Yellow Peril

GRAZ, Austria (AP) — City health authorities have traced a paratyphoid outbreak to powdered eggs imported from Communist China. Graz residents promptly dubbed the disease the yellow peril.

Held In Torture Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Police arrested a San Francisco painting contractor and his helper last night and charged them with suspicion of kidnaping and murder of Charles Ackley, 63.

Ackley's tortured and battered body was found on the Sharp Park golf course March 2.

Arrested were Ernest Pickens, 46, and Walter Senior, 43, his helper. Both are ex-convicts.

Massive Air Display

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—A massive display of U.S. and foreign jet and piston-driven aircraft will be shown at the first World Congress of Flight to be held here April 12-19.

The congress, expected to attract delegates from 35 countries, is an outgrowth of the Air Force Assn.'s Jet Age Conferences which have been held the past few years in Washington, D.C.

Dock Row Settled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An informal settlement has been reached in a waterfront dispute over the handling of dirty cargoes.

Orders were sent out yesterday from the hiring hall of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union halting the dispute before it spread beyond the 700 stevedores involved.

The agreement provides that dock workers handling obnoxious cargoes such as hides, bones and ores may take off 10 minutes early to wash up for lunch.

Senate Passes Bill For Appointive Post

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate gave final passage yesterday to a bill making the chief of the Division of Beaches and Park an appointive position by the governor.

At the present time, the Beaches and Parks Commission nominates the division chief and he is appointed by the director of natural resources.

In Plea For Coyote

SUDBURY, Mass. (AP)—A coyote aspiring to a dog's life will receive the consideration of the board of selectmen tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Martyn Hall, owners of the little alien beast, want for it the same legal status enjoyed by canines.

It is, said Mrs. Hall, "a constant companion for our five small children. He likes children very much and even looks after them. He is very, very tame."

Hall killed the coyote's mother during a hunting trip in Colorado five years ago. The Halls want their pet authorized to carry a dog license and enjoy the same freedom given dogs.

Loma Verde Wins Fight On Cemetery

Loma Verde residents have won—for the moment at least—their fight against establishment of a cemetery on a plot of about 200 acres south of Loma Verde.

Applications for amendment of the Loma Verde master plan and for a use permit to allow establishment of the cemetery were withdrawn Monday, it learned today.

The applications were filed Feb. 16 with the county planning commission by Trousdale Construction Co., Loma Verde developer, and were scheduled for hearing by the commission at 9 a.m. next Monday.

Withdrawal of the applications was requested in a letter to the commission written by E. R. Miller, Trousdale's project manager.

Mary Summers, county planning director, noted today, however, that the proponents of the cemetery plan may at any time apply again for permits for the cemetery.

Loma Verde home owners and the Loma Verde Improvement Assn. have strenuously opposed the plan on grounds it would depreciate property values in Loma Verde, lower the tax base in the area and deter future development.

They have argued, too, that they purchased their Loma Verde properties in reliance on the master plan which calls for residential development of the area where the cemetery was proposed.

Judge Warns Hopps Trial May Be Long

Judge Louis E. Goodman has warned attorneys arguing the $2,809,701 damage suit against international insurance operator Stewart B. Hopps in U.S. District Court in San Francisco that they may be in for a long trial.

Hopps, Belvedere master of finance, is being sued by the Continental Bank and Trust Co. of Salt Lake City.

Judge Goodman yesterday asked the attorneys to choose an independent auditor to help him understand the case.

The civil fraud suit was brought by Continental as receiver for Inland Empire Insurance Co. of Salt Lake City. Continental claims that Hopps indirectly controlled Inland and defrauded creditors, policy holders and stockholders of $2,809,701 in assets.

Goodman asked for the auditor as he was trying to piece together the story of how Inland went broke.

The attorneys were to report today on whether they felt "an intelligent, coherent, impartial report" could be obtained from an auditor.

Preliminary discussions indicated the two sides disagreed on the auditor's practicality. Plaintiff's attorneys figured that an auditor could assimilate Inland's records in two days, while the defense indicated the time required might be six months.

"I'm not going on what I have read about this man in the newspapers," Goodman said.

"I'm going to have evidence brought in the proper way if we have to stay here until Christmas," he told the lawyers, who had expected a one-week trial.

Picard Sobs While Telling Of Collision

Henry E. Picard of Kent Woodlands took the stand for cross-examination today after he broke down in tears while giving testimony on direct examination in his San Francisco Municipal Court preliminary hearing on drunken driving and manslaughter charges yesterday.

Picard was driver of a car involved in a Jan. 8 accident on the Golden Gate Bridge in which Emrys Williams, 52, manager of the American Trust Co. branch in Sonoma, was killed.

'CAME AT ME'

"I saw these two glaring lights coming at me," the 62-year-old Burgermeister Brewing Co. president testified. "They were on high beam. . . . They came right at me . . . "

Racked with sobs, he continued that "gusts of rain" struck his windshield at that moment.

"The car was coming fast and furious," he continued. "I don't understand how it happened. . . . I think I must have froze at the wheel."

Judge Lenore Underwood had to send out for a glass of water for Picard as he found himself unable to continue his testimony.

BLOOD ON HANDS

Immediately after the crash, he testified, he noticed blood on his hands and found he could breath only with difficulty. A man he thought was a highway patrolman told him to stay in the car.

Later, as he was surveying the wreckage, he asked a highway patrolman about the white center line, Picard testified.

"He said, 'You were over it.' I said to the officer, 'Will you please tell me how in hell I got here?'"

Prosecution witnesses have testified Picard was on the wrong side of the line when his car collided head-on with that driven by Williams.

Leslie Gillen, defense attorney, said he is prepared to present 28 witnesses to testify to the difficult driving conditions on the bridge the night of the crash.

State Probes Service Test Bootlegging

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—An investigation of more than 40 state policemen in the suspected bootlegging of state civil service tests tightened today.

"We suspect two or three individuals who are or were in a position to take advantage of the situation when these things occurred," said George Brereton, chief of the state Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation.

40 QUESTIONED

An official close to the bureau's investigation said "two-thirds to three-fourths of the 70-man force of state policemen had been questioned in the case—or maybe 40 is a better number."

Brereton said the case involves civil service advancement tests believed "purloined, used and put back" into the files of the state Personnel Board at its San Francisco and Sacramento offices.

He said the suspects include men who "had the opportunity to get them" out of the files. Presumably state policemen were questioned because their duties as around-the-clock guards of state property would require them to be in or near Personnel Board offices at night.

NO GENERAL PROBE

Bert W. Levit, state director of finance who has jurisdiction over the state police, said "I don't want to give the impression that a general investigation of tests is being taken.

"What we are investigating is the security surrounding a very small number of tests that were given.

"The investigation is pretty close to being completed now," he said. "Charges of misconduct may result . . . against individuals who are suspect."

"I don't want to cast a cloud on any individual or any department until the investigation is completed. At that time, if any action is indicated, it will be taken officially," Levit said.

School Site To Be Sold Via Broker

The five trustees of Lagunitas School District voted last night to sell the district's unused seven-acre school site through a real estate broker at a minimum price of $21,000.

By the board's resolution, bids will be accepted until the June 10 meeting. An earlier attempt by the district to sell the Woodacre site for $18,500 failed for lack of bidders. The new price would represent the same net price to the district after the broker's fee is deducted, said Supt. Clifford L. Frye.

In other business last night, the Lagunitas School trustees:

1. Adopted a 1959 - 1960 school calendar of 180 days from Sept. 10 through June 17.

2. Approved payment of $1.40 per child under a contract with the county superintendent's office for audio-visual materials next year.

College Board Meets Tonight

Trustees of the College of Marin tonight will consider changes in academic standards recommended in previous meetings by faculty, administration and board members.

The meeting will be at 8 o'clock in Harlan Hall on the college campus.

Ward H. Austin, college president, said the board also will review the school calendar for next year and consider granting an easement to Marin Municipal Water District across the campus.

Man May Have Been In America Longer Than Experts Thought

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON — The scene was the beach of Santa Rosa Island, off the California coast. The time was about 29,000 years ago. The people on the beach were probably pretty nasty, brutish and rude, at least by our modern deodorized standards. All the same, they were already indulging in an authentic American pastime.

They were having a cookout —that awful pleasure unavoidable in their era, but still strangely popular in our own. As in the best Texas cookouts, moreover, the thing being cooked was big game. Several eons earlier, the rising seas had trapped a race of mammoths on Santa Rosa. Time and short rations on the island had drawfed the race. So this was a dwarf mammoth cookout.

As in all cookouts, the method of cuisine was important. In brief, the dwarf mammoth was torn into bits; and the flesh was entirely removed from the larger bones. The flesh was left, however, on the ribs, vertebrae and other small bones, which were too difficult to strip with flint tools. The resulting primitive filets and spare-ribs were then grilled in a big fire area prepared on the beach.

Even a dwarf mammoth was a sizable animal, standing six feet at the shoulder. Unless the tribe was very large, everyone could eat to repletion. Repletion, in turn, no doubt produced the usual results. No one bothered to clean up the mess.

Hence the mess was still there until just the other day, waiting to be examined by Dr. Philip Orr of the Santa Barbara Natural History Museum, Dr. Wallace Broecker of Columbia University and Dr. George Carter of Johns Hopkins.

The creatures nature kills are not naturally disarticulated. Forest fires do not char just ribs and vertebrae, and leave thigh bones untouched. Animals do not build fire areas for their feasts. In combination, therefore, the several peculiarities of the mess on Santa Rosa Island's beach spelled Man to the assembled doctors.

Dr. Broecker took some of the charred bone and charcoal back to Columbia. He got a radio-carbon date beyond 27,000 B.C. for the very early Americans who so considerately left their mess behind, to announce their former existence to their successors in this age of anxiety.

Most of the curious and agreeable facts were a sort of byproduct of a gloomy inquiry about radioactive fallout. The inquiry was addressed to Dr. Willard Libby, as a sort of farewell before his expected departure from the Atomic Energy Commission. Dr. Libby is the inventor of Carbon-14 dating—the method of measuring the age of ancient organic remains by testing for radioactive carbon.

It turned out that Dr. Libby much preferred talking about Carbon-14 instead of Strontium-90. Running on Carbon-14, the talk revealed what ought to be major news, at any rate to those Americans who are as untutored as this reporter.

In brief, American history is now getting longer and longer. Until quite recently the experts would not allow a single day more than 10 millenia for the story of man in America. Some scholarly curmudgeons even said that mankind only came to our hemisphere about 5,000 years ago. Ours was a short, short story, in fact, until the experts calculations first began to be upset by the discovery of the flint weapons known as Folsom points. And now our history's time-corset has absolutely come apart at the seams, because of Carbon-14 dating.

The date for the dwarf elephant cookout is only one among several that have burst the time-corset—many of them, it must be added, violently disputed. There is the Tule Springs site, with its Carbon-14 date of 23,800 years ago.

There are the new Mojave Desert campfire sites, discovered by Dr. Ruth Simpson of the Museum of the Southwest in Los Angeles. Dr. Simpson says firmly that the flints in these sites are "typologically closely similar to the European Lower Paleolithic period."

There is the Sandia Cave discovery, with a date a little earlier than Tule Springs. There are the hearths of a camel-eating people (strong stomachs they must have had!) that were found near Dallas. Texas being Texas, the Humble Oil Co.'s laboratories made those particular tests, and got a date more than 38,000 years before our era. Finally, there are the campfires and the seeming-tools found by Dr. George Carter in the middle of San Diego City, which have a date a couple of thousand years earlier still than the hearths of the camel-eaters.

The more conservative scholars in the field are not at all happy about all this. Although most of them cannot absolutely reject Sandia Cave and the hearths of the camel-eaters, they do not fully accept even these dates; and they sternly reject most of the other early dates. They cling, indeed, to the short, short American story they have always believed in. As Dr. Robert Heiser of Berkeley sadly but typically put in, "A quite new interpretation of American prehistory needs more evidence."

All the same, this reporter is against Dr. Heiser. Prometheus-Man has now invented weapons that can conceivably bring this end of our history, the H-bomb end of history as you might call it, to a loud, sudden, dead stop. In this situation, it is oddly consoling to think that our history is constantly growing at the other end ,the flint chopper end, when man began his bold adventure on this continent.

A total of 28,629 flights was flown by airlines of 14 nations across the North Atlantic in 1957.

Governor Of Michigan Makes Financial Plea

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams today appealed to the Republican-dominated Senate to approve an increase in Michigan's borrowing ceiling to 50 million dollars in an effort to ease the state's financial crisis.

The proposal to increase the bonded debt ceiling from $250,000 to the multi-million-dollar figure passed in the House yesterday on its third try. Speedy Senate approval is necessary if the proposal is to be put on the April 6 state election ballot as a constitutional amendment proposal.

SEVERAL PROPOSALS

The higher debt ceiling is one of several proposals which have been advanced to ease Michigan's financial pinch in the face of a mounting state deficit expected to reach 110 million dollars by June 30. Administrative officials say the 50 million dollars must be raised to enable the state to meet current expenses until the Legislature can enact new tax legislation.

Money raised through the higher borrowing limit would be for state payrolls, aid to welfare recipients, and payments to contractors.

OTHER PROPOSALS

Other proposals advanced to meet the tight financial pinch include mortgaging the state's 50-million-dollar veteran trust fund, a 1 per cent increase in the current 3 per cent state sales tax, and a graduated state income tax.

Williams has maintained the income tax proposal is the fairest method of raising needed funds. Republican leaders say Williams' income tax proposal would exempt many lower bracket earners and place the burden on middle- and high-income groups.

The veterans trust fund was established in 1946 by the Legislature to provide emergency assistance to state veterans of World War II. It was amended in 1953 and 1954 to include Korean War veterans. Under the act, interest money on the fund can be dispensed by a board of trustees.

Michigan's political picture is complicated by the fact that the House is split exactly even between Democrats and Republicans. The Republicans held a substantial edge in the Senate.

The Legislature pared Williams' budget recommendations for fiscal 1957, 1958 and 1959, and rejected his new tax proposals, resulting in a deficit spending course over that period.

Williams submitted a 424-million-dollar budget Jan. 30 and asked for a new 140-million-dollar tax program to finance it.

N.Y. WILL SEE MODEL OF OUR CIVIC CENTER

Architect Frank Lloyd Wright's scale model of Marin County's proposed civic center will go on display at the Metropolitan Museum in New York June 1 to Sept. 7.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors this week gave approval to letting the model go to New York for the exhibit to commemorate the development of architecture in the United States.

County Planning Director Mary Summers said expense of transporting the model will be borne by the publishers of Time Magazine. It will be included in a part of the exhibit dedicated to Wright, whose 90th birthday will be celebrated in June.

Drunken Driving Repeater Jailed

David Audrey Altemus, 34, of 5 Lincoln avenue, San Anselmo, was sentenced yesterday to five days in jail and fined $263 or an additional 25 days in jail for drunken driving March 2 on Highway 101.

The sentence, imposed in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Harold J. Haley, was the second drunken driving conviction for Altemus this year.

Frank William Schirmer, 44, of 3 Birch avenue Corte Madera, was fined $200 for drunken driving and put on one year's probation. Schirmer was arrested on Highway 101 on Feb. 16.

Worthington Ready To End Holdout; Leaves For Camp

Combined AP & UPI

PHOENIX — Big Al Worthington, his knee pronounced OK, is coming to the San Francisco Giants training camp with every expectation of quickly ending his $20,000 holdout.

"I'm going to be a holdout when I reach Phoenix," the pitcher telephoned from his Birmingham, Ala., home last night. "I feel sure we will come to terms."

The Giants offered the right-hander $17,000 and said more would be out of line with their salaries for other players. Worthington was paid $12,000 last season when he won 11 and lost 7 with a third place team.

The pitcher had just flown to Birmingham from New York, where he was examined by Dr. Harrison McLaughlin. The doctor reported:

"There is nothing wrong with Worthington's knee."

"I feel better already" because of that report, Al said. He injured a knee working out at home and, favoring it, weakened a thigh muscle. Dr. McLaughlin said exercise should cure that.

Worthington planned to start driving west today.

Indicating his good faith in ending his holdout, he reported he has rented for the summer the Redwood City home of Detroit pitcher Don Mossi.

MILLER SPARKLES

Meanwhile, Stu Miller looked ready to defend his National League earned run championship today.

The little slowball artist, who led the senior loop with a 2.47 ERA last season, turned in his second sharp pitching stint of the young season yesterday to spark the Giants to a 10-5 win over Chicago.

Miller hurled four shutout innings. He gave up but one hit and ended the dazzling performance by fanning sluggers Ernie Banks and Dale Long.

Leading the Giants' hit parade was ageless Hank Sauer, who climaxed a six-run Giant uprising in the eighth frame by belting a pinch-hit grand slam home run.

Other bat stars included Giant Ed Bressoud with two safeties and cubs Cal Neeman and Tony Taylor, who also whacked homers.

The Giants met the Boston Red Sox today. The Bostonians have yet to taste defeat on the Cactus Circuit this year. Manager Bill Rigney announced that Mike McCormick, Curt Barclay and Paul Giel would handle the pitching chores against the Red Sox.

S.R. National League Tryouts Saturday

First—and only—tryouts for the San Rafael National Little League will take place Saturday at the Little League park, it was announced today.

Boys in the 9-10 age bracket will report at 9:30 a.m. while the 11-12-year-olds are scheduled to try out at 1 p.m.

Ashburn Picks Mays To Win Batting Title

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—"I pick Willie Mays to win the batting title," says Philadelphia's Richie Ashburn. "The percentages are against anybody winning it twice in a row."

The defending National League champ added that the San Francisco Giant fielder "has youth and—well, he has just about everything."

Ashburn, the Phils' center fielder, stood off a terrific final month by Mays (.445) to win the title last season, finishing three points ahead at .350.

"There are just too many guys who could win," he said, "and maybe the pitchers bear down a little more on you after you've won."

"And maybe," he added, "some of those hits you got don't fall in for you again."

300 SALUTE JONES AT TESTIMONIAL

Victor W. Jones of San Rafael today was watching a brand new television set from a brand new easy chair.

Those were among the gifts showered on the retired San Rafael High School coach and teacher last night at his testimonial dinner attended by nearly 300 friends and former students.

Sponsored by the San Rafael Athletic Assn., of which Jones is a charter member, the gala event heaped praise on the man who spent 38 years in teaching 33 at San Rafael as coach, industrial arts instructor and attendance officer.

In addition to the TV set and easy chair, Jones received a set of luggage and a golf bag, along with citations from the City of San Rafael, San Rafael High School and the Kiwanis Club.

The honoree received a certificate from Mayor John F. McInnis proclaiming yesterday "Vic Jones Day," thanking him for his service to the community. Jones is secretary to the Board of Education and chairman of the Parks and Recreation Commission. San Rafael businessman Irving Chapman presented Jones the mayor's proclamation.

Principal Ralph Phelps of the high school presented the former teacher a life-time pass to all school activities.

President Bog Hall of the Kiwanis Club told of Jones' perfect attendance record for nearly 10 years and awarded him the first teacher's recognition award in the history of the club.

A number of speakers saluted Jones for his outstanding contribution to the youth of the community, including Glidden Benefield, physical education director at Tamalpais High School; Harry O'Shaughnessy, a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. executive, one of Jones' first students at San Rafael; Paul A. Miller, a fellow coach at the high school, and Ted Mitchell, president of the SRAA.

Included in the audience were Superintendent Frank Lucas and C. Paul Bettini and Harold Fulkerson of the Board of Education; Chairman Walter Castro of the Marin County Board of Supervisors; Coroner Frank Keaton, and San Rafael Police Chief Frank Kelly.

Representing local high schools were Athletic Director Angelo Colombo and basketball and track coach Bob Lincoln of San Rafael; Athletic Director Bob Troppman, Dick Hart and Paul Daly of Redwood; Carl "Red" Brown of Sir Francis Drake, and Athletic Director Jim Hanretty and Benefield of Tamalpais.

Jones also received congratulatory telegrams from Philadelphia Eagles Coach Buck Shaw; Jake Obitz, head golf professional at Shawnee-On-Delaware, Pa.; Cy Londahl, former athletic director at SRHS, and others.

Gallinas Valley Tryouts Saturday

Tryouts for the Gallinas Valley Little League will be held Saturday at Oliver Hartzell School with 10, 11 and 12-year-olds reporting at 9 a.m. and 9-year-olds at 1 p.m.

Boys must provide their own gloves, it was reported.

Pony League tryouts will be Saturday, March 21; and Pony graduate tryouts on Sunday, March 22.

Post May Be Answer To Phillies' Problem

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wally Post may supply the right answer to the Philadelphia Phillies' question: "Who will share the outfield with Richie Ashburn and Harry Anderson?"

Ashburn, the National League's batting king in 1958 with a .350 average, and Anderson, the soph who hit .301 with 97 runs batted in and had 23 homers, need help to get the Phils out of the N.L. cellar.

Post was supposed to supplant the power the Phils missed in 1957 when Del Ennis went to St. Louis after the 1956 season. Philadelphia gave the Cincinnati Reds pitcher Harvey Haddix in exchange for Post.

Things didn't work out as planned last year. Post wound up being platooned with Rip Repulski and Anderson, and doing a lot of pinchhitting. He finished with a respectable .282 batting average, but had only 12 homers (four as pinchhitter) and 2 RBI.

Post went about nailing down the outfield job yesterday with a pair of home runs in a 17-hit Philadelphia attack that demolished the Milwaukee Braves 13-7. Gene Freese also homered for the Phils and rookies Jim Pisoni and Chuck Cottier did likewise for the Braves.

The Braves' Carlton Willey, Bob Rush, Bob Buhl and Dale Hendrickson were the victims of the Phils' attack.

Don Demeter's long single gave Los Angeles a 7-6 victory over Cincinnati. Johnny Temple, with four hits, and Roy McMillan with three RBIs, paced the Cincinnati attack.

Chuck Essengian's triple and Lee Tate's single in the 10th inning helped St. Louis to its first Grapefruit League victory, over Pittsburgh, 5-4. Stan Musial, in his initial training appearance, went hitless.

Boston capitalized on two errors each by first baseman Larry Doby and pitcher Hal Woodeshick to edge Cleveland 4-3 and remain the only unbeaten team in exhibition play.

A two-run homer by rookie Bob Callison in the eighth inning handed the New York Yankees their third straight loss, as Washington won a 13-12 slugfest.

Quinn Named On All-Catholic Basketball Squad

Art Quinn of Marin Catholic High School has received second team recognition on the All-Catholic Athletic League basketball squad selected by coaches, it was revealed today.

Quinn was the only Marin varsity player named on the 21-player squad, but two of Marin's junior varsity players won mention on the All-CAL jayvee squad. They were Ed O'Connell on the second team and Jerry Smith honorable mention.

Quinn was the sixth highest scorer in the league with 191 points. Marin's other leading scorers were Ron Blum with 121 and Co Skinner with 87.

Bears Favored In Regional Playoffs

BERKELEY (AP)—By his own admission, Pete Newell had an easy year of coaching.

"When the players play well, you actually coach less," the California basketball mentor explains.

The record speaks:

The Bears are the Pacific Coast Conference champions a third straight year, have a 14-2 conference mark and are 21-4 overall. They were ranked 11th nationally in the final Associated Press poll.

Cal faces Utah in tomorrow night's NCAA Western Regional Tournament opener in San Francisco and is the favorite to get into the NCAA semi-finals at Louisville, Ky.

Newell figures if his squad can get by this weekend, the Bears will have as good a chance as anybody in the semi-finals.

St. Mary's, the West Coast Athletic Conference king, plays Idaho State in the other regional opener. The winners play for the trip east Saturday night. Idaho State edged New Mexico State 62-61 last night to qualify for the wtsern regional.

California, riding a 12-game win streak, is the nation's big college leader on defense, limiting opponents to 50.1 a game.

The Bears scored 63.3 points a game, but only two of them, guard Denny Fitzpartrick and 6-10 center Darrall Imhoff, averaged better than 10 points a game. Fitzpatrick ended up 13.2. Imhoff 11.1.

Al Buch, the team captain, had a 9.1 average.

Newell points out that his 1959 champions are the percentage shooters, that they go for the one big shot. "They've been hitting better than 40 per cent of their shots from the floor all season," he said.

The Utes have given up an average of 64.2 points a game while averaging 74.1, more than 10 points better than California.

STRONG BENCH

The Skyline Conference champions, although higher scorers averagewise, will be bucking a team long in reserves.

Newell, along with Fitzpatrick, Imhoff and Buch, has three steady floor men in Bill McClintock, Bob Dalton and Jack Grout, and a solid replacement for Imhoff in 6-8 Dick Doughty.

McClintock is a sophomore, the two big men, juniors. The others, the seniors, are responsible gor the team's success, Newell contends.

"We've had great leaderships from our seniors . . . the type that reflected on our whole club," he said.

COACH BELIEVES:

Gaels Just Might Win All Marbles

MORAGA (AP)—It will take a hot team to win the NCAA basketball championship, says St. Mary's Coach Jim Weaver who figures his Gaels might do it.

"Only a real hot team can win this time and my boys have the ability to get high," the soft-spoken Gael mentor said today as his well-rested West Coast Athletic Conference champions worked out for their first test tomorrow night in the western regional against Idaho State, which won its way into the Regionals last night with a 62-61 victory over New Mexico State. Two free throws in the last 20 seconds by Jerry Griffin and the 32-point performance of Jimmy Rodgers dumped New Mexico State.

California, Pacific Coast Conference champ, plays Utah, best in the Skyline, in the regional tourney's other first round game.

"We've played stead ball all season and, whoever our opponents are, we can run up a score on them," Weaver said.

"We have a good defense, we can score from any position and we have five players who can run up double figure scores any night.

"This gives us balance in our scoring and, with shooters like LaRoy Doss, Dick Sigaty and Tom Meschery, this team can break loose at any time."

Weaver rates Doss, a 6-foot-5-inch forward, as All-America caliber. Doss averages 16 or 17 points a game and grabs about 11 rebounds.

Meschery, 6-foot-6 center, accounts for 13 to 14 points a game and takes as many rebounds, while Sigaty, a 6-foot-5 guard, is almost as good.

If the Gaels jump out of the dark at some of the name teams in the NCAA, it will culminate a remarkable season in which St. Mary's for the first time won its conference championship. And it will be the first St. Mary's team ever to play in the NCAA.

Weaver, proud of the fact that St. Mary's is one of the smallest colleges to make the tournament this year, recalls that size never mattered much at Moraga.

Enrollment is only 705 but before the economics of major league football put them out of business, the Gaels, even smaller then, were terrors of the gridiron for many yeas.

2 Cal Bears Picked On All-PCC Team

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Five senior and two juniors were named to the All-Pacific Coast Conference Basketball Team of 1959. Walt Torrence of UCLA was the only unanimous choice.

Here is the team, selected yesterday by vote of the nine conference coaches (player, school, home):

Denny Fitzpatrick, California, Costa Mesa.

Lee Harman, Oregon State, Los Angeles.

Darrell Imhoff, California, Alhambra.

Paul Neuman, Stanford, Costa Mesa.

Doug Smart, Washington, Seattle.

Walt Torrence, UCLA, Sacramento.

John Wehras, Southern Cal, San Pedro.

With seven men named for the first team, only three positions were open for the second. Selected were Bruno Boin, Washington; Al Buch, California, and Whaylon Coleman, Idaho.

Golden Glovers Show Skill, No Punch On Video

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's Golden Glovers, the best amateur scrappers in the West, will take boxing skill rather than punching power against New York in the March 25 inter-city bouts here.

This was demonstrated clearly last night before 11,243 in Chicago Stadium and a national television audience in Chicago's tourney of champions finals.

Four of the amateur stars, including one of the two defending champions, won their titles before the TV camera.

Wilbur McClure, Toledo, Ohio, retained his 160-pound championship with a decision over Cincinnati's Herbert Wills.

The others who won titles "on camera" included heavyweight Jimmy Jones, 18, an unemployed Chicago representative; welterweight Don Sargent, a truck driver from Minneapolis; and Cassius Clay, 17, a high school light heavy from Louisville, Ky.

The only other returning champion, little Gil Yanez of Toledo, retained his flyweight crown with a decision over Oscar German, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Tryouts This Weekend For Fairfax Players

Fairfax-Sleepy Hollow Little and Junior Leagues will conduct tryouts this weekend, it was announced today.

The Little Leaguers will report to Sleepy Hollow Field for their first workouts Saturday, 10, 11, 12-year-olds at 9 a.m. and 9-year-olds at 3 p.m.

The Junior League's 13, 14-year-olds will be tried out Sunday, 1 p.m. at the Drake High School field.

Hub Little League, Junior League Tryouts Scheduled

Tryouts for San Anselmo Little League will be held Saturday and for San Anselmo Junior League will be held Sunday, president Hal Truett announced today.

Tryout time both days will be 1 p.m., at San Anselmo Memorial Park.

Prospective players in both leagues, whether or not they played last year, must sign up 45 minutes before tryout time if they have not already registered. Only players new to their respective leagues need try out, however.

Boys wanting to register must be accompanied by a parent or guardian, and if they have not previously participated must show a birth certificate or other evidence of age.

Guards, Tigers Tie For Title

San Quentin Guards and the Marin Tigers both won their games this week, to remain in a tie for first place in the "C" Division of the San Rafael Men's Basketball League.

The Tigers defeated the 14th Marines 49-36 as Bob DeRosa and Larry Soldavini scored 12 and 10 points, respectively to lead the attack. Bruce Anderson was high man for the Marines with 15 markers.

San Quentin won by forfeit over the Village Inn.

The Guards and the Tigers finished the regular season with identical 6-2 won-lost records. The league championship will be decided next Monday with a play-off game at San Rafael High School beginning

Robinson Cops San Rafael Cage Loop Scoring Title

Glenn Robinson of the Dugout Dandies, former Tamalpais High School and College of Marin ace, won the scoring title of the "A" Division in the San Rafael Recreation and Parks Department Men's Basketball League, final statistics showed today. Robinson finished the nine-game season with 144 points for an average of 16.3 per game.

Don Johnson of Mill Valley Boys Club finished second with 119 points in eight league contests for a 14.8 average.

Milt Hain was one point behind Johnson to gain the third place spot with 118 points in nine games for a 13.3 average.

Bob Liebe of the Dugout scored 114 and Paul Knoles of Schaefer's Sports Shop had 101 points to finish fourth and fifth spots.

The league's leading scorers are as follows:

It Looked Like War At First

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — It was peaceful, but it looked like war.

Motorists were startled to see a 105-mm. artillery weapon abandoned along Highway 121 north of Decatur.

Turned out the weapon was being towed from Indiana to Bushnell, Ill., by a Veterans of Foreign Wars post when progress halted because a wheel bearing burned out.

Just as they were congratulating themselves, the cow dropped dead, apparently from strangulation.

State J.C. Assn. To Crack Down On Recruiting

LONG BEACH (AP)—Effective July 1, out-of-state athletes cannot compete for California junior colleges until they have resided in the state for one year or completed two semesters of school.

That ruling was adopted Tuesday by the California Junior Colleges Assn. as a move toward curtailing recruiting abuses in athletics.

Dr. Edward Simonsen of Bakersfield Junior College said the vote on the resolution was 39-11.

Many California junior colleges have gone out of the state to recruit athletes. The new rule is designed to make the recruiting of athletes from other states less attractive for the athletes themselves and financially impracticable for the junior colleges.

Marinite Wins Doctors' Event; Thompson Race This Weekend

Dr. Frank Howard of San Rafael captured his third straight title in the third annual Hippocrates Slalom at the Edelweiss last Saturday. Other Marin doctors who participated in the event were Henry Garland of San Rafael, Bernard Diamond, Herbert Abrams and Mort Gibbons of Ross, Maury Robinson of Sausalito and E. B. Spiller of Kentfield. About 30 doctors raced the icy course under a warm spring sun.

Since their purchase of the Edelweiss 10 years ago, owners Ken and Bunny Cotton have succeeded in making it a typical family resort. It has grown from one building and six employees to three buildings, 20 employees and the only double chair lift on Highway 50. The Cottons are thinking of keeping Edelweiss open during the summer months.

Ken, a former RAF flyer, is a volunteer driver for the ambulance along Highway 50 in the summer.

Th Edelweiss is named after the "Noble White" flower which grows high in the European Alps. It thrives in storms on ledges and cliffs of towering Alpine peaks, but becomes a common looking weed when transplanted to the valley gardens.

The Edelweiss Redhornets will host the annual Silver Ski giant slalom race for juniors there Saturday.

WITH THE additional slopes provided by the new T-bar at Echo Summit Ski Area, ski school classes have also enlarged. Rich Sylvestri of Oakland and Karen Hennig from the German Alps have been added to the ski school staff.

THE ANNUAL Snowshoe Thompson Memorial Cross-Country race will commence at the Edelweiss Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, parallel Highway 50 to Echo Summit, then down the old road to Meyers Valley and follow the Old Pioneer Trail across the valley terminating at Heavenly Valley resort, a distance of 22 miles. A six-mile course will be set from Sierra House in Tahoe Valley to Heavenly Valley for juniors.

About 40 Class A, B and veterans skiers are expected to compete. Wendall Broomhall of Rumford, Maine, in charge of cross-country racing for the 1960 Olympic Games, won the event two years ago. He will be challenged by Sheldon Varney, 30-year-old South Tahoe school teacher, who won the event three different years and holds the record time of three hours, 18 minutes.

Sponsors of the memorial to the ski pioneer who delivered the mail over Echo Summit in the winter months are the Highway 50 Association, Heavenly Valley-South Tahoe Ski Club and E. Clampus Vitus Chapter of Placerville, who will act as checkers and serve refreshments to the participants along the course.

THE DOWNHILL of the fourth annual North-South Ski Meet will be staged at Yosemite Saturday and the slalom on Sunday. The northern team has won twice and the southerners plan to even the score this weekend. Each team will include 10 men and 5 women Class A racers.

Title Fight Big Boom For N.Y. Business

NEW YORK (AP)—This city's capture of the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight for Yankee Stadium June 23 is just the beginning of a drive by business interests to make New York a flourishing sports center again.

"This fight means 60 million dollars in business for New York," said Bill Zeckendorf Sr., hotel chain owner and realtor. "We and the other business interests in New York were determined to get the fight.

"This is just the beginning. We intend to bid for major league baseball, football and other boxing shows. This is only in our self-interest. Whatever we lose to other cities means a loss to hotels here and other businesses."

Fight promoter Bill Rosensohn disclosed at a press conference Tuesday that it was "a dramatic, last minute guarantee of $600,000 by Bill Zeckendorf and his son that swung me in favor of New York City.

"I'm telling you frankly that I was all set to have the fight in Chicago until that bid was made Monday. Ragnar Benson of Chicago had guaranteed me $500,000."

The move by Zeckendorf and other industrial leaders apparently means that solid backing will be given to Mayor Robert Wagner's movement to get a second major league baseball team in New York to make up for the shift of the Dodgers and Giants to California.

Zeckendorf's guarantee of $600,000 gross receipts seems a cinch to cost him nothing.

Rosensohn said he expected to gross at least a million dollars at Yankee Stadium. He also figures to clear a minimum of $300,000 from either home television or theater television. He said he already has reservations for 4,200 seats from fans in Sweden.

"The target date for the fight is June 23," said Rosensohn, a 38-year-old New Yorker, "My inclination right now is for home television but theater television is a possibility. New York will be blacked out in either case."

NBA Division Semi-Final Playoffs Start Tomorrow

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The divisional semi-final playoffs get under way tomorrow night in the National Basketball Assn.

The regular season ended last night, with the St. Louis Hawks defeating the Nationals in overtime at Syracuse, 132-130, and the Detroit Pistons pulling up from behind to nip the Lakers at Minneapolis, 123-118.

New York, runnerup to the Boston Celtics in the Eastern division entertains Syracuse in New York Friday night in the opener of their best-of-three playoffs. The winner meets Boston.

Detroit travels to St. Paul to take on the Lakers in their semi-final series starting Saturday. The winner of this series takes on the champion Hawks.

It was Dick McGuire's long shot with 45 seconds left that gave Detroit its victory over Minneapolis. Phil Jordan scored 21 points for the Pistons, while Elgin Baylor was the Lakers' big man with 39.

Cliff Hagan's hook shot with one second remaining in the extra period was the margin of victory for St. Louis.

But it was the Hawks' Bob Pettit, leading scorer in the league, who scored the high of 27 points to break another league record. Last week he broke George Yardley's one-season record of 2,001 points, and his 27 against Syracuse ran the total to 2,105. In finishing the season with an average of 29.2 points per game, he shattered the 28.4 mark of Minneapolis' George Mikan, made in 1950-51.

MOON AND VENUS PUT ON SHOW

The moon and the planet Venus seen to be snuggling up to each other in this photo taken from Griffith Observatory at Los Angeles last night. Actually, the two are millions of miles apart. Their celestial flirting was visible over a wide section of the United States. Meteorologists say the apparent close passage occurs often, but is rarely seen because it happens in daylight or after moonset.

Extension Of Draft Passed In House Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation extending the draft law four years was sped to President Eisenhower today by the House.

By voice vote and without debate, the House approved a Senate amendment to a bill which passed the House last month. The amendment dealt with the pay of doctors and dentists in the armed services.

The Senate passed 90-1 yesterday a bill extending the draft and related military manpower programs until July 1, 1963.

Only Sen. William Langer (R-N.D.), who has opposed draft act extensions since World War II, voted against it.

The only Senate change in the bill previously passed by the House was a four-year extension of the extra pay for physicians, dentists and other medical specialists.

Southland Tops For Bankruptcies

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A total of 12,238 individuals and firms declared bankruptcy in 13 Southern California counties last year, giving the area the dubious distinction of having possibly the highest bankruptcy rate in the nation, according to the records of the Federal Bankruptcy Court.

Londonderry, Vt., was given its name by homesick arrivals from Londonderry, N.H. It had previously been called Kent.

Ford Confirms Plans To Produce Small Car

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. has become the first of the Big Three auto makers to confirm it will build a smaller car.

The company said in a letter to stockholders yesterday that barring changes in the small car market, Ford will introduce an economy model sometime this fall.

Neither General Motors nor Chrysler, the other two members of the Big Three, had any comment on the Ford announcement. Both have outlined company positions in previous statements.

The latest of these was Tuesday when L. L. (Tex) Colbert, Chrysler president, told a news conference in New York that Chrysler had a small car in the testing stage but had not yet decided whether to put in on the market.

Chrysler, Ford and GM currently offer imported small cars through their U. S. dealers. General Motors imports the Opel from Germany and the Vauxhall from its British plants; Chrysler imports the Simca from France; and Ford offers several models imported from Germany and England.

The GM stand was incorporated in the company's 1958 annual report by Frederic G. Donner, board chairman, and John F. Gordon, president. The executives told shareholders the corporation was continuing studies to be prepared to produce smaller cars in the event demand warranted them.

The Ford announcement was made by Henry Ford II, president, and Ernest R. Breech, board chairman. Their letter said that the company had been studying the small car situation for several years.

"Barring changes in the market or other circumstances," the letter said, "the company plans to introduce such a car during the 1960 model year."

Ford and Breech said the car will be in competition with other economy cars, "including cars expected to be produced in this country by other American manufacturers."

The predictions generally are that newer models planned by the Big Three will be of from 108 to 110 inch wheelbase. This is about 10 inches shorter than regular Chevrolet and Ford models.

The gold-mining industry in and around Johannesburg, South Africa, employs 383,000.

Lovers Of Fine Food Organize In North Bay

Seventeen gourmets from Marin, Sonoma and Napa Counties gathered at Sabella's restaurant Tuesday evening to organize a new club and then eat a rarely served delicacy called stuffed calamari (squid).

Equipped with a charter from the International Wine Food Society in London, the group plans to further the arts of wining and dining in the North Bay, under the name of the Wine and Food Society of the North Bay.

The newly organized gourmets will convene for quarterly dinners at restaurants within the three North Bay Counties. Their group will be limited to 40. No commercial vintners or restaurateurs will be admitted to membership.

Hub Man Catches 100-Lb. Sturgeon

Bob Johnson of San Anselmo won a 30-minute battle with a 100-pound, 75-inch sturgeon Sunday while bass fishing off Hamilton Field with Sam "The Butcher" Ross and Grover Ahrens.

Fishing aboard Ross' 17-foot runabout, "Suzanna," Johnson caught the lunker on a 30-pound test line using a Pfluger Akerite reel.

All three anglers also got a striper.

Pastorale Symphony Previewed By Critic

Musicologist Dr. Joseph Kerman of the University of California elected to speak on Beeshoven's "Pastorale Symphony" in presenting a preview of tomorrow night's second concert of the Marin Orchestra before more than 140 members and guests of the Symphony Guild of Marin yesterday at the Meadow Club.

Kerman, who is an author and critic and acting chairman of the department of Music at the University, chose the Beethoven work as the selection which interested him most from the varied program to be presented in Marin Catholic High School auditorium.

At the outset, the speaker stressed that the Beethoven symphony "is purely a musical work and an impression of the composer's feelings in the country." He said, "The composition lives by its musical meaning."

"The Pastorale Symphony, also known as the Sixth Symphony, is composed of five movements which all form a continuous whole and from beginning to end is a single, continuous journey."

Kerman, who is also an accomplished master of the harpsichord, organ and piano, pointed up the various movements and phrases of the work with records and on the piano.

He emphasized that the work has a strange rooted quality in its proportioned music movement which is quite unlike Beethoven.

In conclusion, Kerman said, "The total effect of the Symphony with its final movement one of peace and quiet, makes Beethoven for once happy with the world."

The program Friday will star duo-pianists Milton and Peggy Salkind of Sausalito in an interpretation of Mozart's "Two-Piano Concerto in E Flat Major."

It will also include Hindemith's "Symphonic Metamorphosis of Themes by Carl Maria Von Weber" and Berlioz' "Roman Carnival Overture."

The speaker was introduced by Guild president, Mrs. Robert L. Schultz.

A luncheon followed the 11 o'clock preview.

Senator Dilworth To Address Republican Federation Here

Senator Nelson S. Dilworth, who has served continuously in the California State Legislature since 1936, will address the California Federation of Republican Women, Northern Division, at its 12:30 luncheon Wednesday, March 18, at Rickey's Rancho Rafael.

Senator Dilworth, famous for his stand on Americanism, is holder of a Freedom Foundation award for his "great interest in protecting the rights and freedoms of the individual."

Presiding at the federation sessions, which wlil begin at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, March 17, will be Mrs. Merritt R. Hosmer, San Carlos, president of Northern Division. A dinner and idea fest is open to all GOP women.

Co-hosting the two-day session are the Republican Women of Marin Federated and the Marin Republican Women's Council.

All members and guests are asked to wear "funny hats" to the meeting on Wednesday morning and the hats will be sold to raise money for the Northern Division. Business includes election of a second vice president and four regional vice presidents.

Mrs. Matt Graham of San Anselmo is taking reservations for Wednesday's luncheon. Congressman J. Arthur Younger of San Mateo County will be master of ceremonies at a panel movie which features congressmen of the Northern California area.

Honored guests will be Mrs. R. G. Kenyon, president of the California Federation, Miss Jane Zimmerman, who heads the Northern Division fund raising drive; Mrs. Campbell Watson, vice chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, and Mrs. H. E. (Marjorie) Benedict, national GOP committeewoman.

John Taylor Is Feted At Hospital Party

John K. Taylor, who recently retired as administrator of San Rafael General Hospital, was honored at a party given by the hospital's employees.

The affair was arranged as a surprise and took place in the hospital dining room. The theme of the party was Hawaiian, the tables were decorated with palm fronds, bamboo branches and camellias.

The special refreshments were prepared by the three hospital chefs and included Hawaiian punch with floating camellias.

Taylor was presented with a lei of orchids and Mrs. Taylor with an orchid corsage.

High point of the afternoon was the presentation of a gift which the employees had ordered especially for the honoree. It was a gold money-clip engraved with the hospital seal and the words "To our good friend John K. Taylor from the employees of the hospital." With the gift went a special card signed by members of the entire hospital staff.

Mrs. Trevor Hoy Honored At Tea

Mrs. Trevor Hoy was the honored guest at the beautifully appointed tea for 60 guests held recently by Mrs. Harold Hallet at her home, St. John's Episcopal Rectory, in Ross.

The Rev. Canon Hoy has recently been called from Pennsylvania to serve as director of religious education for the Episcopal Diocese of California. They have rented the Erickson home on Laurel Grove avenue, and their sons, Christopher and Stephen, are newly enrolled in Ross Grammar School.

On the lace covered table was a centerpiece of camellias and candles, and about the rooms were arrangements of white daphne and fruit blossoms. Assisting with pouring and hostessing were Mesdames Stanley Brooks, Frank Brown, Gordon Cochrane, Frederick Macondray, Stryker Warren, Melville Wolf and Fred Woods.

LEGAL SECRETARIES TRIBUTE

'This Is Your Night' Honors Judge N. Charles Brusatori

A sentimental and impressive tribute was paid by the Marin County Legal Secretaries Association at their second annual Bosses' Night last night when Marin County Superior Court Judge N. Charles Brusatori was made the subject of the skit, "This Is Your Night."

At the dinner in the Flamingo Room of Bermuda Palms and with Hugh Turner, manager of KTIM, as master of ceremonies, Judge Brusatori was taken completely by surprise when he was called to the "stand" and informed "This is your night."

As Mr. Turner told of the judge's early life, his arrival from his native Italy when a small boy, his school days in San Rafael, his baseball team, his parents and brothers and sisters and his courtship and marriage, pictures, by courtesy of The Photo Shop, were thrown on the screen. The audience saw a small boy dressed in his Sunday best, his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Felice Brusatori, the baseball team, "The Marsh Rats," more formally known as "The Federals." Then Charlie, as all who know the judge call him, was pictured in his first automobile and when he claimed Mary McKeever as his bride on June 27, 1929. Later there appeared the pictures of the judge as he ascended the judicial ladder to his present high post.

As the narrator spoke of the past, one by one those who had important roles in the judge's life took their place on the stage: his two brothers, Robert and Joseph Brusatori, his sister, Mrs. John E. Skillicorn of San Francisco, (the other sister, Mrs. Milford O. Crader of Trinity Co. telegraphed her regrets), George H. Harlan, famous attorney ,with whom Charlie had a long and pleasant office association, Myrtle Ballard, their secretary, then Charlie's wife and their two daughters, Mrs. Ole Christensen and Mrs. Frank Klineman, Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. who was sworn into office as Marin Municipal court judge the same time Judge Brusatori took that office, Edna Lemke, clerk of the municipal court, Edna Ingalls, first president of the Marin Legal Secretaries Association, whom Charlie had installed in office (he is now an honorary president of the organization), and Gladys O'Neal, current president of the association.

The narration was interrupted by clever commercials extolling the legal secretary. The The entire script was written, produced and directed by Laura Robertson. At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. O'Neal presented the association's gifts to Judge and Mrs. Brusatori. For her there was a charm bracelet with mementos of her life, and for the judge there was an album for all his pictures. In his speech of appreciation it was evident that the judge was deeply affected by and grateful for the tribute.

Mrs. O'Neal presided at the meeting, and she introduced those at the head table, Mr. and Mrs. Turner, Virginia Cumming, governor, Louise Allen, parliamentarian, and her husband, J. W. Allen, Mary-Hazel Stephens, past first vice president of the National Legal Secretaries Association and past president of the San Francisco Association, and Florence Donnelly, society and woman's page editor of the Independent-Journal.

Miss Cumming reviewed the history of the Marin organization and outlined the instructive programs it had presented. Mrs. Allen read the Code of Ethics. The handsome printed program contained the "Salute to the Bosses," which concluded "And You Should Know, we truly appreciate your ability to really adjudicate. So tonight, we salute you and you and you, and assure you of service the whole year through."

Mrs. Robertson had on her committee Virginia Cumming, Margaret Day, Laverne Ruttledge, Jan Steuer and Joann Williams.

TWENTY-NINE DEALERS LISTED FOR ANTIQUE SHOW AND SALE

Plans were formulated for the Seventh Annual Antiques Show and Sale at a steering committee meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. Philip T. Smith in Mill Valley.

Mrs. Smith has been named as general chairman for this year's event, which is scheduled for April 23, 24, 25 and 26 at the American Legion Hall, 467 Miller avenue, Mill Valley. Hours will be from noon to 10 p.m. daily, except Sunday noon until 8 p.m.

A long list of dealers had applied to participate in this year's show, which has a reputation of being one of the best on the Coast. Space has been expanded to permit more dealers than last year and 29 leaders in their field will display wares. Moneys received will be used towards the Building Fund of the Church of Our Saviour, Mill Valley, which was completed in 1955, according to Mrs. Harrison McNear Leppo, president of the Rector's Guild, sponsoring group.

Fifty women meet once a month and devote their time and talent towards the assistance of the church. Mrs. Leppo has been President of the Guild since its inception.

Tickets are good for the duration of the four-day show.

Presidio Teen Club Sets Dance Saturday

The Presidio Teen Club will be guests of the Hamilton Air Force Base Teen Club Saturday night, March 14, at a dance with a St. Patrick's Day theme. Entertainment will be given by members of the Hamilton club. Social chairman Martha Hulgan is in charge, with Rosemary Cook and Diana Williams assisting. Chaperones will be Col. and Mrs. Ralph Henderson and Maj. and Mrs. H. W. Lutz.

Tomorrow the junior high members of the Hamilton club will hold their party. Penny Lambert is in charge.

The Teen Club is also giving an Easter party on April 28 for 30 children from the Sonoma State Hospital. The patients will each have a Teen for a big brother or sister for the day's fun at the Base Youth Center. An egg hunt will be featured. Pat Murphy is planning chairman.

Femineers Giving A Mountain Party

The Femineers are staging an "Ol' Mountain Party," a hill billy buffet dinner and dance to be held Saturday night at the Carroll Ranch at Rheem Center near Orinda. Attending will be Femineers, their husbands and guests from all parts of the Bay Area who will be wearing hill billy outfits. Decorations will also carry out the theme.

Several barbershop numbers will be sung by the "Slide Rules," Theodore Newman, Donald Hicks, William Keener and Arnold Olitt.

The Femineers are wives of civil and structural engineers. Among the members and husbands attending from Marin are Messrs. and Mesdames William W. Brewer, J. Barry Cooke, Leslie W. Graham, William J. Keener, Robert Lawson, William W. Moore, Fred Nicholson, Burr Randolph and William A. Swain. Mrs. Swain is a member of the committee for the party.

San Rafael GRA To Hold Play Day

The Girls' Recreation Assn. of San Rafael High School will sponsor a basketball play day on Saturday.

Girls from all Marin County high schools have been invited. Punch and cookies will be served. Players and spectators are requested to bring sack lunches. Sandra Hardie is chairman of play day.

New officers of GRA include Barbara Rudnick, president; Sue Anne Stickle, vice president; Lee St. Johnson, secretary; Georgette Steiger, treasurer and Irene Obolsky, historian.

Guild Has Party In Coppers' Home

Members of the Strawberry Point Sunny Hills Guild No. 1 and their husbands attended a sherry party and social get-together for new members and their husbands held Sunday from 4 to 5:30 p.m. in the home of the Ray Coopers in Strawberry.

Those attending were Messrs and Mesdames James Watson, L. J. Smith, Harry Wagner, J. R. Sullivan, William Praun, Harris Johnson, A. H. Deckman, Fred Andress, Douglas Patten, Robert Davis, Dan Williams, Poseph B. De Smet, John Glasner. William Moschetti, Charles Gay and John Taylor, and Mesdames Charles Crowell and E. W. Bodine, president.

Silk Suit, Costume Dress, Sheath Favorites At Fashion Luncheon

From a purely feminine viewpoint, Easter 1959 will be the prettiest and most colorful in years with flattering and fashionable styles to suit many ages, many figure types and many husbands whose spring wallet is more apt to respond enthusiastically to Easter fashion, 1959, than it did to last year's "chemisery."

This was indicated on Tuesday when 24 attractively accessorized Easter outfits, each "Sealed in Easter Style" by the R and M Style Shops, paraded at Rickey's Fashion Focus luncheon which honored the Marin County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc.

Since young and old can be handicapped, with no one exempt, Marion Bellamy, Fashion Focus coordinator, reminded the audience that each person has a stake in the success of the Easter Seal drive for after all "It Could Be You."

Attractive nosegays of Easter lilies, theme flower for the Easter Seal drive, had been deftly made by the handicapped citizens and the Friends of Arequipa to perch on sprayed branches. Artistically arranged as a focal point on each table by talented Felicia Carroll, they reminded guests of the rebirth in spring and the "rebirth" to the handicapped citizens in Marin who benefit from donations to the Easter Seal campaign, and from the Society's ever expanding program of services.

ENJOY LUNCHEON

It was a heart warming sight to watch as 25 handicapped citizens wheeled into the Terrace Room where they enthusiastically enjoyed luncheon and the fashion show as the guests of John Rickey.

Happily the guests met Pamela Schmidt, last year's Easter Seal theme girl, who no longer needs her crutches, but was abl to walk on her own introducing the fashions "Sealed in Easter Style."

The silk suit, costume dress and ever-popular sheath loomed as best bets to put near the top of the Easter shopping list always teamed with a devastating spring hat to accent a charming hair style created for the models by Tone's House of Beauty in Corte Madera. Added beauty for each model, the coordinated make-up by Beauty Counselors Gai Fleming and Frances Gaines.

"Sealed in Easter Style:"

"In Your Easter Bonnet," a snappy red breton blooming with red geraniums to add dash to Mrs. A. C. Saul's smart navy silk sheath dress, jacketed for the silk suit look, the big collar ending in a deep triangle at the back waistline.

"With All the Frills Upon It," the frill one big white rose perched on navy blue straw to accent Mrs. Merton Preston's navy silk coat dress, the graceful X-neck foil for a blue and white polka dot scarf.

"You'll Be the Grandest Lady," and she was, Mrs. John Ehlen in Teatimer's silk shantung important dress, the color, curry; a flat bow at the waistline; above it spring's newsy V neck and large collar; her hat, an avocado rolled brim breton with ribbon trim.

"In The Easter Parade," check and double checked, Mrs. Gunheld Brown in a textured "tablecloth" cotton plaid, the three-quarter coat with loose cropped sleeves to accent a simple sheath blacked to the high bodice then repeating the checks.

"I Could Write a Sonnet" about the practicality of a "swing into spring" coat, especially when it's a periwinkle, tone-on-tone blue in Hockanum's basketweave wool and worn by Mrs. E. C. Brown over a Navy sheer crepe, square necked dress.

STRAW CARTWHEEL

"About Your Easter Bonnet," this, a wonderfully large black rough straw cartwheel, sashed with black jersey, to set off the blondeness of Mrs. Walter Moreno, influenced by Chanel in a three-piece Pat Premo black and white sandscript print; the skirt slim, the blouse white Irish linen, the jacket cardigan and buttoned in white.

"And of The Girl I'm Taking," the girl Mrs. Donald Smith in Bernetti's original, a silky black sheath diagonally buttoned below the waist up to a deep V'ed oversize collar of black cinnamon and buff organza; her hat choice a smart small black Baku straw.

"To the Easter Parade," then home for luncheon, Mrs. Ray Ehmke pleated in L'Aiglon's ice blue dacron favorite, the pleats to stay, the dress to go anywhere and look well arriving; over it a white sweater jeweled in blue brilliants.

As a delightful salute to St. Patrick's Day, next Tuesday "Fashion Focus" will present "Shamrocks and Silhouettes" to honor the Jolly Roger, Peter Pan and Tom Thumb chapters of the Children's Home Society with the first spring showing of fashions by Grace Graham of Kentfield.

Tennis Members Plan Symposium Sunday Evening

Mill Valley Tennis Club members who followed the suggestion to check the definition of "symposium" written on invitations to a "Sunday Night Symposium" this weekend may be surprised.

First definition given in Webster's is that it is a convival gathering with feasting and drinking accompanied by music, singing and conversation.

Such is the plan for the first of a possible series of Sunday evening affairs after a day of tennis or swimming, designed to release women from the necessity of going home to prepare supper.

Tomorrow is the deadline for reservations being taken by Mrs. Leland Wiese and Mrs. George Pritzker.

Tuesday afternoon women of the club will have a "tax-poor" luncheon planned with an eye on the cost of everything. Apparel will be "sad rags" instead of "glad rags," with no hats or gloves.

Entertainment will be inexpensive community singing.

Assisting social chairman Mrs. Jack Murphy will be Mesdames Lawrence Douglas, James Stephenson, Leon Cavasso and N. C. Ortman Jr.

Also planned for the Sunday before Easter is an Easter Egg Hunt for members' children in kindergarten through fourth grade.

Rebekahs To Hear Talks By Students

Contestants in the "Pilgrimage For Youth," sponsored by Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of the United States, will provide some of the entertainment at tomorrow night's regular meeting of Blythedale Rebekah Lodge 305 at the Mill Valley Odd Fellows Hall.

Speaking on "My Country and World Affairs" will be Cheryll Lynn of San Rafael High, winner of the contest in Marin County, and Maybry Eileen Geller of Sir Francis Drake High, the runner-up.

Mrs. Peggy Dahl, noble grand, will conduct the business meeting.

Officers' Wives Fete Newcomers

Newcomers were welcomed to the Officers' Wives Club of Hamilton Air Force Base recently to the tune of Irish folk songs. Mrs. W. Grim Locke played the medley of gay tunes while the 18 guests were greeted at a coffee amid St. Patrick's Day decorations at the Officers' Club. A miniature Irish guy and his girl were in jig position among the shamrocks on the coffee table as Mrs. Orvill Burwell and Mrs. Harry Caldwell poured. The latter was introduced as the new assistant secretary of the club.

The centerpiece of orange carnations, white iris, set off with green calla leaves went to Mrs. Anthony Whalen. The piano decoration of white stock and yellow daisies was won by Mrs. William Sinclair.

Among activities the newcomers were invited to join was a flower arranging course given by Mrs. Robert Tuckey of Marin Art and Garden Center beginning Monday, March 16 in the Cabana Club. Mrs. Carl D. Trick, OWC Art and Garden Club, is in charge of arrangements.

Grand President Makes Official Visit To NDGW

Tamelpa Parlor 231 and Fairfax Parlor 225 recently received the official visit of their grand president, Mrs. B. C. Dismuke of Tierra de Oro No. 305, Santa Barbara, at the American Legion Hall in Mill Valley.

Carrying out the "Indian" theme of the evening were wigwams, tepees and various Indian relics on the tables. Dressed in fringed and feathered costumes, moccasins, and carrying tomahawks emblematic of Tamalpais, six trustees — three from each parlor — acted as escorts for the grand president.

It was the regular meeting night of both parlors, but only most important business was discussed.

Mrs. Dismuke gave a long speech on her projects — the children's foundation, restoration of missions, history and landmarks, welfare, conservation and many others.

Refreshments were served by chairman Mrs. J. E. Lestanguet of Fairfax Parlor and chairman Mrs. Anthony Damazio of Tamelpa Parlor and their assistants.

LYNN HARRIMAN of Larkspur, kneeling, who lived in Sweden as 1958 winner of the Redwood High School Experiment in International Living shows this year's winner, Thorley Turner, how to wear her skis. Thorley will also go to Sweden. On March 18, 19 the Redwood High group will stage a rummage sale from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. at the Corte Madera Recreation Center to benefit the scholarship fund. Skis are among the articles to be on sale.

Shower Honors Karen Dunham In Mill Valley

Karen Dunham, who will become the bride of Walter Gull Jr. on April 5, was honored at a shower given Saturday evening by her only sister, Mrs. Carl Williams of Mill Valley.

For decor Mrs. Williams suspended wedding bells from the ceiling, as well as Japanese parasols filled with lilies and daisies.

Among those attending were the mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Glenn Dunham of Mill Valley, and her future mother-in-law and sister-in-law, respectively, Mrs. Walter Gull of Mill Valley and Mrs. Bill Lemon of Burlingame; and her aunt, Mrs. Bette Cossette of Vallejo.

Also present were Mrs. Williams' mother-in-law and sister-in-law, respectively, Mrs. Bill Williams and Mrs. Bill Talley, both of Napa.

Others attending were Mesdames Carlo Canziani, Bob Cortopasse, Larry Porter, Roy Habenicht and Alma Gull; and the Misses Gwen Mason, Syd Peterson, Carol Solo, Paulann Ross, Judy Grant, Carol Schroeder, Sharon Tresnon, Pam Richards, Jane Marsh, Joan Smith, Mary McGee, Mary Casagrande, Barbara Chesnut, Claudia Colburn, Sue Ellen Smith, Kappy Kapasauc, Lynn Winfield and Robin Lynn Williams.

CYO Trek To Snow

Members of Catholic Youth Organization of Marin County will travel by chartered bus for a day of skiing and other snow sports on Saturday. Seventy teen-agers and their adult sponsors from San Rafael, Tiburon, Mill Valley, Larkspur and Novato will make the annual trek. The bus will leave the San Rafael City Hall at 4:15 a.m. and is to return at 10 p.m. Breakfast and dinner stops will be at the Milk Farm at Dixon. Edelweiss on Highway 50 will be the headquarters for the day. The trip is under the supervision of Charlene Schumacher of the CYO staff.

Two Navy Vets Take Over Recruiting Here

When Chief Engineman Claude R. Brown retires from the Navy April 1, it will take two men to replace him.

Brown today was already "breaking in" his replacements. They are Chief Aviation Machinist Mate A. J. Zuurbier and Boatswain's Mate 1/c R. B. Hill.

They'll take over the arduous (?) chores of convincing youthful Marinites that there's no career like the Navy, a premise for which the two of them — and Brown as well — are pretty good walking arguments.

It will be the first recruiting duty for both Zuurbier and Hill, in 19 and 18 years in the Navy, respectively.

Zuurbier comes to his new assignment from Neptune Squadron VP22 at Barber's Point, Oahu, Hawaii. He spent a year there and previously was in Japan with the same squadron. He is a Chicagoan.

He and his wife and son are living at Marin Town and Country Club in Fairfax and looking for more permanent quarters.

Hill has been on sea duty since 1945. He was born in Sacramento and grew up in Oakland. He and his wife and two children are new residents of 21 Nave court, Novato.

The Navy recruiting office is at 1116 Fourth street, San Rafael, in the Rafael Theater building. Zuurbier and Hill will keep it open until 5 p.m. five days a week and until noon on Saturday.

Brown, who is retiring with 20 years' Navy service, has been Marin recruiter for three years. He says he is "39 like Jack Benny"—but looks much more like 39 than does the famous comedian.

Brown, who with his wife and four children lives in Novato, will move to Reno as soon as he hangs up his Navy blues. There, he's going to work for Harold's Club — a chancier occupation than the Navy, it would seem, but not so for a "house man."

CD Training Setup Slated In Alameda

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas Kuchel (R-Calif.) has announced the office of Civil and Defense Mobilization will open a training center for civil defense personnel of the western states at Alameda.

It will use buildings of the old Maritime Service officers' training school.

Other details will be announced shortly by Leo A. Hoegh, director of the agency.

Board Invites Leader Of Anti-Center Drive

John R. Streiff of Greenbrae, a leader of the movement to scuttle Marin County's civic center project has been invited to appear before the board of supervisors and "get the facts."

The board extended the invitation this week after receiving a letter from a Novato woman who enclosed one of Streiff's anti-civic center leaflets, which have had wide distribution throughout the county in recent weeks.

BRING EVERYBODY!

"He's the fellow we should invite to come in and get the facts, since he's the one who has been disseminating so much misinformation," said Supervisor Vera Schultz.

"Judging by what's in the paper, you might have more than one man come in here," remarked Supervisor William D. Fusselman.

"Well, that's fine," Mrs. Schultz said. "I'd love to have them come in."

On her motion, the board unanimously instructed County Clerk George S. Jones to extend the invitation to Streiff.

The Greenbrae man, at a meeting last week in San Francisco, was named secretary-treasurer of an organization of Marin taxpayers opposed to the civic center. The organization has 40 to 50 members, most of whom are commuters to jobs at the Fireman's Fund Insurance Co. in San Francisco.

SEVERE TAXES

The Novato woman who enclosed Streiff's leaflet is Mrs. Mary L. Rodeck of 95 Grove lane. A newcomer to Marin, she said she and her husband are "deeply concerned about the severe taxes which we are being compelled to pay. And, we ask, for what?"

"Who," she inquired, "is getting the political payoff?"

Mrs. Rodecks letter claimed the county needs a civic center "far less than we need streets, sewerage and street lights." It was referred to Supervisor William A. Gnoss, who represents North Marin.

A letter from Stanley V. Dick of 22 Cove road, Belvedere, suggesting a public vote on the civic center project was referred to Mrs. Schultz.

Staffing Sewer Office Urged

A proposal that a member of the Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District board spend a few days monthly in the district's Shoreline Highway office was advanced at Tuesday night's board meeting by president Bruce J. Gillette, but no formal action was taken.

Gillete said that it would be "mainly for public relations purposes" to discuss problems of the district residents and would probably be only two days a month. The member would be paid for any expenses involved, he said.

Former district manager Byron O. Boulware spent time in the office but was also required to handle outside maintenance work now handled by the fire department, Gillette said.

SAFE DRIVING TIP

A motorist should never be distracted while driving.

Children in the front seat can prove extremely bothersome to the driver, and safety seats are recommended for youngsters to make sure they do not interfere with the driver's concentration.

Common sense dictates that young children should not be allowed freedom of movement in the front seat while the car is in motion, points out the Chicago Motor Club. At no time should a child be permitted within easy reach of the car's driving mechanisms.

Bids For AF Work To Be Opened Monday

Opening of bids for installation of a new electrical power distribution system at the 666th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron station on Mt. Tamalpais has been set for Monday, according to Col. John S. Harnett, Army district engineer.

Earlier, the opening had been scheduled for this week.

125 Entries Already In Science Fair

Some 125 entries in the second annual Marin County Science Fair have been received already, according to Andrew McClain, Tamalpais High School science instructor and fair director.

Included in the group are 26 entries from Tam High, ranging from hyroponocs to retardation of bacterial growth through effects of radiation.

Awards are to be made on creative ability, scientific thought, thoroughness, skill, clarity, originality as well as dramtic and utilitarian values, McClain said.

Judging will be held Monday. The fair will run from March 17 through 21.

Rogers Named To Park Commission

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown yesterday named Will Rogers Jr., son of the late actor and humorist, to a four-year term on the state Park Commission.

Rogers, a radio and TV actor himself, will replace Charles Kasch of Ukiah, whose term expired Jan. 15. The nomination requires Senate confirmation.

Rogers, 48, served one term in Congress and formerly was editor and publisher of the Beverly Hills Citizen. He was the defeated Demoratic condidate for the U.S. Senate in 1946.

IN 'FOR WHOM THE BELL TOLLS' — Maria Schell is seen (above) as Maria, the young girl in a Spanish guerilla band who falls in love with an American when KPIX and the CBS television network tonight present the first half of their three-hour presentation of Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls." Half the drama will be presented by Playhouse 90 at 8:30 tonight, the second half next Thursday. Jason Robards Jr. co-stars.

'FOR WHOM BELL TOLLS'

Famed Hemingway Story On TV Screen Tonight

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls" comes to the home screen tonight in the most ambitious television drama production of the season.

The first part of A. E. Hotchner's adaptation of Hemingway's novel will appear on "Playhouse 90" (KPIX 8:30 p. m.) with the concluding part visible a week from tonight. The total three-hour taped presentation, starring Maria Schell, Jason Robards Jr., Maureen Stapleton and Eli Wallach, is the longest single drama ever produced on television.

Producer Fred Cole described it the other day as "a very literal television translation of one of the finest stories of war ever written." He says that three hours are necessary to do justice to the story of an American with the Loyalist forces in the Spanish Civil War who joins a guerrilla band to blow up an army bridge.

"When you watch this show," urged director John Frankenheimer, "don't watch the scenery. It's there only because it's the proper setting for this beautiful story."

Viewers surely will be impressed, however, by the settings which Walter Scott Herndon designed for the show — all done indoors in four New York studios.

Thirty horses are used in the outdoor scenes.

Set decorator William Harp finally found an army tank at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. that looked foreign enough for its role.

After the tank was shipped here, a wooden replica was made—to be blown up when Robards destroys the bridge.

In taping the production it was decided that artificial snow was inadequate. So Coe ordered a half ton of real snow shipped here in refrigeration to be melting off pine trees and on the ground around Robards and Miss Schell in the celebrated sleeping bag love scene.

Pope Creates Entertainment Guardian Unit

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII set up a permanent commission on movies, radio and television yesterday to guard against their "moral danger and harm."

Msgr. Martin J. O'Connor of Scranton, Pa., was named chairman. He must report to the Pope twice a year on the organization's work.

Msgr. O'Connor gets on of the most responsible positions held by an American in the Catholic Church. The commission has wide powers to guide the work of national church bureaus on moral classification of films and other matters.

The new permanent commission replaces one originally set up by the late Pope Pius XII in 1948. The first papal commission established in 1948 dealt only with religious and educational films. It was expanded to include all films in 1952 and to embrace radio and television in 1954.

In an official letter creating the new commission the Pope deplored "with saddened soul the moral danger and harm caused not seldomly by films, radio and television transmissions." The offenders, he said, strike "at Christian morals and at the very dignity of man."

Reed Trustees Meet Tuesday

District insurance coverage bids, the 1959-60 budget and the proposed unification of Reed, Sausalito and Mill Valley School Districts are on the agenda of a special meeting of Reed Union School District trustees set for Tuesday, according to Erwin Farley, chairman.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the district office on Tiburon boulevard.

Post Office Bids Open Till April 13

Bids to house a proposed San Rafael Post Office branch in the vicinity of Terra Linda will be accepted until April 13, announced John W. Keast, regional real estate officer of the Post Office Department.

The new post office will require a 3,978-square-foot interior; a 714-square-foot mail loading platform, and a site large enough to provide 10,430 square feet of paved area for postal trucks. Information may be obtained from Keast at Room 723, Flood Building, San Francisco 2.

Steel-Edged Competion

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry lays claim to a thriving competition.

To prove it, Steelways magazine lists the following figures: 33 steel companies making structural shapes; 64 turning out hot rolled bars; 44 producing cold finished bars; 59 making wire and wire products; 24 making cold rolled sheets; 63 making stainless steel.

Art Exhibit Set Sunday In El Paseo

El Paseo in Mill Valley will be the scene of an art exhibit Sunday afternoon for the first time in several years.

Paintings and sculpture will be on view from 1 to 4:30 p.m. in all of El Paseo's shops, offices, arcades, patios, restaurant and the adjoining Greenwood Tree, according to Helen Gapen Oehler, chairman of Artist Associates, the exhibit's sponsors.

The exhibit will be the work of 10 members of Artist Associates — all of whom will be on hand to greet guests.

In addition to Mrs. Oehler, the artists are Arthur W. Palmer, Nevin Kempthorne, Viking Leon, Carlo Talliabue, Ted Christensen, Thomas Leighton, Margery Lester and Othello Michetti.

This group was founded early this year with the idea of making Mill Valley an art center similar to Carmel. Its headquarters and gallery are in El Paseo.

CORNELIA AND HUSBAND — The part of the author and central character in "Nuts in May" is portrayed by Sherry Philippet as Cornelia Otis Skinner, while her husband is played by Harry Wendt in "Nuts in May," Drake High School spring play which will be presented tomorrow and Saturday nights.

Drake High Spring Play Set Tomorrow, Friday

"Nuts in May," Drake High School's spring play by Cornelia Otis Skinner, will be presented by student thespians at the school's little theater tomorrow and Saturday at 8 p.m.

Playing the part of Cornelia will be Sherry Philippet, a junior. Cornelia's husband and son, Michael, will be played by Harry Wendt and Jerry Citti, respectively. Both are seniors.

Janice O'Neill, Michael's vivacious girl friend, is played by Judy Carlton, senior, while her sophisticated "rival," Victoria Shaw, is portrayed by Judy Dufton. Victoria's mother, Mrs. Shaw, is played by Sue LeCount, junior, and John Rechtfertig, senior, portrays Janice's uncle, acid-tongued drama critic Watson O'Neill.

Two of Miss Skinner's dearest friends, Eve, the playwright, and Isobel Carrington are played by juniors Hedy Hurt and Sigrid Moller, respectively. Taking the parts of Cornelia's teen-age fans, Mary Ann and Shirley, are Sondra Dennis, a senior, and Bobby Fox, junior. Ethel, the domestic of the Skinner household, is played by Bunny Brown, senior, and Maggie Dell, television personality (who achieves success by means of a terrible warm smile which she flashes whenever she needs it), by Lynn Farmer, junior.

Representing the freshman class in the play are Bruce Franchini and Bruce Come, who play the parts of Marty and Sam, two TV technicians on Maggie's television show. Phelps, the doorman, is portrayed by senior Dave Brown.

Tickets may be purchased at the student store and from members of the cast.

Commute Club Plans Drive For Members

The Mill Valley Commuters Club will conduct its annual bus-stop membership campaign next Monday and Tuesday, George Wickham, president, said today.

Membership committee members will be on hand at bus stops in Mill Valley, Homestead, Almonte and Tamalpais Valley to acquaint new commuters with the club and its aims, according to C. Harvey Mielenz, committee chairman.

Copies of "The Commuter" will be distributed. The current issue features articles on the club's program and the annual potluck dinner set for April 3.

"With Bay Area rapid transit plans being formed, there's a renewed interest in commute problems," Wickham said. "The Mill Valley Commuters Club is one of the most active in the Bay Area. We want it to be representative of as many commuters in the area as possible."

37 Sergeants Get Hamilton Promotions

North Bay Aqueduct Clears Senate Hurdle

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The North Bay Aqueduct cleared one hurdle in the state Senate yesterday.

A subcommittee of the Senate Finance Committee rejected the recommendation of the legislative auditor that all money should be withdrawn from the project, and agreed to keep the project alive.

Representatives of every county involved—Marin, Sonoma, Solano and Napa — were present for the hearing. Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy and other legislators from the counties testified in favor of continuing planning of the aqueduct.

Marin was also represented by Supervisor William Gnoss and San Gardiner, attorney for Marin Municipal Water District.

Involved is about $400,000 scheduled to be expended up to June 30 this year, some $15,000 scheduled to keep the project alive next year, and about $556,000 left over from an earlier appropriation.

The auditor had suggested the entire amount be returned to the general funds of the state. Monday night an Assembly subcommittee decided to take no stand on the recommendation.

America's first patent was granted in 1646 to Joseph Jenks of the Massachusetts Bay Colony for his invention of an improved scythe.

Foreign Language Program Planned At Novato High

The Novato School District Board has approved a "foreign language laboratory" program to start next fall at Novato High School if the federal government accepts the program for financial aid.

The program is designed to bring students to a mastery of a foreign language, rather than merely a smattering of knowledge of the language, said Supt. William J. J. Smith.

It would be similar to the program used by the Army Language School at Monterey. Klause Mueller, director of Romance and Germanic languages at the Army school, would serve as consultant.

At first, the Novato program would be confined to a beginning class in German. It is planned as a four-year project, aud would probably be expanded to include other languages later.

The laboratory approach to language study includes use of tape recordings and sound booths.

If Novato's program is approved by federal officials, the federal government and the Novato District would each furnish approximately $5,000 to finance it for the first year, Smith said.

Marin Sportsmen Map Fight Against New Abalone Bill

Marin Rod and Gun Club is urging sportsmen everywhere in California to join in efforts to save abalone along Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino county coasts from destruction by commercial fishing interests.

Assembly bill No. 826 proposed by Assemblyman John A. O'Connell (D., S.F.) would, if passed, open up the North Coast area to commercial abalone fishing, threatening destruction of the last remaining abalone sportsfishing area not yet exploited by the seafood industry.

The Rod and Gun Club will join with other organized sportsmen's groups in a "march on Sacramento" to seek defeat of the O'Connell bill. The club urges sportsmen to communicate with legislators, asking help in the fight against A.B. 826.

CLOSED SINCE 1937

Abalone fishing north of the Golden Gate (District No. 10) has been closed to commercial interests since 1937, with the exception of two war years, 1943-44. Sportsmen approved that move as a wartime necessity to help meet the food shortage.

Prior to 1937, commercial abalone fishing had been permitted in this area starting in 1903.

In recent years, every session of the legislature has seen a face-to-face debate between sportsmen and commercial interests over the District 10 abalone. The sportsmen over the years have spent thousands of dollars protecting abalone beds from destruction by industry.

Abalone fishing along the North Coast draws thousands of sports fishermen from other parts of California and their visits have brought millions of dollars into the economy of this area.

20-YEAR FIGHT

In connection with a big battle between sportsmen and commercial interests in 1951, a survey of abalone habits along the Marin and Sonoma coasts was ordered. It was finally completed in 1957. Biologists concluded that the abalone fishery would not survive long if fished commercially.

For 20 years the Marin Rod and Gun Club has always been in the forefront of the fight against commercial threats, sending delegations to hearings in Sacramento and meeting with interim committees in the field on numerous occasions.

MRGC Beautifying Clubhouse Area

Considerable progress was made during the past year in landscaping and beautifying the grounds around the Marin Rod and Gun clubhouse at Pt. San Quentin.

Under the guidance of Chairman Don Scagliola, the huge lawn, flower beds and shrubs were planted and cared for. Scagliola and his committeemen have been planting shade trees and shrubs along the hillside south of the clubhouse and adjacent to the picnic area.

A great deal of preparatory work was necessary before the planting could be done. A new water pipeline will be installed to provide water for irrigating the newly-planted areas.

Junior Rifle Club Boasts 2,000 Grads, High Praise

More than 2,000 boys and girls have been trained in rifle marksmanship and safe handling of firearms since the MRG Junior Rifle club came into existence.

George Finney and Fritz Pfeffer, rifle instructors, have given generously of their time and talents to make the rifle club program a success. Tony Chausse founded the junior club which has won state-wide praise for its accomplishments.

The junior riflemen have participated in winter league tournaments in Marin County in the past two years. Last November a team from Marin attended the state shoot in Fresno and made a good showing. This year the state shoot is scheduled again in November, at Ft. Ord.

A national outdoor position shoot is set for June 7 at Sharp's Park.

NRA COURSE

At present, the indoor rifle range at College of Marin is undergoing repairs, expected to be complete early next month. At that time, a new class of 48 boys and girls will start the National Rifle Assn. course in marksmanship. Tuesday evenings will be reserved for beginners; Thursday evenings for advanced shooters.

During the summer months, outdoor classes are conducted on Saturdays. The instructors will welcome inquiries from interested persons.

Boat Population Increasing At Fast Rate Here

Boat "population" is increasing more rapidly than human population in Marin county.

The county has a population of 145,000 persons as compared with 85,000 in 1950, which represents a growth of 7,000 per year. Boat registrations have doubled the forecast growth incorporated in the county's three-year-old master plan, according to Planning Director Mary Summers.

Some 2,763 small craft are registered with the Coast Guard from Marin County. This figure does not include craft of less than 16-feet, such as rowboats and small sailboats. Assessed value of Marin craft is around $1¼ million, but the real value has been estimated at closer to $5,699,000. Another million could be added for the smaller vessels not accounted for in the Coast Guard registration.

As a first step in providing for additional small boat channels and harbors in the county, Marin has adopted a master plan and has a $10,000 loan for development studies, and $300,000 loan for construction of Richardson's Bay facilities from the state.

Free Fishing For Cal Pensioners

Among pensioners, only persons receiving aid to the aged under the State of California Old Age Security Law are eligible for free sport fishing licenses and stamps.

The Department of Fish and Game has said it has had to turn down many requests from pensioners who are not eligible.

The department reminded pension recipients that those who are receiving Federal Social Security or other pensions are not eligible unless they are also receiving the official state aid.

Sports, Boat Show Expected To Attract Record Crowds

The popular sports and boat show season in northern California moves into Marin County tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday when the Marin Rod and Gun Club presents its sixth annual outdoors extravaganza at Bermuda Palms Hotel in San Rafael.

PLENTY OF BOATS

Started in 1954 on a small scale, the local show has snowballed into a gigantic attraction and indications are that the attendance records will be smashed this weekend. Last year more than 30,000 persons visited the three-day display of latest outdoors equipment. So great was the demand for display space this year that the sponsors have erected a huge tent adjacent to the Bermuda Palms' main auditorium.

Boats will dominate the display area, according to Co-Chairmen Barney DeBisschop and John "Monty" Marzetta, but visitors also will be treated to displays of the latest in hunting, fishing, camping and other outdoors equipment.

Doors will be open from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m. tomorrow, 1 to 11 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

Special performances by the Marin Skin Divers Club and the Northwoods Bowmen's Club of Marin again will share the spotlight with the show's exhibits.

The skin-divers will give various demonstrations and at least two members will attempt to break the world record for breathholding under water in the Bermuda Palms swimming pool. The present fantastic record is 13 minutes, 35 seconds was set last summer in Burlingame by Dr. Robert Keast of San Rafael. Al Giddings Jr., former world record holder, and Bob Foster, both members of the Marin club, will attempt to better that mark.

ARCHERY EXHIBIT

The archers' exhibition team will display its wares and the Marin club will sponsor a balloon booth and a junior tournament.

Admission is free of charge and several valuable prizes will be awarded to lucky visitors when the show closes Sunday.

The sponsoring Marin Rod and Gun Club is the largest sportsmen's organization in California with more than 2,000 members.

Launching Ramp Is Popular; More Improvements Planned

The boat launching ramp at the Marin Rod and Gun club has received frequent use since its construction last year.

During the past winter, many tons of sand were washed up over the ramp, covering in some places to a depth of three feet.

A crew of volunteer workers removed the sand again for the second time recently and expectations are that it will remain clear until next winter.

Last year a floating dock was constructed adjacent to the ramp and it proved very useful in launching and recovering boats. The channel has been dredged to a depth of three feet below mean low tide in order for boats to use it when tides are out.

Further improvements in the area around the ramp are being planned to provide more parking space for trailers and autos.

Lobbyists Appointed

The California Wildlife Federation has appointed former legislator Verne Hoffman to represent it this year before the Legislature.

The Ocean Fish Protective Association has retained former Fish and Game Commissioner Andy Kelly for a similar purpose.

Both groups have adopted legislative programs which they intend to push during the current session.

PICNIC AREA—Here is where members of the MRGC have spent many pleasant afternoons with their families—the picnic grounds. Last year the club added these scores of tables and several barbecue pits and for the first time held its annual chicken barbecue picnic on club grounds. In past years the picnic was held at McNear's Beach. In right background is the clubhouse and jutting far out to the left is the MRGC pier—longest striped bass fishing pier in the world.

Division Of Small Craft Harbors Assists Boatmen

Recently established to handle the boating and waterway problems of Californians is the Division of Small Craft Harbors. The division was created to help obtain new harbors and boating facilities, both inland and coastal, and to assist in the improvement of existing installations.

Its other functions are to assist in the improvements of waterways and to handle boating problems, related to recreational boating. H. G. Stevens is director of the Division.

BREATHHOLDING

Divers To Attempt Fantastic Record

Two members of the Marin Skin Divers Club will try to better a fellow member's world record for breathholding while submerged in Bermuda Palms swimming pool at the annual Marin Rod and Gun Sports Show this week end.

Robert Foster and Alfred Giddings Jr. will attempt to beat the time of 13 minutes, 35 seconds set by Dr. Robert W. Keast of San Rafael last July in Burlingame.

The breathholding competition is part of a lively aquatic performance to be staged by the skin divers during the show this weekend.

In preparing for their record attempts, the divers will lie down on their backs and breathe pure oxygen—as deeply as possible to rid the body of carbon dioxide—from an anesthetic gas machine for about a half hour.

Then they'll take a last big gulp of oxygen and roll over into the pool where they'll hold their breath two or three feet below the surface.

FIRST EXPERIMENT

Dr. Keast, a 37-year-old anesthesiologist, first began experimenting with breathholding in a Salt Lake City Hospital seven years ago. He remained on an operating table 10 minutes, 25 seconds without taking a breath.

He set his first world record for underwater breathholding at the 1956 Sports Show in the Bermuda Palms pool with a time of 10 minutes, 58.9 seconds. (Others had held their breaths longer, but no one had claimed better time underwater.)

Giddings, 21, a telephone installer and former high school swimming champion, broke that record at last year's Sports Show with 11 minutes, 40.5 seconds.

Then in July, Dr. Keast recaptured his title with the sensational time of 13 minutes, 35 seconds.

"If anyone beats that, he can have it," says Dr. Keast.

He says he'll never try it again because he almost suffered a collapsed lung the last time.

TOO UNPLEASANT

The physical sensations are too unpleasant, he says.

First the breathholder expertences a dizziness and weakness as he begins the deep breathing of oxygen, he explained.

Then after five minutes of the oxygen breathing, as more carbon dioxide goes out of the blood, tingling and numbness is felt all over the body.

Finally the carbon dioxide "blow-off" causes contractions just like those seizing a victim of tetanus, or lockjaw. The feet and hands turn downward and can't be moved.

Two persons attend the breathholder constantly above and in the water to prevent any mishap.

The disagreeable effects disappear after a period of normal breathing.

DEMONSTRATIONS

The Marin Skin Divers Club will also feature demonstrations of water safety, equipment and diving techniques at the Sports Show.

In addition, the divers will have a booth with displays of equipment, including several new underwater cameras.

Several hundred colored slides illustrating club dives in the Fort Ross and Monterey Bay areas will be shown.

Club members giving demonstrations include:

Robert Camiccia and Maurice Picard, wet and dry skin diving suits; Leroy French, clearing the mask and use of snorkel; Tom Hotchkins, weight belt, float and diver's flag; Robert Gist, entering water with equipment; Foster and Jim Higgins, swimming with and without fins; Jim Carty and Burnell Hendrickson, double breathing from an underwater breathing apparatus; Giddings, retrieving breathing apparatus, mask and weight belt from the bottom of the pool, and George Tsegeletos, spearguns.

Vice president is Peter Bertoni, secretary is Paul Ware Sr. and treasurer is Roland D. Hellman.

The board of directors includes those officers, along with Barney DeBisschop, Morris "Babe" Dahl, Gordon Dixon, Albert Ferrari, Moon, Silvio Ruffino, Leo Ciucci and Stephen Lato.

John P. O'Connell is the club's legal adviser.

HERE'S NEW WAY TO HUNT

From Tennessee comes the funniest duck hunting story of the season.

An experienced nimrod was in his blind one foggy morn and heard amateurish calls. He paid little attention until the noise was noticed coming closer. Then he saw a lone gunner paddling in a boat with a string of perhaps 50 decoys bobbing along in the wake. The hunter would stroke, peer aloft and squawk on the call and then repeat the performance. Puzzled, the veteran hunter asked the novice what he was doing.

"There weren't many ducks down at the other end of the lake," he said, "so I thought I'd try awhile at trolling for them."

Waterfowl Hunters Average 32 Birds

An average of 3.2 birds per hunter as of mid-December was reported on 11 State-operated waterfowl management areas where nearly 40,000 persons had availed themselves of hunting opportunities.

The harvest included 123,440 ducks, 3,584 geese, and 2,075 coots.

Gray Lodge and Grizzly Island led the average with 4 and 3.9 birds per hunter respectively.

Arrowhead Exhibit At Sports Show

The story of conservation in the west is the story of Hugh M. Worcester of Berkeley who once again will exhibit his famed collection of Indian arrowheads at the Marin Rod and Gun Club Sports Show.

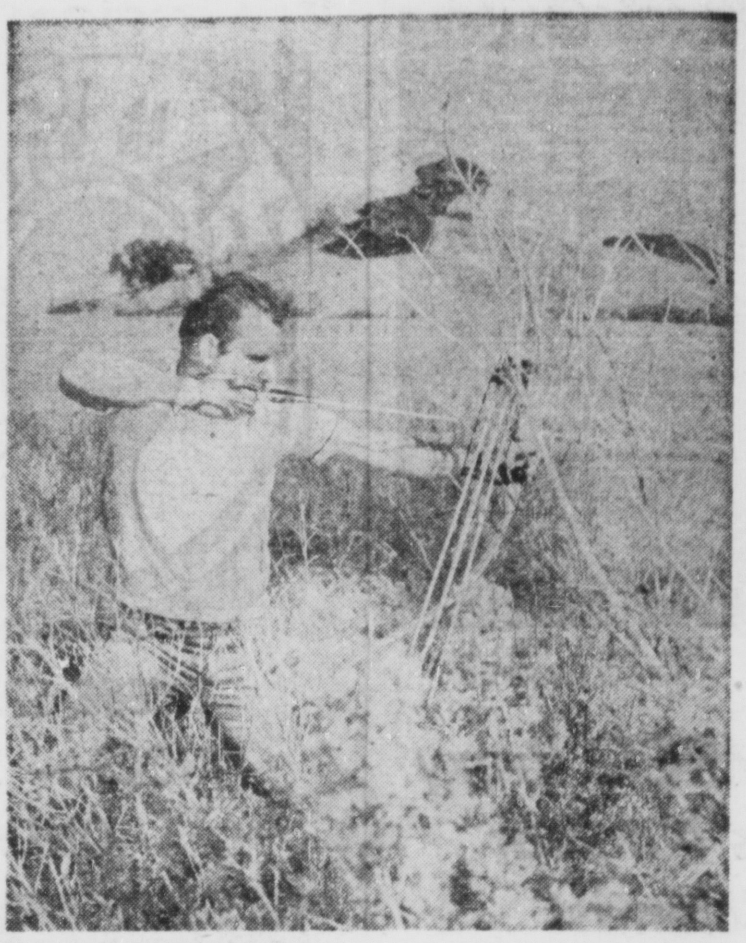
For more than 30 years this outstanding friend of the sportsman devoted his life to wildlife conservation. For nearly 20 years he directed his main efforts to the difficult and perilous task of breaking up the organized gangs of market hunters who with their allies, the big city restaurants, were illegally killing and selling such enormous numbers of wild ducks and geese as to threaten their extinction on the Pacific flyway.

After a boyhood in the rugged regions of North Dakota and Montana, Worcester served two enlistments in the U.S. Navy and then began his conservation career as an Idaho game warden.

His distinguished work there led to a request from the Washington fish and game authorities to go to Pullman, where, in addition to serving as game warden, he maintained a pheasant farm on the college campus for students interested in conservation.

Here again his outstanding work led to a call from the federal government and he was put in charge of and developed the U.S. Wildlife Refuge at Tule Lake, Calif., today one of the most outstanding hunting areas in the west.

In 1934, he came to Berkeley to take complete charge of federal law enforcement in the California-Nevada area as Game Management Agent of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and, until his retirement 20 years later, directed the breaking up of organized gangs preying on priceless wildlife.



CHAMPION ARCHER—Larry Petretti of San Anselmo shows form he used in winning Marin County target and game hunting championship last year. The former president of the Northwood's Bowmen's Club, won state-wide acclaim in 1957 by winning the California Small Game Hunting Championship.

Marin Archery Club Joins In Conservation Movements

Northwoods Bowmen's Club, Inc., Marin County's own field archery group, has been a regular exhibitor in the Marin Rod and Gun Club's Sports and Boat Show and once again will provide entertainment for this weekend's show visitors.

Besides sponsoring a junior tournament, the archery organization will provide a balloon booth for youngsters to test their skill and an exhibition team to treat customers to some trick archery.

Founded five years ago, the group has joined in organized conservation and sportsmen's movements in addition to its field archer and bow hunting activities.

The club's center of activities is at its range on San Pedro road approximately two miles east of Santa Venetia where practice and regular tournaments take place.

A recent addition to the area is a Beaver Range, especially designed for children in the 9 to 14 age category. They are taught archery free of charge and are under constant supervision. Eventually they will elect their own officers and conduct regular activities, according to Northwoods President Stan Goldsmith.

TOP COMPETITOR

Former president Larry Petretti has proved to be the club's most successful competitor. He won the California Small Game Hunting Championship in 1957 who also won the Northern California title. At present Petretti is the Marin County Target and Game Hunting champion. Rip Van Winkle is the runner-up in the former competition and Dick Argento in the latter.

In addition to local tournaments the Marin archers compete in regional, state and national competition.

Besides President Goldsmith, officers are Vice President Ray Skinner, Treasurer Dick Bailey and Secretary Jim Wiese who guide the activities of the 100-plus membership.

Small Boats Open The Door For Some Man-Sized Fishing

Small boats frequently open the door to man-sized fishing.

They provide the "entree" to streams too deep for wading, and furnish a convenient way to fish those small lakes frequently neglected by most anglers. These little boats have been pushed into the background by big pleasure craft, but they still play an important role on the fishing scene.

Unless your biceps are big and your back broad, you should limit cartoppers to boats weighing less than 120 pounds. Wood and fiberglass construction seldom meet this weight requirement, so it has been suggested that you confine your small boat choice to sturdy aluminum or a strip-canvas combination.

Canoes are natural cartoppers. Light and extremely portable, they represent one of the finest craft for fishing rivers or small lakes. Aluminum canoes are especially light, won't soak up additional aquatic pounds, and can take a beating. Square-sterned models powered with small outboards make it almost unnecessary to pick up a paddle.

Small skiffs are handy also. They're stable in calm waters, and offer more freedom of movement by boat occupants. But, they can't compare with the canoe for shooting river rapids or busting through whitecaps on a wind-ruffled lake.

Select your car-top boat with an eye toward the type of waters you'll be fishing most often.

Portability is the main feature of a car-top boat. You can load it on a ten-dollar car-top platform, and can take it wherever you can drive a car. With one of these lighweight craft, you can seek out the lonely fishing waters bypassed by less adventurous anglers, and discover a lot of fishing action in the process.

Wonders Of Underwater World Fascinate Marin Skin-Divers

Divers To Display Techniques In Sports Show Pool

By KERENS LAWSON

The Marin Skin Divers Club will give demonstration at the Marin Rod and Gun Sports Show at Bermuda Palms this weekend.

Just what, many will want to know, is a skin diver?

A skin diver is a creature who, like an amphibian, has to be totally submerged in water part of his life in order to exist.

He gets a glazed look in his eyes all during the week except when some poor unsuspecting soul brings up diving, or the ocean, or anything remotely related.

Just give him an excuse. His eyes will light up and he'll buttonhole anyone who will listen to his tales of beneath the sea.

Endlessly and enthusiastically he'll talk of the wonders of his other world, the underwater domain.

He'll tell of swaying jungles of kelp, octopi that do the mambo and monster fish swimming out of huge caves.

Toward the weekend, which is time for another dive, he powders his rubber suit, sharpens his spear points, checks his compressed air tank and lovingly packs his gear.

WATER WIDOWS

Talk about golfing widows! The wives of skin divers are water widows. They know it's hopeless when their husbands get that faraway dreamy look.

Comes the weekend and the skin diver takes off for the ocean as fast as transportation will carry him. He dons a rubber suit for protection against the cold, a pair of fins for speed, a mask to see through and down he goes into the briny to play tag with the fishes.

Just such a group of enthusiasts is the Marin Skin Divers Club.

The club, which is incorporated, began in July, 1954 with eight charter members. It now numbers 20 members.

They come from all walks of life and have one thing in common—they're crazy about diving.

WEEKLY DIVES

The club makes weekly dives, either in the Fort Ross area in Sonoma County or in Carmel.

But the divers don't just follow the fish around with spearguns or pry abalones off the rocks, as many people think.

There are five underwater still cameras and one underwater 16-mm movie camera in the club.

Water safety has become increasingly important in the club's activities in the year since the last sports show.

This was dramatically demonstrated this month with the formation of the Sheriff's Underwater Rescue and Recovery Unit.

At the suggestion of Sheriff Louis Mountanos, a group of the best divers in the club volunteered their services for underwater rescue and recovery work for the Sheriff's Office.

Thus Marin County's first such unit was formed.

RESCUE WORK

The Sheriff's Office now has an arm which can reach into the sea whenever needed for rescue of persons in distress, search for bodies and retrieving criminal evidence.

Club President George Tsegeletos was elected captain of the unit, which has eight charter members.

Besides the captain, they are Bud Arey, Arthur Bradford, Robert Camiccia, Robert Foster, Alfred Giddings Jr., Roger Gist, Dr. Robert Keast and Raymond Pierce.

All are expert swimmers and divers trained in water safety and first aid.

The idea for the unit grew in part out of an incident Dec. 14 at the Kruse Ranch on the Sonoma coast.

An ordinary club dive that Sunday unexpectedly turned into a rescue mission.

DIVER IN TROUBLE

When a group of members arrived at the ranch, they learned that another diver was struggling to keep afloat 50 yards off shore. He had lost all his gear and was unable to swim through the heavy surf to the beach.

His companion had managed to struggle ashore and called for help at the ranch house. Ranch agent L. C. Osborne called the sheriff and a helicopter was ordered.

Three members of the club, Camiccia, Giddings and Pierce, donned their diving gear quickly and swam out to the drowning man, Don Reeves, an employe of Mare Island Shipyard.

They towed him a quarter mile to a safer beach and carried him ashore, where he received treatment for shock and exposure.

MEXICO THRILLS

Some highlights of the club's activities during the past year included a week-long Mexico trip by three members and a weekend Lake Tahoe dive.

In November, when the ocean off northern California began churning up, Tsegeletos and Jim Carty drove to Ensenada, Mexico, for a week of exciting new diving in calm, clear waters.

They had brushes with sharks while spearing sheepshead. A big shark practically nudged Tsegeletos at 60 feet, but buzzed off when Tsegeletos moved toward him.

Carty got violently ill when he feasted on a 12-pound lobster which the boys cooked on the beach.

One day in a small boat the trio spotted the huge, menacing dorsal fins of three killer whales headed toward them. Killer whales have been known to attack small boats and can snap up a sea lion like a salmon does a sardine. The divers changed their course and opened up the engine full speed, and the whales kept going straight.

PICTURE PROOF

The boys brought back pictures to back up their stories,

At Lake Tahoe last June, nine members dived to below 100 feet down a measured line and with safety men stationed at various levels. The crystal clear, safe lake water was perfect for some good underwater pictures and testing of equipment.

Spearfishing contests entered by the club included the Central California AAU championships at Pedro Point, San Mateo County, in June and the Heavy underwear is worn under the dry suit. Center background, Roger Gist secures his underwater breathing apparatus. In rear, wearing T-shirt, Art Bradford carries his gear to the beach.

MARCH 15 TO 21

'Conservation In Schools' Theme For Wildlife Week

Leonard Hummel of El Segundo has been named statewide chairman to direct the 1959 National Wildlife Week program. The appointment was announced by the California Wildlife Federation which joins with the National Wildlife Federation in sponsorship of this educational campaign each year.

Walt Disney, widely-known producer of the "True Life Adventure" nature films, again will serve as national honorary chairman of the observance which has been set for the period of March 15-21.

Hummel stated that the theme of the 1959 Wildlife Week, "Conservation in the Schools," is intended to highlight the need for a better understanding of basic natural resource problems. "All of us, including educators and students, must apply the concepts of conservation today if the citizens of tomorrow are to have the natural resource wealth which has made America the most powerful and influential leader among free nations," he declared.

"Man's very existence is dependent upon soil and water which, when combined properly with sunlight and the components of the atmosphere, produce all he eats and drinks and many of the things he uses for clothing and shelter," Hummel said. "Other products come from minerals. These are the basic natural resources which we can either waste or safeguard through the principles of conservation."

GETTING READY—G. Paul Jones, past president, dusts off the MRGC trophy in preparation for its display at the Sports and Boat Show. Latest hunting, fishing, camping and boating equipment will be among hundreds of items on display for visitors to the three-day show.

Snub, Heave, Lazarette??? It's Just Sailor's Lingo

You'll find it useful to understand sailor lingo even if you never set foot in a boat. A knowledge of water-logged talk, after all, does increase enjoyment in a sea yarn some glowering night when more adventurous souls are skidding on a storm-drenched deck.

If you're at sea when it comes to nautical jabber, batten down a while and lend an ear.

It might, for example, seem like peculiar advice if a sailor suddenly declared, "Don't snub the guy or the heel will heave."

It makes a lot more sense when the terms are understood. At sea, to snub means to check a rope suddenly. A guy refers to a steadying rope. The heel is the lower part of the boat's supporting frame. And heave, though it has other connotations, also means the rise and fall of a boat.

Far from the golf links, fore refers to anything forward from the middle of a ship. The galley, of course, is the kitchen, and the lazarette is a low storage space in the stern—the aft or rear part of the vessel.

Not only the meanings of the terms, but the pronunciation also, bespeak steady sea legs. When a sailor, for instance, says "lu-ard" he's referring to leeward, the direction opposite to that from which the wind blows. As for "gun-el," that's gunwale or the upper edge of a boat's side.

Duck Band For Ike

President Eisenhower has joined the ranks of sportsmen who properly report "duck bands." He was told by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service that the mallard he killed in November at Little Cedar Point near Toledo, Ohio, had been banded 41 days earlier at the Willow Slough State Game Preserve in Indiana.

ANOTHER CATCH—Happy angler, fish in net, heads for storage box aboard one of the party-fishing boats that leaves Sausalito daily for salmon fishing excursion. More than 25 party boats operate out of Sausalito.

Banner Season Seen For Salmon Trollers

By LARRY LOVETT

Consensus of the experienced salmon fishermen is that this is going to be a good year.

Already more than 25 party boats operating out of Sausalito have made a number of good catches and bookings on the popular craft are holding up well.

The two best-known party boat booking points — Caruso's at Gate 5 Road in Marinship and Sausalito Boat and Tackle at the Waldo Point Junction—agree that 1959 should be one of the best salmon seasons in years.

Almost every morning before sunup, the craft with their loads of hopeful anglers can be heard chugging their way from the Sausalito docks toward the Golden Gate Bridge.

The Urbais family, Mr. and Mrs. Al and son Rich, who operate Sausalito Boat and Tackle, are booking space on at least 14 boats this season and are quick to add that, "We can always arrange space on boats from other points in the bay as demands warrant."

Tony Caruso, operating from the Sportfishing Pier at Marinship, books space on some 18 boats, accommodating varying sized parties from six to twelve persons.

He adds that, "One of our services is to get space for the single fisherman as well as for a complete party. Not all points around the bay provide this."

The "regulars" who fish out of Sausalito contend that, "Contrary to popular opinion, our take last year was good. And this year appears to start even better."

The season opened Feb. 14 in stormy weather, but as the water smoothed out, the customary good catches of average sized fish started.

POPULAR EXHIBITOR—A regular hit at the Marin Sports and Boat Show is Ken Kohn of Porky Fly Co., who demonstrates the art of fly-tying. Kohn teaches basic knots, proportions and patterns which enable anyone to become a fly-tyer. He will appear in San Rafael's show this weekend.

$350,000 DEVELOPMENT

New Apartment To Replace Historic Nunes Boat Works

Before the year is out the historic firim of Nunes Brothers may cease to construct boats at the Second and Main street, Sausalito location, which has been the scene of so much creative boat-building.

The Nunes family plans to turn the property, a boat works since 1925, into a glamorous 39 unit, $350,000 apartment development. The waterfront flavor will be retained in a different way, with 50 berths provided for the tenants' boats. And, in line with the progress of the times, 64 parking spaces for cars.

The historic boat business really began in 1898 when two brothers, Manual and Anthony Nunes, began construction of boats on a barge in the Sacramento River. Of the family, only Ernest Nunes, Manuel's son, is still active in the business.

Ernest Nunes worked with his father to develop the 23-foot Bear class boat, the most popular of Bay yachts. The Mercury is another Nunes design. More than 400 of the 18-foot sloops are in use throughout the country. Sleek Hurricanes were designed on the Nunes drafting boards in 1946, and are another flourishing fleet here. The Nunes Jets, 14- and 16-foot outboards, were produced at the Sausalito plant at the rate of 300 per year from 1955 through 1957.

Other yachts, both sail and power, were custom-built to the owners' demands through the years, as well as commercial fishing boats, and World War II construction of tug boats and fire boats for the Maritime Commission.

As the interesting "garden-beach" style apartment takes shape under the direction of Architect Albert R. Seyranian, with William H. McDevitt of San Rafael handling construction, Ernie Nunes contemplates his plans for the future. All Marin boatmen will be glad to know that he expects to remain in the boat business.

U.S. Third Behind Japan, Russia In Salmon Production

Japan and Russia, in that order, are the first two salmon producing nations in the Pacific, but neither nation takes any California-grown king salmon.

These facts were revealed in a meeting of the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission in Tokyo last year when the USSR presented to the commission its salmon statistics for the years 1956 and 1957. When combined with previously available figures from Japan, the United States and Canada, the Russian figures presented the first comprehensive picture of the total North Pacific salmon fishery.

The figures revealed that Japan had taken a total of 743 million pounds of salmon in the two years. Russia had taken 680.5 million pounds, the USA 589.5 million pounds and Canada 252.5 million pounds. Only the United States and Canada fish for the king salmon, which originate on the U.S. side of the Pacific.

The most abundant salmon in the two years covered by the figures is the Pink.

Northern California AAU meet at Van Damme State Park, Mendocino County, in July. Bob Foster placed first in the latter.

The club's annual banquet was held at Hamie's Chuck Wagon in San Rafael. It featured a baked chicken dinner and dancing. Trophies for the year were given.

TROPHY WINNERS

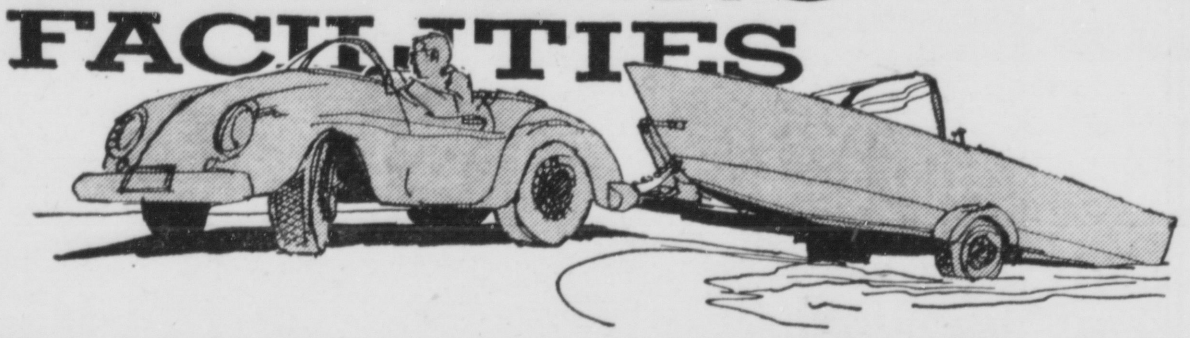
They went to Tsegeletos, Diver of the Year; Giddings, largest fish (a 25-pound halibut) taken using breathing apparatus; Al Hart, largest fish (a 25-pound lingcod) speared without use of breathing apparatus; Bob Foster, best underwater photographs; Giddings, biggest abalone, and Giddings, Foster and Jim Higgins, Central California team.

Another social event also was a huge success—the first annual abalone dinner, held Dec. 20 in Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club hall.

As the new season begins, the Marin Club welcomes anyone interested in diving and new adventure to come to its meetings and to go along on its weekly diving trips. Instruction is provided newcomers.

Meetings are held the first Monday of each month in the Marin Junior Museum, San Rafael, at 8 p.m.

LAUNCHING FACILITIES



Following is a guide to small boat launching facilities in Marin County.

SAUSALITO

Sausalito has a public launching ramp, located on Bridgeway. This is available at no fee. It is now being improved by dredging operations which will maintain the water at a level of 4 feet at the lowest tide, and is being extended so that it will be wide enough to accomodate two cars easily.

The Edgewater Boat Shop, operated by Clyde Killian and Lawrence Zieger has marine ways which can handle boats up to 65 feet. The Edgewater Shop, located at Bridgeway and Turney, uses the ways largely in connection with the work of overhaul and repairs.

Easom Boat Works at the Clipper Yacht Basin boasts a vertical marine lift which can handle craft up to 20 tons. Easom's nautical elevator was built two years ago and was the first vertical lift in northern California. It gently lowers boats into the water, eliminating the strain sometimes caused by other methods of launching, and is used largely for servicing and new construction.

Madden and Lewis operate a "stiff-legged derrick," which uses a sling to lift boats from the water to the nearby deck for servicing.

Sausalito Shipbuilding Co. at the foot of Napa street has several marine ways, used mainly for commercial craft. Much of its work is for affiliate, Associated Dredging Co.

At the Sausalito Sports Fishing pier in the Marinship area is a convenient small boat launching ramp. Deep water makes this facility available even when the tide is low.

TIBURON

Varney's Marine Service gives Tiburon a commercial launching facility. A hoist, carrying loads up to 3,000 pounds, is available at the Main street operation and run in connection with marine gas station. For the average outboard, Varney's fees are 75 cents in the water, and 75 cents out again.

SAN RAFAEL

A free launching ramp is offered at Pete's Pier, adjacent to Commodore Yacht sales on Francisco Blvd. This is relatively new, having been in operation about six months.

The Anchorage Sea Chest at 115 Third street has a crane available. For small boats under 20 feet the fee is 75 cents in and 75 cents out. Fees increase with the capacity of the hoist to a top limit of 2,000 pounds.

Western Boat Shop has an electric hoist which can handle boats up to one ton, and 21 feet long. Curely Cornwall is the proprietor.

SANTA VENETIA

Joe's Boat Launching for small boats.

TOMALES BAY

Tomales Bay Boat Shop, Hal Evans, proprietor, power hoists and marine railways. Hoist charge is $1.50 in and out; railway is 50 cents per foot of vessel.

Vilicich Brothers Boat Works offer a marine railway handling boats up to 65 feet.

Dillon's Beach has launching facilities, but no power hoist. Boats can be rented.

At Manila Marina, Charley Johnson has a boom and sling to lower boats into the water.

Tambahia, Inverness, has a ramp into the water and offers skiffs for rent.

Brazil Ranch offers a beach for launching. No fee for launching, but $1.00 charged for admittance to the property. No power hoist.

The county park at Nick's Cove presently offers a ramp and no fee is charged. The area Mattatoisett Park, is being improved all the time, with work in progress to continue the breakwater and to improve the ramp.

The State Park at Indian Beach offers no boating facilities at the present time.

BOLINAS BAY

Skiffs can be launched along the shoreline. No power hoist.

CHINA CAMP

Small skiffs can be launched. No power hoist.

McNEAR'S BEACH

Skiff launching facilities, and good parking area. Admittance $1 per car, and 25 cents for boat launching.

Urge Unification Of State Boating

The wicked principle of "divide and conquer" could be a very telling weapon against the interests of those who find leisure or livelihood in water pursuits.

California Boating Council, Inc., statewide organization designed to represent the interests of all phases of boating, is striving to reconcile the differences among segments of the boating enthusiasts, and to unify the state's boating interests to promote the best interests of all.

CBC, Inc.'s program calls for membership from every outboard, inboard, speedboat, water-ski, yacht, sail, cruising and waterway improvement organization within the state. It has asked the industry from boat builder to marine dealer to support its membership.

Among the objectives of the council, headed by George E. Michaud, president, is a full program for 1959-60. Trying to straighten out the conflicting maze of local, county and city boating restrictions, taxes, regulations and miscellaneous fees is one objective. As more people trail boats from county to county, the need for uniform regulations on a statewide basis becomes evident.

Lounching facilities, ocean ports of refuge, and inland harbor installation and improvements are a top concern of the council. Education of the new boat owner, new bulletins to state boatmen and good legislation is a part of the program.

The council works through committees with members from various parts of the state, a committee for each phase of the boating industry and from each phase of recreational boating.

MRGC'S PRIDE AND JOY — Several years ago the Marin Rod and Gun Club purchased this pier at Pt. San Quentin which has become known as the world's longest striped bass fishing pier. In recent years the club has added its beautiful clubhouse, barbecue area and small boat launching ramp in the vicinity of the pier to create a compact headquarters for the club activities.

MRGC---33 Years Of Conservation

By GORDON DIXON

Marin Rod and Gun Club is celebrating its 33rd year of service to the sportsmen of California and particularly Marin outdoorsmen and women.

The club was formed as a conservative group and has maintained its objective of being interested in the conservation and propagation of fish and game.

The organization started with a mere membership of 35 men who had true fish and game ethics. At that time some of them could foresee the future regarding a home of their own, a place to fish and work together for the betterment of every sportsmen.

The first clubhouse was at Buckeye Point, west of China Camp. The building and pier were built by the members on weekends.

Some years later the club acquired its present pier at Point San Quentin. When the club bought the wharf it had to be all redecked, railings installed, a new water line put in and a thousand things done to make it usable. It was a great day when the club acquired the pier, but it was a greater feeling of pride when the pier was completed and opened to fishing for its own members. Many of the oldtimers spent many days and hours completing this huge project. The pier is nearly a half mile in length and is the longest striped bass fishing pier in the world.

Today nearly every tideland lot is privately owned and there is practically no place to fish for the average fisherman. MRGC members are fortunate to be the proud owner of the fishing pier and 55 acres of uplands and tidelands where the club is situated.

NEW CLUBHOUSE

Only last year the magnificent clubhouse was finished, and a great deal of the work was done by members. Without reservations it is one of the finest sportsmen's clubhouses in the country.

Thousands of yards of fill were used to build the new parking lot and barbecue grounds. A portion of the area has been paved and rocked and before long the club hopes that this project can be completed.

Picnic tables, barbecue pits and rest rooms have been added to the vast project.

At the present time landscaping tops the agenda and the clubhouse grounds are expected to be a showplace of Marin.

The MRGC is a family group. The membership is limited to men, but their wives and children up to 18 years of age have the privilege of the member.

2,200 MEMBERS

At the present time there are 2,200 members and the club is still growing. For sportsmen interested in joining, secretary Paul Ware Sr., 14 Taylor street, San Rafael, will give all the necessary qualifications.

Yearly dues are only $6. Monthly meetings are held on the third Friday of each month at Pt. San Quentin clubhouse. Sportsmen are invited to attend.

The club has many activities from time to time, including the Sports and Boat Show. During the month of July is the annual barbecue which last year attracted more than 1,000 persons. The annual stag banquet is another highlight of the year, and is well-attended by sportsmen from every section of California.

The MRGC boat launching facilities were put into operation last year and, as time goes on, improvements will be made. A channel was dredged in order to accommodate boats at a minus tide.

The club is interested in good legislation for the sportsmen. It fights for good laws and helps defeat proposed laws that are detrimental to sportsmen.

HELP SPORTSMEN

In the years past the club has been vitally interested in legislation and helped stop the commercial fishing of striped bass in 1937. Only in the last meeting of the legislature commercial salmon fishing nets were taken from the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers. By accomplishing this, better escapement of salmon and striped bass was established. The legislative committee and members have made many trips to Sacramento in past years and the members will still continue to pursue this wide-awake policy.

Pollution and water problems are very vital in California and every effort should be made to correct the many injurious situations that exist.

Marin is fortunate to have a wide-awake and progressive sportsmen's club that is a credit to the community.

Young 'Robin Hoods' To Vie In Archery Tourney Sunday

The young archers of Marin will be given an opportunity to compete in the Junior Archery Tournament held at the Marin Rod and Gun Club Sports Show Sunday at Bermuda Palms.

The Junior Tournament Planning Commission, sponsored by the Northwoods Bowmen's Club in conjunction with the Marin Rod and Gun Club, have planned this event.

To be eligible to enter, the archer must be at the tournament booth between 8 and 9:30 a.m. Sunday. Only youngsters between the ages of 9 and 13 may compete. The entry fee will be 50 cents and each archer must furnish his own equipment.

Barney DeBisschop, chairman of the Sports Show, and Larry Petretti, chairman of the archery tournament, will present 12 trophies and 12 medals to winners and ruuners-up of the tournament. The 1958 Junior Archery Champion, Roger Bare, age 13, will be present to supervise activities.

Presentation of awards will be made at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Northwoods Bowmen's Archery Balloon booth by State Small Game Champion Larry Petretti.

EVINRUDE
QUIET OUTBOARD MOTORS

It's Easy To Water Ski

Learning to water ski holds an appeal for young and old that has been recognized by Evinrude Motors of Milwaukee.

The outboard motor manufacturing firm is publishing a new, easy-to-understand booklet on "Water Skiing" that will be made available free to the public through Evinrude dealers around the country.

This colorful booklet is authored by Tom and Janie Dorwin, whose string of water ski titles includes the 1956 national doubles championship. Done in the same adult comic style as Evinrude's popular "Outboard Fishing" introduced last year, this 16-page booklet is also fully illustrated and diagrammed.

"Water Skiing" pictures and describes in detail the ease of learning to water ski. It takes the prospective water skier through the step-by-step procedure for the beginner, into simple ski tricks and slalom skiing. The booklet includes instructions for the boat driver and also a ski selection chart.

No special athletic ability is necessary to learn—anyone is a potential water skier. It is to help the thousands who would like to learn and enjoy this fastest growing water sport that the Evinrude "Water Skiing" booklet is designed.

GONE FISHIN'—While Monty Marzetta unhitches trailer, Duane Frederick of the Western Boat Shop in San Rafael hands Mrs. Carol Lato fishing gear as they prepare to launch 17-foot Lexington Dorsett at Marin Rod and Gun Club's small boat launching ramp at Pt. San Quentin.

North Cal Gets Boat Drag Races

Drag races on the water were inaugurated in northern California recently with a record-breaking 98.03 MPH run set by Carl McGinn of Glendale in his "Hot Ice."

Roy Sayles of San Rafael is the president of the V-Drive Boat and Water Skiing Assn., which sponsored the thrilling water contest at Searsville Lake. Outboards and inboards were eligible to participate in the races and test their crafts against the clock. Sayless says the initial races were so successful that the association is considering scheduling others, and hopes that a Marin setting will be used for the marine action.

New F-G Director Rough, Tumble Type

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown may have solved a lot of his Fish and Game headaches with the appointment of William E. Warne as the new Department Director.

Warne will assume his duties April 1 as near to being a complete unknown as is possible these days. Up to this point, no one in capitol circles has anything against him..

In addition, Warne has the reputation as a strong administrator. He has been with U.S. foreign aid in Korea of late and was contacted in Seoul by this writer—the first Californian to talk to him after his appointment.

Warne said at the time he expected to get the job done. While he said he had no intention of emasculating the present department, he has the reputation of being a rough and tumble type administrator. This possibly could be just what the doctor ordered for the present Department.

A CONSERVATIONIST

Warne said he has a background and knowledge of Fish and Game matters and philosophies and considers himself a conservationist. However, because he has been in other types of work for most of the 23 years in his federal career, this background may be one of his weaker points.

This, of course, makes the decision of appointing his deputy director a difficult one. For the deputy will have to have strong fish and wildlife background and know-how.

Whether the deputy is appointed by Brown or Warne is not important. It's a cinch that both will have to agree upon him.

In some other departments, Brown has appointed a new director, but kept on the right-hand man. This was to please those who wanted a status quo in the departmental operations but also to please those who were clamoring for new faces.

COMPLETE CHANGE?

It's doubtful if such will be the case in the Fish and Game Department. Brown has indicated he felt the administration of Seth Gordon had become controversial and can be expected at least tc give the impression of making a complete change.

It's usually more interesting to criticize policies and programs than to consider some of the mechanical problems of a department like Fish and Game. Yet the poor organization of the department was one of the major points in the recent $100,000 investigation of the Department and Commission performed by Booz, Allen and Hamilton.

The report noted the present deputy director carries too much of an administrative load, with too many persons reporting either to him or the director. Further on down the line of authority, it found an overabundance of supervisory type personnel, with a "too many chiefs and too few Indians" set-up in the lower ranks.

CREATE NEW JOBS

The report recommended creation of some new high-level jobs in the department which might prove part of the answer. It's doubtful if this can be accomplished during this session of the legislature. The new director, who would be expected to make some recommendations along this line, hardly will have his feet on the ground by May 15, the deadline for introduction of new bills.

Perhaps this would be a good subject for interim study—with an eye toward creation of four or five high-level posts which are exempt from civil service. Most of present department philosophies are formulated by persons with civil service status and thus almost impossible to remove and inclined to answer to no one.

It has been said that the "teddy bear" was modeled after a grizzly bear cub shown in a cartoon with Theodore Roosevelt in 1902 and named for that famous conservationist.

Color Movie To Illustrate Bay Area Pollution Problem

Marin fishermen, boaters, and other recreation seekers will get a chance to actually see just what pollution is doing to California's waters when they attend this weekend's Marin Boat and Sports Show.

They'll be taken, via color movie, on a "back-alley" aerial harbor tour over hidden pollution sore spots around San Francisco Bay. And they'll see shots of the East Bay's 1957 striped bass kill of beaches closed by contamination, and of ocean bottom made barren by offshore sewage discharges.

The 20-minute film, a new production of the California Department of Fish and Game, will be shown at the Marin Rod and Gun Club booth on a regular three-hour schedule throughout the show.

The film stresses the need for continued protection of the many California lakes and streams that still have good clean water. It shows how and why pollution effects fish and fish foods and makes areas unsuitable for recreation and other uses. It shows what is now being done to correct pollution conditions, and points out the big job that still needs to be done if California is to have the clean waters needed for continued recreational development.

Title of the film is "Water—Let's Keep It Clean."

Best Fishermen Use Outboards To Find Their Fish

Ask a fisherman with a reputation for bringing home well loaded stringers for his recipe for success, and he'll likely start off by telling you that fishing success is usually dependent on finding them first.

As he warms to his subject, he'll probably add that he considers his outboard motor the best lure he owns. With it he discovers where our finny friends are living and feeding, and he spends his time concentrating on those areas to the exclusion of empty water.

Fish, both fresh and salt water, move around a lot. Season of the year has a definite effect, so does the movement of bait schools they feed upon. Water temperature and levels, and tides, are very important considerations.

Fewer Boating Mishaps

Despite the tremendous increase in pleasure boat traffic, boating accidents are actually on the wane.

A large portion of the credit for the safety record goes to the U.S. Power Squadron and the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

Salmon Return In Quantity

Nimbus Hatchery through December had handled a seasonal total of more than 10,000 adult king salmon, not counting a large number of fish which escaped through the racks across the river. Marked salmon released as yearlings from the 1955 brood year have returned to the American River in good numbers this season.

The hatchery salmon egg production now totals nearly 13½ million for the season, the most since Nimbus began operations in October, 1955. In 1957 only 847,000 king salmon eggs were taken.

Snow geese, the most abundant kind of wild geese in North America, usually keep to themselves and seldom mix freely with other geese, except their close relative, the blue goose, and the rare Ross's goose.

The leopard frog is widely used in studies of comparative anatomy. In addition, it also provides frog-leg dinners.

Safe Hunter Course In San Rafael

Marin County Sheriff's Junior Rifle Club will begin a new course in hunter safety for Marin County youngsters beginning Saturday, it was announced today.

To be held three consecutive Saturdays from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. at the San Rafael Police Pistol Range in San Rafael, the course will stress safe handling of firearms in the field and at home.

SAFE BOATING

By HARRY HEIFETZ, Commander
U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, Flotilla 14

(Editor's Note: Commander Heifitz's "Safe Boating" column appears regularly in the Independent-Journal. Here he conducts a question and answer period for readers of this special section.)

QUESTIONS, ANSWERS

Q. We are going to buy a boat this summer. What can I do to prepare myself?

A (1) Get a set of charts of local waters and study them. (2) Take a course with Coast Guard Auxiliary or Power Squadron and learn rules of the road and safety measures. (3) Save up some money.

Q. Being commander of the local flotilla, you ought to know all about fishing. So how about telling us the best places for fish.

A. Glad to. My favorites: Sabella's and Sam's.

Q. I fish a lot and often set anchors fore and aft. When it's time to leave I have a struggle getting both my anchors up because I am alone. Isn't there some simple way to handle two anchors? One at a time is a breeze, but two is a big problem.

A. Take the bitter end of your aft anchor rope and fasten to ring buoy. Now throw the buoy overboard. Don't worry, it's not going anywhere. Now take in your main anchor. Now just amble over to the ring buoy, pick it up with the boat hook and haul it in!

Q. I studied the Rules of the Road and I know my rights! I went out in San Pablo Bay in my 21-foot express cruiser and a big freighter wouldn't give me the right-of-way! I had a good notion to demand my rights, but at the moment I gave in and veered off so as to avoid a collision. Am I mad! Where do I report a violation like this?

A. Sure you know your rights. But take my advice and don't tangle with those big boats. The best you can do is lose. It's much easier to turn your little boat than to change a freighter's course, so do that and enjoy yourself.

Q. Can you tell me why I keep getting barnacles on my bottom and several other boats in my harbor very seldom do? We use the same bottom paint too.

A. You have my sympathy. Barnacles on your bottom must be very annoying. But in answer to your question, I would guess that your friends probably go up river often. You see, salt water barnacles hate fresh water and fall off when they are in it. But if the boat remains long enough in fresh water, it will get fresh water barnacles and they fall off in salt water. So if you want your bottom fairly clean, make regular and frequent pilgrimages to the river.

Q. Where can I get rules on what flags to fly and when. Also, what flag may I fly at my stern?

A. I am sending you a pamphlet on flag usage. As to your stern, you may fly any flag you like so long as it is either a yacht or national ensign, or a U.S. Power Squadron ensign if you are a Squadron member.

Q. Assuming that I can afford to buy any boat that I want, what boat would you advise me to buy for all around general use?

A. The Lurline. Not too big; not too small.

Q. There is a great deal of talk lately about catamarans and their real worth. I would like to know the truth about their stability, comforts etc.

A. I would too. If I get the word, I will pass it on to you. Just off hand, I'd say they are here to stay.

Q. Where do I apply to get a license so that I can run a boat which we hope to buy soon?

A. As things are now, you don't need a license. In fact, you don't even have to have any brains. But if you do have some sense, you will learn a little about it, either through your boat dealer, Coast Guard Auxiliary or Power Squadron before you venture out.

Q. I hear all sorts of arguments pro and con about the merits of single screw as against twin screws. What's your opinion?

A. I don't think there is room for argument here. Anyone should agree that two screws is better than one! Better maneuverability, greater safety factor, etc., etc. Cost more, of course, but two of anything cost more than one, the good things in life, that is.

Q. We are thinking about getting a little cruiser, but my wife says we are better off putting the money into good stocks and bonds. I say a boat will give us more pleasure. Who is right?

A. You bet!

Q. I own a power boat and am in an area just full of sail boats. It sometimes is very exasperating getting through and around them. I know they have the right-of-way! But doesn't a power boat have ANY rights among them?

A. As of this writing any boat under sail has right-of-way under all conditions. (Except when he is using his motor or is overtaking you. If he does that, boy, you got him, because sail or no sail, he becomes subject to the same rules as any motor boat.) P.S. They don't like us power boats either!

Q. Can a local policeman or a deputy sheriff board my boat to look it over any time he wants? I claim he can't, even though I might be drunk as a skunk.

A. Well now! A boat is in the same category as your home. No officer can board it without a warrant. But he can radio the Coast Guard and then you're in trouble, buddy. The Coast Guard doesn't need a warrant. They can not only board you, but ground you as well, if you appear to be a menace.

Q. If I join the Coast Guard Auxiliary, can I be called to active duty at any time?

A. No, not ever, unless in an emergency you are given the portunity to serve locally and agree to do so under orders.

Q. How can I join the Coast Guard Auxiliary? Must I own a boat?

A. Your application is in the mail. As to the second part of your question: No, you don't necessarily have to have a boat to join our flotilla, but it's very handy to have, especially if you want to go out on the water.

U. S. Power Squadron Courses Stress Safe Boat Handling

By KEN MOLINO

Novice boatmen and salty sailors as well have come to rely upon U. S. Power Squadrons throughout the country for training in safe boat handling.

Recently a group of Marin enthusiasts gathered to apply for a charter for the Marin Power Squadron.

Previously, piloting courses had been held at College of Marin under the auspices of the San Francisco squadron. However, attendance and interest grew to such proportions in the county that a local organization became necessary.

The squadrons are dedicated to education of water sportsmen to make boating one of the safest forms of recreation.

Prospective members are required to take the basic Piloting course, which covers equipment, anchoring, maintenance, and elementary navigation. Upon successful completion of the course students are eligible for membership in the squadron which carries with it the privilege of enrolling in advanced courses such as navigation, seamanship, engine maintenance, sail and weather.

ACTIVE SCHEDULE

The Marin Squadron is expected to be one of the most active in the Bay Area. Last season a group of senior squadron members tried a floating classroom junket to Drake's Bay where they anchored overnight. Students on the trip got practical experience in navigation by dead reckoning, radio fixes and with advanced navigational aids. They learned boat handling in open waters, anchoring in unfamiliar territory, radio procedure, and many other useful skills difficult to grasp under classroom situations alone.

More such practical experiences are planned when the new squadron is officially chartered.

Currently a piloting class is being completed at College of Marin and plans are being made for subsequent courses. As usual, they will be open to anyone interested in boating, whether he captains his own craft or not, and will be announced in the Independent-Journal.

Tough Job Trying To Convince Uncle Mike Marin Fishing Is Tops

CONNOLLY

My Uncle Mike seemed irritated, upset and bored. And he got that way because I asked him if he had ever done any fishing in Marin County.

"Fishing anytime, anyplace, is no good," said Uncle Mike.

At that crack my summer tan turned to a winter singe.

"What is the matter with you?" I inquired. "Don't you know Marin County has the finest Rod and Gun Club of any county its size in these United States?"

I told him more than 2,000 citizens were members and most of 'em dyed in the wool nimrods. I pointed out that a conservative guess would be that 40 per cent of the "natives" fished or hunted, all during the year.

And I went on to tell him that Mr. Jack Craemer, my managing editor, had asked me to take Uncle Mike on a fishing trip.

"Tell your managing editor fishing is too severe on my nerves. When I used to fish there was always a flock of spectators near me on the waterfront and they used to keep yelling, 'tough luck, he got away again,' or 'pull harder.'"

UPSET NERVES

"I tell you," explained Uncle Mike, "that it upset my nerves so much that for awhile I thought I had locomotor ataxia or the shivers or the shakes. I got so shaky I began whistling at grade crossings."

I tried to explain that most fishing today is done from a boat and that there is a certain way to jiggle the line when you get a bite so that the hook fastens tighter to the jaw of the fish and it can never get loose.

"I never seemed able to jiggle just right," Uncle Mike said, "and I always went fishing at the wrong time. Either the water was too low or the fish weren't biting or the lake wasn't stocked properly. Once I spent a whole month and didn't get enough trout to cover a single cracker.

"I'll never forget the time I heard the Fish and Game Commission became careless and overstocked one of my pet lakes with trout.

"You always hear rumors like that, but they seldom turn out to have any truthful foundation.

BUM STEER

"Once I had a tip on a certain favorite lake and when we drove miles to get to it, we saw a couple of field mice wading in the middle of the stream."

Try as I did to console Uncle Mike he wouldn't pay any heed when I told him Marin County, in general, was a great fishing spot.

I explained that I had a long chat with Roy Irwin of the Western Sport Shop in San Rafael and that Roy really knew his fish and their locations. I insisted he join me just this one time. But Uncle Mike was looking out the window.

For instance I told him Irwin said that San Pablo Bay provides some of the best year 'round fishing in Marin County, and that includes striped bass from mid-February until late fall; good flounder and perch fishing after the first fall rains until early spring; also sturgeon can be caught from January through April.

"Gee whiz," Uncle Mike says, "where have you been hiding this Irwin fellow."

TROUT FISHING

So I had Uncle Mike listening and I explained that the Marin Municipal Water District Lakes — Lagunitas, Phoenix, Bon Tempe, Alpine and Peters —provide excellent trout fishing throughout the season. And some of these lakes happen to be well stocked by the California Fish and Game Commission.

Paper Mill Creek provides some good trout fishing and also during the winter months produces steelhead between Point Reyes Bridge and Tomales Bay.

In fact, according to Mr. Irwin, all of Marin County coastal shoreline produces excellent rock fish, abalone and clams. Off-shore waters give up some of the best salmon fishing on the West Coast.

UNCLE IN TROUBLE

Just to keep Uncle Mike from dozing off I mentioned Novato's water district reservoir, Stafford Dam, located two miles west of Novato where you'll always discover good black bass and bluegills.

"Yeah," Uncle Mike remarked, "come to think of it that is the place me and a cop tangled. I stopped to ask him for instructions and he helped me empty a quart bottle. Then we started arguing over profiteering. I didn't agree with the cop and when he got real sassy with me I hit him over the head with the empty bottle.

"And that is when the paddy wagon took me off to the county poke for the evening."

So I suppose Editor Craemer will never again ask me to supply him with a yarn on fishing.

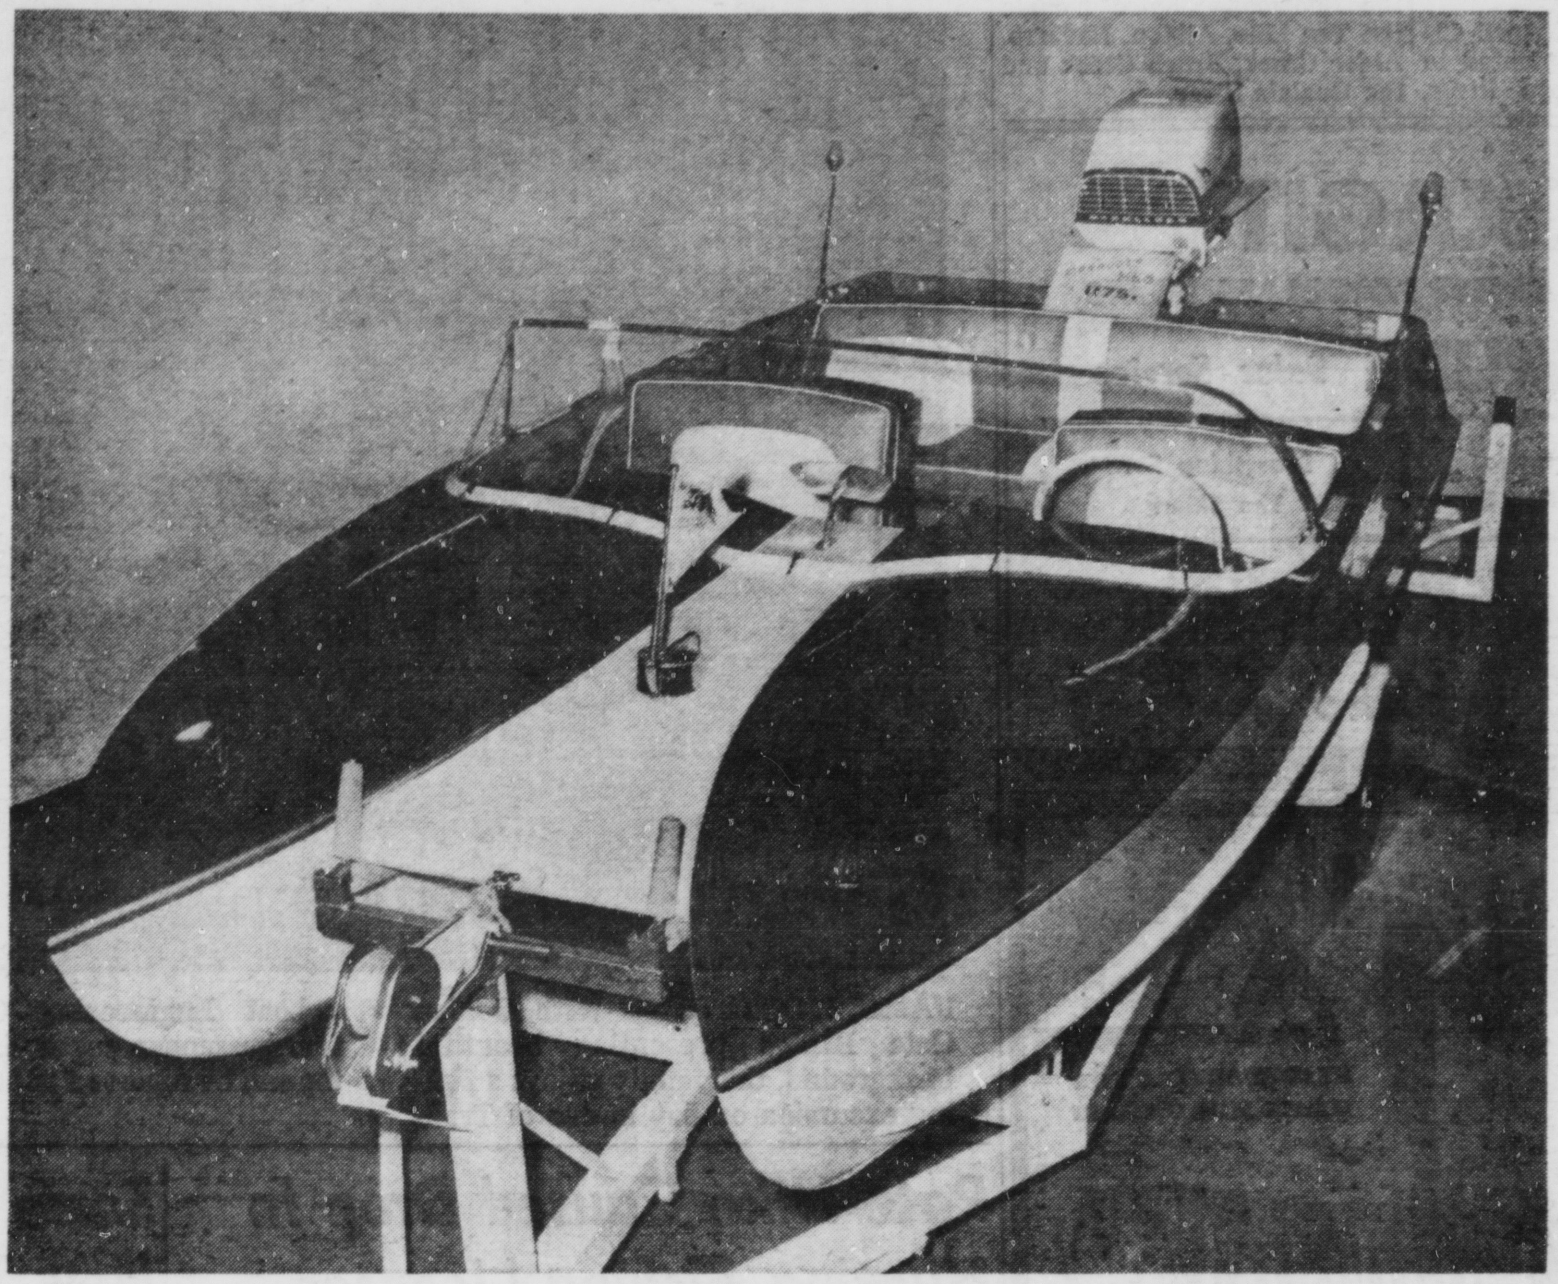
Marinites Helped Pass Prop. 4 In November Election

The passage of Proposition 4 on the November ballot established a state fund of $60 million for development of small craft harbors and boating facilities.

Marin supporters of the measure included Harry Jacobs, Ronald A. Beeker, Bud Lowrie, Herman Cohn, Fred Crocker, Bert Gustafson, Rufus Rhodes, Phil Wallace, Gordon Kelley, Robert Barteau, Frederick Coleman, Daniel Naughton, David Plant, Marjorie and Brookner Brady, Jeanne Butcher, Ernest Box, Don Carlberg and Myron Mohlman.

"The Safest Family Boat Yet on any Water"

MARAUDER CATAMARAN* has more built-in features than any other boat in its price range!



Advanced Design . . . High Performance . . . Maximum Safety

Now! . . . thrill to "sports car" performance and handling . . . with maximum safety which the twin-hulled MARAUDER offers. Here is a FUN boat . . . a SAFE boat—ideal for fishing, skiing, hunting, cruising or just plain pleasure! It's a thrilling boat capable of high speeds and tight turns with full stability . . . it's a boat that gives you that comforting extra assurance of safety when the family is aboard. One ride in a MARAUDER Catamaran will convince you that this is the most outstanding boat you have ever seen! See it at the Sport and Boat Show this weekend in San Rafael. 14', 16' and cruiser models available starting at $795.

BETWEEN-HULL TUNNEL IS KEY TO MARAUDER'S HIGH

The tunnel formed by the twin hulls is 100% functional, is the key to the MARAUDER'S unparalleled performance. Air trapped in tunnel becomes a cushion — affords a smooth, stable ride even in rougher water . . . causes spray to be deflected into tunnel instead of over bow providing a bone-dry ride . . . raises the MARAUDER quickly and smoothly in a controlled altitude to a plane where least possible amount of bottom area is in contact with the water. The negative angle of the tunnel and bow decks are such that control of air lift in the tunnel is exercised even at what normally would be considered excessive speed. At these speeds, the MARAUDER does not have the tendency, common with most other boats, to kite or skate, but instead rides dead level with exceptional comfort and safety. Smooth, tight turns are possible because of the function of the MARAUDER'S four no-trip chines — two more than possible on conventional hulls — gives you twice the bearing surface.

SENSATIONAL PERFORMANCE WITH SINGLE MOTOR • Exceptionally wide beam (6 ft.-3 in.) • Transoms locked in steel • Color impregnated fibreglas exteriors • Double thickness of fibreglas on bottoms • All fastenings silicone bronze or brass • Mahogany interior with resin base Perma Finish • Manufactured in Marin.

State To Plant Silver Salmon Fingerlings Soon

Within the next month and a half seven Redwood Empire streams will be stocked with a total of 280,000 fingerling silver salmon, a move by the Department of Fish and Game to establish annual runs in these rivers.

During March and April 40,000 silvers will be planted in Pudding Creek, Noyo River, Garcia River and Big River, all in Mendocino County; the Smith and Mad rivers in Del Norte and Humboldt counties, respectively, and the south fork of the Eel River which flows in both Mendocino and Humboldt counties.

If the plantings for three successive years in these streams are a success, other rivers in California will also be planted with silvers. Those in the Redwood Empire include the Ten Mile, Albion, Navarro, Alder Creek, Brush Creek and the Gualala River.

Rate Hike Caused Drop In Hunting, Fishing Licenses

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A combination of hard times and resistance to the increase in fees resulted in a drop-off in nearly every category of hunting and fishing licenses and tags during 1958.

Sport fishing licenses fell off 64,327, hunting licenses dropped 37,462, while deer tags and pheasant tags sales decreased 33,941 and 6,159, respectively.

As a result the $1 increase in hunting licenses, deer and pheasant tags, plus the sale of 1,787,437 stamps for fishing licenses, resulted in increased revenue of only $2,302,922. At the time the license increase legislation was adopted, it had been estimated the annual increase would be about $3.2 million.

FISCAL PROBLEMS

The 1957 legislation contains other fiscal problems for the Department of Fish and Game, but no one is quite sure how this will be resolved. The legislation provided that 50 per cent of the new money would be "frozen" into the Fish and Game Preservation Fund, not to be spent without further legislative expression.

Thus, only $1,150,461 of the increased license and tag fees would be available for expenditure from the past year. The 1957 legislation also included in the budget an item of $350,000 to reimburse commercial fishermen whose equipment was idled by the anti-net bill. Plus that, the new budget recommendation calls for appropriation of the $750,000 for wildlife conservation projects from the license money, rather than from horse race taxes.

If both of these appropriations must come from the "free" portion of the new license money, only $50,461 would be left over for the new and expanded programs promised the sportsmen in return for the license boosts.

Of course, the Legislature will have the opportunity to change the formula this year to make more of the money available for expenditure.

El Toro Skippers Facing A Problem

Popular pine-sized El Toro sailboat skippers are facing a problem related to the future of their class. A questionnaire to hundreds of El Toro owners puts the question: "Should molded plastic hulls be accepted as official El Toro class boats?"

The Shovel, official class Bulletin, makes no plea for accepting molded hulls as regulation, leaving the standard wooden hull optional with class members. Standardization of the 8-foot hull could became a very easy matter with the El Toro Assn. mold insuring identical hulls throughout the class.

The El Toro is often used as a training boat for youngsters learning to sail. Now an international class, the boats were originated in Richmond.

Some Tips On How To Sneak Up On Fish

Ever stop to consider how a fish looks at things—what he sees, how he sees it, and when? If you will, your feelings won't be hurt when you drag a proven lure across the nose of a lunker without making him do more than blink.

Here are some facts that could improve your fishing.

Fish see outside their environs through a round "window" immediately overhead. The width of this aperture is limited by the inability of light to penetrate water at certain angles.

The same thing occurs above the surface. We can watch fish directly under us, but not when they lie some distance away. Beyond that ,the surface acts as a mirror.

To further confound the fish's view, objects on land or in the air are strangely bent into a circular panorama. This phenomenon, coupled with the magnifying quality of water, presents a peculiar picture. Ruffle the surface a little, and the fish sees man as a wobbling, dancing creature of fantastic proportions—a fearsome monster which commands more attention than the most alluring plug or bait.

Keep your boat some distance from a likely looking spot. Ask about local currents that determine the direction fish lie. Approach from behind and with caution.

The next time your old favorites seem to be getting the bum's rush, consider the situation from the fish's angle. Maybe you're more interesting than your lures.

Hi Sportsmen!

Do You Know That 29* Out of Every 100 New Automobiles Sold In Marin Are Imported Automobiles!

Here Are Some of the Reasons Why:

Imported Autos are easy to drive, to park, to maneuver. They're ECONOMICAL to drive and maintain . . . and most of all, they're FUN to drive. When you buy a new Imported Auto from one of San Rafael's dealers on Imported Auto Row, you are sure of getting the best deal in Northern California. Most important, you get friendly and courteous treatment from your neighbors who want you to be satisfied so that you'll come back and buy another Imported Auto when you're ready. From Litterbug To Beautybug

No wonder folks disliked me,
I was such an awful chump.
I used to treat the highway,
Like a part of the public dump.
But one day I discovered
Dumping trash along the way
Is like throwing money out the window
Every single day.
Today I am a Beautybug
With a trash bag close at hand,
I'm keeping America beautiful
And I'm loved throughout the land.

Merconomizer New Feature Gets Better Fuel Mileage

Fuel mileage is as important for boatmen as for car drivers. The Merconomizer, a feature that Mercury outboards have included in five of their 1959 models yield up to 60 per cent greater fuel mileage from the four and six cylinder Mercurys when they are throttled back to moderate cruising speeds than the '58 models.

Automotive-type fixed-jet carburetors, a Mercury exclusive, are standard in their Mark 58A, 28A and 78A, will assure a correct pre-determined fuel-air mixture for intermediate, cruising and full load operations as well as eliminate the need for adjustable high-speed needle valves.

These three models will also feature dyna-shock absorbers as optional equipment. The shock absorbers are designed to restrain the kick-up and rebound resulting from impact of the lower unit with sunken log, rock or obstacle. A safety-tilt is synchronized to shut off the ignition and slow down the propeller to prevent a violent thrust surge which would otherwise occur with the propeller biting into the water at up to twice the normal engine speed.

In the fishing class, Mercury offers four engines of 6, 10, 15 and 22 horsepower. The Mark 15A incorporates underwater exhaust, glide-angle design and automatic transmission with single lever control of forward, neutral, reverse and throttle as well as a one-mile-an-hour trolling speed and one hand control for the angler.

Fully-Equipped Boats For Rent In Marin County

The San Francisco Cruising Club offers its members a unique service. Designed for the busy executive, the club provides members with his favorite form of nautical yachting, cruising, fishing or entertaining while at anchor by renting fully equipped boats at a moderate rate at San Francisco, San Rafael, Sausalito and Belvedere docks.

The use of the available craft is not restricted to members only. You can now charter a speedboat, cruiser or yacht and in forty-five minutes be waterborne.

Operating instructions are provided for those needing them.

Rats are one of the barn owl's favorite food items. The owls are seldom seen because they hunt at night.

WATER SKIING IS EASY—That's what President Ralph Devlin is telling young Marcy Wineman as he demonstrates a "dry run" for members of the Marin Division, Golden Gate Water Ski Club. The Marin Division of the Pacific Coast's oldest water ski club was organized last month. See story below.

Don't Forget To Get Insurance For Your Boat

In the rush to equip your boat and find a mooring for it don't overlook insurance. A number of local firms will write a policy to cover outboard motors. Allstate Insurance Company has a boatowners' policy that covers the boat, outboard motor, trailer and accessories, such as oars, anchors, fuel tanks, life preservers, cushions and such boating equipment against direct physical loss or damage from fire, theft, sinking, collision, capsizing, explosion, wind, hail, lightning and vandalism.

The policy will also protect you against loss from a boating accident liability lawsuit.

Premium rates for the policy are based on whether the boat is old or new, the per $100 of value and whether the boat has a horsepower of under or over 20. Policies have a $25 and $50 deductible clause. The rate on a $25 deductible policy for a new boat under 20 horsepower would be $3.20 per $100 of value; over 20 horsepower the rate would be $4.10 per $100 of value. The rate on a $50 deductible policy for a new boat under 20 horsepower is $2 per $100 of value; for a new boat over 20 horsepower is $2.70 per $100 of value.

Marin Organizes Division Of Pacific Water Ski Club

First meeting of the Marin Division of the oldest water ski club on the Pacific Coast was held Wednesday evening, Feb. 25. This marked an important date in the expansion and growth of the Golden Gate Water Ski Club.

Several months ago the Marin County members of this widely known Bay Area ski club decided to divisionalize.

It was mainly through the efforts of the 1958 parent club president and secretary, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Devlin of Fairfax, and the staunch support of the Marin members that the Division became a reality for 1959.

The policies and aims of the Golden Gate Water Ski Club have always been to bring persons together interested in water skiing. The presentation of water ski shows and active competition within the club develops a well-skilled skiier who can compete in meets with the other clubs in the west as well as on a national level.

JULY 4 PROGRAM

On schedule for July 4 this year will be the largest show yet. It will be held on Lake Merritt in Oakland and some attractions will include ski-ballet, girls, clown acts, pyramids, jumping events and barefoot and kite skiiers.

The charter families of the Marin Division include Messrs. and Mesdames Robert Wineman, Fred Casella, Bob Miller, Norman O'Keefe, Dick VanWie, Ben Cessna, Richard Meagor and Ralph Devlin.

The main project on hand for the Division is to establish a skiing headquarters for the club within reasonable distance of Marin County. This would give the club a permanent location for a jumping ramp and slalom course so necessary for competition practice.

TWO BIG DATES

Two important dates set by the Division at its February meeting were the first inaugural dinner dance to be held at Trader Horn, San Rafael, Saturday night, April 11. On April 12, an organized Marin boat inspection day will be held. Chairman, Mr. Bob Miller, has arranged for the Coast Guard inspectors to be on hand so that all divisional boats will be examined before the coming skiing season opens.

For anyone interested in obtaining information about this forward-moving Water Ski Division, president Ralph Devlin at 431 Cascade drive, Fairfax, will be happy to answer all inquiries.

Lake Merced Club Wins Nimitz Cup

To encourage youth in yachting, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz has offered a special trophy to be awarded to the Pacific Inter-Club member club judged to have done the most to promote good practices on the water on the part of children. The first name to go on the Admiral's Trophy is that of Lake Merced Yacht Club, which received the award for its excellent sailing classes and the racing performance of the club's young sailors in small sailboats.

California Third In Outboard Use

California with 357,000 outboard motors in use during 1958 ranked third among the States behind New York and Michigan.

San Francisco was seventh among the cities with an estimated 74,000 kickers in use.

Outboarding is increasing at such a rate along the Pacific coast that the OBC expects California to move into second place by 1960.

New Yachting Facilities Popping Up In Marin; More Are On The Way

Construction was begun last December on the Sausalito Yacht Club's $20,000 clubhouse development with club members driving piles to support the deck at the site of the old ferry slip.

A certain amount of volunteer labor on the part of the membership will be used to bring this long-held dream to reality. The original design of architect Ted Boutmey won a national architectural prize a year ago, but bids exceeded the club's budget, so this design was scaled down. With membership support, the Sausalitans hope to see considerable progress on the club house this spring.

Fred Crawford, commodore, and John Sweeney, building committee chairman, are spearheading the effort.

Though nearly homeless, the Sausalito sailors are by no means orphans when it comes to proficiency in the sport of sailing.

John Ford and his crew retained possession of the historic San Francisco Bay Challenge Cup in a match race against a Corinthian Y.C. crew this summer. A brand new Small Yacht Racing Assn. Challenge Trophy also came into possession of the Sausalito sailing men, when skipper Jim Enzenperger brought the Mercury "Frenzy" in ahead of a Corinthian Y.C. crew.

STILL IN the planning stage is the 56-berth harbor which Corinthian Y.C. hopes to add to its facilities. An estimated $100,000 project, the design calls for a 500-foot breakwater off the point of the clubhouse, with a bend to the east side of the club's property. One row of berths would be against the breakwater, and one row on a floating pier. A turning basin is reserved in the plans. Ronnie Buist of Tiburon is the newly-elected commodore of Corinthian, with Robert Evans of Belvedere chairman of the building committee.

TOMALES BAY Sailing Club members have combined forces to construct a movable float 20 by 30 foot, which they use to assist in launching of small boats for sailing races and to accomodate their race committees. Since the float is mobile, it can be towed to any part of Tomales Bay to give the skippers a variety of courses. Members have been meeting the first weekend of each month to help build the float, and make other improvements at the club property at Marshall. Marvin Franke is commodore.

SAN FRANCISCO Y.C.'s 136-berth, $302,000 harbor development at Belvedere Cove has attracted both local and national acclaim. Financed entirely by the club membership, the harbor was completed in November, 1957. The Harbor Development Committee was headed by past commodores Raymund J. Millzner and Leonard G. James, and included A. Donham Owen, Leonard von Schultheis and the present Commodore, Paul De Silva.

Bay Area Yacht Won Bermuda Race

Bay Area boatmen braved the Atlantic Ocean in last summer's Newport to Bermuda race, and covered themselves with glory. Jack Hedden's Good News, manned by San Franciscans, was the first to cross the finish line in the 650-mile race. It was the first time a boat from San Francisco Bay had made the classic ocean race.

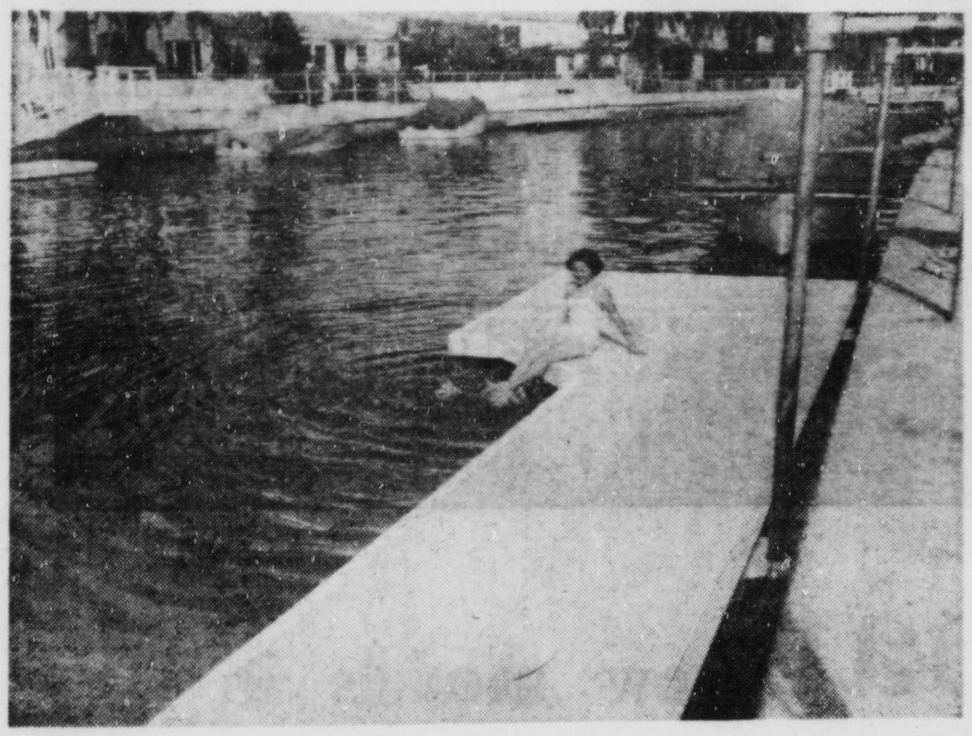
NEW Advance in Small Boat Mooring



tomorrow's marine docking float . . . TODAY!

LONG LASTING • unit assemblies. One of the most significant advances in small boat mooring in more than two decades, the UNICRETE floating concrete docking assembly provides a new and vastly improved mooring facility, outmoding all types of structures previously used for this purpose. The Unitfloat is virtually maintenance-free, being made of lightweight concrete, and will give good service for fifteen years or more.

STABILITY • Unit assemblies remain level, and little, if any, motion is evident due to normal chop or wave motion.

WORKING LOAD • Unitfloat assemblies displace 91 pounds per square foot of deck surface and have a dead-weight of 23 lbs. per sq. ft. The normal working load rating is 28 lbs. per sq. ft., with an over-factor of 40 pounds per sq. ft.

The float is available in three, four, six, and eight-foot widths, and may be joined together like dominos to provide any combination of walkways or fingers desired. Costly waterfront construction in installation is eliminated, with no painting required.

New 1-Way Plan Would Cut Across E Street School

Committee Hears Criticism Of Circle Now Under Trial

A new traffic plan for San Rafael—extending Third street through E Street School and extending Second street through the Hess Lumber Co. yard and out to San Pedro road—won unanimous approval of the mayor's one-way street committee today.

The action came on a motion by Gerald Stone and a second by Thomas Parks.

The committee met this morning at King Cotton restaurant and voted to ask the city council to finance the program with a bond issue or any other feasible plan.

A. E. BAGSHAW
Seeks re-election

The committee members declared this is a long-range plan that would take the place of the much more expensive First street extension. Stone said he has no idea how much the program would cost, but estimated it would be less than half the cost of the million-dollar First street extension.

CALLED MEETING

Stone said the idea was generated at chamber of commerce meetings. Richard Cuthbert, chairman of the one-way street committee, called today's meeting to air the chamber of commerce plan presented by Stone.

The new plan is this:

Make Third street one-way westbound from Irwin street, extend it through E Street School to Latham street, then out to Second street near Ida street. Second street would be one-way eastbound from near Ida street straight through the Henry Hess Co. area, behind Ames Ford and United Markets and out to San Pedro road behind an existing service station at Montecito Shopping Center.

EAST-WEST ROUTE

This would provide the much needed east-west thoroughfare through downtown San Rafael.

OPPOSES BONDS

Harry Williams said he would be opposed to any bond issue unless the one-way street program is worked out for the entire city, not just for Second and Third streets. "If we're going to have a bond issue, let's make Fourth street parallel—the whole thing," he declared.

George Kaenel suggested that an assessment district for the whole city would be another way to finance the plan. The committee decided to let the city council choose the best financing method.

The newly adopted "one-way circle" at the Irwin street underpass area came in for considerable criticism, especially from businessmen in the Circle area.

MORE CONGESTION

Thomas Parks and Fred Pape said the "Big Circle" is creating more congestion than be-

Poison Oak Out In Miserable Abundance

By WILLIAM L. EARLE

Remember the story about the man with the seven-year itch who got five months behind in his scratching?

An unfortunate gentleman, to be sure, but perhaps no more so than the hundreds of Marin County residents destined to scratch their way through nasty cases of poison oak in the months ahead.

Poison oak, the innocent looking shrub that carries a concealed weapon, is with us the year 'round. But you stand a better chance of coming in contact with it during the "outdoor living" months. Hikers and campers are particularly vulnerable.

The current warm spell is bringing out the poison oak leaves in all their miserable abundance. They have a reddish hue now, but in another two weeks or so they'll be a nice shiny green.

"They look luscious," said Thomas W. Peryam, county agricultural commissioner.

Peryam, whose spray crews already have started their annual campaign against the noxious shrubs, said poison oak leaves resemble those of California's deciduous oaks.

Can Marin expect a bumper crop of poison oak this year?

Peryam chuckled. "We don't have to expect it," he said. "It's always here and always has been."

Some of the heaviest infestations, he said, are along South Novato and Sir Francis Drake boulevards and in the Strawberry district, Tiburon's older section, San Anselmo's wooded areas and Bayside Acres.

"Up in the hills we run into it all the time," Peryam said. "Fortunately, it doesn't bother me. I can take hold of it raw. In my younger days I used to grab hold of the twigs and pull myself up embankments."

But the agricultural commissioner conceded he isn't necessarily immune to poison oak.

"The person who is most resistant could easily get it from the smoke of a burning poison oak shrub," he said. "And once you've had a bad attack, you're more likely to get it from then on. Burning poison oak—even the dead wood—is very dangerous because it gives off a volatile oil which can cause a skin infection."

The Independent-Journal asked Dr. Paul Fasal about poison oak "immunity." Is there any such thing?

The San Rafael dermatologist said it is folly for an individual to belive he is immune, even if he has gone 20 or 30 years without a case of poison oak. He recalled that some brave souls have handled poison oak on a dare and wound up in the hospital.

A wide variety of poison oak remedies is available on drug store shelves. Pharmacist Joseph E. Nygren of Webb and Rogers Drugs, San Rafael, said he finds the greatest demand is for external applications.

"Other remedies are taken internally. They're supposed to

Bagshaw Files For Re-Election As City Atty.

Any doubts that City Atty. Albert E. Bagshaw would seek re-election in the face of opposition from Thomas P. Boyd were dispelled today with Bagshaw's formal filing.

Both Bagshaw and Boyd are in the race for the $550 per month post, City Clerk W. L. Morgan reported today. Roderick Martinelli has filed for re-election to the board of education.

The only incumbent who had not completed filing this morning was Dr. Charles W. Aby, city councilman. His papers were still circulating today. So were the papers for Bill Thompson, radio announcer, who seeks a post on the board of education.

Bagshaw, lifetime resident and former Marin district attorney, was appointed to the city attorney's job in December, 1956. He succeeded Judge Harold J. Haley, who was named to the municipal court bench that year.

Bagshaw heads the San Rafael legal firm of Bagshaw, Schaal, Martinelle and Talley.

Martinelli, the school board aspirant is one of five who will seek the three posts that are open. Martinelli was appointed in March last year to fill out the term of Thomas Boyd, who resigned.

Martinelli, Rex Silvernale and C. Paul Bettini, the incumbents, are all seeking re-election. C. Roy Calder has filed also for a school board post.

Would-Be-Bay Bridge-Builder Dies Obscurely

At 3 p.m. last Saturday, an elderly man watching the horses run at Tanforan in San Bruno suddenly collapsed at a moment of high excitement.

A doctor was called. The racing enthusiast ("he never made a bet," a friend recalled later) was pronounced dead. San Bruno police took the body to a mortuary.

The only identification they found on the body consisted of some letters addressed to "T. A. Tomasini." The name meant nothing to San Bruno police. Until yesterday, the body lay in the mortuary without further identification.

The name would have meant something had word of the death reached the Marin County Courthouse.

Back in the '20s, when transportation across the bay was by ferry, T. A. Tomasini staked his half-million-dollar fortune on a proposal for a grandiose bay crossing scheme, which included a tube and bridge from Albany to Tiburon to link Marin and Contra Costa counties and a bridge across Richard-

COLD VIRUS ISOLATES 31 AT JUVENILE HALL

Thirty-one youngsters at Marin Juvenile Hall in Lucas Valley are isolated from the rest of Marin today because of a cold virus that has plagued the hall since Sunday.

The county physician's office ordered that no more youngsters would be placed at the home until the virus has been checked. Acting Supt. Nick Minitsky at the hall reported the virus struck Sunday, leaving two boys with temperatures of 104 and 103. But within a day or two, both were down to normal. Then other boys got the fever. At the height of the plague, about six boys were down with colds.

No girls have taken ill as yet.

Because of the virus infection, the three Novato boys who admitted burning down Burdell School were sent to Santa Rosa Juvenile Hall.

Financing Completed For Ross Hospital Addition

Financing of a $225,000 Ross General Hospital addition was completed today with the First National Bank in San Rafael, announced Dr. John C. Siemens, the hospital's administrator.

Construction is expected to begin in about three months on a new wing which will add 20 beds to the hospital's present capacity of 56 beds for general medical cases; a new surgery with four operating rooms; a new clinical laboratory, and a new physical therapy department which was formerly in an old house which will be demolished to make way for the new wing.

Dr. Siemens said the hospital is now operating at 90 per cent occupancy.

Architect Jack Hermann of Greenbrae has completed preliminary plans for the addition. It will lie in the portion of the hospital site within the limits of the Town of Ross. The Ross Town Council last month granted a variance to allow the construction. The directors expect to issue a call for bids soon, said Dr. Siemens.

Remodeling of the 43-bed tuberculosis ward behind the main hospital is scheduled to begin in about a month. A sprinkler system will be installed by the Grinnell Co. of San Francisco. The reconstruction and sprinkler system was required by the state fire marshall.

Three Novato Boys Admit Setting Burdell School Fire

Three teen-agers from prominent Novato families yesterday admitted burning down Burdell School last November with kerosene and matches because they wanted to destroy evidence that they had broken into the building.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos said two boys are 15 and the third 14 years old. All attend Novato High School.

Acting Sgt. Edward Levine and Deputy Sheriff Harold Goerndt got an anonymous tip yesterday from a woman. This led to the arrest of the three last evening.

The young tria, one of whom said he was glad to get caught because it had been bothering him ever since, gave this account of the night of crime:

Last Nov. 23, two of the boys were staying at the home of the third, whose parents were away. Shortly after midnight, they strolled toward Mill road and Trumbull avenue, where they stole a car. They drove to the Burdell School. On the spur of the moment, one said, "Let's go inside." They broke a window, entered, and rummaged through drawers.

Fearing they might have left evidence, one of them suggested burning the building.

They found some kerosene and poured it over rags in a closet, then tossed a match on the kerosene and fled. They abandoned the car where they had found it, ran home and jumped into bed before the parents returned home. Just as they got home, they heard the fire whistle blow.

The three were booked for arson, burglary, and car theft and turned over to juvenile authorities.

Sheriff's deputies said the youngsters have no previous record, and have not been problem students in school.

Big Sports-Boat Show To Open Here Tomorrow

San Rafael will become the sportsmen's capital of Northern California this weekend when the Marin Rod and Gun Club presents its sixth annual Sports and Boat Show at Bermuda Palms Motel.

Newest in boating, hunting, fishing and other outdoor equipment will be displayed and visitors will be treated to demonstrations by the Marin Skin Divers Club and the Northwoods Bowmen's Club of Marin. The show opens tomorrow at 6 p.m. and runs through Sunday.

To salute the event the Independent-Journal today presents its annual special Sports and Boat Show tabolid section.

Congress Votes Hawaii Statehood

House Action Adds 50th Star To Flag

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress today voted admission of Hawaii to the Union as the 50th state.

The "aloha" for the statehood long-awaited by the tropical Pacific islands came when the House gave final approval to the bill passed by the Senate 76-15 last night.

The House action sent the bill on to President Eisenhower whose signature was assured.

ADMISSION DELAY

The actual admission will be delayed for several months by the mechanics of procedure which includes holding an election in Hawaii. It likely will be late July, possibly as late as October, before the 50th state formally joins the Union.

As the House roll call reached the 218 affirmative votes needed for passage, Gov. William F. Quinn who was waiting here, telephoned a signal for bonfire celebrations to be touched off in Hawaii.

LONG-AWAITED

It was a moment the 575,000 residents of the last incorporated territory under the American Flag had awaited for more than 50 years.

Hawaii will be the first island state. But Alaska's admission as the 49th state had already broken through a long argument from some Congress members against admitting territories not joined geographically to the other states.

In Honolulu, the congressional action started the maneuvering today among Hawaii's politicians seeking backing as candidates for the 50th state's five new elective offices.

Gate Theater To Reopen In Sausalito

A new legitimate theater for Marin County is scheduled to make its appearance next month when Sherman Wayne Productions, Ltd., of San Francisco will reopen the long dark Gate Theater in Sausalito as a weekend repertory theater.

Approval for the operation was given by the Sausalito Planning Commission last night.

Gary Eastman of Eastman-Ravizzi real estate agency, who handled the transaction, said principals in the operation are Leslie Abbott and Sherman Blas, both well known in theatrical circles.

The theater at 673 Bridgeway has been closed for more than six years after being operated by the Blumenfield Theaters for motion pictures. When the property was sold to Albert Lanier of San Francisco, the deed prohibited its re-use for films.

Eastman said the producers are planning to open the 250-seat house in mid-April with a presentation of "Pajama Game."

In other action, the commission set April 1 as the date for a special meeting to receive a report from a subcommittee headed by Richard F. Grambow covering recommendations on the proposed plans by J. Eugene McAteer for creation of an elaborate restaurant and shops on the sandspit property.

The planners last night also granted approval to Woodley B. Smith of Mill Valley for operation of an automatic laundry at 518 Caledonia street.

Ceremony Marks Opening Of Novato Sheriff Substation

A brief ceremony this afternoon opened the new sheriff's substation at Novato, which will be staffed by four deputies headed by Acting Sgt. Edward Levine.

North Marin Supervisor William Gnoss was to hand over a one-dollar bill to shoe store owner Aaron Hiller, who donated the use of an old railroad office to the sheriff for a token rental of one dollar per year. The office is leased by Hiller from the Northwestern Pacific Railroad.

San Anselmo Schools Face Big Deficit

San Anselmo School District will be $35,000 "in the red" to start the new fiscal year in July unless state appropriations are increased, Asst. Supt. James R. Jordan told district trustees last night.

Jordan presented an analysis of next year's budget problem based on the present state allocation system. The projection included a 10 per cent raise — not yet granted — in teacher salaries.

After hearing Jordan, the trustees voted to write to State Sen. John F. McCarthy and Assemblyman Richard H. McCollister urging support of AB 1000, a measure which would increase state appropriations to all school districts. It would provide San Anselmo District with an additional $42,000, said Jordan—more than enough to meet the anticipated deficit.

A committee of the Sleepy Hollow Parents Club, headed by Mrs. Paul Talbot, presented a report on materials available for a special program for rapid learners.

OFFER TO IKE GETS HER A HORSE

Kathy Hewitt, 11, of Miami, Fla., had saved up $61 toward purchase of a horse. Then last week she started to worry about the national debt. So she offered her $61 to President Eisenhower — no strings attached — to help the nation pay its bills. He politely declined. A Miami woman, touched by Kathy's generosity and good citizenship, presented her with a horse. Kathy poses with it here. It's named Baby. (AP Wirephoto)

Meadowsweet Rezoning Due New Airing By Supervisors

The proposal to rezone the 3.5-acre Balzarini-Moats property in the Meadowsweet area south of Corte Madera to block construction of 35 apartment units will come up for another airing March 24 at 8 p.m., the county board of supervisors has decided.

Members of the Meadowsweet Improvement Assn., who stand opposed to the apartments in what is now a "planned residential" area, asked for the night hearing.

Opponents to the apartment plan have requested that the Balzarini-Moats property be rezoned to its original designation, "limited agricultural."

County Counsel Leland H. Jordan has given his opinion previously that the property could be rezoned back to its original zoning "only if it is shown that there has been a substantial change of the conditions surrounding the property since the time it was zoned planned residential."

The present zoning would permit the co-owners—Mr. and Mrs. John A. Balzarini and Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan C. Moats—to build the apartments subject only to approval of a master development plan for the area.

The property was rezoned last summer as a planned residential district.

San Rafael attorney Phillip A. Kennedy, representing the property owners, has insisted that the supervisors and planning commissioners are "in full accord" that the 35-unit apartment plan is acceptable.

Hamilton Officer Gets Command

Lt. Col. Carl H. Leo, who has served for a year as operations officer of the 83rd Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base and accompanied the 83rd on its mission to Formosa, has been named commanding officer of the 322nd FIS at Kingsley Field at Klamath Falls, Ore.

Colonel Leo, who was promoted to his present rank yesterday, will leave Hamilton Saturday for his new assignment. The squadron he is taking over is moving to the Klamath Falls base from Larson Air Force Base at Moses Lake, Wash.

San Anselmo Police Had A Busy Year

The 14-man San Anselmo Police Department had a busy year during 1958. So busy, in fact, that its members put in 1,613 overtime hours, according to a report prepared by Officer James A. Farmer.

During 1958 the San Anselmo Police Department handled 1,938 complaints. A total of 136 persons was arrested.

The largest number of arrests (41) in a single category was for intoxication. Another 13 persons were arrested for drunk driving.

OTHER AWARDS

Other arrests included in the total were two for armed robbery, one for rape, 11 for forgery or bad checks, and nine for automobile thefts.

Bad check cases, a specialty of Asst. Chief Sam N. Serio, totaled 104 last year. The sum of money involved was $8,411. Of this total, $6,666 was lost through fraud or embezzlement. However, the report listed $7,583 as accounted for either by arrest, restitution or no prosecution.

The indefatigable San Anselmo police last year checked doors 235,560 times. On 166 occasions, the doors were discovered to be unlocked.

JUVENILE ARRESTS

The number of juvenile offenders arrested dropped from a total of 534 in 1957 to 132 in 1958. Of the total last year, 124 were boys and eight were girls.

Petty theft, drinking and traffic offenses accounted for the largest number of arrests.

Most of the complaints about youngsters under 18 were complaints of malicious mischief. Last year these totaled 101.

Voter's Lament

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — Mayor Joseph N. Langan spotted a man pilfering a newspaper stand coin box. He looked around for a policeman and, seeing non, ran after the thief, collared him and held him until an officer arrived minutes later.

Police said the thief admitted his guilt, commenting ruefully, "and I voted for Langan."

Bank Official Shifted To S.F.

Edward D. Lorenzini, operations officer at Bank of America in San Rafael since 1957, has been selected to take charge of operations and personnel at the bank's new customer services center in San Francisco, it was announced today by San Rafael branch manager J. V. Bacigalupi.

Lorenzini, who resides with his wife, Frances, at 162 Corte Alta, Novato, is being succeeded at the San Rafael branch by David E. Burt who has been at the Ukiah branch since 1957 and formerly was operations officer at the Gridley branch.

BUSES BURNING LIGHTS DURING DAY AS SAFETY EXPERIMENT

Fog in San Francisco? Overcharged batteries? No, a safety experiment is the reason this week for Greyhound commute buses burning their headlights during daylight hours.

A clerk in the San Francisco safety office of Western Greyhound Lines said the test will continue about a month to see whether the headlights help in preventing accidents.

The use of headlights during the day would be in line with common railroad practice in the United States.

3-Hour Flight To Moon Seen Eventual Reality

WASHINGTON (AP) — Space flight to the moon in less than three hours may some day be possible, a noted scientist says.

So might a four-and-one-half year flight to Pluto, the most distant planet in the solar system, says Dr. Lee Dubridge, president of California Institute of Technology.

But, he indicated, space distances are so enormous that any visions of flight to even the nearest star beyond our sun appear out of the question.

Reason: The spacemen would have lived through a normal lifetime thousands of years before the trip was over.

If a spaceship could be developed having a speed of 90,000 miles an hour—or 25 miles a second—it could reach the moon in 2.9 hours, the sun in four days and Pluto in four-and-one-half years, Dubridge said. But it would take the same ship 30,000 years to reach Alpha Centauri, the nearest star beyond the sun.

"It is true," he said last night at a symposium sponsored by Resources for the Future, Inc., "we can some day probably exceed the speed of 25 miles per second.

"But the 25,000 miles per second required to bring the nearest star within reach is not in sight."

Kentfield Fireman Due Honor

Elie F. Faure, Kentfield volunteer fireman for 35 years, is to be awarded an honorary life membership in the Kentfield Assn. of Volunteer Firemen.

Fire Chief John R. McLeran said Faure submitted his resignation from the association Friday night. McLeran said members voted unanimously to give Faure the honorary membership.

Faure, whose brother, Peter, is also a member of the association, was first a member of the department when the only equipment was a hose cart. He is a machinist and resides at 11 Edna court, Kentfield. He is a past president of the Marin County Assn. of Fire Departments.

His most recent position in the Kentfield department was as first assistant chief.

Whatsit Without Wings Or Motor Flies At End Of Rope

Do-It-Yourself Copter-Glider Built For $67

SONORA (AP)—In this jet age, John D. Carter has taken to soaring through the air in a wingless, motorless glider. It looks like the maverick offspring of a helicopter.

Carter calls it a "gyro glider." He and two friends built it for $67.

His do-it-yourself contraption flies on the end of a tow rope. Motive power is supplied by a pickup truck at the other end.

A pair of 10-foot rotor blades, similar to those of a helicopter, lift the thing into the air. The forward movement keeps the blades whirling. A "stick" tilts the rotor to control movement up and down. Turns are made by banking the rotor.

Besides the rotor and blades, the flying gadget consists of a rudder, a chair to which the pilot is strapped, a simple metal frame and four wheels. That's all.

It is made up of such unlikely things as conduit pipe, plywood, pieces of metal, leather straps and the front hub of a Model T.

So far it has never been in free flight. Its career has been limited to the 50-foot tow rope above the Columbia airport.

"If we can get it more than 300 feet in the air, we could probably use the thermal currents and keep the glider flying," Carter said.

He and his aides are building floats so it can be towed on water.

"If we can get it working on water," Carter said, "we should be able to ride longer and higher and not be bothered by power lines, trees or roads."

Church Loyalty Oath Repeal Bill Passed

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill repealing the loyalty oath requirement for churches filing for tax exemptions received final approval in the Senate yesterday.

The bill was authored by Assemblyman Glenn Coolidge (R-Felton) and contained an urgency clause so that it will take effect immediately upon signature by the governor.

The bill provides that all taxes be refunded along with any penalty or interest for any fiscal year beginning with 1958 on church property.

Fight Vowed For Elective School Board

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Assemblyman Sheridan N. Hegland (D- La Mesa) said today he would attempt to revive a bill which would make members of the state Board of of Education elected by the people instead of appointed by the governor.

The Assembly Education Committee voted yesterday to send Hegland's proprosal to an interim committee, a procedure which usually kills a bill for at least two years.

However, Hegland said he discussed the action with committee members after the meeting and he thought he had lined up enough support to give his bill another hearing.

Assemblyman Gordon H. Winton (D-Merced), who supported the motion to farm out the bill for two years, told the committee that he was opposed to an elected education board. "But I certainly would like to give it a lot of study and thought," he said.

Who's The Chairman?

STAMFORD, Conn. (UPI)—Before it could hold a meeting to discuss campaign strategy for unseating the GOP, the Democratic City Committee had to borrow 20 chairs from nearby Republican headquarters.

Tighter Drunk Driver Definition Studied

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A state Senate committee will try to decide today if drunk driving laws should be tightened up to snare the cocktail hour set.

Up for discussion in the upper house's Judiciary Committee is a bill sponsored by Dist. Atty. Roy Gustafson of Ventura County, the man currently engaged as prosecutor in the Duncan murder trial.

Gustafson's bill would repeal the present law which says you are a drunk driver if you drive while "under the influence of intoxicating liquor."

He would substitute in its place this definition:

A drunk driver is under the influence "if his ability to operate a vehicle has been lessened in any degree by the use of intoxicating liquor."

Because of the sensational Duncan murder trial, Gustafson could not be present to argue for his bill—but he sent one of his deputies, Stanley E. Cohen, to try to persuade the legislators.

Cohen's argument went like this:

"The present definition allows a driver to impair his ability as long as he is still able to drive as well as an average man.

"By telling a driver he may drink to the point where his ability to drive is appreciably impaired, although not down to the standard of the average driver, the law is saying that a driver may unnecessarily endanger life and property."

What Cohen and Gustafson were shooting for was to win Judiciary Committee approval of the new definition of drunk driving and then, later in the session, achieve passage of a bill permitting chemical tests to determine the exact amount of alcohol in the bloodstream.

Cohen produced evidence to show that for the average 150-pound man, two ounces of whiskey or two beers ingest enough alcohol to put him on the border line.

At blood alcohol levels over .05 per cent a driver may be impaired and at .15 per cent all persons are impaired to some degree.

With the new definition and chemical blood tests a driver's impairment would be measured against his own ability to drive when sober.

Humane Slaughter Measure Approved

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate passed and sent to the Assembly yesterday a bill calling for the humane slaughter of "all cattle, calves, horses, mules, sheep, swine and other livestock."

The measure, authored by Sen. Fred S. Farr (D-Carmel), would aso set up standards for humane slaughter.

State Wage Hikes Favored

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—An Assembly group has gone against Gov. Edmund G. Brown's proposal and voted a 50-million-dollar pay raise for state employees.

Despite warning that their action might mean an additional 20 million dollars in new or higher taxes, a subcommittee of the lower house Ways and Means Committee voted 4-3 yesterday for a bigger boost for 100,000 state workers.

Brown originally recommended a 5 per cent pay increase, which would cost 32 million dollars.

But Assemblymen Thomas J. MacBride (D-Sacramento), Republican Party whip Bruce Sumner of Santa Ana; Assemblymen Pauline Davis (D-Portola) and Bruce F. Allen (R-San Jose) boosted the program by 20 million dollars more.

As revised by the subcommittee, all state employees except statutory and constitutional officers would get a 7½ per cent pay raise starting July 1. Academic personnel at the state university and at state colleges would get an extra 5 per cent for a grand total of 12½ per cent more.

Enforced Idleness Irks Pianist Cliburn

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time since he was 3 years old, Van Cliburn's piano is silent.

The blond, bushy-haired 24-year-old Texan is under doctors' orders to stay away from a keyboard for two months, while the middle finger of his right hand heals from an operation. Then he will be allowed to practice only lightly for another month.

A complete rest is distasteful to Cliburn. He has practiced daily for 21 years, four hours a day before concerts. Now, after the operation on an abscessed fingertip, he is restless to resume his heavy schedule.

"The fact that I can't play is more injurious to my morale than the pain I sustained," the pianist, clad in pale blue pajamas and a blue plaid robe, remarked at the Hospital for Special Surgery.

Despite his weakness, he has kept busy in his private eighth-floor room.

Now he has a chance to watch television — "Something I never had much time for before."

"I've done a little reading, too," he said. "Poetry, for the moment — poetry more than Prose." A favorite is Lord Byron.

On his bed lay an orchestration of Samuel Barber's "Capricorn Concerto," and he had just finished playing a Metropolitan Opera recording of Barber's opera "Vanessa."

An abscessed finger is more serious than it may sound, and Cliburn's physician has ordered him to rest in the sun when he is released from the hospital.

"Every concert is only postponed," he replied, smiling, to a question about cancellations. "I don't believe in cancellations. Never close the door, you know.

"I have received several invitations to play with my good hand—some pieces like Ravel's "Left Hand Concerto" — but the doctor thinks I should rest."

One major regret was postponing a concert trip scheduled in the Soviet Union next month — the country where he became famous by winning the Tchaikowsky piano contest last April.

Cliburn thinks his finger became infected while he was clipping his nails—a necessary chore for pianists—and he apparently cut the one nail at an odd angle.

"I've had lots of sore fingers before, and played in spite of them," he remarked. "In fact, one finger was split down the side the night I won the competition in Moscow. But this one was so bad I could hardly play."

The five physicians who worked on his half-hour operation Feb. 27 had one unusual difficulty, due to his constant piano-playing—cutting through a callus one-eighth inch thick on his finger.

MUSICAL INTERLUDE — Pianist Van Cliburn, the 24-year-old Texan who has been used to a daily practice schedule on the keyboard for 21 years, is like a fish out of water these days. The concert artist is recuperating in a New York hospital after an operation for an abscessed fingertip, and he's under doctor's orders to stay away from the piano for at least two months. Ike-Macmillan Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House announced today that the Berlin crisis conferences between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will be held at Camp David, in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland.

Macmillan will arrive in Washington next Thursday.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President, Macmillan and their immediate staffs would go to Camp David the following day. They will confer at the secluded White House retreat Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

West Expected To Offer Russ Summit Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Western powers are expected soon to offer the Soviet Union the definite possibility of a summit conference later this year.

The major Western condition for a top level meeting probably will be that an earlier conference of foreign ministers should make progress toward settling the Berlin crisis.

There is behind-the-scenes British dissent on this point, however. London leaders have informed other Allied governments they believe that direct and personal negotiations with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will have to be arranged sooner or later in any case.

The central strategy on which all the Western powers are agreed is that negotiations must be employed to the fullest limit possible in order to overcome the danger that the Berlin dispute could eventually explode into a nuclear war.

President Eisenhower told a news conference yesterday that "we are certainly not going to fight a ground war in Europe."

Nikita Warns West On Use Of Force

BERLIN (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev warned the West today it would meet with "appropriate resistance" if it tried to solve any of the major world problems by force.

Khrushchev delivered the warning shortly before he flew home to Moscow after eight days of conferring with East German Communist leaders and visiting the Leipzig spring trade fair.

"If the aggressors should try, in spite of everything, to carry through their adventurous aims and—as they say—try to 'break through' anywhere, they would meet with the appropriate resistance," Khrushchev said.

"We would like to believe, however, that those on whom it depends will not permit any irresponsible acts and will take decisions in the interest of all countries which fought against Hitlerite Germany."

Khrushchev repeated earlier pleas to the West to end the cold war on his terms—by signing a peace treaty with Germany and winding up the occupation of West Berlin.

He said Russia would "continue obstinately" trying to persuade the West to sign a treaty with both German states. He denounced as "irresponsible" those in the West who have charged him with increasing international tension and threatening the world with a war by his latest proposals on Germany.

"Such statements can only be made by those who are deliberately distorting the Soviet Union's peace-loving policy," he charged.

Thousands of East Berliners who were marched into the streets and handed paper Russian flags cheered Khrushchev's farewell motorcade in East Berlin.

Khrushchev, accompanied by East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht, Premier Otto Grotewohl and other Soviet zone officials, drove through the city to an undisclosed military airfield where he boarded a TU 104 jet airliner for the flight to Moscow.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Mary Siegel went to the sheriff's office to report someone stole her spare tire and wheel, worth $95. When she came out, she found a white leather coat worth $150 had been stolen from her car.

Midway's Mascot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A pretty Kentucky belle greeted the carrier Midway as she arrived today with 3,500 sailors and fliers.

Phyllis Ann Cox, 19, of Lexington, Ky., was chosen Miss Midway by the ship's crew.

She got a great cheer from the Midway crew, which has been in the Far East seven months.

TWO BIG PENNEY STORES TO SERVE YOU—CORTE MADERA AND SAN RAFAEL

Hearings Scheduled On Two School Merger Proposals

Two proposals for unification of various school districts in Marin were set for public hearings last night by the County Committee on School District Organization.

A third such proposal, involving unification of the Novato and San Jose Districts — turned down by voters of the San Jose district in January and now being re-studied — moved a step closer to re-submission to the voters.

A proposal that unification of all school districts in Marin be studied was set for public hearing at 8 p.m. March 30 in San Rafael, tentatively at San Rafael High School.

WEST MARIN PLAN

Set for hearing on April 2 was a petition asking study of unifying nine West Marin districts and establishment of a new high school in the Olema-Point Reyes Station area. The hearing will be at 8 p.m. in West Marin School.

The proposal for unification of all Marin school districts was presented last month by Mrs. Vera Woodworth of Homestead, bearing her signature and those of 15 other persons from various areas of Marin.

The West Marin unification proposal came up this week when trustees of the West Marin Elementary School District voted to ask the county committee to study unification of that district with eight other districts in Marin's west coastal area.

NINE-DISTRICT MERGER

It would involve creation of a "Point Reyes Area Unified School District" embracing the present Bolinas, Lagunitas, Marshall, Nicasio, Pt. Reyes, Stinson Beach, Tomales and West Marin elementary districts and the Tomales High School District.

E. L. Blackmore, assistant county superintendent of schools, said today that the April 2 hearing in West Marin may also be used as a continuation of the March 30 hearing on county-wide unification for the convenience of West Marinites.

The West Marin unification study won approval last night of trustees of the Stinson Beach School District. The Stinson Beach board voted unanimously to join in requesting the study, reported chairman Henry B. Lacaze.

COLD SHOULDER

The plan got a cold shoulder, however, from Tomales Joint Union High School District trustees. Four representatives of the West Marin District—Chairman Tobias Giacomini, Trustees Gus Kovats and Donald J. McIsaac and Supt. George Stratton — appeared at the Tomales board's meeting to urge the study. But the Tomales trustees voted to take no action.

The West Marin trustees emphasized that they were not necessarily endorsing the unification but thought it should be taken under immediate study as a possibility.

Trustees of a third district which would be affected by the unification—Lagunitas — also met last night. But Supt. E. L. Frye said the unification proposal was not discussed "before, during or after" the meeting. It has been put on the agenda for the Lagunitas board's April meeting.

The district organization committee, with additional members sitting in to form the "augmented" committee on Novato-San Jose District unification, last night held the second of three study sessions required by law for reconsideration of the proposal after defeat at the polls.

NEXT SESSION

According to Blackmore, no recommendation can be made by the group until its next session, set for 8:30 p.m. April 16 at Novato High School.

At that time, the committee may recommend resubmitting the unification proposal to voters of the two affected districts within one year from the date of the recent election (Jan. 13), may recommend some other proposed solution of the North Marin district organization problem or may even set the matter for additional study sessions.

One possible alternative proposal which might result from the committee's studies is unification of Novato, San Jose, Dixie, San Rafael and San Quentin School Districts, Blackmore noted.

In connection with the April 16 committee meeting, he said, the Novato school board has set up an open house at Novato High School, starting at 7 p.m., and invited residents of the San Jose district to visit the school. Staff members will be present to show them through the institution and explain its program.

ONE-WAY

fore. They urged that the one-way street be extended beyond the Big Circle to relieve the pressure built up at Third and Irwin and Third and Lincoln.

"We've developed a little monster," said Parks. "Before the one-way circle, the only congestion was at the underpass. Now we have two other major congestion points."

Both Parks and Pape said they are not urging that the Big Circle be thrown out. "We just want it extended."

Their plan is to make Third street one way westbound from Irwin to E street, up E street to Fourth, and one way on Fourth to the Miracle Mile. Second street would be one-way eastbound to the Irwin street underpass. (This is almost identical to the plan originally proposed by the city traffic advisory committee. West End merchants expressed opposition to this plan.)

Ross Council To Study Little League Request

The Ross Town Council will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the town hall to consider a request from the Ross Little League that the baseball diamond in the park be relocated.

The way it is now, according to director Elden C. Friel, the fielders are forced to look into the sun.

POISON OAK

develop a sort of immunity—not fully, but to some extent, at least," Nygren said.

Dr. Fasal cautioned that immunization claims made by some manufacturers of such remedies should be checked carefully by prospective users. He said the subject of poison oak immunization is, in general, a controversial one among doctors.

Nygren said some poison oak victims become frantic and try "almost everything they shouldn't use," including coal oil, kerosene, gasoline and bleach solutions.

Describing poison oak as a generally self-limiting disease, Dr. Fasal stressed that not all cases require treatment by a physician. But in extremely sensitive cases, such as those causing the eyes to swell up and close, the affliction becomes more than self-limiting, he said.

He also made these points:

1. In general, once a poison oak victim has broken out with skin blisters, it is highly unlikely he will transmit the affliction to others.

2. Scratching does not cause poison oak to spread, but it is still a bad practice because it irritates the skin and can cause infection. Extent of the ailment is generally determined by the degree of original contact.

3. If persons exposed to poison oak would wash themselves all over within a short time after exposure, they might avoid the itch. But very often an individual isn't aware he was exposed.

4. Method of local treatment depends on the degree of the affliction. In mild cases, cool compresses with a boric acid solution or even cool tea are sometimes effective. In moderately severe cases, an antihistamine taken orally often can relieve itching. For alleviation of great distress and discomfort in severe cases, corticosteroids may be administered orally or by injection.

5. Home remedies that benefit one person may do nothing for another. Certain emulsions applied to the "weeping and blistering" type of poison oak merely cover it "like a cast," but do not eliminate it.

For the eradication of poison oak shrubs, Peryam recommends a non-poisonous growth regulator known as 2,4-5-T, or, if you prefer the scientific name, trichlorophenoxyacetic acid.

"It will kill—or distort and deform — any broad leafed plants," Peryam said. "But keep it away from the plant you want to keep, and don't use it in a wind. Just spray it on the leaves of the poison oak."

The agricultural commissioner said the best time to spray with 2,4-5-T, available at most garden or pesticide supply stores, is between now and October.

son Bay from Sausalito to Belvedere.

Besides a tidy fortune of his own, Tomasini claimed the backing of eastern financiers for his scheme.

On July 3, 1928, the Marin County Board of Supervisors granted Tomasini a 50-year franchise for the Sausalito-Belvedere bridge, to be operated as a toll bridge. There was a provision that construction must be started within three years.

Tomasini's scheme spawned a batch of lawsuits. There were expenses for plans, research, promotion. The half million dollars Tomasini had made in Sonoma County business ventures dwindled.

Tomasini asked for more time. His franchise was left standing while he attempted to interest new investors.

Then the State of California and the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District came into the picture. Publicly-built bridges spanned the Golden Gate and San Francisco Bay.

Still left was one portion of Tomasini's plan: The bridge from Sausalito to Belvedere. He assured acquaintances that eastern financiers were prepared to pay him $350,000 for the franchise.

Freeways arrived. New bridges appeared on highway engineers' drawing boards—and took form in steel and concrete.

Last Sept. 30, County Counsel Leland H. Jordan called to the attention of the board of supervisors that Tomasini's 50-year bridge franchise was still on the books although the original three-year limit on start of the structure had expired more than 27 years earlier.

The supervisors revoked the franchise.

There was nothing left of T. A. Tomasini's dream—nor his fortune. In place of building bridges, he took vicarious pleasure from watching the ponies run. ("Of course he couldn't bet," the friend said. "He didn't have any money.")

Four days after his sudden death at the track, a niece of the one-time financier was found and claimed the body. She said she would arrange for burial in Golden Gate National Cemetery.

A cemetery attache reported today that no arrangements have yet been made.

Marinite's Sister Dies In Benicia

Ellen W. Greaver of Benicia, 86-year-old sister of Sabina Haley of 611 B street, San Rafael, died at her home yesterday.

Born in California, she had resided in Benicia 25 years.

Also surviving are three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at St. Dominic's Church, Benicia, with burial in the church cemetery. The Rosary will be recited tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Passalacqua Funeral Chapel, Benicia.

OBITUARIES

1st Principal Of Coleman School Dies

Augustina M. Clark, the first principal of San Rafael's Coleman School, died early today at a local hospital after being hospitalized several days. She was 85.

Miss Clark was a native of Marin County. Upon her retirement four years ago, she moved from Oakland where she taught in the public schools and at St. Francis de Sales Parochial School for many years. Her home since then had been with her two nieces, Misses Loreta and Irene Pacheco, at 161 Bayview drive, San Rafael.

Miss Clark, who had taught at the now-demolished B Street School, was made principal of Coleman School when it opened about 1910. The school building at Grand avenue and Linden lane is now used as a county office building.

Coleman School was the fifth in the San Rafael school system. At that time, the high school was on E street where the E Street School now stands, there was an old grammar school on Fourth street now no longer standing, Short School which is still used, and the B Street School now replaced by the San Rafael Bank of America.

Miss Clark remained at Coleman School until about 1913. The remainder of her 65-year teaching career was spent in Oakland.

A Requiem High Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael. The cortege will form at 9:15 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be in Mt. Olivet Cemetery. Recitation of the rosary will be at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening at Keaton's Mortuary.

James Maffei Of Greenbrae Dies At 68

James J. Maffei of Greenbrae, 68-year-old partner in a San Francisco spice cleaning and grinding business, died this morning at a local hospital.

His death, caused by virus pneumonia, was unexpected. He entered the hospital last Friday.

Maffei is survived by his wife, Zelda, with whom he lived at 5 Corte De Sabla in Greenbrae. His son, Raymond, his partner in the Commercial Seed Cleaning Co. in San Francisco, lives at 15 Corte De Sabla, and his daughter, Mrs. Estelle O'Donnell, lives around the corner at 210 Bretano way. Maffei is survived also by seven grandchildren.

Before forming the partnership with his son 13 years ago, Maffei was with another San Francisco spice firm, had been a banana importer and had operated a hardware business in his native city of Sonoma. He had been a Greenbrae resident for five years.

Funeral arrangements are pending with Valente, Marini, Perata and Co., 649 Green street, San Francisco.

Oliver Huskinson Dies In Hospital

Oliver G. Huskinson, Mill Valley resident since 1929, died last evening at a local hospital after long illness. He was 75.

A onetime stock ranch hand, he was a native of Quincy, Plumas County. Since retirement, he had lived in Mill Valley at 138 Sunnyside avenue and 298 Oakdale avenue.

His wife, Florence, died in 1950 and he leaves no close survivors.

A Requiem Mass will be said at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church in Mill Valley at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, with the cortege forming at the Russell and Gooch chapel at 9 o'clock. Rosary will be recited tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the chapel. Interment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

FIBERGLASS FENCE IN KENT WOODLANDS

H. Murray Koch, whose Corte Madera factory manufactures fiberglass products, had to go to court to establish his right to put up a fiberglass fence in front of his home at 609 College avenue, Kentfield. The District Court of Appeals upheld his right in December, deciding against neighbors who had brought suit to restrain him. Today, the fence was partially completed. A passer-by, shown in photo, Mrs. Ada McCann of Hillside avenue, Kentfield, finds the green fiberglass fence neither an object of distaste nor one to cheer.

United Fund Allocates Sums To 17 Agencies

More than a quarter of a million dollars has been allocated by Marin United Fund to Marin's 17 United Crusade agencies for the current year, Mrs. Thomas J. Mellon, fund president, announced today.

This amount includes the $140,000 raised last fall in the Marin campaign of the United Bay Area Crusade, Mrs. Mellon pointed out.

Character-building services for youth received $113,118; Boy Scouts, $46,000; Girl Scouts, $19,700; Camp Fire Girls, $19,050; CYO, $13,868, and YMCA, $14,500.

Family and children's services were allocated a total of $57,576: Family Service Agency, $25,000; Catholic Social Service, $16,000; St. Vincent's School for Boys, $7,500; Sunny ills, $6,200; Children's Home Society of California, $2,376, and Marin Assn. for Retarded Children (in the Crusade this year for the first time) $500.

Six other services received $79,740: Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, $1,697; American Red Cross, $58,950; Marin Jewish Community Center, $5,883; Urban League, $250; Marin Council of Community Services, $10,635, and USO, $2,325.

Most local agencies use these funds Oct. 1, 1958, to Sept. 30, 1959. In other cases the calendar year 1959 is the period being financed. In one case (the Red Cross) it is the year July 1, 1959, to June 30, 1960.

Toastmaster Club Elects Officers

Eric Lane of Mill Valley has been elected president of Marin Toastmaster Club 890, succeeding Roy Calder of San Rafael.

Other officers elected Monday at a meeting in Woodlands Restaurant in Kentfield include Joseph Cranmer, Tiburon, educational vice president; Dr. John Misenheimer, San Rafael, administrative vice president; Paul Hwoschinsky, Tiburon, secretary; Jack Van Houten, Mill Valley, treasurer, and Robert Aldrich, San Rafael, sergeant-at-arms.

The new slate of officers will serve for six months.

Easter Floral Display Set In Mill Valley

Mill Valley merchants again will display colorful window boxes of blooming plants for the Easter season.

Normand D. Black, chairman of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce committee handling the event, said he expects that many more merchants will participate this year than the 80 who joined in the spring observance last year.

Black said roses, hydrangeas and azaleas will be featured plants, with occasional miniature chrysanthemum plants supplying added color.

"We are again planning the attractive miniature barnyard adjacent to Stiveson's restaurant at Lytton Square, using the familiar display loaned each year by Bob Robertson," Black reported.

Last year, the little house with a front "yard" surrounded by wire screening provided a temporary home for chicks, ducklings, rabbits and piglets that was the center of attraction for youngsters and grown-ups alike.

Black said his committee plans to again have two youngsters in bunny costumes traveling the streets adjacent to Lytton Square, watering the flowering plants with quaint watering cans.

"We are also planning decorative treatment in the center of Lytton Square near the city's flagpole using plots of flowering plants surrounded by decorative field stone," he said.

School Orchestra Plays Tomorrow

The Redwood High School Orchestra tomorrow will play before pupils of two neighboring elementary schools in what director Sidney Gordon said he hopes may become a tradition for the new school.

The 21-member orchestra will present identical programs to pupils and teachers at Adaline E. Kent School in Kentfield, and later at Neil Cummins School in Corte Madera.

Several soloists will perform, including Joan Bamberger, who will play Leroy Anderson "Trumpeter's Lullaby." Roxanna Reid and Janet Christensoin will play a duet entitled "Fruit Cocktail." Roxana also will be featured as student director in an aria from "Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart.

St. Lawrence Tolls

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Canada today announced St. Lawrence Seaway tolls designed to pay off the construction debt of the huge waterway in 50 years.

The charges are less than those levied on vessels passing through the Suez and Panama Canals.

Ingrid Gets Kids

ROME (AP)—A Rome court today provisionally awarded actress Ingrid Bergman chief custody of the three children born to her and film director Roberto Rossellini.

The ruling, described as provisory pending a final decision, said Rossellini should have certain visiting rights and holiday company of the children.

U.S. Planning Test Convoy In Berlin Crisis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has drafted a plan for sending a test convoy through a Berlin blockade if the Communists impose one.

The need for a test convoy would arise if Russia abdicated its Berlin responsibilities, signed a treaty with East Germany and gave the East Germans control of traffic routes to Berlin.

It can be reported that blueprints for the test convoy and for putting America's 330,000 military men in Europe on increased alert now exist. Further, they can be adapted to whatever needs emerge from allied conferences.

The plan as it now stands apparently calls for sending a normal size unarmed convoy of four to 10 trucks over the 110-mile road from Helmstedt in West Germany through East Germany to West Berlin.

If the convoy were stopped, it might then be strengthened with tanks and go ahead. What would happen if it drew fire from East German guards was not known.

It can be said that there are plans for Western military forces to establish control of the highway through East Germany if high policy dictates.

The increased alert presumably would apply to British and French forces as well as to U.S. Army and Air Force in Europe. The U.S. Army has about 230,000 men in Europe, of whom 175,000 comprise the 7th Army.

Other plans available for various contingencies that might arise include:

1. Increasing the number of Strategic Air Command bombers kept on 15-minute alert in this country.

2. Beefing up strategic Army corps divisions in this country to "over-strength" status and readying them for immediate movement.

3. In the realm of possibility, but not being seriously considered, is the callup of a few National Guard and reserve units.

Big Snowstorm Hits Northeastern U.S.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A driving snowstorm slashed at the northeastern section of the nation today, moving eastward from Ohio and making highway travel treacherous.

At Delaware, Ohio, a 56-year old man was killed in an auto-truck collision, the first storm-attributed death.

In New York City, about four hours after the snow started falling before midnight, three and one-half inches were measured by the Weather Bureau, which predicted moderate to heavy accumulations before the fall abated in the afternoon.

It already was the heaviest snowfall of the winter for the city. The heaviest previous fall was three inches Dec. 8-9.

In Western Maryland, state police reported 8-12 inches in the mountains, with mixed snow and rain across northern counties.

In western central and northeastern Pennsylvania authorities issued warnings of hazardous driving. In all affected areas, sanding crews were out in force attempting to keep highways open.

Snow accumulations during the early morning hours amounted to eight inches in sections of western Pennsylvania. Some flights were canceled at the Greater Pittsburgh Airport.

As snow moved into Connecticut, the Weather Bureau forecast four to eight inches. Temperatures were slightly under freezing. The storm entered Connecticut from the southwest, where it originated in West Virginia. Up to 8 inches of snow was forecast for other sections of New England.

In Ohio, Zanesville had eight inches, Cincinnati five, Columbus three and one-half, and Cleveland six inches on the ground and expecting more. Schools in Clark County were declared closed because of road conditions. Schools in several other rural areas were not expected to open.

The storm was attributed to a disturbance moving north and east from the upper Ohio Valley, and reinforced by an air mass which moved in from the Atlantic Coast.

The snowfall came during the 71st anniversary of the great blizzard of 1888—which began March 11 and ended March 14.

Marinite's Car Wins Show Honor

A gleaming custom-built modified 1932 Model-B Ford, outfitted with a 1953 Chrysler engine, and owned by S. David Soderstrom of 17 Manor drive, San Rafael, was awarded first place in last week's Fifth Annual KarKapade Auto Show in Monterey.

The car took another first place award last month at the 10th annual National Roadster Show in Oakland. It will be entered again in the Fresno Auto Show opening in about two weeks.

The body and paint work on the car was done by Hal's Body Shop of San Rafael. Upholstry was installed by Richard Harrison of Alto. Soderstrom did all of the other modification work, which includes many features ordinarily found only on late model cars.

Hawaii Exuberant Over Statehood

HONOLULU (AP) — Exuberant Hawaiians air-expressed 600 leis to Washington for members of Congress today after Senate passage of the Hawaii statehood bill.

The flowers were sent to Territorial Delegate John A. Burns, who will present them tomorrow on behalf of the Hawaii Legislature. Territorial Gov. William F. Quinn flew to the nation's capital for the big occasion.

Acting Gov. Edward E. Johnston proclaimed a two-day holiday throughout the islands to start immediately after Congress completes passage of the bill.

His proclamation said passage of Hawaiian statehood would mean the culmination of patient striving and the long-nurtured hopes of Hawaiians.

Senate passage of the bill yesterday was greeted joyously. After receiving the word by telephone from Washington, Johnston exclaimed: "It's wonderful news!"

The Honolulu Star-Bulletin hit the streets with an extra and radio stations interrupted programs to broadcast the news.

In anticipation of the House completing approval of the measure, preparations were rushed for fireworks and celebrations. Hawaiian Airlines planned to fly flags with 50 stars and flash the word to its pilots in flight for passengers' information.

Senate approval was hailed by politicians, businessmen and civic leaders. The Honolulu Stock Exchange reacted with the heaviest trading in months.

Usually languorous island folk reached a fever pitch as the 40-year fight for statehood appeared nearing an end. That's about all people talked about in offices, restaurants and on the street.

The luxury liner S.S. Lurline sailed from San Francisco yesterday with a huge, 50-star flag aboard—to be unfurled when Congress completes action.

Also aboard the Lurline were giant redwood logs, presented by California's Gov. Edmund G. Brown for burning in giant bonfires in Honolulu.

Congress Moving Fast On Hawaii Statehood

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress moved swiftly today to vote the mid-Pacific vacationland of Hawaii into the union as the 50th state.

The House was expected to pass a statehood bill by nightfall, less than 24 hours after similar legislation sailed through the Senate on a 76 to 15 roll call vote.

There was a possibility that a final measure could go to the White House today. But this depended upon backers getting unanimous consent for House acceptance of the slightly different Senate bill.

Jubilant Hawaiians stood ready to touch off a two-day celebration, including hula dancing, fireworks and a gigantic bonfire as soon as news of final congressional action was flashed to the territory.

Senate passage of the statehood measure came after brief opposition from Southern Democrats. Thirty Republicans joined 46 Democrats in voting for the bill while 14 Democrats and one Republican — Sen. John Marshall Butler (Md.)— were opposed.

Rep. Leo W. O'Brien (D-N.Y.), Hawaii's floor manager, predicted the legislation would win House approval by a margin of better than 2 to 1.

O'Brien said he hoped to tack Senate amendments on to the House version and then ask unanimous consent to substitute the Senate-passed measure for the House bill.

If his maneuver fails, final congressional action will be delayed until the Senate and House iron out the minor technical differences in the two measures.

Following enactment of the legislation, Hawaiians will go to the polls to elect state officials and representatives in Congress, and vote to accept statehood.

President Eisenhower is expected to issue his official statehood proclamation this fall. Chances are good that Hawaii will have selected its congressmen before Congress adjourns this summer.

The source of the Mississippi River is in Minnesota's 32,000-acre Itasca State Park.

Muir Improvement Assn. Folds Up

Muir Beach Improvement Assn., Inc., formed about a year ago with the objective of improving the community's water system, has gone out of business. Its assets (and liabilities) were turned over to the recently formed Muir Beach Community Services District.

Leslie Smith, a director of the district, was former president of the association.

Smith said that with the district now in operation as the water supplier and an improvement program under way, the need for the association has disappeared.

Marin Gets Share Of Highway Fund

Marin County received $49,716 as its share of highway users tax apportionments for last month, State Controller Alan Cranston announced today in Sacramento.

The Marin apportionment is part of $6,500,340 distributed to counties for February. In addition to the money paid the counties, $18,508,146 was placed in a fund for expenditures on state highways last month and $2,517,588 was set aside for cities.

PROPERTY DISPUTE

High Court Rules For Marin Church

Trinity Lutheran Church of San Rafael is forgiven for its long-standing trespass into neighboring property, the state Supreme Court ruled yesterday in a reversal of the District Court of Appeals.

The decision means the church, located at 1415 Fifth avenue, may retain a strip of property 140 feet long and nine-tenths of a foot wide adjoining the property of Mrs. Jessie F. Ernie of San Rafael.

Attorney John B. Ehlen, representing the church, asked the courts to "forgive us our trespasses," on grounds that the church had built a rectory, sidewalk and fence on the strip in 1926 and had been using it continuously.

Mrs. Ernie went to court in January, 1956, claiming the strip belonged to her. Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court ruled in favor of the church. But his decision was overruled by the District Court of Appeals.

Attorney Ehlen went to the state's highest court. The state Supreme Court yesterday upheld Judge Keating's original decision. The church can now claim the strip of land as its own with a clear conscience.

State's Demos Meet Saturday In Fresno

FRESNO (UPI)—There will be Democrats talking, listening and learning in practically every nook and cranny in Fresno's downtown buildings Saturday.

That's when the California Democratic Council stages its first statewide issues conference in conjunction with the group's annual convention. Nearly 3,000 delegates and alternates are expected to take part in the one-day conference.

"Our purpose is to develop new ideas about old issues and some new issues," says Mrs. Caroline Barrick, Fresno party leader who is in charge of the conference arrangements. "We will not develop immediate resolutions or planks for the party platform. We hope to have an educational and informative program for delegates, which is one of the functions of the council.

The conference, first of its kind to be held on a state level, will be divided into seven topics. They are foreign policy, public finance, economic problems in a growing society, election reforms, planning for population growth, national resources, and human rights.

"Pre-convention interest has been high in foreign policy and human rights," reports Mrs. Barrick. "We will have about 60 meeting rooms and it's sure been tough to find the accommodations."

The conference will begin at 9 a.m. with general topic meetings, breaking into section sessions an hour later. There are a dozen sections scheduled for foreign policy, while the other topic sections will range downward to six on public finance.

"Most congressional districts already have had preissues conferences or orientation meetings," says Mrs. Barrick. "Without them it would be difficult to accomplish very much in one day.

"Each section meeting will have about 35 persons participating, with some delegates and alternates being observers. Most of the Democratic legislators also are expected to participate in the various meetings."

The conference was proposed in the council's 1958 candidate endorsing convention and later approved by directors. They denied it was an off-election year stunt.

"It was planned as an annual activity with the hope it will spread into conferences on local levels," says Mrs. Barrick. "In this day and age, a voter not only must know who to cast his ballot for but why. We think the issues conferences will be very helpful in this respect."

The conference will conclude late Saturday night with reports to the convention on each topic.

The convention opens Friday night with addresses by Gov. Edmund G. Brown and other party leaders, nomination of council officers, and a resolutions committee session. Resolutions will be voted on Saturday night with the convention closing Sunday with election of officers.

Nasser Accuses Iraq Chief Of Resisting Arab Unity

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser accused Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem today of isolating Iraq from Arab nationalism and trying to bring all Arab peoples "under a Communist reign of terror."

This was the strongest attack Nasser has yet made on Kassem. Speaking to students demonstrating before the presidential palace, he use words much harsher than he did yesterday when he criticized Kassem for hostility to the United Arab Republic.

Nasser alluded to the strength of the U.A.R. air force.

"We are determined never to attack another Arab state or kill another Arab brother," he said in explanation of why the U.A.R. had simply protested a reported Iraqi air attack Tuesday on a Syrian village.

The attack had attended Baghdad announcements of the collapse of the nationalist rebellion against Kassem's Communist-influenced regime.

"We are capable of returning the blow double, but we refrained from doing so because the villages we would have hit are purely Arab villages, with which we have close Arab ties," Nasser said.

Labor Accepts Brown's Union Reform Program

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Organized labor agreed today to accept Gov. Edmund G. Brown's proposal for a sweeping new California labor relations act aimed at reducing intra-union strife.

C. J. Hagerty, secretary-treasurer of the California Federation of Labor, announced the decision after negotiations with the governor's office which led to 16 amendments.

"We are ready to accept the bill in its present form," he said.

"It's not our own, but I think we can live with it."

FIRST HEARING

His statement came in advance of the first hearing of the legislation before the Assembly Industrial Relations Committee.

Employer representatives indicated, however, they still have some reservations, particularly on proposed repeal of the present jurisdictional strike act.

The bill seeks to:

1. Set up the state's first machinery whereby employees working in intra-state commerce may select or reject a union as their collective bargaining representative.

2. Allow the Department of Industrial Relations to step in to settle jurisdictional disputes.

CAN GO TO COURT

Employers can now go to court to obtain an injunction against a jurisdictional strike, and they have indicated serious reluctance to yield this legal weapon.

Brown contends the injunctive provisions have not served their purpose; that they actually have led to bitterness and strife.

Assemblyman Allen Miller (D-San Fernando), who introduced the bill for the governor, said most of the amendments which brought labor's acceptance were technical.

THREE METHODS

The bill provides three methods, all voluntary, to resolve jurisdictional disputes. One of the substantive changes would make it mandatory for the department to step in within seven days if neither side acts voluntarily.

"I am convinced the bill as amended is workable," Miller said. "It would be helpful especially to small businessmen who are plagued by jurisdictional disputes that can be stopped only by expensive court litigation."

Brown also is sponsoring so-called "union democracy" legislation, designed to protect rank-and-file members against boss control. That bill is scheduled for a hearing before the Senate Labor Committee next Monday.

Woman Sues Gym Over Back Injury

A $25,000 damage suit against the Vic Tanny Gym in San Rafael was filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court on behalf of a 33-year-old housewife, Mrs. Eileen Gartland, who alleges that she suffered rupture of a spinal disc while following a prescribed course of exercises at the gymnasium.

The accident happened sometime between March 19 and April 1 of last year, said Lasher B. Gallagher of San Francisco, Mrs. Gartland's attorney. Mrs. Gartland, then living in Greenbrae, consulted a Marin physician on April 4, 1958, but no X-rays were taken and the injury remained undiagnosed until recently, said her attorney. Three weeks ago she entered St. Luke's Hospital in San Francisco for removal of the ruptured disc.

Mrs. Gartland, mother of two young daughters, is the wife of Eugene L. Gartland, an attorney. The family now resides in San Francisco.

In the civil action filed yesterday, Mrs. Gartland sues for $25,000 plus medical payments.

Tree Limb Falls, Cuts Off Power

Residents along Ames and Upper Ames avenue in Ross heard a resounding crash last night at 7:42 o'clock and then found their homes without electricity for two and one-half hours.

The crash occurred when a tall branch from a tree near Ames avenue and Shady lane toppled, apparently from old age, and cut through two Pacific Gas and Electric Co. power lines, dropping the "hot and sizzling" wires to the street below. About 30 homes were affected, PG & E reported.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

We're Sure Sunny Hills Will Solve Its Problems

Every time we solve one set of problems, we seem to be confronted by a new set tougher than the last.

Such is the course of human history. And that is what we are seeing in at least one development in Marin County right now.

Sixty-five years ago in Marin, there was the problem of how to care for homeless boys and girls, including those whose parents were deceased, institutionalized or had deserted their youngsters.

Out of that problem, Sunny Hills Presbyterian Orphanage and Farm was born in San Anselmo, thanks to initial donations from Capt. Robert Dollar and E. K. Wood, two wealthy Marin residents of that era.

We rather imagine that a careful study of history will disclose subsequent periods when Sunny Hills wasn't big enough to handle the growing number of youngsters for whom admission was then sought.

Ultimately, our society contrived other ways of caring for orphans. Public funds (tax monies, we mean) are now utilized to support a program for putting homeless children into foster homes and provide for the most part a much more appropriate atmosphere for "growing up" than did the old fashioned orphanage.

So the orphan problem has been pretty well solved.

Does this mean that Sunny Hills is now obsolete and can go quietly out of business?

Not at all. Comes now the problem of "emotionally disturbed" children. These are youngsters who have "had it so tough" that their misbehavior makes it difficult if not impossible to care for them in foster homes. They need a type of institutional care; but not "reform school." They need psychological and at times psychiatric counseling. In some instances they need special medical care, but not hospitalization.

Where can they go when they don't have a home of their own?

We are finding that there isn't much of any place for them to go. And their numbers are, sad to say, increasing.

So it is that Sunny Hills board of directors has received a recommendation that it develop a center for resident treatment of emotionally disturbed youngsters.

So it is also that having solved one set of problems we find outselves facing a new set that seems tougher to solve than the set which preceded it.

But we have confidence that today's board of Sunny Hills directors will "find a way," just as their predecessors did 65 years ago.

How About The Dandelion?

Last week the U. S. Senate debated a resolution to make the carnation the national flower of America. Its supporters were eloquent in praise of its beauty and other sterling qualities.

A senator from Texas, with support from Kentucky, stretched a point and came out four-square for grass, the backbone of the cattle industry. Illinois suggested the corn tassel as truly American and economic as well. New York backed the rose.

All these have merit. But it seems to us the obvious choice which everyone missed is the dandelion. True, it is considered something of a pest by many people, but that should not deter us. Indeed, it makes it more appropriate. America's enemies, as well as many of our friends, often regard us as a dreadful nuisance.

What qualities make the dandelion a suitable symbol of America? Botanists tell us the dandelion is the most highly complex and developed of all plants. It is persistent and rugged as were our forefathers who carved their homes out of the hostile wilderness. It, like the American ideal of individual freedom, is hard to kill. The dandelion grows in every state and has a handsome flower. While the economic value of this plant is not great, dandelion wine and dandelion greens are prized by those who know them.

We don't expect anyone to be trampled in the rush to support the dandelion, but we do present the idea for serious consideration.

Actor Would Rather Kiss A Horse Than A Temperamental Actress

NEW YORK (AP) — In the old Westerns the he-man hero usually wound up being bussed by his faithful pony.

Because of a growing feminine interest in these hoofbeat sagas, however, horse kissing has died out as a major American art.

To please the ladies in the audience, the story now ends with the hero in a tender clinch with the faithful dance hall hostess — and the faithful horse can go eat grass, for all anybody cares.

Kissing pretty actresses seems an ideal job to the average man. But there are days when Gene Barry would just as soon turn this chore over to a stand-in.

For a temperamental actress, he implied, can be worse than a temperamental mustang.

"Some of them try to give you that old feminine flimflam," Gene said.

"Then it's pretty hard to make love to them. But a fellow can always manage. I always ask myself, 'If their own mother loved them, why can't I?'"

Barry, like that real-life Western character, Billy the Kid, was born in New York City. In his first stage role he played Bluebeard in the sixth grade in Public School 121 in Brooklyn.

He began his professional career at 16. He sold jewelry, shoes and women's wear before making the big time on Broadway.

Since then he has been in a dozen films, traveled the night club circuit, and appeared on more than 100 television shows before he hit the real pay dirt as Bat Masterson.

HIS DERBY HAT, tight suit and gold-headed cane—it often takes the place of a pistol — are now symbols of elegance to the teen-agers and middle-aged ladies who idolize him.

He hopes to go on to directing and producing. But if the present mania for Westerns should fade and leave him stranded — unlikely, since he is a man of many talents — he's ready to take up a new career.

"I'D GO in for contracting and building," he said. "I recently built my own house, and I like the field."

Barry recently said his goal was to have "a greater concern for the more simple and basic things" in life.

Then he added with a grin: "But first you gotta get rich. Then you don't have to worry about dough and can afford to squander your money on the simple, basic things."

Charity Appeal Results Gratifying

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

In behalf of His Excellency, Archbishop John J. Mitty, and the Archdiocesan Committee for Catholic Charities, I wish to express our deep appreciation of the editorial page support and news coverage you gave our recent Archbishop Mitty's Charity Appeal.

The results of the Appeal were gratifying, and will materially help supplement support received from the United Bay Area Crusade in maintaining our services in the face of the area's rapid growth in population, with attendant increase in calls upon all agencies for assistance, counseling, etc.

I-J Should Print More About Sports

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

You devote two to four pages to women in their society columns every day. I am certain with additional help, you can give your capable sports editor, Jim Gilmartin, a larger space for an increased sports section.

You display loads of society pictures every day; why not give us more pictures of local sports events?

Also, I would suggest in Saturday's paper you make up a box or section of sporting events schedules for the following week, starting Sunday to Saturday, so we sportsmen can be reminded of sports events we plan to see during the week and make up our own personal schedules. Trust you will increase your fine sports section.

Would Bury Civic Center Under Park

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Most taxpayers have seen the wisdom of consolidating the facilities for the many County functions. They seem to have approved the site but they are not agreed on the architecture nor the cost. These problems could be resolved by building the new offices underground after the fashion of Brooks Hall in San Francisco. With shadowless lighting and conditioned air working conditions would be ideal. After making provisions for parking, the rest of the surface area would be landscaped into a beautiful permanent public park.

OLD CHRISTMAS CARDS

Builders Know What Not To Do With 'Em

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Homebuilders are up to their TV antenna in Christmas cards. And nobody knows how to dig out.

To get the picture, you've got to understand about trade associations. Next to government, the big business around here is dealing with government, so trade associations are thick as flies.

They are set up to look out for the interests of their members. In this case it is the interest of people who build houses and who wish the government would stay out of their business except for keeping it booming.

ANYWAY, IT WAS quiet around the National Association of Homebuilders' big, flossy national housing center when somebody got out for the women's pages a nice little story on a timely problem: what to do with old Christmas cards?

"Hold them," said NAHB confidently. "Two nuns in the art department in a small girls' college in California would love to have those cards. The cards can be sent to them through the national housing center."

About a week after Christmas NAHB's daily mail sack turned up unusually heavy.

"How nice," said Mrs. Pat Bittner, the boss of the mail room, "the school girls will be happy."

THE NEXT DAY it wasn't one bag any more. It was a dozen. The mail man, who use to lug the mail in through the front door and on foot, started backing up to the rear loading platform with a truck.

He never has quit. One day he brought 50 bags. Some days this has left him so pooped he hardly has strength to collect the postage due.

While Uncle Sam unloads in at the rear, local folks lug cards in at the front. The NAHB reception desk these days looks like a relief mission as cheerful citizens unload boxes and grocery sacks bulging with missives.

Not only Christmas cards. But last year's St. Patrick's Day greetings. Easter sentiments. Assorted encouragements to "Get Well," "Drop Dead," etc.

THIS WOULD BE great except that what the nuns wanted was a few hundred cards. After receiving from NAHB 61 cartons, each 3 by 3 by 3 feet, they hollered uncle in proper but unmistakable language.

NAHB tried other prospects. They found a few takers, each good for a handful. Now they've made a deal with the trash man. He hauls 'em away by the truckload, and as of today has reached the 8,000 pound plateau.

So NAHB has a bright new suggestion on what to do with old Christmas (and Valentine) cards:

"Buy a house. With a fireplace. Then burn 'em."

BENNETT CERF

Dizzy Dean, one of the all-time baseball greats, tells this story on himself. When he was pitching for an Arkansas hillbilly nine in his salad days, a rival outfit, determined to undo him, sprinkled broken glass around the mound. Diz, barefoot, hurled six shutout innings without a squawk, but then he stalked over to the rival manager and grumbled, "Joe, you just gotta get this broken glass away from here. It's cuttin' up the ball!"

Can you explain the difference between a hurricane, a typhoon, a tornado and a cyclone? Well, there really isn't any. A severe storm and wind in the West Indies is called a hurricane; in the Far East it's a typhoon; in the Indian Ocean it's called a cyclone, and in the U.S.A. it's usually referred to as a tornado.

When countless quiz shows were infesting TV, a contestant was asked, "What's a metaphor?" He stunned both M. C. and audience by responding "To keep cows in."

How Can Insurance Be Stretched To Cover All Jobs Of A Fireman?

JUST WHAT a fireman can do in the line of duty and still be covered by State Compensation Insurance in case of injury has become a cause celebre in Marin County.

Fire Chief Charles Thornton of Fairfax is one man at least who doesn't want to be out on a limb.

"We ought to have a resolution," Chief Thornton told the Fairfax City Council on Monday night.

Take as an example the general alarm that was sounded last year when a Fairfax man fell into the raging Manor creek and was drowned, he said.

The fire department is not set up for such rescue operations and the volunteers who searched for the man's body were not covered by State Compensation, declared Chief Thornton.

Other jobs which the Fairfax Fire Department is called upon to perform and equally outside its line include rescuing cats from trees, opening houses when someone is locked out, lifting a paralyzed man who has fallen from his bed and putting him back in, said Chief Thornton.

Unless we are given the authority to answer these calls we are not insured for injury, he told the council.

City Attorney Wallace S. Myers could see some difficulties looming ahead if the council tried to list every authorized duty from milking a cow to rounding up stray children.

"Why don't we set up a rescue and disaster crew and make Charley the head of it," suggested Councilman Rolfe M. Ockenden.

Mayor Edward A. Smith favored waiting a while to see what other cities or fire districts decide to do about spelling out specific duties for fire departments.

DISASTER WAS the subject at another point of the Fairfax council's Monday meeting, this time connected with confusingly similar street names like Merwin and Meernaa avenues or Wood lane and Woodland road.

These names could result in costly confusion or tragedy if someone reporting a fire or other emergency should be misunderstood, said Councilman Ockenden.

Planning Commission Chairman W. E. Radtke had an answer. He could remember a couple of years back when the planners tried renaming streets to eliminate too much similarity in names.

"You have no idea what we ran into," said Radtke. "People don't want the name of the street they've lived on for 50 years to be changed."

DEVELOPER Thomas Hotchkin, arguing for apartments behind Manor School, told the Fairfax Council that the land in question was not suitable for single-family houses because "it's on the gloomy side of the hill."

Several of the councilmen looked at each other blankly, not quite seeing the connection.

The theory behind the "gloom" argument turned out to be this: apartment house dwellers usually are people who are away at a job during the day. They aren't at home during the morning when the building is in the shadow of the hill, but they do get the benefit of some afternoon sun when they get home.

Hotchkin got his apartments approved, but probably more on the strength of other arguments than to save stay-at-home housewives from the gloom of a morning without sun.

CAPITOL REPORT

Change In State Speed Law Involves More Than Numbers

By JAMES C. ANDERSON

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Californians will face a new set-up in speeding laws starting Jan. 1, 1960.

The major change will be to junk the present 55 mile an hour prima facie law and substitute a top speed of 65 on the open road.

The present law provides a motorist may drive faster than 55 — but if he does, he must prove that he was going at a safe and reasonable speed if he becomes involved in an accident or is stopped by the Highway Patrol.

The new law, passed by both houses of the Legislature last week and ready for signature by the governor, says 65 is the top limit, period.

In addition to a fixed maximum limit, the new law says that the state Department of Public Works, after engineering surveys, may zone certain sections of the state highway at lower speeds. These zones will be at five-mile-an-hour intervals and before the new law takes effect, the state plans to put up signs so motorists will know when they must drive below the 65 mile top.

WHILE THE 65 limit is a fixed one, all areas zoned for slower speeds will retain the prima facie feature of the present code. That is, if the motorist can prove he was going at a reasonable speed for the traffic and condition of the highway, he may drive faster than the zoned limit.

Both the Highway Patrol and the State Department of Public Works asked for the new law. Both major automobile clubs support it. They all think it will be an assist to highway safety, that motorists will be less confused than they are under the present law.

But in the State Senate, a body of 40 men most of whom go in for high-horsepower automobiles, there was plenty of opposition to the bill by Assemblyman Walter I. Dahl (R-Oakland).

SEN. CHARLIE BROWN of Shoshone, a wide spot in the road in isolated Inyo County, said he thought a 65 mile an hour limit was unrealistically slow.

Brown, who tools around in a 300-plus horsepower late model sedan capable of speeds up to 140, said this during debate on the Dahl bill:

"On some roads, especially freeways to Los Angeles, you'll get run over from behind doing only 65.

Sen. Hugh Burns of Fresno, owner of a 350-horsepower 1959 limousine, groused:

"When you get into Charlie Brown's bailiwick it doesn't make any difference whether you drive 65 or 165 because you can't hurt anything."

Burns said a 65 mile an hour limit was fine on some highways but he thought straight, isolated stretches of highways should be zoned for even higher speeds.

Sen. Donald L. Grunsky of Watsonville, who pilots a red hot foreign sports car, also opposed the bill.

"A 65 mile an hour limit will not prevent accidents," he said.

Despite all the Senate opposition, the upper house voted approval of the bill 28-6 and sent it to Gov. Edmund G. Brown who signed it into law.

Parents Ask Why Wives Yell, How To Cure Tantrums At 8

(Dr. Richmond Barbour, author of this column, will speak at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Sir Francis Drake High School, San Anselmo, under auspices of several Parent-Teacher Assns. His topic will be "Male vs. Female.")

MR. J. M.—"Why does my wife yell at the children? She loves them and they know it. Sometimes when she asks them quietly to do something they ignore her. Then she gets mad and yells at them. The kids jump. Surely other mothers don't act this way. Is my wife a bad mother?"

Reply. — There are times when every mother gets mad and yells. Children have good days and bad days. Sometimes they obey readily. Sometimes they don't. Mothers' tempers vary accordingly. Don't blame your wife. She's human. It will be a help to her to set up clear-cut jobs for each child, and rules for doing them. It will pay to use reasonable rewards. Wise punishment will teach needed lessons. But she'll still yell sometimes. Try to understand.

MRS. A.T.— "When our boy was small his tantrums were cute. He had them frequently. Usually we gave him what he wanted. Now he is 8, and the tantrums are embarrassing. Should we let him have them in public?"

Reply.—I'm sorry you gave him what he wanted when he had tantrums. You rewarded them, so they continue. Also, I'm sorry he has tantrums in public An audience makes them worse. You'll have to be both patient and firm with him now, while he gets over his mistakes. Isolate him when he gets angry. Don't give in to him. Explain repeatedly why tantrums are wrong. Punish carefully. Reward good behavior. Help him to be successful at school and with his pals. Be sure he stays well. Let him sense your continuous love and support. His tantrums may continue, but if they do you should have him studied by a qualified psychologist. He could need therapy. You'll find psychologists on the faculty of your nearest college.

MRS. V.V.—"Did you say that most children need spanking at times? I thought you didn't believe in corporal punishment."

Reply. — My point is that spankings should come rarely. Then they can teach important lessons quickly. If they're overdone, they accomplish nothing.

Good taste dictates that you refrain from using hotel blankets and pillows, so bring along the dog's own. Never travel without an identification tag on the dog giving the owner's name and address.

Easter Egg Hunt Slated In Fairfax

An Easter egg hunt is planned for 2 o'clock on Easter afternoon in Fairfax Park.

Youngsters will meet at Fairfax Central School and "parade" to the park together for the special event sponsored by the Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission, aided by a $25 donation from the Fairfax Merchants Assn.

Because there will be only 300 Easter baskets to give out, the hunt will be limited to Fairfax children. "We are kind of concerned about getting too large a crowd," said Mrs. Jean Secchitano, chairman of the event. "We are trying to avoid the fiascos of other years."

Transit Committee Expansion Sought

Enlarging the Rapid Transit Advisory Committee in Marin County from its present five members to about 35 has been suggested by Thorpe J. DeLasaux, Marin County director of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

DeLasaux, who made the suggestion Tuesday before the County Board of Supervisors, said that the committee should be enlarged to take in representatives from each of Marin's cities, chambers of commerce, junior chambers of commerce, labor groups, improvement clubs in unincorporated areas and others.

Purpose would be to spread information regarding a proposed $750-million bond issue, expected to be put before the voters of the district by May of 1960, said DeLasaux.

County Administrator Donald A. Jensen was instructed by the board to work with DeLasaux in preparing a list of suggested names for future board consideration.

YOUNG CHAMPION—Janine Peters, 11-year-old San Geronimo dog trainer, shows Tweeny Weeny Stardust to championship at Oakland Kennel Club show. With her is Helen Rosemont II, co-superintendent of show. Janine lays claim to being the youngest dog trainer ever to show dogs to championships as high as that won for her by Stardust: Best working dog in the big Oakland show.

Marin Dog Trainer, 11, Wins High Show Honor

An 11-year-old San Geronimo girl whose hobby is dogs may have accomplished a dog training feat unequaled by any other child her age in the nation.

Janine Peters, sixth grader at St. Rita's Parochial School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Peters of San Geronimo, showed a Dobermann pinscher to the title of best of breed and best working dog at the Oakland Kennel Club show this month.

"We've never heard of a child taking a dog that high in any major show," agreed the Oakland show's superintendents, Bernice Behrendt and Helen Rosemont II.

The Shetland Sheepdog Club of Northern California has added its acclaim by nominating Janine as its candidate for the coveted Gaines Award, to be given by the Gaines Dog research Center of New York.

Since the yong dog fancier started showing animals at the ripe old age of 7, she has collected 108 ribbons and 37 trophies. She was the youngest person ever accepted as a member of the Shetland Sheepdog Club of Northern California when she joined in 1956 when 9 years old. She is a former member of the Belgian Sheepdog Club of America, which nominated her for the Gaines Award in 1957. She won third place that time.

Janine, an active member of the San Geronimo Valley 4-H Club, already has picked out her career: She'll be a veterinarian, she says.

Duncan Prosecutor Lashes Out At Son

VENTURA (UPI)—Dist. Atty. Roy Gustafson says Olga Duncan paid with her life for falling in love.

Prosecutor Gustafson made the observation as he argued for the conviction of 54-year-old Elizabeth Duncan on charges of bargaining for the death of the pregnant wife of her son, Frank.

Gustafson, a precise, methodical attorney, said intense love and hate—mixed in deadly quantities—motivated the "for hire" murder of Olga, a 30-year-old Canadian-born nurse.

He was expected to finish the opening of his final arguments by noon today.

The district attorney was deliberate yesterday as he faced a jury of eight women and four men and examined a mass of testimony accumulated in the trial, now in the fourth week.

He pictured the matronly defendant as a "clever, clever woman" but not quite clever enough, and her 30-year-old attorney son as a "spineless jellyfish" and a "liar."

"It is obvious that Frank Duncan never did love Olga Duncan," Gustafson said. "Olga Duncan loved Frank and she paid for it with her life."

While Gustafson argued against Mrs. Duncan, he blasted Frank, who testified he didn't observe the wedding vow "to forsake all others" because he was afraid his mother would kill herself.

The affection between his mother and Frank was much greater than normal, the district attorney said.

"She (Mrs. Duncan) didn't want anyone to have her son," Gustafson said. "She particularly didn't want Olga to have her son."

But, the district attorney argued, there was no special reason why it was Olga who was killed last Nov. 17 by Luis Moya, 22, and Augustine Baldonado, 25, two ex-convicts who said Mrs. Duncan offered them $6,000 to do away with her daughter-in-law.

If it had not been Olga who was kidnaped, strangled and buried, it could have been someone else's sister or daughter, he said.

Welfare Policy Repeal Favored

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Assembly Social Welfare Committee favors repeal of laws which require relatives to help support old or blind persons.

The committee voted unanimously yesterday for repealers by Assemblymen Phillip A. Burton (D-San Francisco) and Vernon Kilpatrick (D-Lynwood).

The bills are expected to meet more opposition as they advance through the Legislature. They now go to the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

Atom Burn Cure

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Atomic skin burns can be cured by skin grafts, says a plastic surgeon.

Dr. J. Barrett Brown of St. Louis told the Southeastern Surgical Conference that recovery can be attained by removing the burned skin and replacing it with grafts.

The Yellow Peril

GRAZ, Austria (AP) — City health authorities have traced a paratyphoid outbreak to powdered eggs imported from Communist China. Graz residents promptly dubbed the disease the yellow peril.

Held In Torture Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Police arrested a San Francisco painting contractor and his helper last night and charged them with suspicion of kidnaping and murder of Charles Ackley, 63.

Ackley's tortured and battered body was found on the Sharp Park golf course March 2.

Arrested were Ernest Pickens, 46, and Walter Senior, 43, his helper. Both are ex-convicts.

Massive Air Display

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—A massive display of U.S. and foreign jet and piston-driven aircraft will be shown at the first World Congress of Flight to be held here April 12-19.

The congress, expected to attract delegates from 35 countries, is an outgrowth of the Air Force Assn.'s Jet Age Conferences which have been held the past few years in Washington, D.C.

Dock Row Settled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An informal settlement has been reached in a waterfront dispute over the handling of dirty cargoes.

Orders were sent out yesterday from the hiring hall of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union halting the dispute before it spread beyond the 700 stevedores involved.

The agreement provides that dock workers handling obnoxious cargoes such as hides, bones and ores may take off 10 minutes early to wash up for lunch.

Senate Passes Bill For Appointive Post

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate gave final passage yesterday to a bill making the chief of the Division of Beaches and Park an appointive position by the governor.

At the present time, the Beaches and Parks Commission nominates the division chief and he is appointed by the director of natural resources.

In Plea For Coyote

SUDBURY, Mass. (AP)—A coyote aspiring to a dog's life will receive the consideration of the board of selectmen tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Martyn Hall, owners of the little alien beast, want for it the same legal status enjoyed by canines.

It is, said Mrs. Hall, "a constant companion for our five small children. He likes children very much and even looks after them. He is very, very tame."

Hall killed the coyote's mother during a hunting trip in Colorado five years ago. The Halls want their pet authorized to carry a dog license and enjoy the same freedom given dogs.

Loma Verde Wins Fight On Cemetery

Loma Verde residents have won—for the moment at least—their fight against establishment of a cemetery on a plot of about 200 acres south of Loma Verde.

Applications for amendment of the Loma Verde master plan and for a use permit to allow establishment of the cemetery were withdrawn Monday, it learned today.

The applications were filed Feb. 16 with the county planning commission by Trousdale Construction Co., Loma Verde developer, and were scheduled for hearing by the commission at 9 a.m. next Monday.

Withdrawal of the applications was requested in a letter to the commission written by E. R. Miller, Trousdale's project manager.

Mary Summers, county planning director, noted today, however, that the proponents of the cemetery plan may at any time apply again for permits for the cemetery.

Loma Verde home owners and the Loma Verde Improvement Assn. have strenuously opposed the plan on grounds it would depreciate property values in Loma Verde, lower the tax base in the area and deter future development.

They have argued, too, that they purchased their Loma Verde properties in reliance on the master plan which calls for residential development of the area where the cemetery was proposed.

Judge Warns Hopps Trial May Be Long

Judge Louis E. Goodman has warned attorneys arguing the $2,809,701 damage suit against international insurance operator Stewart B. Hopps in U.S. District Court in San Francisco that they may be in for a long trial.

Hopps, Belvedere master of finance, is being sued by the Continental Bank and Trust Co. of Salt Lake City.

Judge Goodman yesterday asked the attorneys to choose an independent auditor to help him understand the case.

The civil fraud suit was brought by Continental as receiver for Inland Empire Insurance Co. of Salt Lake City. Continental claims that Hopps indirectly controlled Inland and defrauded creditors, policy holders and stockholders of $2,809,701 in assets.

Goodman asked for the auditor as he was trying to piece together the story of how Inland went broke.

The attorneys were to report today on whether they felt "an intelligent, coherent, impartial report" could be obtained from an auditor.

Preliminary discussions indicated the two sides disagreed on the auditor's practicality. Plaintiff's attorneys figured that an auditor could assimilate Inland's records in two days, while the defense indicated the time required might be six months.

"I'm not going on what I have read about this man in the newspapers," Goodman said.

"I'm going to have evidence brought in the proper way if we have to stay here until Christmas," he told the lawyers, who had expected a one-week trial.

Picard Sobs While Telling Of Collision

Henry E. Picard of Kent Woodlands took the stand for cross-examination today after he broke down in tears while giving testimony on direct examination in his San Francisco Municipal Court preliminary hearing on drunken driving and manslaughter charges yesterday.

Picard was driver of a car involved in a Jan. 8 accident on the Golden Gate Bridge in which Emrys Williams, 52, manager of the American Trust Co. branch in Sonoma, was killed.

'CAME AT ME'

"I saw these two glaring lights coming at me," the 62-year-old Burgermeister Brewing Co. president testified. "They were on high beam. . . . They came right at me . . . "

Racked with sobs, he continued that "gusts of rain" struck his windshield at that moment.

"The car was coming fast and furious," he continued. "I don't understand how it happened. . . . I think I must have froze at the wheel."

Judge Lenore Underwood had to send out for a glass of water for Picard as he found himself unable to continue his testimony.

BLOOD ON HANDS

Immediately after the crash, he testified, he noticed blood on his hands and found he could breath only with difficulty. A man he thought was a highway patrolman told him to stay in the car.

Later, as he was surveying the wreckage, he asked a highway patrolman about the white center line, Picard testified.

"He said, 'You were over it.' I said to the officer, 'Will you please tell me how in hell I got here?' "

Prosecution witnesses have testified Picard was on the wrong side of the line when his car collided head-on with that driven by Williams.

Leslie Gillen, defense attorney, said he is prepared to present 28 witnesses to testify to the difficult driving conditions on the bridge the night of the crash.

State Probes Service Test Bootlegging

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—An investigation of more than 40 state policemen in the suspected bootlegging of state civil service tests tightened today.

"We suspect two or three individuals who are or were in a position to take advantage of the situation when these things occurred," said George Brereton, chief of the state Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation.

40 QUESTIONED

An official close to the bureau's investigation said "two-thirds to three-fourths of the 70-man force of state policemen had been questioned in the case—or maybe 40 is a better number."

Brereton said the case involves civil service advancement tests believed "purloined, used and put back" into the files of the state Personnel Board at its San Francisco and Sacramento offices.

He said the suspects include men who "had the opportunity to get them" out of the files. Presumably state policemen were questioned because their duties as around-the-clock guards of state property would require them to be in or near Personnel Board offices at night.

NO GENERAL PROBE

Bert W. Levit, state director of finance who has jurisdiction over the state police, said "I don't want to give the impression that a general investigation of tests is being taken.

"What we are investigating is the security surrounding a very small number of tests that were given.

"The investigation is pretty close to being completed now," he said. "Charges of misconduct may result . . . against individuals who are suspect."

"I don't want to cast a cloud on any individual or any department until the investigation is completed. At that time, if any action is indicated, it will be taken officially," Levit said.

School Site To Be Sold Via Broker

The five trustees of Lagunitas School District voted last night to sell the district's unused seven-acre school site through a real estate broker at a minimum price of $21,000.

By the board's resolution, bids will be accepted until the June 10 meeting. An earlier attempt by the district to sell the Woodacre site for $18,500 failed for lack of bidders. The new price would represent the same net price to the district after the broker's fee is deducted, said Supt. Clifford L. Frye.

In other business last night, the Lagunitas School trustees:

1. Adopted a 1959 - 1960 school calendar of 180 days from Sept. 10 through June 17.

2. Approved payment of $1.40 per child under a contract with the county superintendent's office for audio-visual materials next year.

College Board Meets Tonight

Trustees of the College of Marin tonight will consider changes in academic standards recommended in previous meetings by faculty, administration and board members.

The meeting will be at 8 o'clock in Harlan Hall on the college campus.

Ward H. Austin, college president, said the board also will review the school calendar for next year and consider granting an easement to Marin Municipal Water District across the campus.

Man May Have Been In America Longer Than Experts Thought

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON — The scene was the beach of Santa Rosa Island, off the California coast. The time was about 29,000 years ago. The people on the beach were probably pretty nasty, brutish and rude, at least by our modern deodorized standards. All the same, they were already indulging in an authentic American pastime.

They were having a cookout —that awful pleasure unavoidable in their era, but still strangely popular in our own. As in the best Texas cookouts, moreover, the thing being cooked was big game. Several eons earlier, the rising seas had trapped a race of mammoths on Santa Rosa. Time and short rations on the island had drawfed the race. So this was a dwarf mammoth cookout.

As in all cookouts, the method of cuisine was important. In brief, the dwarf mammoth was torn into bits; and the flesh was entirely removed from the larger bones. The flesh was left, however, on the ribs, vertebrae and other small bones, which were too difficult to strip with flint tools. The resulting primitive filets and spare-ribs were then grilled in a big fire area prepared on the beach.

Even a dwarf mammoth was a sizable animal, standing six feet at the shoulder. Unless the tribe was very large, everyone could eat to repletion. Repletion, in turn, no doubt produced the usual results. No one bothered to clean up the mess.

Hence the mess was still there until just the other day, waiting to be examined by Dr. Philip Orr of the Santa Barbara Natural History Museum, Dr. Wallace Broecker of Columbia University and Dr. George Carter of Johns Hopkins.

The creatures nature kills are not naturally disarticulated. Forest fires do not char just ribs and vertebrae, and leave thigh bones untouched. Animals do not build fire areas for their feasts. In combination, therefore, the several peculiarities of the mess on Santa Rosa Island's beach spelled Man to the assembled doctors.

Dr. Broecker took some of the charred bone and charcoal back to Columbia. He got a radio-carbon date beyond 27,000 B.C. for the very early Americans who so considerately left their mess behind, to announce their former existence to their successors in this age of anxiety.

Most of the curious and agreeable facts were a sort of byproduct of a gloomy inquiry about radioactive fallout. The inquiry was addressed to Dr. Willard Libby, as a sort of farewell before his expected departure from the Atomic Energy Commission. Dr. Libby is the inventor of Carbon-14 dating—the method of measuring the age of ancient organic remains by testing for radioactive carbon.

It turned out that Dr. Libby much preferred talking about Carbon-14 instead of Strontium-90. Running on Carbon-14, the talk revealed what ought to be major news, at any rate to those Americans who are as untutored as this reporter.

In brief, American history is now getting longer and longer. Until quite recently the experts would not allow a single day more than 10 millenia for the story of man in America. Some scholarly curmudgeons even said that mankind only came to our hemisphere about 5,000 years ago. Ours was a short, short story, in fact, until the experts calculations first began to be upset by the discovery of the flint weapons known as Folsom points. And now our history's time-corset has absolutely come apart at the seams, because of Carbon-14 dating.

The date for the dwarf elephant cookout is only one among several that have burst the time-corset—many of them, it must be added, violently disputed. There is the Tule Springs site, with its Carbon-14 date of 23,800 years ago.

There are the new Mojave Desert campfire sites, discovered by Dr. Ruth Simpson of the Museum of the Southwest in Los Angeles. Dr. Simpson says firmly that the flints in these sites are "typologically closely similar to the European Lower Paleolithic period."

There is the Sandia Cave discovery, with a date a little earlier than Tule Springs. There are the hearths of a camel-eating people (strong stomachs they must have had!) that were found near Dallas. Texas being Texas, the Humble Oil Co.'s laboratories made those particular tests, and got a date more than 38,000 years before our era. Finally, there are the campfires and the seeming-tools found by Dr. George Carter in the middle of San Diego City which have a date a couple of thousand years earlier still than the hearths of the camel-eaters.

The more conservative scholars in the field are not at all happy about all this. Although most of them cannot absolutely reject Sandia Cave and the hearths of the camel-eaters, they do not fully accept even these dates; and they sternly reject most of the other early dates. They cling, indeed, to the short, short American story they have always believed in. As Dr. Robert Heiser of Berkeley sadly but typically put in, "A quite new interpretation of American prehistory needs more evidence."

All the same, this reporter is against Dr. Heiser. Prometheus-Man has now invented weapons that can conceivably bring this end of our history, the H-bomb end of history as you might call it, to a loud, sudden, dead stop. In this situation, it is oddly consoling to think that our history is constantly growing at the other end, the flint chopper end, when man began his bold adventure on this continent.

Governor Of Michigan Makes Financial Plea

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams today appealed to the Republican-dominated Senate to approve an increase in Michigan's borrowing ceiling to 50 million dollars in an effort to ease the state's financial crisis.

The proposal to increase the bonded debt ceiling from $250,000 to the multi-million-dollar figure passed in the House yesterday on its third try. Speedy Senate approval is necessary if the proposal is to be put on the April 6 state election ballot as a constitutional amendment proposal.

SEVERAL PROPOSALS

The higher debt ceiling is one of several proposals which have been advanced to ease Michigan's financial pinch in the face of a mounting state deficit expected to reach 110 million dollars by June 30. Administrative officials say the 50 million dollars must be raised to enable the state to meet current expenses until the Legislature can enact new tax legislation.

Money raised through the higher borrowing limit would be for state payrolls, aid to welfare recipients, and payments to contractors.

OTHER PROPOSALS

Other proposals advanced to meet the tight financial pinch include mortgaging the state's 50-million-dollar veteran trust fund, a 1 per cent increase in the current 3 per cent state sales tax, and a graduated state income tax.

Williams has maintained the income tax proposal is the fairest method of raising needed funds. Republican leaders say Williams' income tax proposal would exempt many lower bracket earners and place the burden on middle- and high-income groups.

The veterans trust fund was established in 1946 by the Legislature to provide emergency assistance to state veterans of World War II. It was amended in 1953 and 1954 to include Korean War veterans. Under the act, interest money on the fund can be dispensed by a board of trustees.

Michigan's political picture is complicated by the fact that the House is split exactly even between Democrats and Republicans. The Republicans held a substantial edge in the Senate.

The Legislature pared Williams' budget recommendations for fiscal 1957, 1958 and 1959, and rejected his new tax proposals, resulting in a deficit spending course over that period.

Williams submitted a 424-million-dollar budget Jan. 30 and asked for a new 140-million-dollar tax program to finance it.

N.Y. WILL SEE MODEL OF OUR CIVIC CENTER

Architect Frank Lloyd Wright's scale model of Marin County's proposed civic center will go on display at the Metropolitan Museum in New York June 1 to Sept. 7.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors this week gave approval to letting the model go to New York for the exhibit to commemorate the development of architecture in the United States.

County Planning Director Mary Summers said expense of transporting the model will be borne by the publishers of Time Magazine. It will be included in a part of the exhibit dedicated to Wright, whose 90th birthday will be celebrated in June.

Drunken Driving Repeater Jailed

David Audrey Altemus, 34, of 5 Lincoln avenue, San Anselmo, was sentenced yesterday to five days in jail and fined $263 or an additional 25 days in jail for drunken driving March 2 on Highway 101.

The sentence, imposed in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Harold J. Haley, was the second drunken driving conviction for Altemus this year.

Frank William Schirmer, 44, of 3 Birch avenue Corte Madera, was fined $200 for drunken driving and put on one year's probation. Schirmer was arrested on Highway 101 on Feb. 16.

Worthington Ready To End Holdout; Leaves For Camp

Combined AP & UPI

PHOENIX — Big Al Worthington, his knee pronounced OK, is coming to the San Francisco Giants training camp with every expectation of quickly ending his $20,000 holdout.

"I'm going to be a holdout when I reach Phoenix," the pitcher telephoned from his Birmingham, Ala., home last night. "I feel sure we will come to terms."

The Giants offered the right-hander $17,000 and said more would be out of line with their salaries for other players. Worthington was paid $12,000 last season when he won 11 and lost 7 with a third place team.

The pitcher had just flown to Birmingham from New York, where he was examined by Dr. Harrison McLaughlin. The doctor reported:

"There is nothing wrong with Worthington's knee."

"I feel better already" because of that report, Al said. He injured a knee working out at home and, favoring it, weakened a thigh muscle. Dr. McLaughlin said exercise should cure that.

Worthington planned to start driving west today.

Indicating his good faith in ending his holdout, he reported he has rented for the summer the Redwood City home of Detroit pitcher Don Mossi.

MILLER SPARKLES

Meanwhile, Stu Miller looked ready to defend his National League earned run championship today.

The little slowball artist, who led the senior loop with a 2.47 ERA last season, turned in his second sharp pitching stint of the young season yesterday to spark the Giants to a 10-5 win over Chicago.

Miller hurled four shutout innings. He gave up but one hit and ended the dazzling performance by fanning sluggers Ernie Banks and Dale Long.

Leading the Giants' hit parade was ageless Hank Sauer, who climaxed a six-run Giant uprising in the eighth frame by belting a pinch-hit grand slam home run.

Other bat stars included Giant Ed Bressoud with two safeties and cubs Cal Neeman and Tony Taylor, who also whacked homers.

The Giants met the Boston Red Sox today. The Bostonians have yet to taste defeat on the Cactus Circuit this year. Manager Bill Rigney announced that Mike McCormick, Curt Barclay and Paul Giel would handle the pitching chores against the Red Sox.

S.R. National League Tryouts Saturday

First—and only—tryouts for the San Rafael National Little League will take place Saturday at the Little League park, it was announced today.

Ashburn Picks Mays To Win Batting Title

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—"I pick Willie Mays to win the batting title," says Philadelphia's Richie Ashburn. "The percentages are against anybody winning it twice in a row."

The defending National League champ added that the San Francisco Giant fielder "has youth and—well, he has just about everything."

Ashburn, the Phils' center fielder, stood off a terrific final month by Mays (.445) to win the title last season, finishing three points ahead at .350.

"There are just too many guys who could win," he said, "and maybe the pitchers bear down a little more on you after you've won."

"And maybe," he added, "some of those hits you got don't fall in for you again."

300 SALUTE JONES AT TESTIMONIAL

Victor W. Jones of San Rafael today was watching a brand new television set from a brand new easy chair.

Those were among the gifts showered on the retired San Rafael High School coach and teacher last night at his testimonial dinner attended by nearly 300 friends and former students.

Sponsored by the San Rafael Athletic Assn., of which Jones is a charter member, the gala event heaped praise on the man who spent 38 years in teaching 33 at San Rafael as coach, industrial arts instructor and attendance officer.

In addition to the TV set and easy chair, Jones received a set of luggage and a golf bag, along with citations from the City of San Rafael, San Rafael High School and the Kiwanis Club.

The honoree received a certificate from Mayor John F. McInnis proclaiming yesterday "Vic Jones Day," thanking him for his service to the community. Jones is secretary to the Board of Education and chairman of the Parks and Recreation Commission. San Rafael businessman Irving Chapman presented Jones the mayor's proclamation.

Principal Ralph Phelps of the high school presented the former teacher a life-time pass to all school activities.

President Bog Hall of the Kiwanis Club told of Jones' perfect attendance record for nearly 10 years and awarded him the first teacher's recognition award in the history of the club.

A number of speakers saluted Jones for his outstanding contribution to the youth of the community, including Glidden Benefield, physical education director at Tamalpais High School; Harry O'Shaughnessy, a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. executive, one of Jones' first students at San Rafael; Paul A. Miller, a fellow coach at the high school, and Ted Mitchell, president of the SRAA.

Included in the audience were Superintendent Frank Lucas and C. Paul Bettini and Harold Fulkerson of the Board of Education; Chairman Walter Castro of the Marin County Board of Supervisors; Coroner Frank Keaton, and San Rafael Police Chief Frank Kelly.

Representing local high schools were Athletic Director Angelo Colombo and basketball and track coach Bob Lincoln of San Rafael; Athletic Director Bob Troppman, Dick Hart and Paul Daly of Redwood; Carl "Red" Brown of Sir Francis Drake, and Athletic Director Jim Hanretty and Benefield of Tamalpais.

Jones also received congratulatory telegrams from Philadelphia Eagles Coach Buck Shaw; Jake Obitz, head golf professional at Shawnee-On-Delaware, Pa.; Cy Londahl, former athletic director at SRHS, and others.

Gallinas Valley Tryouts Saturday

Tryouts for the Gallinas Valley Little League will be held Saturday at Oliver Hartzell School with 10, 11 and 12-year-olds reporting at 9 a.m. and 9-year-olds at 1 p.m.

Boys must provide their own gloves, it was reported.

Pony League tryouts will be Saturday, March 21; and Pony graduate tryouts on Sunday, March 22.

Post May Be Answer To Phillies' Problem

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wally Post may supply the right answer to the Philadelphia Phillies' question: "Who will share the outfield with Richie Ashburn and Harry Anderson?"

Ashburn, the National League's batting king in 1958 with a .350 average, and Anderson, the soph who hit .301 with 97 runs batted in and had 23 homers, need help to get the Phils out of the N.L. cellar.

Post was supposed to supplant the power the Phils missed in 1957 when Del Ennis went to St. Louis after the 1956 season. Philadelphia gave the Cincinnati Reds pitcher Harvey Haddix in exchange for Post.

Things didn't work out as planned last year. Post wound up being platooned with Rip Repulski and Anderson, and doing a lot of pinchhitting. He finished with a respectable .282 batting average, but had only 12 homers (four as pinchhitter) and 2 RBI.

Post went about nailing down the outfield job yesterday with a pair of home runs in a 17-hit Philadelphia attack that demolished the Milwaukee Braves 13-7. Gene Freese also homered for the Phils and rookies Jim Pisoni and Chuck Cottier did likewise for the Braves.

The Braves' Carlton Willey, Bob Rush, Bob Buhl and Dale Hendrickson were the victims of the Phils' attack.

Don Demeter's long single gave Los Angeles a 7-6 victory over Cincinnati. Johnny Temple, with four hits, and Roy McMillan with three RBIs, paced the Cincinnati attack.

Chuck Essengian's triple and Lee Tate's single in the 10th inning helped St. Louis to its first Grapefruit League victory, over Pittsburgh, 5-4. Stan Musial, in his initial training appearance, went hitless.

Boston capitalized on two errors each by first baseman Larry Doby and pitcher Hal Woodeshick to edge Cleveland 4-3 and remain the only unbeaten team in exhibition play.

A two-run homer by rookie Bob Callison in the eighth inning handed the New York Yankees their third straight loss, as Washington won a 13-12 slugfest.

Quinn Named On All-Catholic Basketball Squad

Art Quinn of Marin Catholic High School has received second team recognition on the All-Catholic Athletic League basketball squad selected by coaches, it was revealed today.

Quinn was the only Marin varsity player named on the 21-player squad, but two of Marin's junior varsity players won mention on the All-CAL jayvee squad. They were Ed O'Connell on the second team and Jerry Smith honorable mention.

Quinn was the sixth highest scorer in the league with 191 points. Marin's other leading scorers were Ron Blum with 121 and Co Skinner with 87.

Bears Favored In Regional Playoffs

BERKELEY (AP)—By his own admission, Pete Newell had an easy year of coaching.

"When the players play well, you actually coach less," the California basketball mentor explains.

The record speaks:

The Bears are the Pacific Coast Conference champions a third straight year, have a 14-2 conference mark and are 21-4 overall. They were ranked 11th nationally in the final Associated Press poll.

Cal faces Utah in tomorrow night's NCAA Western Regional Tournament opener in San Francisco and is the favorite to get into the NCAA semi-finals at Louisville, Ky.

Newell figures if his squad can get by this weekend, the Bears will have as good a chance as anybody in the semi-finals.

St. Mary's, the West Coast Athletic Conference king, plays Idaho State in the other regional opener. The winners play for the trip east Saturday night. Idaho State edged New Mexico State 62-61 last night to qualify for the wtsern regional.

California, riding a 12-game win streak, is the nation's big college leader on defense, limiting opponents to 50.1 a game.

The Bears scored 63.3 points a game, but only two of them, guard Denny Fitzpartrick and 6-10 center Darrall Imhoff, averaged better than 10 points a game. Fitzpatrick ended up 13.2. Imhoff 11.1.

Al Buch, the team captain, had a 9.1 average.

Newell points out that his 1959 champions are the percentage shooters, that they go for the one big shot. "They've been hitting better than 40 per cent of their shots from the floor all season," he said.

The Utes have given up an average of 64.2 points a game while averaging 74.1, more than 10 points better than California.

STRONG BENCH

The Skyline Conference champions, although higher scorers averagewise, will be bucking a team long in reserves.

Newell, along with Fitzpatrick, Imhoff and Buch, has three steady floor men in Bill McClintock, Bob Dalton and Jack Grout, and a solid replacement for Imhoff in 6-8 Dick Doughty.

McClintock is a sophomore, the two big men, juniors. The others, the seniors, are responsible gor the team's success, Newell contends.

"We've had great leaderships from our seniors . . . the type that reflected on our whole club," he said.

COACH BELIEVES:

Gaels Just Might Win All Marbles

MORAGA (AP)—It will take a hot team to win the NCAA basketball championship, says St. Mary's Coach Jim Weaver who figures his Gaels might do it.

"Only a real hot team can win this time and my boys have the ability to get high," the soft-spoken Gael mentor said today as his well-rested West Coast Athletic Conference champions worked out for their first test tomorrow night in the western regional against Idaho State, which won its way into the Regionals last night with a 62-61 victory over New Mexico State. Two free throws in the last 20 seconds by Jerry Griffin and the 32-point performance of Jimmy Rodgers dumped New Mexico State.

California, Pacific Coast Conference champ, plays Utah, best in the Skyline, in the regional tourney's other first round game.

"We've played stead ball all season and, whoever our opponents are, we can run up a score on them," Weaver said.

"We have a good defense, we can score from any position and we have five players who can run up double figure scores any night.

"This gives us balance in our scoring and, with shooters like LaRoy Doss, Dick Sigaty and Tom Meschery, this team can break loose at any time."

Weaver rates Doss, a 6-foot-5-inch forward, as All-America caliber. Doss averages 16 or 17 points a game and grabs about 11 rebounds.

Meschery, 6-foot-6 center, accounts for 13 to 14 points a game and takes as many rebounds, while Sigaty, a 6-foot-5 guard, is almost as good.

If the Gaels jump out of the dark at some of the name teams in the NCAA, it will culminate a remarkable season in which St. Mary's for the first time won its conference championship. And it will be the first St. Mary's team ever to play in the NCAA.

Weaver, proud of the fact that St. Mary's is one of the smallest colleges to make the tournament this year, recalls that size never mattered much at Moraga.

Enrollment is only 705 but before the economics of major league football put them out of business, the Gaels, even smaller then, were terrors of the gridiron for many yeas.

2 Cal Bears Picked On All-PCC Team

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Five senior and two juniors were named to the All-Pacific Coast Conference Basketball Team of 1959. Walt Torrence of UCLA was the only unanimous choice.

Here is the team, selected yesterday by vote of the nine conference coaches (player, school, home):

Denny Fitzpatrick, California, Costa Mesa.

Lee Harman, Oregon State, Los Angeles.

Darrell Imhoff, California, Alhambra.

Paul Neuman, Stanford, Costa Mesa.

Doug Smart, Washington, Seattle.

Walt Torrence, UCLA, Sacramento.

John Wehras, Southern Cal, San Pedro.

With seven men named for the first team, only three positions were open for the second. Selected were Bruno Boin, Washington; Al Buch, California, and Whaylon Coleman, Idaho.

Golden Glovers Show Skill, No Punch On Video

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's Golden Glovers, the best amateur scrappers in the West, will take boxing skill rather than punching power against New York in the March 25 inter-city bouts here.

This was demonstrated clearly last night before 11,243 in Chicago Stadium and a national television audience in Chicago's tourney of champions finals.

Four of the amateur stars, including one of the two defending champions, won their titles before the TV camera.

Wilbur McClure, Toledo, Ohio, retained his 160-pound championship with a decision over Cincinnati's Herbert Wills.

The others who won titles "on camera" included heavyweight Jimmy Jones, 18, an unemployed Chicago representative; welterweight Don Sargent, a truck driver from Minneapolis; and Cassius Clay, 17, a high school light heavy from Louisville, Ky.

The only other returning champion, little Gil Yanez of Toledo, retained his flyweight crown with a decision over Oscar German, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Tryouts This Weekend For Fairfax Players

Fairfax-Sleepy Hollow Little and Junior Leagues will conduct tryouts this weekend, it was announced today.

The Little Leaguers will report to Sleepy Hollow Field for their first workouts Saturday, 10, 11, 12-year-olds at 9 a.m. and 9-year-olds at 3 p.m.

The Junior League's 13, 14-year-olds will be tried out Sunday, 1 p.m. at the Drake High School field.

Hub Little League, Junior League Tryouts Scheduled

Tryouts for San Anselmo Little League will be held Saturday and for San Anselmo Junior League will be held Sunday, president Hal Truett announced today.

Tryout time both days will be 1 p.m., at San Anselmo Memorial Park.

Prospective players in both leagues, whether or not they played last year, must sign up 45 minutes before tryout time if they have not already registered. Only players new to their respective leagues need try out, however.

Boys wanting to register must be accompanied by a parent or guardian, and if they have not previously participated must show a birth certificate or other evidence of age.

Guards, Tigers Tie For Title

San Quentin Guards and the Marin Tigers both won their games this week, to remain in a tie for first place in the "C" Division of the San Rafael Men's Basketball League.

The Tigers defeated the 14th Marines 49-36 as Bob DeRosa and Larry Soldavini scored 12 and 10 points, respectively to lead the attack. Bruce Anderson was high man for the Marines with 15 markers.

San Quentin won by forfeit over the Village Inn.

The Guards and the Tigers finished the regular season with identical 6-2 won-lost records. The league championship will be decided next Monday with a play-off game at San Rafael High School beginning

Robinson Cops San Rafael Cage Loop Scoring Title

Glenn Robinson of the Dugout Dandies, former Tamalpais High School and College of Marin ace, won the scoring title of the "A" Division in the San Rafael Recreation and Parks Department Men's Basketball League, final statistics showed today. Robinson finished the nine-game season with 144 points for an average of 16.3 per game.

Don Johnson of Mill Valley Boys Club finished second with 119 points in eight league contests for a 14.8 average.

Milt Hain was one point behind Johnson to gain the third place spot with 118 points in nine games for a 13.3 average.

Bob Liebe of the Dugout scored 114 and Paul Knoles of Schaefer's Sports Shop had 101 points to finish fourth and fifth spots.

The league's leading scorers are as follows:

Glenn Robinson, Dugout, 144 points; Don Johnson, MVBC, 119; Milt Hain, Schaefer's, 118; Bob Liebe, Dugout, 114; Paul Knoles, Schaefer's, 101; Tom Redmayne, Bartholow, 85; Bob Stout, Dugout, 82; George Geister, Dugout, 81; Bob Lyons, Bartholow, 77; Don Munton, Schaefer's, 75; Bill Sweat, Bartholow, 75.

It Looked Like War At First

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — It was peaceful, but it looked like war.

Motorists were startled to see a 105-mm. artillery weapon abandoned along Highway 121 north of Decatur.

Turned out the weapon was being towed from Indiana to Bushnell, Ill., by a Veterans of Foreign Wars post when progress halted because a wheel bearing burned out.

Hollow Victory For Cow-Chasers

HONOLULU (AP) — Amateur cowhands lassoed a runaway steer after it had broken out of a dairy truck and gone on a rampage.

Just as they were congratulating themselves, the cow dropped dead, apparently from strangulation.

State J.C. Assn. To Crack Down On Recruiting

LONG BEACH (AP)—Effective July 1, out-of-state athletes cannot compete for California junior colleges until they have resided in the state for one year or completed two semesters of school.

That ruling was adopted Tuesday by the California Junior Colleges Assn. as a move toward curtailing recruiting abuses in athletics.

Dr. Edward Simonsen of Bakersfield Junior College said the vote on the resolution was 39-11.

Many California junior colleges have gone out of the state to recruit athletes. The new rule is designed to make the recruiting of athletes from other states less attractive for the athletes themselves and financially impracticable for the junior colleges.

Marinite Wins Doctors' Event; Thompson Race This Weekend

Dr. Frank Howard of San Rafael captured his third straight title in the third annual Hippocrates Slalom at the Edelweiss last Saturday. Other Marin doctors who participated in the event were Henry Garland of San Rafael, Bernard Diamond, Herbert Abrams and Mort Gibbons of Ross, Maury Robinson of Sausalito and E. B. Spiller of Kentfield. About 30 doctors raced the icy course under a warm spring sun.

Since their purchase of the Edelweiss 10 years ago, owners Ken and Bunny Cotton have succeeded in making it a typical family resort. It has grown from one building and six employees to three buildings, 20 employees and the only double chair lift on Highway 50. The Cottons are thinking of keeping Edelweiss open during the summer months.

Ken, a former RAF flyer, is a volunteer driver for the ambulance along Highway 50 in the summer.

Th Edelweiss is named after the "Noble White" flower which grows high in the European Alps. It thrives in storms on ledges and cliffs of towering Alpine peaks, but becomes a common looking weed when transplanted to the valley gardens.

The Edelweiss Redhornets will host the annual Silver Ski giant slalom race for juniors there Saturday.

WITH THE additional slopes provided by the new T-bar at Echo Summit Ski Area, ski school classes have also enlarged. Rich Sylvestri of Oakland and Karen Hennig from the German Alps have been added to the ski school staff.

THE ANNUAL Snowshoe Thompson Memorial Cross-Country race will commence at the Edelweiss Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, parallel Highway 50 to Echo Summit, then down the old road to Meyers Valley and follow the Old Pioneer Trail across the valley terminating at Heavenly Valley resort, a distance of 22 miles. A six-mile course will be set from Sierra House in Tahoe Valley to Heavenly Valley for juniors.

About 40 Class A, B and veterans skiers are expected to compete. Wendall Broomhall of Rumford, Maine, in charge of cross-country racing for the 1960 Olympic Games, won the event two years ago. He will be challenged by Sheldon Varney, 30-year-old South Tahoe school teacher, who won the event three different years and holds the record time of three hours, 18 minutes.

Sponsors of the memorial to the ski pioneer who delivered the mail over Echo Summit in the winter months are the Highway 50 Association, Heavenly Valley-South Tahoe Ski Club and E. Clampus Vitus Chapter of Placerville, who will act as checkers and serve refreshments to the participants along the course.

THE DOWNHILL of the fourth annual North-South Ski Meet will be staged at Yosemite Saturday and the slalom on Sunday. The northern team has won twice and the southerners plan to even the score this weekend. Each team will include 10 men and 5 women Class A racers.

Title Fight Big Boom For N.Y. Business

NEW YORK (AP)—This city's capture of the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight for Yankee Stadium June 23 is just the beginning of a drive by business interests to make New York a flourishing sports center again.

"This fight means 60 million dollars in business for New York," said Bill Zeckendorf Sr., hotel chain owner and realtor. "We and the other business interests in New York were determined to get the fight.

"This is just the beginning. We intend to bid for major league baseball, football and other boxing shows. This is only in our self-interest. Whatever we lose to other cities means a loss to hotels here and other businesses."

Fight promoter Bill Rosensohn disclosed at a press conference Tuesday that it was "a dramatic, last minute guarantee of $600,000 by Bill Zeckendorf and his son that swung me in favor of New York City.

"I'm telling you frankly that I was all set to have the fight in Chicago until that bid was made Monday. Ragnar Benson of Chicago had guaranteed me $500,000."

The move by Zeckendorf and other industrial leaders apparently means that solid backing will be given to Mayor Robert Wagner's movement to get a second major league baseball team in New York to make up for the shift of the Dodgers and Giants to California.

Zeckendorf's guarantee of $600,000 gross receipts seems a cinch to cost him nothing.

Rosensohn said he expected to gross at least a million dollars at Yankee Stadium. He also figures to clear a minimum of $300,000 from either home television or theater television. He said he already has reservations for 4,200 seats from fans in Sweden.

"The target date for the fight is June 23," said Rosensohn, a 38-year-old New Yorker, "My inclination right now is for home television but theater television is a possibility. New York will be blacked out in either case."

NBA Division Semi-Final Playoffs Start Tomorrow

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The divisional semi-final playoffs get under way tomorrow night in the National Basketball Assn.

The regular season ended last night, with the St. Louis Hawks defeating the Nationals in overtime at Syracuse, 132-130, and the Detroit Pistons pulling up from behind to nip the Lakers at Minneapolis, 123-118.

New York, runnerup to the Boston Celtics in the Eastern division entertains Syracuse in New York Friday night in the opener of their best-of-three playoffs. The winner meets Boston.

Detroit travels to St. Paul to take on the Lakers in their semi-final series starting Saturday. The winner of this series takes on the champion Hawks.

It was Dick McGuire's long shot with 45 seconds left that gave Detroit its victory over Minneapolis. Phil Jordan scored 21 points for the Pistons, while Elgin Baylor was the Lakers' big man with 39.

Cliff Hagan's hook shot with one second remaining in the extra period was the margin of victory for St. Louis.

But it was the Hawks' Bob Pettit, leading scorer in the league, who scored the high of 27 points to break another league record. Last week he broke George Yardley's one-season record of 2,001 points, and his 27 against Syracuse ran the total to 2,105. In finishing the season with an average of 29.2 points per game, he shattered the 28.4 mark of Minneapolis' George Mikan, made in 1950-51.

Extension Of Draft Passed In House Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation extending the draft law four years was sped to President Eisenhower today by the House.

By voice vote and without debate, the House approved a Senate amendment to a bill which passed the House last month. The amendment dealt with the pay of doctors and dentists in the armed services.

The Senate passed 90-1 yesterday a bill extending the draft and related military manpower programs until July 1, 1963.

Only Sen. William Langer (R-N.D.), who has opposed draft act extensions since World War II, voted against it.

The only Senate change in the bill previously passed by the House was a four-year extension of the extra pay for physicians, dentists and other medical specialists.

Ford Confirms Plans To Produce Small Car

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. has become the first of the Big Three auto makers to confirm it will build a smaller car.

The company said in a letter to stockholders yesterday that barring changes in the small car market, Ford will introduce an economy model sometime this fall.

Neither General Motors nor Chrysler, the other two members of the Big Three, had any comment on the Ford announcement. Both have outlined company positions in previous statements.

The latest of these was Tuesday when L. L. (Tex) Colbert, Chrysler president, told a news conference in New York that Chrysler had a small car in the testing stage but had not yet decided whether to put in on the market.

Chrysler, Ford and GM currently offer imported small cars through their U. S. dealers. General Motors imports the Opel from Germany and the Vauxhall from its British plants; Chrysler imports the Simca from France; and Ford offers several models imported from Germany and England.

The GM stand was incorporated in the company's 1958 annual report by Frederic G. Donner, board chairman, and John F. Gordon, president. The executives told shareholders the corporation was continuing studies to be prepared to produce smaller cars in the event demand warranted them.

The Ford announcement was made by Henry Ford II, president, and Ernest R. Breech, board chairman. Their letter said that the company had been studying the small car situation for several years.

"Barring changes in the market or other circumstances," the letter said, "the company plans to introduce such a car during the 1960 model year."

Ford and Breech said the car will be in competition with other economy cars, "including cars expected to be produced in this country by other American manufacturers."

The predictions generally are that newer models planned by the Big Three will be of from 108 to 110 inch wheelbase. This is about 10 inches shorter than regular Chevrolet and Ford models.

The gold-mining industry in and around Johannesburg, South Africa, employs 383,000.

Lovers Of Fine Food Organize In North Bay

Seventeen gourmets from Marin, Sonoma and Napa Counties gathered at Sabella's restaurant Tuesday evening to organize a new club and then eat a rarely served delicacy called stuffed calamari (squid).

Equipped with a charter from the International Wine Food Society in London, the group plans to further the arts of wining and dining in the North Bay, under the name of the Wine and Food Society of the North Bay.

The newly organized gourmets will convene for quarterly dinners at restaurants within the three North Bay Counties. Their group will be limited to 40. No commercial vintners or restaurateurs will be admitted to membership.

Hub Man Catches 100-Lb. Sturgeon

Bob Johnson of San Anselmo won a 30-minute battle with a 100-pound, 75-inch sturgeon Sunday while bass fishing off Hamilton Field with Sam "The Butcher" Ross and Grover Ahrens.

Fishing aboard Ross' 17-foot runabout, "Suzanna," Johnson caught the lunker on a 30-pound test line using a Pfluger Akerite reel.

All three anglers also got a striper.

Pastorale Symphony Previewed By Critic

Musicologist Dr. Joseph Kerman of the University of California elected to speak on Beeshoven's "Pastorale Symphony" in presenting a preview of tomorrow night's second concert of the Marin Orchestra before more than 140 members and guests of the Symphony Guild of Marin yesterday at the Meadow Club.

Kerman, who is an author and critic and acting chairman of the department of Music at the University, chose the Beethoven work as the selection which interested him most from the varied program to be presented in Marin Catholic High School auditorium.

At the outset, the speaker stressed that the Beethoven symphony "is purely a musical work and an impression of the composer's feelings in the country." He said, "The composition lives by its musical meaning."

"The Pastorale Symphony, also known as the Sixth Symphony, is composed of five movements which all form a continuous whole and from beginning to end is a single, continuous journey."

Kerman, who is also an accomplished master of the harpsichord, organ and piano, pointed up the various movements and phrases of the work with records and on the piano.

He emphasized that the work has a strange rooted quality in its proportioned music movement which is quite unlike Beethoven.

In conclusion, Kerman said, "The total effect of the Symphony with its final movement one of peace and quiet, makes Beethoven for once happy with the world."

The program Friday will star duo-pianists Milton and Peggy Salkind of Sausalito in an interpretation of Mozart's "Two-Piano Concerto in E Flat Major."

It will also include Hindemith's "Symphonic Metamorphosis of Themes by Carl Maria Von Weber" and Berlioz' "Roman Carnival Overture."

The speaker was introduced by Guild president, Mrs. Robert L. Schultz.

A luncheon followed the 11 o'clock preview.

Senator Dilworth To Address Republican Federation Here

Senator Nelson S. Dilworth, who has served continuously in the California State Legislature since 1936, will address the California Federation of Republican Women, Northern Division, at its 12:30 luncheon Wednesday, March 18, at Rickey's Rancho Rafael.

Senator Dilworth, famous for his stand on Americanism, is holder of a Freedom Foundation award for his "great interest in protecting the rights and freedoms of the individual."

Presiding at the federation sessions, which wlil begin at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, March 17, will be Mrs. Merritt R. Hosmer, San Carlos, president of Northern Division. A dinner and idea fest is open to all GOP women.

Co-hosting the two-day session are the Republican Women of Marin Federated and the Marin Republican Women's Council.

All members and guests are asked to wear "funny hats" to the meeting on Wednesday morning and the hats will be sold to raise money for the Northern Division. Business includes election of a second vice president and four regional vice presidents.

Mrs. Matt Graham of San Anselmo is taking reservations for Wednesday's luncheon. Congressman J. Arthur Younger of San Mateo County will be master of ceremonies at a panel movie which features congressmen of the Northern California area.

Honored guests will be Mrs. R. G. Kenyon, president of the California Federation, Miss Jane Zimmerman, who heads the Northern Division fund raising drive; Mrs. Campbell Watson, vice chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, and Mrs. H. E. (Marjorie) Benedict, national GOP committeewoman.

John Taylor Is Feted At Hospital Party

John K. Taylor, who recently retired as administrator of San Rafael General Hospital, was honored at a party given by the hospital's employees.

The affair was arranged as a surprise and took place in the hospital dining room. The theme of the party was Hawaiian, the tables were decorated with palm fronds, bamboo branches and camellias.

The special refreshments were prepared by the three hospital chefs and included Hawaiian punch with floating camellias.

Taylor was presented with a lei of orchids and Mrs. Taylor with an orchid corsage.

High point of the afternoon was the presentation of a gift which the employees had ordered especially for the honoree. It was a gold money-clip engraved with the hospital seal and the words "To our good friend John K. Taylor from the employees of the hospital." With the gift went a special card signed by members of the entire hospital staff.

Mrs. Trevor Hoy Honored At Tea

Mrs. Trevor Hoy was the honored guest at the beautifully appointed tea for 60 guests held recently by Mrs. Harold Hallet at her home, St. John's Episcopal Rectory, in Ross.

The Rev. Canon Hoy has recently been called from Pennsylvania to serve as director of religious education for the Episcopal Diocese of California. They have rented the Erickson home on Laurel Grove avenue, and their sons, Christopher and Stephen, are newly enrolled in Ross Grammar School.

On the lace covered table was a centerpiece of camellias and candles, and about the rooms were arrangements of white daphne and fruit blossoms. Assisting with pouring and hostessing were Mesdames Stanley Brooks, Frank Brown, Gordon Cochrane, Frederick Macondray, Stryker Warren, Melville Wolf and Fred Woods.

LEGAL SECRETARIES TRIBUTE

'This Is Your Night' Honors Judge N. Charles Brusatori

A sentimental and impressive tribute was paid by the Marin County Legal Secretaries Association at their second annual Bosses' Night last night when Marin County Superior Court Judge N. Charles Brusatori was made the subject of the skit, "This Is Your Night."

At the dinner in the Flamingo Room of Bermuda Palms and with Hugh Turner, manager of KTIM, as master of ceremonies, Judge Brusatori was taken completely by surprise when he was called to the "stand" and informed "This is your night."

As Mr. Turner told of the judge's early life, his arrival from his native Italy when a small boy, his school days in San Rafael, his baseball team, his parents and brothers and sisters and his courtship and marriage, pictures, by courtesy of The Photo Shop, were thrown on the screen. The audience saw a small boy dressed in his Sunday best, his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Felice Brusatori, the baseball team, "The Marsh Rats," more formally known as "The Federals." Then Charlie, as all who know the judge call him, was pictured in his first automobile and when he claimed Mary McKeever as his bride on June 27, 1929. Later there appeared the pictures of the judge as he ascended the judicial ladder to his present high post.

As the narrator spoke of the past, one by one those who had important roles in the judge's life took their place on the stage: his two brothers, Robert and Joseph Brusatori, his sister, Mrs. John E. Skillicorn of San Francisco, (the other sister, Mrs. Milford O. Crader of Trinity Co. telegraphed her regrets), George H. Harlan, famous attorney ,with whom Charlie had a long and pleasant office association, Myrtle Ballard, their secretary, then Charlie's wife and their two daughters, Mrs. Ole Christensen and Mrs. Frank Klineman, Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. who was sworn into office as Marin Municipal court judge the same time Judge Brusatori took that office, Edna Lemke, clerk of the municipal court, Edna Ingalls, first president of the Marin Legal Secretaries Association, whom Charlie had installed in office (he is now an honorary president of the organization), and Gladys O'Neal, current president of the association.

The narration was interrupted by clever commercials extolling the legal secretary. The The entire script was written, produced and directed by Laura Robertson. At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. O'Neal presented the association's gifts to Judge and Mrs. Brusatori. For her there was a charm bracelet with mementos of her life, and for the judge there was an album for all his pictures. In his speech of appreciation it was evident that the judge was deeply affected by and grateful for the tribute.

Mrs. O'Neal presided at the meeting, and she introduced those at the head table, Mr. and Mrs. Turner, Virginia Cumming, governor, Louise Allen, parliamentarian, and her husband, J. W. Allen, Mary-Hazel Stephens, past first vice president of the National Legal Secretaries Association and past president of the San Francisco Association, and Florence Donnelly, society and woman's page editor of the Independent-Journal.

Miss Cumming reviewed the history of the Marin organization and outlined the instructive programs it had presented. Mrs. Allen read the Code of Ethics. The handsome printed program contained the "Salute to the Bosses," which concluded "And You Should Know, we truly appreciate your ability to really adjudicate. So tonight, we salute you and you and you, and assure you of service the whole year through."

Mrs. Robertson had on her committee Virginia Cumming, Margaret Day, Laverne Ruttledge, Jan Steuer and Joann Williams.

Joan Slepnol Weds In Home Ceremony

In a candlelight ceremony at 8 o'clock Saturday at the home of her parents in San Anselmo, Joan Slepnol, daughter and Mr. and Mrs. A. J Slepnol became the bride of Frederick Trupp of San Francisco.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Eloise Hugesky of Redwood City and Bernard Trupp of Ohio.

The Rev. Jerald H. Traeger performed the ceremony.

For the wedding, the bride wore a blue sheath of Italian velveteen with matching veil and carried a bouquet of mauve roses.

Mrs. David Coats of San Francisco as matron of honor, wore a gray-blue sheath with chiffon bodice and carried a bouquet of pink and white tulips.

David Coats served the bridegroom as best man.

The ceremony was performed before an arrangement of magnolia leaves, calla lilies and baskets of spring blossoms.

The bride's mother wore a silk print sheath of violet and green. Her flowers were violets.

The bridegroom's mother wore a turquoise print dress. Her flowers were white tulips.

The bride was employed as a bridal consultant at Ransahoff's in San Francisco before her marriage and the bridegroom attended San Francisco State College.

Following a six-week-wedding trip in Mexico, the couple will reside in San Francisco.

TWENTY-NINE DEALERS LISTED FOR ANTIQUE SHOW AND SALE

Plans were formulated for the Seventh Annual Antiques Show and Sale at a steering committee meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. Philip T. Smith in Mill Valley.

Mrs. Smith has been named as general chairman for this year's event, which is scheduled for April 23, 24, 25 and 26 at the American Legion Hall, 467 Miller avenue, Mill Valley. Hours will be from noon to 10 p.m. daily, except Sunday noon until 8 p.m.

A long list of dealers had applied to participate in this year's show, which has a reputation of being one of the best on the Coast. Space has been expanded to permit more dealers than last year and 29 leaders in their field will display wares. Moneys received will be used towards the Building Fund of the Church of Our Saviour, Mill Valley, which was completed in 1955, according to Mrs. Harrison McNear Leppo, president of the Rector's Guild, sponsoring group.

Fifty women meet once a month and devote their time and talent towards the assistance of the church. Mrs. Leppo has been President of the Guild since its inception.

Tickets are good for the duration of the four-day show.

Presidio Teen Club Sets Dance Saturday

The Presidio Teen Club will be guests of the Hamilton Air Force Base Teen Club Saturday night, March 14, at a dance with a St. Patrick's Day theme. Entertainment will be given by members of the Hamilton club. Social chairman Martha Hulgan is in charge, with Rosemary Cook and Diana Williams assisting. Chaperones will be Col. and Mrs. Ralph Henderson and Maj. and Mrs. H. W. Lutz.

Tomorrow the junior high members of the Hamilton club will hold their party. Penny Lambert is in charge.

The Teen Club is also giving an Easter party on April 28 for 30 children from the Sonoma State Hospital. The patients will each have a Teen for a big brother or sister for the day's fun at the Base Youth Center. An egg hunt will be featured. Pat Murphy is planning chairman.

THE BETTER HALF by Bob Barnes

"Come on, get a move on before we find ourselves wearing one of these puddles!"

Femineers Giving A Mountain Party

The Femineers are staging an "Ol' Mountain Party," a hill billy buffet dinner and dance to be held Saturday night at the Carroll Ranch at Rheem Center near Orinda. Attending will be Femineers, their husbands and guests from all parts of the Bay Area who will be wearing hill billy outfits. Decorations will also carry out the theme.

Several barbershop numbers will be sung by the "Slide Rules," Theodore Newman, Donald Hicks, William Keener and Arnold Olitt.

The Femineers are wives of civil and structural engineers. Among the members and husbands attending from Marin are Messrs. and Mesdames William W. Brewer, J. Barry Cooke, Leslie W. Graham, William J. Keener, Robert Lawson, William W. Moore, Fred Nicholson, Burr Randolph and William A. Swain. Mrs. Swain is a member of the committee for the party.

Silk Suit, Costume Dress, Sheath Favorites At Fashion Luncheon

From a purely feminine viewpoint, Easter 1959 will be the prettiest and most colorful in years with flattering and fashionable styles to suit many ages, many figure types and many husbands whose spring wallet is more apt to respond enthusiastically to Easter fashion, 1959, than it did to last year's "chemisery."

This was indicated on Tuesday when 24 attractively accessorized Easter outfits, each "Sealed in Easter Style" by the R and M Style Shops, paraded at Rickey's Fashion Focus luncheon which honored the Marin County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc.

Since young and old can be handicapped, with no one exempt, Marion Bellamy, Fashion Focus coordinator, reminded the audience that each person has a stake in the success of the Easter Seal drive for after all "It Could Be You."

Attractive nosegays of Easter lilies, theme flower for the Easter Seal drive, had been deftly made by the handicapped citizens and the Friends of Arequipa to perch on sprayed branches. Artistically arranged as a focal point on each table by talented Felicia Carroll, they reminded guests of the rebirth in spring and the "rebirth" to the handicapped citizens in Marin who benefit from donations to the Easter Seal campaign, and from the Society's ever expanding program of services.

ENJOY LUNCHEON

It was a heart warming sight to watch as 25 handicapped citizens wheeled into the Terrace Room where they enthusiastically enjoyed luncheon and the fashion show as the guests of John Rickey.

Happily the guests met Pamela Schmidt, last year's Easter Seal theme girl, who no longer needs her crutches, but was abl to walk on her own introducing the fashions "Sealed in Easter Style."

The silk suit, costume dress and ever-popular sheath loomed as best bets to put near the top of the Easter shopping list always teamed with a devastating spring hat to accent a charming hair style created for the models by Tone's House of Beauty in Corte Madera. Added beauty for each model, the coordinated make-up by Beauty Counselors Gai Fleming and Frances Gaines.

"Sealed in Easter Style:"

"In Your Easter Bonnet," a snappy red breton blooming with red geraniums to add dash to Mrs. A. C. Saul's smart navy silk sheath dress, jacketed for the silk suit look, the big collar ending in a deep triangle at the back waistline.

"With All the Frills Upon It," the frill one big white rose perched on navy blue straw to accent Mrs. Merton Preston's navy silk coat dress, the graceful X-neck foil for a blue and white polka dot scarf.

"You'll Be the Grandest Lady," and she was, Mrs. John Ehlen in Teatimer's silk shantung important dress, the color, curry; a flat bow at the waistline; above it spring's newsy V neck and large collar; her hat, an avocado rolled brim breton with ribbon trim.

"In The Easter Parade," check and double checked, Mrs. Gunheld Brown in a textured "tablecloth" cotton plaid, the three-quarter coat with loose cropped sleeves to accent a simple sheath blacked to the high bodice then repeating the checks.

"I Could Write a Sonnet" about the practicality of a "swing into spring" coat, especially when it's a periwinkle, tone-on-tone blue in Hockanum's basketweave wool and worn by Mrs. E. C. Brown over a Navy sheer crepe, square necked dress.

STRAW CARTWHEEL

"About Your Easter Bonnet," this, a wonderfully large black rough straw cartwheel, sashed with black jersey, to set off the blondeness of Mrs. Walter Moreno, influenced by Chanel in a three-piece Pat Premo black and white sandscript print; the skirt slim, the blouse white Irish linen, the jacket cardigan and buttoned in white.

"And of The Girl I'm Taking," the girl Mrs. Donald Smith in Bernetti's original, a silky black sheath diagonally buttoned below the waist up to a deep V'ed oversize collar of black cinnamon and buff organza; her hat choice a smart small black Baku straw.

"To the Easter Parade," then home for luncheon, Mrs. Ray Ehmke pleated in L'Aiglon's ice blue dacron favorite, the pleats to stay, the dress to go anywhere and look well arriving; over it a white sweater jeweled in blue brilliants.

As a delightful salute to St. Patrick's Day, next Tuesday "Fashion Focus" will present "Shamrocks and Silhouettes" to honor the Jolly Roger, Peter Pan and Tom Thumb chapters of the Children's Home Society with the first spring showing of fashions by Grace Graham of Kentfield.

San Rafael GRA To Hold Play Day

The Girls' Recreation Assn. of San Rafael High School will sponsor a basketball play day on Saturday.

Girls from all Marin County high schools have been invited. Punch and cookies will be served. Players and spectators are requested to bring sack lunches. Sandra Hardie is chairman of play day.

New officers of GRA include Barbara Rudnick, president; Sue Anne Stickle, vice president; Lee St. Johnson, secretary; Georgette Steiger, treasurer and Irene Obolsky, historian.

Tennis Members Plan Symposium Sunday Evening

Mill Valley Tennis Club members who followed the suggestion to check the definition of "symposium" written on invitations to a "Sunday Night Symposium" this weekend may be surprised.

First definition given in Webster's is that it is a convival gathering with feasting and drinking accompanied by music, singing and conversation.

Such is the plan for the first of a possible series of Sunday evening affairs after a day of tennis or swimming, designed to release women from the necessity of going home to prepare supper.

Tomorrow is the deadline for reservations being taken by Mrs. Leland Wiese and Mrs. George Pritzker.

Tuesday afternoon women of the club will have a "tax-poor" luncheon planned with an eye on the cost of everything. Apparel will be "sad rags" instead of "glad rags," with no hats or gloves.

Entertainment will be inexpensive community singing.

Assisting social chairman Mrs. Jack Murphy will be Mesdames Lawrence Douglas, James Stephenson, Leon Cavasso and N. C. Ortman Jr.

Also planned for the Sunday before Easter is an Easter Egg Hunt for members' children in kindergarten through fourth grade.

Rebekahs To Hear Talks By Students

Contestants in the "Pilgrimage For Youth," sponsored by Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of the United States, will provide some of the entertainment at tomorrow night's regular meeting of Blythedale Rebekah Lodge 305 at the Mill Valley Odd Fellows Hall.

Speaking on "My Country and World Affairs" will be Cheryll Lynn of San Rafael High, winner of the contest in Marin County, and Maybry Eileen Geller of Sir Francis Drake High, the runner-up.

Mrs. Peggy Dahl, noble grand, will conduct the business meeting.

Officers' Wives Fete Newcomers

Newcomers were welcomed to the Officers' Wives Club of Hamilton Air Force Base recently to the tune of Irish folk songs. Mrs. W. Grim Locke played the medley of gay tunes while the 18 guests were greeted at a coffee amid St. Patrick's Day decorations at the Officers' Club. A miniature Irish guy and his girl were in jig position among the shamrocks on the coffee table as Mrs. Orvill Burwell and Mrs. Harry Caldwell poured. The latter was introduced as the new assistant secretary of the club.

The centerpiece of orange carnations, white iris, set off with green calla leaves went to Mrs. Anthony Whalen. The piano decoration of white stock and yellow daisies was won by Mrs. William Sinclair.

Among activities the newcomers were invited to join was a flower arranging course given by Mrs. Robert Tuckey of Marin Art and Garden Center beginning Monday, March 16 in the Cabana Club. Mrs. Carl D. Trick, OWC Art and Garden Club, is in charge of arrangements.

Grand President Makes Official Visit To NDGW

Tamelpa Parlor 231 and Fairfax Parlor 225 recently received the official visit of their grand president, Mrs. B. C. Dismuke of Tierra de Oro No. 305, Santa Barbara, at the American Legion Hall in Mill Valley.

Carrying out the "Indian" theme of the evening were wigwams, tepees and various Indian relics on the tables. Dressed in fringed and feathered costumes, moccasins, and carrying tomahawks emblematic of Tamalpais, six trustees — three from each parlor — acted as escorts for the grand president.

It was the regular meeting night of both parlors, but only most important business was discussed.

Mrs. Dismuke gave a long speech on her projects — the children's foundation, restoration of missions, history and landmarks, welfare, conservation and many others.

Refreshments were served by chairman Mrs. J. E. Lestanguet of Fairfax Parlor and chairman Mrs. Anthony Damazio of Tamelpa Parlor and their assistants.

LYNN HARRIMAN of Larkspur, kneeling, who lived in Sweden as 1958 winner of the Redwood High School Experiment in International Living shows this year's winner, Thorley Turner, how to wear her skis. Thorley will also go to Sweden. On March 18, 19 the Redwood High group will stage a rummage sale from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. at the Corte Madera Recreation Center to benefit the scholarship fund. Skis are among the articles to be on sale.

Shower Honors Karen Dunham In Mill Valley

Karen Dunham, who will become the bride of Walter Gull Jr. on April 5, was honored at a shower given Saturday evening by her only sister, Mrs. Carl Williams of Mill Valley.

For decor Mrs. Williams suspended wedding bells from the ceiling, as well as Japanese parasols filled with lilies and daisies.

Among those attending were the mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Glenn Dunham of Mill Valley, and her future mother-in-law and sister-in-law, respectively, Mrs. Walter Gull of Mill Valley and Mrs. Bill Lemon of Burlingame; and her aunt, Mrs. Bette Cossette of Vallejo.

Also present were Mrs. Williams' mother-in-law and sister-in-law, respectively, Mrs. Bill Williams and Mrs. Bill Talley, both of Napa.

Others attending were Mesdames Carlo Canziani, Bob Cortopasse, Larry Porter, Roy Habenicht and Alma Gull; and the Misses Gwen Mason, Syd Peterson, Carol Solo, Paulann Ross, Judy Grant, Carol Schroeder, Sharon Tresnon, Pam Richards, Jane Marsh, Joan Smith, Mary McGee, Mary Casagrande, Barbara Chesnut, Claudia Colburn, Sue Ellen Smith, Kappy Kapasauc, Lynn Winfield and Robin Lynn Williams.

CYO Trek To Snow

Members of Catholic Youth Organization of Marin County will travel by chartered bus for a day of skiing and other snow sports on Saturday. Seventy teen-agers and their adult sponsors from San Rafael, Tiburon, Mill Valley, Larkspur and Novato will make the annual trek. The bus will leave the San Rafael City Hall at 4:15 a.m. and is to return at 10 p.m. Breakfast and dinner stops will be at the Milk Farm at Dixon. Edelweiss on Highway 50 will be the headquarters for the day. The trip is under the supervision of Charlene Schumacher of the CYO staff.

Two Navy Vets Take Over Recruiting Here

When Chief Engineman Claude R. Brown retires from the Navy April 1, it will take two men to replace him.

Brown today was already "breaking in" his replacements. They are Chief Aviation Machinist Mate A. J. Zuurbier and Boatswain's Mate 1/c R. B. Hill.

They'll take over the arduous (?) chores of convincing youthful Marinites that there's no career like the Navy, a premise for which the two of them — and Brown as well — are pretty good walking arguments.

It will be the first recruiting duty for both Zuurbier and Hill, in 19 and 18 years in the Navy, respectively.

Zuurbier comes to his new assignment from Neptune Squadron VP22 at Barber's Point, Oahu, Hawaii. He spent a year there and previously was in Japan with the same squadron. He is a Chicagoan.

He and his wife and son are living at Marin Town and Country Club in Fairfax and looking for more permanent quarters.

Hill has been on sea duty since 1945. He was born in Sacramento and grew up in Oakland. He and his wife and two children are new residents of 21 Nave court, Novato.

The Navy recruiting office is at 1116 Fourth street, San Rafael, in the Rafael Theater building. Zuurbier and Hill will keep it open until 5 p.m. five days a week and until noon on Saturday.

Brown, who is retiring with 20 years' Navy service, has been Marin recruiter for three years. He says he is "39 like Jack Benny"—but looks much more like 39 than does the famous comedian.

Brown, who with his wife and four children lives in Novato, will move to Reno as soon as he hangs up his Navy blues. There, he's going to work for Harold's Club — a chancier occupation than the Navy, it would seem, but not so for a "house man."

CD Training Setup Slated In Alameda

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas Kuchel (R-Calif.) has announced the office of Civil and Defense Mobilization will open a training center for civil defense personnel of the western states at Alameda.

It will use buildings of the old Maritime Service officers' training school.

Other details will be announced shortly by Leo A. Hoegh, director of the agency.

Board Invites Leader Of Anti-Center Drive

John R. Streiff of Greenbrae, a leader of the movement to scuttle Marin County's civic center project has been invited to appear before the board of supervisors and "get the facts."

The board extended the invitation this week after receiving a letter from a Novato woman who enclosed one of Streiff's anti-civic center leaflets, which have had wide distribution throughout the county in recent weeks.

BRING EVERYBODY!

"He's the fellow we should invite to come in and get the facts, since he's the one who has been disseminating so much misinformation," said Supervisor Vera Schultz.

"Judging by what's in the paper, you might have more than one man come in here," remarked Supervisor William D. Fusselman.

"Well, that's fine," Mrs. Schultz said. "I'd love to have them come in."

On her motion, the board unanimously instructed County Clerk George S. Jones to extend the invitation to Streiff.

The Greenbrae man, at a meeting last week in San Francisco, was named secretary-treasurer of an organization of Marin taxpayers opposed to the civic center. The organization has 40 to 50 members, most of whom are commuters to jobs at the Fireman's Fund Insurance Co. in San Francisco.

SEVERE TAXES

The Novato woman who enclosed Streiff's leaflet is Mrs. Mary L. Rodeck of 95 Grove lane. A newcomer to Marin, she said she and her husband are "deeply concerned about the severe taxes which we are being compelled to pay. And, we ask, for what?"

"Who," she inquired, "is getting the political payoff?"

Mrs. Rodecks letter claimed the county needs a civic center "far less than we need streets, sewerage and street lights." It was referred to Supervisor William A. Gnoss, who represents North Marin.

A letter from Stanley V. Dick of 22 Cove road, Belvedere, suggesting a public vote on the civic center project was referred to Mrs. Schultz.

Staffing Sewer Office Urged

A proposal that a member of the Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District board spend a few days monthly in the district's Shoreline Highway office was advanced at Tuesday night's board meeting by president Bruce J. Gillette, but no formal action was taken.

Gillete said that it would be "mainly for public relations purposes" to discuss problems of the district residents and would probably be only two days a month. The member would be paid for any expenses involved, he said.

Former district manager Byron O. Boulware spent time in the office but was also required to handle outside maintenance work now handled by the fire department, Gillette said.

SAFE DRIVING TIP

A motorist should never be distracted while driving.

Children in the front seat can prove extremely bothersome to the driver, and safety seats are recommended for youngsters to make sure they do not interfere with the driver's concentration.

Common sense dictates that young children should not be allowed freedom of movement in the front seat while the car is in motion, points out the Chicago Motor Club. At no time should a child be permitted within easy reach of the car's driving mechanisms.

Bids For AF Work To Be Opened Monday

Opening of bids for installation of a new electrical power distribution system at the 666th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron station on Mt. Tamalpais has been set for Monday, according to Col. John S. Harnett, Army district engineer.

Earlier, the opening had been scheduled for this week.

125 Entries Already In Science Fair

Some 125 entries in the second annual Marin County Science Fair have been received already, according to Andrew McClain, Tamalpais High School science instructor and fair director.

Included in the group are 26 entries from Tam High, ranging from hyroponocs to retardation of bacterial growth through effects of radiation.

Awards are to be made on creative ability, scientific thought, thoroughness, skill, clarity, originality as well as dramtic and utilitarian values, McClain said.

Judging will be held Monday. The fair will run from March 17 through 21.

Rogers Named To Park Commission

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown yesterday named Will Rogers Jr., son of the late actor and humorist, to a four-year term on the state Park Commission.

Rogers, a radio and TV actor himself, will replace Charles Kasch of Ukiah, whose term expired Jan. 15. The nomination requires Senate confirmation.

Rogers, 48, served one term in Congress and formerly was editor and publisher of the Beverly Hills Citizen. He was the defeated Demoratic condidate for the U.S. Senate in 1946.

Pope Creates Entertainment Guardian Unit

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII set up a permanent commission on movies, radio and television yesterday to guard against their "moral danger and harm."

Msgr. Martin J. O'Connor of Scranton, Pa., was named chairman. He must report to the Pope twice a year on the organization's work.

Msgr. O'Connor gets on of the most responsible positions held by an American in the Catholic Church. The commission has wide powers to guide the work of national church bureaus on moral classification of films and other matters.

The new permanent commission replaces one originally set up by the late Pope Pius XII in 1948. The first papal commission established in 1948 dealt only with religious and educational films. It was expanded to include all films in 1952 and to embrace radio and television in 1954.

In an official letter creating the new commission the Pope deplored "with saddened soul the moral danger and harm caused not seldomly by films, radio and television transmissions." The offenders, he said, strike "at Christian morals and at the very dignity of man."

Growing Institution

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — When Ohio University opened here June 1, 1809, there were three male students and one instructor. None of the three students granduated. Ohio University now has about 7,000 students.

IN 'FOR WHOM THE BELL TOLLS' — Maria Schell is seen (above) as Maria, the young girl in a Spanish guerilla band who falls in love with an American when KPIX and the CBS television network tonight present the first half of their three-hour presentation of Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls." Half the drama will be presented by Playhouse 90 at 8:30 tonight, the second half next Thursday. Jason Robards Jr. co-stars.

'FOR WHOM BELL TOLLS'

Famed Hemingway Story On TV Screen Tonight

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls" comes to the home screen tonight in the most ambitious television drama production of the season.

The first part of A. E. Hotchner's adaptation of Hemingway's novel will appear on "Playhouse 90" (KPIX 8:30 p. m.) with the concluding part visible a week from tonight. The total three-hour taped presentation, starring Maria Schell, Jason Robards Jr., Maureen Stapleton and Eli Wallach, is the longest single drama ever produced on television.

Producer Fred Cole described it the other day as "a very literal television translation of one of the finest stories of war ever written." He says that three hours are necessary to do justice to the story of an American with the Loyalist forces in the Spanish Civil War who joins a guerrilla band to blow up an army bridge.

"When you watch this show," urged director John Frankenheimer, "don't watch the scenery. It's there only because it's the proper setting for this beautiful story."

Viewers surely will be impressed, however, by the settings which Walter Scott Herndon designed for the show — all done indoors in four New York studios.

Thirty horses are used in the outdoor scenes.

Set decorator William Harp finally found an army tank at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. that looked foreign enough for its role.

After the tank was shipped here, a wooden replica was made—to be blown up when Robards destroys the bridge.

In taping the production it was decided that artificial snow was inadequate. So Coe ordered a half ton of real snow shipped here in refrigeration to be melting off pine trees and on the ground around Robards and Miss Schell in the celebrated sleeping bag love scene.

Art Exhibit Set Sunday In El Paseo

El Paseo in Mill Valley will be the scene of an art exhibit Sunday afternoon for the first time in several years.

Paintings and sculpture will be on view from 1 to 4:30 p.m. in all of El Paseo's shops, offices, arcades, patios, restaurant and the adjoining Greenwood Tree, according to Helen Gapen Oehler, chairman of Artist Associates, the exhibit's sponsors.

The exhibit will be the work of 10 members of Artist Associates — all of whom will be on hand to greet guests.

In addition to Mrs. Oehler, the artists are Arthur W. Palmer, Nevin Kempthorne, Viking Leon, Carlo Talliabue, Ted Christensen, Thomas Leighton, Margery Lester and Othello Michetti.

This group was founded early this year with the idea of making Mill Valley an art center similar to Carmel. Its headquarters and gallery are in El Paseo.

About Time

CHESTERTON, Ind. (AP) — John Hansen won a Carnegie Foundation medal in 1931 for saving a girl from drowning, but he decided not to apply for the $500 reward until he needed the money. Recently the foundation decided he had waited long enough and sent the $500.

CORNELIA AND HUSBAND — The part of the author and central character in "Nuts in May" is portrayed by Sherry Philippet as Cornelia Otis Skinner, while her husband is played by Harry Wendt in "Nuts in May," Drake High School spring play which will be presented tomorrow and Saturday nights.

(Independent-Journal photo)

Drake High Spring Play Set Tomorrow, Friday

"Nuts in May," Drake High School's spring play by Cornelia Otis Skinner, will be presented by student thespians at the school's little theater tomorrow and Saturday at 8 p.m.

Playing the part of Cornelia will be Sherry Philippet, a junior. Cornelia's husband and son, Michael, will be played by Harry Wendt and Jerry Citti, respectively. Both are seniors.

Janice O'Neill, Michael's vivacious girl friend, is played by Judy Carlton, senior, while her sophisticated "rival," Victoria Shaw, is portrayed by Judy Dufton. Victoria's mother, Mrs. Shaw, is played by Sue LeCount, junior, and John Rechtfertig, senior, portrays Janice's uncle, acid-tongued drama critic Watson O'Neill.

Two of Miss Skinner's dearest friends, Eve, the playwright, and Isobel Carrington are played by juniors Hedy Hurt and Sigrid Moller, respectively. Taking the parts of Cornelia's teen-age fans, Mary Ann and Shirley, are Sondra Dennis, a senior, and Bobby Fox, junior. Ethel, the domestic of the Skinner household, is played by Bunny Brown, senior, and Maggie Dell, television personality (who achieves success by means of a terrible warm smile which she flashes whenever she needs it), by Lynn Farmer, junior.

Representing the freshman class in the play are Bruce Franchini and Bruce Come, who play the parts of Marty and Sam, two TV technicians on Maggie's television show. Phelps, the doorman, is portrayed by senior Dave Brown.

Tickets may be purchased at the student store and from members of the cast.

Commute Club Plans Drive For Members

The Mill Valley Commuters Club will conduct its annual bus-stop membership campaign next Monday and Tuesday, George Wickham, president, said today.

Membership committee members will be on hand at bus stops in Mill Valley, Homestead, Almonte and Tamalpais Valley to acquaint new commuters with the club and its aims, according to C. Harvey Mielenz, committee chairman.

Copies of "The Commuter" will be distributed. The current issue features articles on the club's program and the annual potluck dinner set for April 3.

"With Bay Area rapid transit plans being formed, there's a renewed interest in commute problems," Wickham said. "The Mill Valley Commuters Club is one of the most active in the Bay Area. We want it to be representative of as many commuters in the area as possible."

37 Sergeants Get Hamilton Promotions

Promotion of 37 master sergeants at Hamilton Air Force Base to the rank of senior master sergeant was announced last week.

North Bay Aqueduct Clears Senate Hurdle

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The North Bay Aqueduct cleared one hurdle in the state Senate yesterday.

A subcommittee of the Senate Finance Committee rejected the recommendation of the legislative auditor that all money should be withdrawn from the project, and agreed to keep the project alive.

Representatives of every county involved—Marin, Sonoma, Solano and Napa — were present for the hearing. Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy and other legislators from the counties testified in favor of continuing planning of the aqueduct.

Marin was also represented by Supervisor William Gnoss and San Gardiner, attorney for Marin Municipal Water District.

Involved is about $400,000 scheduled to be expended up to June 30 this year, some $15,000 scheduled to keep the project alive next year, and about $556,000 left over from an earlier appropriation.

The auditor had suggested the entire amount be returned to the general funds of the state. Monday night an Assembly subcommittee decided to take no stand on the recommendation.

America's first patent was granted in 1646 to Joseph Jenks of the Massachusetts Bay Colony for his invention of an improved scythe.

Foreign Language Program Planned At Novato High

The Novato School District Board has approved a "foreign language laboratory" program to start next fall at Novato High School if the federal government accepts the program for financial aid.

The program is designed to bring students to a mastery of a foreign language, rather than merely a smattering of knowledge of the language, said Supt. William J. J. Smith.

It would be similar to the program used by the Army Language School at Monterey. Klause Mueller, director of Romance and Germanic languages at the Army school, would serve as consultant.

At first, the Novato program would be confined to a beginning class in German. It is planned as a four-year project, aud would probably be expanded to include other languages later.

The laboratory approach to language study includes use of tape recordings and sound booths.

If Novato's program is approved by federal officials, the federal government and the Novato District would each furnish approximately $5,000 to finance it for the first year, Smith said.

Marin Sportsmen Map Fight Against New Abalone Bill

Marin Rod and Gun Club is urging sportsmen everywhere in California to join in efforts to save abalone along Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino county coasts from destruction by commercial fishing interests.

Assembly bill No. 826 proposed by Assemblyman John A. O'Connell (D., S.F.) would, if passed, open up the North Coast area to commercial abalone fishing, threatening destruction of the last remaining abalone sportsfishing area not yet exploited by the seafood industry.

The Rod and Gun Club will join with other organized sportsmen's groups in a "march on Sacramento" to seek defeat of the O'Connell bill. The club urges sportsmen to communicate with legislators, asking help in the fight against A.B. 826.

CLOSED SINCE 1937

Abalone fishing north of the Golden Gate (District No. 10) has been closed to commercial interests since 1937, with the exception of two war years, 1943-44. Sportsmen approved that move as a wartime necessity to help meet the food shortage.

Prior to 1937, commercial abalone fishing had been permitted in this area starting in 1903.

In recent years, every session of the legislature has seen a face-to-face debate between sportsmen and commercial interests over the District 10 abalone. The sportsmen over the years have spent thousands of dollars protecting abalone beds from destruction by industry.

Abalone fishing along the North Coast draws thousands of sports fishermen from other parts of California and their visits have brought millions of dollars into the economy of this area.

20-YEAR FIGHT

In connection with a big battle between sportsmen and commercial interests in 1951, a survey of abalone habits along the Marin and Sonoma coasts was ordered. It was finally completed in 1957. Biologists concluded that the abalone fishery would not survive long if fished commercially.

For 20 years the Marin Rod and Gun Club has always been in the forefront of the fight against commercial threats, sending delegations to hearings in Sacramento and meeting with interim committees in the field on numerous occasions.

Junior Rifle Club Boasts 2,000 Grads, High Praise

More than 2,000 boys and girls have been trained in rifle marksmanship and safe handling of firearms since the MRG Junior Rifle club came into existence.

George Finney and Fritz Pfeffer, rifle instructors, have given generously of their time and talents to make the rifle club program a success. Tony Chausse founded the junior club which has won state-wide praise for its accomplishments.

The junior riflemen have participated in winter league tournaments in Marin County in the past two years. Last November a team from Marin attended the state shoot in Fresno and made a good showing. This year the state shoot is scheduled again in November, at Ft. Ord.

A national outdoor position shoot is set for June 7 at Sharp's Park.

NRA COURSE

At present, the indoor rifle range at College of Marin is undergoing repairs, expected to be complete early next month. At that time, a new class of 48 boys and girls will start the National Rifle Assn. course in marksmanship. Tuesday evenings will be reserved for beginners; Thursday evenings for advanced shooters.

During the summer months, outdoor classes are conducted on Saturdays. The instructors will welcome inquiries from interested persons.

Boat Population Increasing At Fast Rate Here

Boat "population" is increasing more rapidly than human population in Marin county.

The county has a population of 145,000 persons as compared with 85,000 in 1950, which represents a growth of 7,000 per year. Boat registrations have doubled the forecast growth incorporated in the county's three-year-old master plan, according to Planning Director Mary Summers.

Some 2,763 small craft are registered with the Coast Guard from Marin County. This figure does not include craft of less than 16-feet, such as rowboats and small sailboats. Assessed value of Marin craft is around $1¼ million, but the real value has been estimated at closer to $5,699,000. Another million could be added for the smaller vessels not accounted for in the Coast Guard registration.

As a first step in providing for additional small boat channels and harbors in the county, Marin has adopted a master plan and has a $10,000 loan for development studies, and $300,000 loan for construction of Richardson's Bay facilities from the state.

MRGC Beautifying Clubhouse Area

Considerable progress was made during the past year in landscaping and beautifying the grounds around the Marin Rod and Gun clubhouse at Pt. San Quentin.

Under the guidance of Chairman Don Scagliola, the huge lawn, flower beds and shrubs were planted and cared for. Scagliola and his committeemen have been planting shade trees and shrubs along the hillside south of the clubhouse and adjacent to the picnic area.

A great deal of preparatory work was necessary before the planting could be done. A new water pipeline will be installed to provide water for irrigating the newly-planted areas.

Free Fishing For Cal Pensioners

Among pensioners, only persons receiving aid to the aged under the State of California Old Age Security Law are eligible for free sport fishing licenses and stamps.

The Department of Fish and Game has said it has had to turn down many requests from pensioners who are not eligible.

The department reminded pension recipients that those who are receiving Federal Social Security or other pensions are not eligible unless they are also receiving the official state aid.

Sports, Boat Show Expected To Attract Record Crowds

The popular sports and boat show season in northern California moves into Marin County tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday when the Marin Rod and Gun Club presents its sixth annual outdoors extravaganza at Bermuda Palms Hotel in San Rafael.

PLENTY OF BOATS

Started in 1954 on a small scale, the local show has snowballed into a gigantic attraction and indications are that the attendance records will be smashed this weekend. Last year more than 30,000 persons visited the three-day display of latest outdoors equipment. So great was the demand for display space this year that the sponsors have erected a huge tent adjacent to the Bermuda Palms' main auditorium.

Boats will dominate the display area, according to Co-Chairmen Barney DeBisschop and John "Monty" Marzetta, but visitors also will be treated to displays of the latest in hunting, fishing, camping and other outdoors equipment.

Doors will be open from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m. tomorrow, 1 to 11 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

Special performances by the Marin Skin Divers Club and the Northwoods Bowmen's Club of Marin again will share the spotlight with the show's exhibits.

The skin-divers will give various demonstrations and at least two members will attempt to break the world record for breathholding under water in the Bermuda Palms swimming pool. The present fantastic record is 13 minutes, 35 seconds was set last summer in Burlingame by Dr. Robert Keast of San Rafael. Al Giddings Jr., former world record holder, and Bob Foster, both members of the Marin club, will attempt to better that mark.

ARCHERY EXHIBIT

The archers' exhibition team will display its wares and the Marin club will sponsor a balloon booth and a junior tournament.

Admission is free of charge and several valuable prizes will be awarded to lucky visitors when the show closes Sunday.

The sponsoring Marin Rod and Gun Club is the largest sportsmen's organization in California with more than 2,000 members.

Launching Ramp Is Popular; More Improvements Planned

The boat launching ramp at the Marin Rod and Gun club has received frequent use since its construction last year.

During the past winter, many tons of sand were washed up over the ramp, covering in some places to a depth of three feet.

A crew of volunteer workers removed the sand again for the second time recently and expectations are that it will remain clear until next winter.

Last year a floating dock was constructed adjacent to the ramp and it proved very useful in launching and recovering boats. The channel has been dredged to a depth of three feet below mean low tide in order for boats to use it when tides are out.

Further improvements in the area around the ramp are being planned to provide more parking space for trailers and autos.

Lobbyists Appointed

The California Wildlife Federation has appointed former legislator Verne Hoffman to represent it this year before the Legislature.

The Ocean Fish Protective Association has retained former Fish and Game Commissioner Andy Kelly for a similar purpose.

Both groups have adopted legislative programs which they intend to push during the current session.

PICNIC AREA—Here is where members of the MRGC have spent many pleasant afternoons with their families—the picnic grounds. Last year the club added these scores of tables and several barbecue pits and for the first time held its annual chicken barbecue picnic on club grounds. In past years the picnic was held at McNear's Beach. In right background is the clubhouse and jutting far out to the left is the MRGC pier—longest striped bass fishing pier in the world.

Division Of Small Craft Harbors Assists Boatmen

Recently established to handle the boating and waterway problems of Californians is the Division of Small Craft Harbors. The division was created to help obtain new harbors and boating facilities, both inland and coastal, and to assist in the improvement of existing installations.

Its other functions are to assist in the improvements of waterways and to handle boating problems, related to recreational boating. H. G. Stevens is director of the Division.

BREATHHOLDING

Divers To Attempt Fantastic Record

Two members of the Marin Skin Divers Club will try to better a fellow member's world record for breathholding while submerged in Bermuda Palms swimming pool at the annual Marin Rod and Gun Sports Show this week end.

Robert Foster and Alfred Giddings Jr. will attempt to beat the time of 13 minutes, 35 seconds set by Dr. Robert W. Keast of San Rafael last July in Burlingame.

The breathholding competition is part of a lively aquatic performance to be staged by the skin divers during the show this weekend.

In preparing for their record attempts, the divers will lie down on their backs and breathe pure oxygen—as deeply as possible to rid the body of carbon dioxide—from an anesthetic gas machine for about a half hour.

Then they'll take a last big gulp of oxygen and roll over into the pool where they'll hold their breath two or three feet below the surface.

FIRST EXPERIMENT

Dr. Keast, a 37-year-old anesthesiologist, first began experimenting with breathholding in a Salt Lake City Hospital seven years ago. He remained on an operating table 10 minutes, 25 seconds without taking a breath.

He set his first world record for underwater breathholding at the 1956 Sports Show in the Bermuda Palms pool with a time of 10 minutes, 58.9 seconds. (Others had held their breaths longer, but no one had claimed better time underwater.)

Giddings, 21, a telephone installer and former high school swimming champion, broke that record at last year's Sports Show with 11 minutes, 40.5 seconds.

Then in July, Dr. Keast recaptured his title with the sensational time of 13 minutes, 35 seconds.

"If anyone beats that, he can have it," says Dr. Keast.

He says he'll never try it again because he almost suffered a collapsed lung the last time.

TOO UNPLEASANT

The physical sensations are too unpleasant, he says.

First the breathholder expertences a dizziness and weakness as he begins the deep breathing of oxygen, he explained.

Then after five minutes of the oxygen breathing, as more carbon dioxide goes out of the blood, tingling and numbness is felt all over the body.

Finally the carbon dioxide "blow-off" causes contractions just like those seizing a victim of tetanus, or lockjaw. The feet and hands turn downward and can't be moved.

Two persons attend the breathholder constantly above and in the water to prevent any mishap.

The disagreeable effects disappear after a period of normal breathing.

DEMONSTRATIONS

The Marin Skin Divers Club will also feature demonstrations of water safety, equipment and diving techniques at the Sports Show.

In addition, the divers will have a booth with displays of equipment, including several new underwater cameras.

Several hundred colored slides illustrating club dives in the Fort Ross and Monterey Bay areas will be shown.

Club members giving demonstrations include:

Robert Camiccia and Maurice Picard, wet and dry skin diving suits; Leroy French, clearing the mask and use of snorkel; Tom Hotchkins, weight belt, float and diver's flag; Robert Gist, entering water with equipment; Foster and Jim Higgins, swimming with and without fins; Jim Carty and Burnell Hendrickson, double breathing from an underwater breathing apparatus; Giddings, retrieving breathing apparatus, mask and weight belt from the bottom of the pool, and George Tsegeletos, spearguns.

Vice president is Peter Bertoni, secretary is Paul Ware Sr. and treasurer is Roland D. Hellman.

The board of directors includes those officers, along with Barney DeBisschop, Morris "Babe" Dahl, Gordon Dixon, Albert Ferrari, Moon, Silvio Ruffino, Leo Ciucci and Stephen Lato.

John P. O'Connell is the club's legal adviser.

HERE'S NEW WAY TO HUNT

From Tennessee comes the funniest duck hunting story of the season.

An experienced nimrod was in his blind one foggy morn and heard amateurish calls. He paid little attention until the noise was noticed coming closer. Then he saw a lone gunner paddling in a boat with a string of perhaps 50 decoys bobbing along in the wake. The hunter would stroke, peer aloft and squawk on the call and then repeat the performance. Puzzled, the veteran hunter asked the novice what he was doing.

"There weren't many ducks down at the other end of the lake," he said, "so I thought I'd try awhile at trolling for them."

Waterfowl Hunters Average 32 Birds

An average of 3.2 birds per hunter as of mid-December was reported on 11 State-operated waterfowl management areas where nearly 40,000 persons had availed themselves of hunting opportunities.

The harvest included 123,440 ducks, 3,584 geese, and 2,075 coots.

Gray Lodge and Grizzly Island led the average with 4 and 3.9 birds per hunter respectively.

Arrowhead Exhibit At Sports Show

The story of conservation in the west is the story of Hugh M. Worcester of Berkeley who once again will exhibit his famed collection of Indian arrowheads at the Marin Rod and Gun Club Sports Show.

For more than 30 years this outstanding friend of the sportsman devoted his life to wildlife conservation. For nearly 20 years he directed his main efforts to the difficult and perilous task of breaking up the organized gangs of market hunters who with their allies, the big city restaurants, were illegally killing and selling such enormous numbers of wild ducks and geese as to threaten their extinction on the Pacific flyway.

After a boyhood in the rugged regions of North Dakota and Montana, Worcester served two enlistments in the U.S. Navy and then began his conservation career as an Idaho game warden.

His distinguished work there led to a request from the Washington fish and game authorities to go to Pullman, where, in addition to serving as game warden, he maintained a pheasant farm on the college campus for students interested in conservation.

Here again his outstanding work led to a call from the federal government and he was put in charge of and developed the U.S. Wildlife Refuge at Tule Lake, Calif., today one of the most outstanding hunting areas in the west.

In 1934, he came to Berkeley to take complete charge of federal law enforcement in the California-Nevada area as Game Management Agent of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and, until his retirement 20 years later, directed the breaking up of organized gangs preying on priceless wildlife.

CHAMPION ARCHER—Larry Petretti of San Anselmo shows form he used in winning Marin County target and game hunting championship last year. The former president of the Northwood's Bowmen's Club, won state-wide acclaim in 1957 by winning the California Small Game Hunting Championship.

Marin Archery Club Joins In Conservation Movements

Northwoods Bowmen's Club, Inc., Marin County's own field archery group, has been a regular exhibitor in the Marin Rod and Gun Club's Sports and Boat Show and once again will provide entertainment for this weekend's show visitors.

Besides sponsoring a junior tournament, the archery organization will provide a balloon booth for youngsters to test their skill and an exhibition team to treat customers to some trick archery.

Founded five years ago, the group has joined in organized conservation and sportsmen's movements in addition to its field archer and bow hunting activities.

The club's center of activities is at its range on San Pedro road approximately two miles east of Santa Venetia where practice and regular tournaments take place.

A recent addition to the area is a Beaver Range, especially designed for children in the 9 to 14 age category. They are taught archery free of charge and are under constant supervision. Eventually they will elect their own officers and conduct regular activities, according to Northwoods President Stan Goldsmith.

TOP COMPETITOR

Former president Larry Petretti has proved to be the club's most successful competitor. He won the California Small Game Hunting Championship in 1957 who also won the Northern California title. At present Petretti is the Marin County Target and Game Hunting champion. Rip Van Winkle is the runner-up in the former competition and Dick Argento in the latter.

In addition to local tournaments the Marin archers compete in regional, state and national competition.

Besides President Goldsmith, officers are Vice President Ray Skinner, Treasurer Dick Bailey and Secretary Jim Wiese who guide the activities of the 100-plus membership.

Small Boats Open The Door For Some Man-Sized Fishing

Small boats frequently open the door to man-sized fishing.

They provide the "entree" to streams too deep for wading, and furnish a convenient way to fish those small lakes frequently neglected by most anglers. These little boats have been pushed into the background by big pleasure craft, but they still play an important role on the fishing scene.

Unless your biceps are big and your back broad, you should limit cartoppers to boats weighing less than 120 pounds. Wood and fiberglass construction seldom meet this weight requirement, so it has been suggested that you confine your small boat choice to sturdy aluminum or a strip-canvas combination.

Canoes are natural cartoppers. Light and extremely portable, they represent one of the finest craft for fishing rivers or small lakes. Aluminum canoes are especially light, won't soak up additional aquatic pounds, and can take a beating. Square-sterned models powered with small outboards make it almost unnecessary to pick up a paddle.

Small skiffs are handy also. They're stable in calm waters, and offer more freedom of movement by boat occupants. But, they can't compare with the canoe for shooting river rapids or busting through whitecaps on a wind-ruffled lake.

Select your car-top boat with an eye toward the type of waters you'll be fishing most often.

Portability is the main feature of a car-top boat. You can load it on a ten-dollar car-top platform, and can take it wherever you can drive a car. With one of these lighweight craft, you can seek out the lonely fishing waters bypassed by less adventurous anglers, and discover a lot of fishing action in the process.

Wonders Of Underwater World Fascinate Marin Skin-Divers

Divers To Display Techniques In Sports Show Pool

By KERENS LAWSON

The Marin Skin Divers Club will give demonstration at the Marin Rod and Gun Sports Show at Bermuda Palms this weekend.

Just what, many will want to know, is a skin diver?

A skin diver is a creature who, like an amphibian, has to be totally submerged in water part of his life in order to exist.

He gets a glazed look in his eyes all during the week except when some poor unsuspecting soul brings up diving, or the ocean, or anything remotely related.

Just give him an excuse. His eyes will light up and he'll buttonhole anyone who will listen to his tales of beneath the sea.

Endlessly and enthusiastically he'll talk of the wonders of his other world, the underwater domain.

He'll tell of swaying jungles of kelp, octopi that do the mambo and monster fish swimming out of huge caves.

Toward the weekend, which is time for another dive, he powders his rubber suit, sharpens his spear points, checks his compressed air tank and lovingly packs his gear.

WATER WIDOWS

Talk about golfing widows! The wives of skin divers are water widows. They know it's hopeless when their husbands get that faraway dreamy look.

Comes the weekend and the skin diver takes off for the ocean as fast as transportation will carry him. He dons a rubber suit for protection against the cold, a pair of fins for speed, a mask to see through and down he goes into the briny to play tag with the fishes.

Just such a group of enthusiasts is the Marin Skin Divers Club.

The club, which is incorporated, began in July, 1954 with eight charter members. It now numbers 20 members.

They come from all walks of life and have one thing in common—they're crazy about diving.

WEEKLY DIVES

The club makes weekly dives, either in the Fort Ross area in Sonoma County or in Carmel.

But the divers don't just follow the fish around with speargunns or pry abalones off the rocks, as many people think.

There are five underwater still cameras and one underwater 16-mm movie camera in the club.

Water safety has become increasingly important in the club's activities in the year since the last sports show.

This was dramatically demonstrated this month with the formation of the Sheriff's Underwater Rescue and Recovery Unit.

At the suggestion of Sheriff Louis Mountanos, a group of the best divers in the club volunteered their services for underwater rescue and recovery work for the Sheriff's Office.

Thus Marin County's first such unit was formed.

RESCUE WORK

The Sheriff's Office now has an arm which can reach into the sea whenever needed for rescue of persons in distress, search for bodies and retrieving criminal evidence.

Club President George Tsegeletos was elected captain of the unit, which has eight charter members.

Besides the captain, they are Bud Arey, Arthur Bradford, Robert Camiccia, Robert Foster, Alfred Giddings Jr., Roger Gist, Dr. Robert Keast and Raymond Pierce.

All are expert swimmers and divers trained in water safety and first aid.

The idea for the unit grew in part out of an incident Dec. 14 at the Kruse Ranch on the Sonoma coast.

An ordinary club dive that Sunday unexpectedly turned into a rescue mission.

DIVER IN TROUBLE

When a group of members arrived at the ranch, they learned that another diver was struggling to keep afloat 50 yards off shore. He had lost all his gear and was unable to swim through the heavy surf to the beach.

His companion had managed to struggle ashore and called for help at the ranch house. Ranch agent L. C. Osborne called the sheriff and a helicopter was ordered.

Three members of the club, Camiccia, Giddings and Pierce, donned their diving gear quickly and swam out to the drowning man, Don Reeves, an employe of Mare Island Shipyard.

They towed him a quarter mile to a safer beach and carried him ashore, where he received treatment for shock and exposure.

MEXICO THRILLS

Some highlights of the club's activities during the past year included a week-long Mexico trip by three members and a weekend Lake Tahoe dive.

In November, when the ocean off northern California began churning up, Tsegeletos and Jim Carty drove to Ensenada, Mexico, for a week of exciting new diving in calm, clear waters.

They had brushes with sharks while spearing sheepshead. A big shark practically nudged Tsegeletos at 60 feet, but buzzed off when Tsegeletos moved toward him.

Carty got violently ill when he feasted on a 12-pound lobster which the boys cooked on the beach.

One day in a small boat the trio spotted the huge, menacing dorsal fins of three killer whales headed toward them. Killer whales have been known to attack small boats and can snap up a sea lion like a salmon does a sardine. The divers changed their course and opened up the engine full speed, and the whales kept going straight.

PICTURE PROOF

The boys brought back pictures to back up their stories,

At Lake Tahoe last June, nine members dived to below 100 feet down a measured line and with safety men stationed at various levels. The crystal clear, safe lake water was perfect for some good underwater pictures and testing of equipment.

Spearfishing contests entered by the club included the Central California AAU championships at Pedro Point, San Mateo County, in June and the

MARCH 15 TO 21

'Conservation In Schools' Theme For Wildlife Week

Leonard Hummel of El Segundo has been named statewide chairman to direct the 1959 National Wildlife Week program. The appointment was announced by the California Wildlife Federation which joins with the National Wildlife Federation in sponsorship of this educational campaign each year.

Walt Disney, widely-known producer of the "True Life Adventure" nature films, again will serve as national honorary chairman of the observance which has been set for the period of March 15-21.

Hummel stated that the theme of the 1959 Wildlife Week, "Conservation in the Schools," is intended to highlight the need for a better understanding of basic natural resource problems. "All of us, including educators and students, must apply the concepts of conservation today if the citizens of tomorrow are to have the natural resource wealth which has made America the most powerful and influential leader among free nations," he declared.

"Man's very existence is dependent upon soil and water which, when combined properly with sunlight and the components of the atmosphere, produce all he eats and drinks and many of the things he uses for clothing and shelter," Hummel said. "Other products come from minerals. These are the basic natural resources which we can either waste or safeguard through the principles of conservation."

GETTING READY—G. Paul Jones, past president, dusts off the MRGC trophy in preparation for its display at the Sports and Boat Show. Latest hunting, fishing, camping and boating equipment will be among hundreds of items on display for visitors to the three-day show.

Snub, Heave, Lazarette??? It's Just Sailor's Lingo

You'll find it useful to understand sailor lingo even if you never set foot in a boat. A knowledge of water-logged talk, after all, does increase enjoyment in a sea yarn some glowering night when more adventurous souls are skidding on a storm-drenched deck.

If you're at sea when it comes to nautical jabber, batten down a while and lend an ear.

It might, for example, seem like peculiar advice if a sailor suddenly declared, "Don't snub the guy or the heel will heave."

It makes a lot more sense when the terms are understood. At sea, to snub means to check a rope suddenly. A guy refers to a steadying rope. The heel is the lower part of the boat's supporting frame. And heave, though it has other connotations, also means the rise and fall of a boat.

Far from the golf links, fore refers to anything forward from the middle of a ship. The galley, of course, is the kitchen, and the lazarette is a low storage space in the stern—the aft or rear part of the vessel.

Not only the meanings of the terms, but the pronunciation also, bespeak steady sea legs. When a sailor, for instance, says "lu-ard" he's referring to leeward, the direction opposite to that from which the wind blows. As for "gun-el," that's gunwale or the upper edge of a boat's side.

Duck Band For Ike

President Eisenhower has joined the ranks of sportsmen who properly report "duck bands." He was told by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service that the mallard he killed in November at Little Cedar Point near Toledo, Ohio, had been banded 41 days earlier at the Willow Slough State Game Preserve in Indiana.

ANOTHER CATCH—Happy angler, fish in net, heads for storage box aboard one of the party-fishing boats that leaves Sausalito daily for salmon fishing excursion. More than 25 party boats operate out of Sausalito.

Banner Season Seen For Salmon Trollers

By LARRY LOVETT

Consensus of the experienced salmon fishermen is that this is going to be a good year.

Already more than 25 party boats operating out of Sausalito to have made a number of good catches and bookings on the popular craft are holding up well.

The two best-known party boat booking points — Caruso's at Gate 5 Road in Marinship and Sausalito Boat and Tackle at the Waldo Point Junction—agree that 1959 should be one of the best salmon seasons in years.

Almost every morning before sunup, the craft with their loads of hopeful anglers can be heard chugging their way from the Sausalito docks toward the Golden Gate Bridge.

The Urbais family, Mr. and Mrs. Al and son Rich, who operate Sausalito Boat and Tackle, are booking space on at least 14 boats this season and are quick to add that, "We can always arrange space on boats from other points in the bay as demands warrant."

Tony Caruso, operating from the Sportfishing Pier at Marinship, books space on some 18 boats, accommodating varying sized parties from six to twelve persons.

He adds that, "One of our services is to get space for the single fisherman as well as for a complete party. Not all points around the bay provide this."

The "regulars" who fish out of Sausalito contend that, "Contrary to popular opinion, our take last year was good. And this year appears to start even better."

The season opened Feb. 14 in stormy weather, but as the water smoothed out, the customary good catches of average sized fish started.

POPULAR EXHIBITOR—A regular hit at the Marin Sports and Boat Show is Ken Kohn of Porky Fly Co., who demonstrates the art of fly-tying. Kohn teaches basic knots, proportions and patterns which enable anyone to become a fly-tyer. He will appear in San Rafael's show this weekend.

New Apartment To Replace Historic Nunes Boat Works

Before the year is out the historic firim of Nunes Brothers may cease to construct boats at the Second and Main street, Sausalito location, which has been the scene of so much creative boat-building.

The Nunes family plans to turn the property, a boat works since 1925, into a glamorous 39 unit, $350,000 apartment development. The waterfront flavor will be retained in a different way, with 50 berths provided for the tenants' boats. And, in line with the progress of the times, 64 parking spaces for cars.

The historic boat business really began in 1898 when two brothers, Manual and Anthony Nunes, began construction of boats on a barge in the Sacramento River. Of the family, only Ernest Nunes, Manuel's son, is still active in the business.

Ernest Nunes worked with his father to develop the 23-foot Bear class boat, the most popular of Bay yachts. The Mercury is another Nunes design. More than 400 of the 18-foot sloops are in use throughout the country. Sleek Hurricanes were designed on the Nunes drafting boards in 1946, and are another flourishing fleet here. The Nunes Jets, 14- and 16-foot outboards, were produced at the Sausalito plant at the rate of 300 per year from 1955 through 1957.

Other yachts, both sail and power, were custom-built to the owners' demands through the years, as well as commercial fishing boats, and World War II construction of tug boats and fire boats for the Maritime Commission.

As the interesting "garden-beach" style apartment takes shape under the direction of Architect Albert R. Seyranian, with William H. McDevitt of San Rafael handling construction, Ernie Nunes contemplates his plans for the future. All Marin boatmen will be glad to know that he expects to remain in the boat business.

CRUSADER ENGINE—This Crusader Marine Engine, distributed by Marine Engine and Electric Co. of San Rafael, will be among the numerous maritime exhibits at the Sports and Boat Show. Looking over the engine are (left to right), Rudy Ramos, of the Rayson-Craft Ski Boat, Gardena; John Sofilos, partner in Unlimited Marine Co.; and Ted Jones of Seattle, designer of the hydroplane Slo-Mo-Shun.

U.S. Third Behind Japan, Russia In Salmon Production

Japan and Russia, in that order, are the first two salmon producing nations in the Pacific, but neither nation takes any California-grown king salmon.

These facts were revealed in a meeting of the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission in Tokyo last year when the USSR presented to the commission its salmon statistics for the years 1956 and 1957. When combined with previously available figures from Japan, the United States and Canada, the Russian figures presented the first comprehensive picture of the total North Pacific salmon fishery.

The figures revealed that Japan had taken a total of 743 million pounds of salmon in the two years. Russia had taken 680.5 million pounds, the USA 589.5 million pounds and Canada 252.5 million pounds. Only the United States and Canada fish for the king salmon, which originate on the U.S. side of the Pacific.

The most abundant salmon in the two years covered by the figures is the Pink.

FISHING
(Listed Alphabetically)

ABALONE — Season March 16 to Jan. 14. Limit: Aggregate of 5 per day; red abalone not less than 7" in diameter, black abalone (seldom taken here) not less than 5". Best areas: Tomales Point (also known as Pierce Point), Pt. Reyes and Abalone Point on the Palmarin Ranch near Bolinas. (Some also taken in Slide Ranch area below Highway 1 near Stinson Beach.) Best months: May, June, July, Nov. and Dec. Best time: Tides ranging from minus .5 to minus 2.0 feet.

BASS (Black)—May 2 to Oct. 31. Limit 5. Fishery: Novato Dam. Note: North Marin Water District permits cost adults 50 cents, children 25 cents per day. Fishing legal at dam only on Fridays, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

BASS (Striped) — Open all year. Present limit: 3 fish, none under 16 inches. Best months: March through September. Best areas: All the way from Golden Gate north to Petaluma. Larger fish (10-30 pounds) at Marin, Brothers and Sisters Islands: smaller fish up to 10 pounds at Marin Rod-Gun Club Pier, Hamilton Field Flats, China Camp. Note: No commercial gear permitted for taking striped bass.

BLUE GILLS — Season and fishery same as Black Bass. No limit. Permit and NMWD regulations same as Black Bass. Note: Black Bass and Blue Gills also found in farm ponds throughout the county. Permission must be obtained from land owner.

CLAMS (Cockles) — Open all year. Limit 50 per day; must measure at least 1½" in diameter. Best areas: Bolinas, Drake's, Tomales Bays. Note: Favorable low tides exist every other week.

CLAMS (Geoduck) — Open all year. No limit. Area: Mouth of Tomales Bay off Dillon's Beach only.

CLAMS (Washington and Big Neck) — Open all year except Bolinas Bay and Tomales Bay south of Sand Point, closed July, August and September.

CRABS—Season Nov. 15 to July 31. No limit, but must measure at least 7". Note: No females can be taken.

EELS (Salt Water) — Open all year. No limit. Best areas: wherever and whenever abalone are taken.

FLOUNDERS — Open all year. No limit of size or number. Best months: February through May. Best areas: All beaches outside Golden Gate or inside bay near San Quentin, China Camp and Hamilton Field Flats.

OCEAN FISH (Cabezone and Lingcod) — Limit 15, but not more than 10 of one specie. Best areas — rocks off Slide Ranch, Pierce Point and Pt. Reyes.

PERCH — Open all year. Limit 25 per day. No size limit. See "Flounders" for ideal months and places.

ROCK FISH—Open all year. Limit 20 per day. No size limit. Best areas: Wherever and whenever abalone are taken, at low and incoming tides.

SALMON (Chinook) — Season: Feb. 14 to Nov. 15. Limit 3 per person, none under 22 inches. Best months for larger fish are July to Nov. Best area: Varies between Monterey north to Bodega Bay and west to Farallone Islands. At all times (starting April 4) when commercial season is closed sports fishermen must stripe their fish on both sides with bright red vegetable dye before they are brought ashore. Sinkers weighing more than four pounds, power-driven gurdies and lines attached to outrigger poles banned north of Pt. Sur, Monterey County. Special Note: HALIBUT limit will be cut from 10 to 2 on April. 4. Open all year; best areas mouth of Tomales Bay and generally in salmon fishing areas.

SALMON (Silver) — Season Nov. 1 to last day of Feb. Best months: November - December. Best area: Inverness area in Tomales Bay. Note: Limit on Silver Salmon, Steelhead or trout is 3 in the aggregate from Nov. 1 to the last day of Feb.

STEELHEAD — Season Nov. 1 to last day of Feb. Best months: Mid-December through February. Best areas: Tide waters of Papermill Creek at Pt. Reyes and Walker Creek at Tomales.

TROUT — Season May 2 to Oct. 31. Limit 10 fish per day. Fisheries: Marin Municipal Water District lakes Phoenix, Bon Tempe, Lagunitas, Alpine and Kent, all streams in county (except Devil's Gulch) and Rodeo Lagoon near Ft. Cronkhite. Note: MMWD permits needed at lakes.

Northern California AAU meet at Van Damme State Park, Mendocino County, in July. Bob Foster placed first in the latter.

The club's annual banquet was held at Hamie's Chuck Wagon in San Rafael. It featured a baked chicken dinner and dancing. Trophies for the year were given.

TROPHY WINNERS

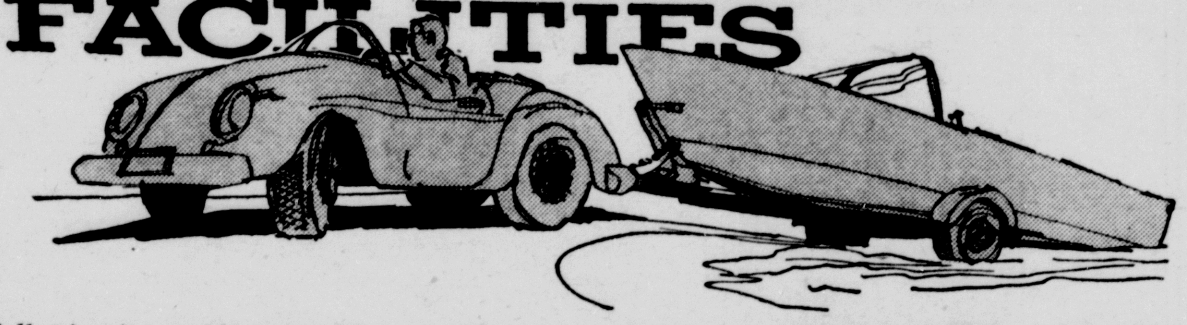
They went to Tsegeletos, Diver of the Year; Giddings, largest fish (a 25-pound halibut) taken using breathing apparatus; Al Hart, largest fish (a 25-pound lingcod) speared without use of breathing apparatus; Bob Foster, best underwater photographs; Giddings, biggest abalone, and Giddings, Foster and Jim Higgins, Central California team.

Another social event also was a huge success—the first annual abalone dinner, held Dec. 20 in Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club hall.

As the new season begins, the Marin Club welcomes anyone interested in diving and new adventure to come to its meetings and to go along on its weekly diving trips. Instruction is provided newcomers.

Meetings are held the first Monday of each month in the Marin Junior Museum, San Rafael, at 8 p.m.

LAUNCHING FACILITIES



Following is a guide to small boat launching facilities in Marin County.

SAUSALITO

Sausalito has a public launching ramp, located on Bridgeway. This is available at no fee. It is now being improved by dredging operations which will maintain the water at a level of 4 feet at the lowest tide, and is being extended so that it will be wide enough to accomodate two cars easily.

The Edgewater Boat Shop, operated by Clyde Killian and Lawrence Zieger has marine ways which can handle boats up to 65 feet. The Edgewater Shop, located at Bridgeway and Turney, uses the ways largely in connection with the work of overhaul and repairs.

Easom Boat Works at the Clipper Yacht Basin boasts a vertical marine lift which can handle craft up to 20 tons. Easom's nautical elevator was built two years ago and was the first vertical lift in northern California. It gently lowers boats into the water, eliminating the strain sometimes caused by other methods of launching, and is used largely for servicing and new construction.

Madden and Lewis operate a "stiff-legged derrick," which uses a sling to lift boats from the water to the nearby deck for servicing.

Sausalito Shipbuilding Co. at the foot of Napa street has several marine ways, used mainly for commercial craft. Much of its work is for affiliate, Associated Dredging Co.

At the Sausalito Sports Fishing pier in the Marinship area is a convenient small boat launching ramp. Deep water makes this facility available even when the tide is low.

TIBURON

Varney's Marine Service gives Tiburon a commercial launching facility. A hoist, carrying loads up to 3,000 pounds, is available at the Main street operation and run in connection with marine gas station. For the average outboard, Varney's fees are 75 cents in the water, and 75 cents out again.

SAN RAFAEL

A free launching ramp is offered at Pete's Pier, adjacent to Commodore Yacht sales on Francisco Blvd. This is relatively new, having been in operation about six months.

The Anchorage Sea Chest at 115 Third street has a crane available. For small boats under 20 feet the fee is 75 cents in and 75 cents out. Fees increase with the capacity of the hoist to a top limit of 2,000 pounds.

Western Boat Shop has an electric hoist which can handle boats up to one ton, and 21 feet long. Curely Cornwall is the proprietor.

SANTA VENETIA

Joe's Boat Launching for small boats.

TOMALES BAY

Tomales Bay Boat Shop, Hal Evans, proprietor, power hoists and marine railways. Hoist charge is $1.50 in and out; railway is 50 cents per foot of vessel.

Vilicich Brothers Boat Works offer a marine railway handling boats up to 65 feet.

Dillon's Beach has launching facilities, but no power hoist. Boats can be rented.

At Manila Marina, Charley Johnson has a boom and sling to lower boats into the water.

Tambahia, Inverness, has a ramp into the water and offers skiffs for rent.

Brazil Ranch offers a beach for launching. No fee for launching, but $1.00 charged for admittance to the property. No power hoist.

The county park at Nick's Cove presently offers a ramp and no fee is charged. The area Mattatoisett Park, is being improved all the time, with work in progress to continue the breakwater and to improve the ramp.

The State Park at Indian Beach offers no boating facilities at the present time.

BOLINAS BAY

Skiffs can be launched along the shoreline. No power hoist.

CHINA CAMP

Small skiffs can be launched. No power hoist.

McNEAR'S BEACH

Skiff launching facilities, and good parking area. Admittance $1 per car, and 25 cents for boat launching.

Urge Unification Of State Boating

The wicked principle of "divide and conquer" could be a very telling weapon against the interests of those who find leisure or livelihood in water pursuits.

California Boating Council, Inc., statewide organization designed to represent the interests of all phases of boating, is striving to reconcile the differences among segments of the boating enthusiasts, and to unify the state's boating interests to promote the best interests of all.

CBC, Inc.'s program calls for membership from every outboard, inboard, speedboat, water-ski, yacht, sail, cruising and waterway improvement organization within the state. It has asked the industry from boat builder to marine dealer to support its membership.

Among the objectives of the council, headed by George E. Michaud, president, is a full program for 1959-60. Trying to straighten out the conflicting maze of local, county and city boating restrictions, taxes, regulations and miscellaneous fees is one objective. As more people trail boats from county to county, the need for uniform regulations on a statewide basis becomes evident.

Lounching facilities, ocean ports of refuge, and inland harbor installation and improvements are a top concern of the council. Education of the new boat owner, new bulletins to state boatmen and good legislation is a part of the program.

The council works through committees with members from various parts of the state, a committee for each phase of the boating industry and from each phase of recreational boating.

MRGC'S PRIDE AND JOY — Several years ago the Marin Rod and Gun Club purchased this pier at Pt. San Quentin which has become known as the world's longest striped bass fishing pier. In recent years the club has added its beautiful clubhouse, barbecue area and small boat launching ramp in the vicinity of the pier to create a compact headquarters for the club activities.

MRGC---33 Years Of Conservation

By GORDON DIXON

Marin Rod and Gun Club is celebrating its 33rd year of service to the sportsmen of California and particularly Marin outdoorsmen and women.

The club was formed as a conservative group and has maintained its objective of being interested in the conservation and propagation of fish and game.

The organization started with a mere membership of 35 men who had true fish and game ethics. At that time some of them could foresee the future regarding a home of their own, a place to fish and work together for the betterment of every sportsmen.

The first clubhouse was at Buckeye Point, west of China Camp. The building and pier were built by the members on weekends.

Some years later the club acquired its present pier at Point San Quentin. When the club bought the wharf it had to be all redecked, railings installed, a new water line put in and a thousand things done to make it usable. It was a great day when the club acquired the pier, but it was a greater feeling of pride when the pier was completed and opened to fishing for its own members. Many of the oldtimers spent many days and hours completing this huge project. The pier is nearly a half mile in length and is the longest striped bass fishing pier in the world.

Today nearly every tideland lot is privately owned and there is practically no place to fish for the average fisherman. MRGC members are fortunate to be the proud owner of the fishing pier and 55 acres of uplands and tidelands where the club is situated.

NEW CLUBHOUSE

Only last year the magnificent clubhouse was finished, and a great deal of the work was done by members. Without reservations it is one of the finest sportsmen's clubhouses in the country.

Thousands of yards of fill were used to build the new parking lot and barbecue grounds. A portion of the area has been paved and rocked and before long the club hopes that this project can be completed.

Picnic tables, barbecue pits and rest rooms have been added to the vast project.

At the present time landscaping tops the agenda and the clubhouse grounds are expected to be a showplace of Marin.

The MRGC is a family group. The membership is limited to men, but their wives and children up to 18 years of age have the privilege of the member.

2,200 MEMBERS

At the present time there are 2,200 members and the club is still growing. For sportsmen interested in joining, secretary Paul Ware Sr., 14 Taylor street, San Rafael, will give all the necessary qualifications.

Yearly dues are only $6. Monthly meetings are held on the third Friday of each month at Pt. San Quentin clubhouse. Sportsmen are invited to attend.

The club has many activities from time to time, including the Sports and Boat Show. During the month of July is the annual barbecue which last year attracted more than 1,000 persons. The annual stag banquet is another highlight of the year, and is well-attended by sportsmen from every section of California.

The MRGC boat launching facilities were put into operation last year and, as time goes on, improvements will be made. A channel was dredged in order to accommodate boats at a minus tide.

The club is interested in good legislation for the sportsmen. It fights for good laws and helps defeat proposed laws that are detrimental to sportsmen.

HELP SPORTSMEN

In the years past the club has been vitally interested in legislation and helped stop the commercial fishing of striped bass in 1937. Only in the last meeting of the legislature commercial salmon fishing nets were taken from the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers. By accomplishing this, better escapement of salmon and striped bass was established. The legislative committee and members have made many trips to Sacramento in past years and the members will still continue to pursue this wide-awake policy.

Pollution and water problems are very vital in California and every effort should be made to correct the many injurious situations that exist.

Marin is fortunate to have a wide-awake and progressive sportsmen's club that is a credit to the community.

Young 'Robin Hoods' To Vie In Archery Tourney Sunday

The young archers of Marin will be given an opportunity to compete in the Junior Archery Tournament held at the Marin Rod and Gun Club Sports Show Sunday at Bermuda Palms.

The Junior Tournament Planning Commission, sponsored by the Northwoods Bowmen's Club in conjunction with the Marin Rod and Gun Club, have planned this event.

To be eligible to enter, the archer must be at the tournament booth between 8 and 9:30 a.m. Sunday. Only youngsters between the ages of 9 and 13 may compete. The entry fee will be 50 cents and each archer must furnish his own equipment.

Barney DeBisschop, chairman of the Sports Show, and Larry Petretti, chairman of the archery tournament, will present 12 trophies and 12 medals to winners and ruuners-up of the tournament. The 1958 Junior Archery Champion, Roger Bare, age 13, will be present to supervise activities.

Presentation of awards will be made at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Northwoods Bowmen's Archery Balloon booth by State Small Game Champion Larry Petretti.

It's Easy To Water Ski

Learning to water ski holds an appeal for young and old that has been recognized by Evinrude Motors of Milwaukee.

The outboard motor manufacturing firm is publishing a new, easy-to-understand booklet on "Water Skiing" that will be made available free to the public through Evinrude dealers around the country.

This colorful booklet is authored by Tom and Janie Dorwin, whose string of water ski titles includes the 1956 national doubles championship. Done in the same adult comic style as Evinrude's popular "Outboard Fishing" introduced last year, this 16-page booklet is also fully illustrated and diagrammed.

"Water Skiing" pictures and describes in detail the ease of learning to water ski. It takes the prospective water skier through the step-by-step procedure for the beginner, into simple ski tricks and slalom skiing. The booklet includes instructions for the boat driver and also a ski selection chart.

No special athletic ability is necessary to learn—anyone is a potential water skier. It is to help the thousands who would like to learn and enjoy this fastest growing water sport that the Evinrude "Water Skiing" booklet is designed.

North Cal Gets Boat Drag Races

Drag races on the water were inaugurated in northern California recently with a record-breaking 98.03 MPH run set by Carl McGinn of Glendale in his "Hot Ice."

Roy Sayles of San Rafael is the president of the V-Drive Boat and Water Skiing Assn., which sponsored the thrilling water contest at Searsville Lake. Outboards and inboards were eligible to participate in the races and test their crafts against the clock. Sayless says the initial races were so successful that the association is considering scheduling others, and hopes that a Marin setting will be used for the marine action.

New F-G Director Rough, Tumble Type

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown may have solved a lot of his Fish and Game headaches with the appointment of William E. Warne as the new Department Director.

Warne will assume his duties April 1 as near to being a complete unknown as is possible these days. Up to this point, no one in capitol circles has anything against him..

In addition, Warne has the reputation as a strong administrator. He has been with U.S. foreign aid in Korea of late and was contacted in Seoul by this writer—the first Californian to talk to him after his appointment.

Warne said at the time he expected to get the job done. While he said he had no intention of emasculating the present department, he has the reputation of being a rough and tumble type administrator. This possibly could be just what the doctor ordered for the present Department.

A CONSERVATIONIST

Warne said he has a background and knowledge of Fish and Game matters and philosophies and considers himself a conservationist. However, because he has been in other types of work for most of the 23 years in his federal career, this background may be one of his weaker points.

This, of course, makes the decision of appointing his deputy director a difficult one. For the deputy will have to have strong fish and wildlife background and know-how.

Whether the deputy is appointed by Brown or Warne is not important. It's a cinch that both will have to agree upon him.

In some other departments, Brown has appointed a new director, but kept on the right-hand man. This was to please those who wanted a status quo in the departmental operations but also to please those who were clamoring for new faces.

COMPLETE CHANGE?

It's doubtful if such will be the case in the Fish and Game Department. Brown has indicated he felt the administration of Seth Gordon had become controversial and can be expected at least tc give the impression of making a complete change.

It's usually more interesting to criticize policies and programs than to consider some of the mechanical problems of a department like Fish and Game. Yet the poor organization of the department was one of the major points in the recent $100,000 investigation of the Department and Commission performed by Booz, Allen and Hamilton.

The report noted the present deputy director carries too much of an administrative load, with too many persons reporting either to him or the director. Further on down the line of authority, it found an overabundance of supervisory type personnel, with a "too many chiefs and too few Indians" set-up in the lower ranks.

CREATE NEW JOBS

The report recommended creation of some new high-level jobs in the department which might prove part of the answer. It's doubtful if this can be accomplished during this session of the legislature. The new director, who would be expected to make some recommendations along this line, hardly will have his feet on the ground by May 15, the deadline for introduction of new bills.

Perhaps this would be a good subject for interim study—with an eye toward creation of four or five high-level posts which are exempt from civil service. Most of present department philosophies are formulated by persons with civil service status and thus almost impossible to remove and inclined to answer to no one.

It has been said that the "teddy bear" was modeled after a grizzly bear cub shown in a cartoon with Theodore Roosevelt in 1902 and named for that famous conservationist.

Color Movie To Illustrate Bay Area Pollution Problem

Marin fishermen, boaters, and other recreation seekers will get a chance to actually see just what pollution is doing to California's waters when they attend this weekend's Marin Boat and Sports Show.

They'll be taken, via color movie, on a "back-alley" aerial harbor tour over hidden pollution sore spots around San Francisco Bay. And they'll see shots of the East Bay's 1957 striped bass kill of beaches closed by contamination, and of ocean bottom made barren by offshore sewage discharges.

The 20-minute film, a new production of the California Department of Fish and Game, will be shown at the Marin Rod and Gun Club booth on a regular three-hour schedule throughout the show.

The film stresses the need for continued protection of the many California lakes and streams that still have good clean water. It shows how and why pollution effects fish and fish foods and makes areas unsuitable for recreation and other uses. It shows what is now being done to correct pollution conditions, and points out the big job that still needs to be done if California is to have the clean waters needed for continued recreational development.

Title of the film is "Water—Let's Keep It Clean."

Best Fishermen Use Outboards To Find Their Fish

Ask a fisherman with a reputation for bringing home well loaded stringers for his recipe for success, and he'll likely start off by telling you that fishing success is usually dependent on finding them first.

As he warms to his subject, he'll probably add that he considers his outboard motor the best lure he owns. With it he discovers where our finny friends are living and feeding, and he spends his time concentrating on those areas to the exclusion of empty water.

Fish, both fresh and salt water, move around a lot. Season of the year has a definite effect, so does the movement of bait schools they feed upon. Water temperature and levels, and tides, are very important considerations.

Fewer Boating Mishaps

Despite the tremendous increase in pleasure boat traffic, boating accidents are actually on the wane.

A large portion of the credit for the safety record goes to the U.S. Power Squadron and the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

Salmon Return In Quantity

Nimbus Hatchery through December had handled a seasonal total of more than 10,000 adult king salmon, not counting a large number of fish which escaped through the racks across the river. Marked salmon released as yearlings from the 1955 brood year have returned to the American River in good numbers this season.

The hatchery salmon egg production now totals nearly 13½ million for the season, the most since Nimbus began operations in October, 1955. In 1957 only 847,000 king salmon eggs were taken.

Snow geese, the most abundant kind of wild geese in North America, usually keep to themselves and seldom mix freely with other geese, except their close relative, the blue goose, and the rare Ross's goose.

The leopard frog is widely used in studies of comparative anatomy. In addition, it also provides frog-leg dinners.

Safe Hunter Course In San Rafael

Marin County Sheriff's Junior Rifle Club will begin a new course in hunter safety for Marin County youngsters beginning Saturday, it was announced today.

To be held three consecutive Saturdays from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. at the San Rafael Police Pistol Range in San Rafael, the course will stress safe handling of firearms in the field and at home.

At recent ceremonies concluding the last hunter safety course, certificates were presented to Bob Silva, Piet Halberstedt, Larry Wright, Bill Hall, Matt, Mark and Mike Lentz, John Tucker, Bob Bradley, Richard Mason, Bob Olson, Jack Furchelk, Ed Nelson, David Bowman and Mike Helmer.

SAFE BOATING

By HARRY HEIFETZ, Commander
U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, Flotilla 14

(Editor's Note: Commander Heifitz's "Safe Boating" column appears regularly in the Independent-Journal. Here he conducts a question and answer period for readers of this special section.)

QUESTIONS, ANSWERS

Q. We are going to buy a boat this summer. What can I do to prepare myself?

A (1) Get a set of charts of local waters and study them. (2) Take a course with Coast Guard Auxiliary or Power Squadron and learn rules of the road and safety measures. (3) Save up some money.

Q. Being commander of the local flotilla, you ought to know all about fishing. So how about telling us the best places for fish.

A. Glad to. My favorites: Sabella's and Sam's.

Q. I fish a lot and often set anchors fore and aft. When it's time to leave I have a struggle getting both my anchors up because I am alone. Isn't there some simple way to handle two anchors? One at a time is a breeze, but two is a big problem.

A. Take the bitter end of your aft anchor rope and fasten to ring buoy. Now throw the buoy overboard. Don't worry, it's not going anywhere. Now take in your main anchor. Now just amble over to the ring buoy, pick it up with the boat hook and haul it in!

Q. I studied the Rules of the Road and I know my rights! I went out in San Pablo Bay in my 21-foot express cruiser and a big freighter wouldn't give me the right-of-way! I had a good notion to demand my rights, but at the moment I gave in and veered off so as to avoid a collision. Am I mad! Where do I report a violation like this?

A. Sure you know your rights. But take my advice and don't tangle with those big boats. The best you can do is lose. It's much easier to turn your little boat than to change a freighter's course, so do that and enjoy yourself.

Q. Can you tell me why I keep getting barnacles on my bottom and several other boats in my harbor very seldom do? We use the same bottom paint too.

A. You have my sympathy. Barnacles on your bottom must be very annoying. But in answer to your question, I would guess that your friends probably go up river often. You see, salt water barnacles hate fresh water and fall off when they are in it. But if the boat remains long enough in fresh water, it will get fresh water barnacles and they fall off in salt water. So if you want your bottom fairly clean, make regular and frequent pilgrimages to the river.

Q. Where can I get rules on what flags to fly and when. Also, what flag may I fly at my stern?

A. I am sending you a pamphlet on flag usage. As to your stern, you may fly any flag you like so long as it is either a yacht or national ensign, or a U.S. Power Squadron ensign if you are a Squadron member.

Q. Assuming that I can afford to buy any boat that I want, what boat would you advise me to buy for all around general use?

A. The Lurline. Not too big; not too small.

Q. There is a great deal of talk lately about catamarans and their real worth. I would like to know the truth about their stability, comforts etc.

A. I would too. If I get the word, I will pass it on to you. Just off hand, I'd say they are here to stay.

Q. Where do I apply to get a license so that I can run a boat which we hope to buy soon?

A. As things are now, you don't need a license. In fact, you don't even have to have any brains. But if you do have some sense, you will learn a little about it, either through your boat dealer, Coast Guard Auxiliary or Power Squadron before you venture out.

Q. I hear all sorts of arguments pro and con about the merits of single screw as against twin screws. What's your opinion?

A. I don't think there is room for argument here. Anyone should agree that two screws is better than one! Better maneuverability, greater safety factor, etc., etc. Cost more, of course, but two of anything cost more than one, the good things in life, that is.

Q. We are thinking about getting a little cruiser, but my wife says we are better off putting the money into good stocks and bonds. I say a boat will give us more pleasure. Who is right?

A. You bet!

Q. I own a power boat and am in an area just full of sail boats. It sometimes is very exasperating getting through and around them. I know they have the right-of-way! But doesn't a power boat have ANY rights among them?

A. As of this writing any boat under sail has right-of-way under all conditions. (Except when he is using his motor or is overtaking you. If he does that, boy, you got him, because sail or no sail, he becomes subject to the same rules as any motor boat.) P.S. They don't like us power boats either!

Q. Can a local policeman or a deputy sheriff board my boat to look it over any time he wants? I claim he can't, even though I might be drunk as a skunk.

A. Well now! A boat is in the same category as your home. No officer can board it without a warrant. But he can radio the Coast Guard and then you're in trouble, buddy. The Coast Guard doesn't need a warrant. They can not only board you, but ground you as well, if you appear to be a menace.

Q. If I join the Coast Guard Auxiliary, can I be called to active duty at any time?

A. No, not ever, unless in an emergency you are given the portunity to serve locally and agree to do so under orders.

Q. How can I join the Coast Guard Auxiliary? Must I own a boat?

A. Your application is in the mail. As to the second part of your question: No, you don't necessarily have to have a boat to join our flotilla, but it's very handy to have, especially if you want to go out on the water.

U. S. Power Squadron Courses Stress Safe Boat Handling

By KEN MOLINO

Novice boatmen and salty sailors as well have come to rely upon U. S. Power Squadrons throughout the country for training in safe boat handling.

Recently a group of Marin enthusiasts gathered to apply for a charter for the Marin Power Squadron.

Previously, piloting courses had been held at College of Marin under the auspices of the San Francisco squadron. However, attendance and interest grew to such proportions in the county that a local organization became necessary.

The squadrons are dedicated to education of water sportsmen to make boating one of the safest forms of recreation.

Prospective members are required to take the basic Piloting course, which covers equipment, anchoring, maintenance, and elementary navigation. Upon successful completion of the course students are eligible for membership in the squadron which carries with it the privilege of enrolling in advanced courses such as navigation, seamanship, engine maintenance, sail and weather.

ACTIVE SCHEDULE

The Marin Squadron is expected to be one of the most active in the Bay Area. Last season a group of senior squadron members tried a floating classroom junket to Drake's Bay where they anchored overnight. Students on the trip got practical experience in navigation by dead reckoning, radio fixes and with advanced navigational aids. They learned boat handling in open waters, anchoring in unfamiliar territory, radio procedure, and many other useful skills difficult to grasp under classroom situations alone.

More such practical experiences are planned when the new squadron is officially chartered.

Currently a piloting class is being completed at College of Marin and plans are being made for subsequent courses. As usual, they will be open to anyone interested in boating, whether he captains his own craft or not, and will be announced in the Independent-Journal.

Tough Job Trying To Convince Uncle Mike Marin Fishing Is Tops

CONNOLLY

My Uncle Mike seemed irritated, upset and bored. And he got that way because I asked him if he had ever done any fishing in Marin County.

"Fishing anytime, anyplace, is no good," said Uncle Mike.

At that crack my summer tan turned to a winter singe.

"What is the matter with you?" I inquired. "Don't you know Marin County has the finest Rod and Gun Club of any county its size in these United States?"

I told him more than 2,000 citizens were members and most of 'em dyed in the wool nimrods. I pointed out that a conservative guess would be that 40 per cent of the "natives" fished or hunted, all during the year.

And I went on to tell him that Mr. Jack Craemer, my managing editor, had asked me to take Uncle Mike on a fishing trip.

"Tell your managing editor fishing is too severe on my nerves. When I used to fish there was always a flock of spectators near me on the waterfront and they used to keep yelling, 'tough luck, he got away again,' or 'pull harder.'"

UPSET NERVES

"I tell you," explained Uncle Mike, "that it upset my nerves so much that for awhile I thought I had locomotor ataxia or the shivers or the shakes. I got so shaky I began whistling at grade crossings."

I tried to explain that most fishing today is done from a boat and that there is a certain way to jiggle the line when you get a bite so that the hook fastens tighter to the jaw of the fish and it can never get loose.

"I never seemed able to jiggle just right," Uncle Mike said, "and I always went fishing at the wrong time. Either the water was too low or the fish weren't biting or the lake wasn't stocked properly. Once I spent a whole month and didn't get enough trout to cover a single cracker.

"I'll never forget the time I heard the Fish and Game Commission became careless and overstocked one of my pet lakes with trout.

"You always hear rumors like that, but they seldom turn out to have any truthful foundation.

BUM STEER

"Once I had a tip on a certain favorite lake and when we drove miles to get to it, we saw a couple of field mice wading in the middle of the stream."

Try as I did to console Uncle Mike he wouldn't pay any heed when I told him Marin County, in general, was a great fishing spot.

I explained that I had a long chat with Roy Irwin of the Western Sport Shop in San Rafael and that Roy really knew his fish and their locations. I insisted he join me just this one time. But Uncle Mike was looking out the window.

For instance I told him Irwin said that San Pablo Bay provides some of the best year 'round fishing in Marin County, and that includes striped bass from mid-February until late fall; good flounder and perch fishing after the first fall rains until early spring; also sturgeon can be caught from January through April.

"Gee whiz," Uncle Mike says, "where have you been hiding this Irwin fellow."

TROUT FISHING

So I had Uncle Mike listening and I explained that the Marin Municipal Water District Lakes — Lagunitas, Phoenix, Bon Tempe, Alpine and Peters —provide excellent trout fishing throughout the season. And some of these lakes happen to be well stocked by the California Fish and Game Commission.

Paper Mill Creek provides some good trout fishing and also during the winter months produces steelhead between Point Reyes Bridge and Tomales Bay.

In fact, according to Mr. Irwin, all of Marin County coastal shoreline produces excellent rock fish, abalone and clams. Off-shore waters give up some of the best salmon fishing on the West Coast.

UNCLE IN TROUBLE

Just to keep Uncle Mike from dozing off I mentioned Novato's water district reservoir, Stafford Dam, located two miles west of Novato where you'll always discover good black bass and bluegills.

"Yeah," Uncle Mike remarked, "come to think of it that is the place me and a cop tangled. I stopped to ask him for instructions and he helped me empty a quart bottle. Then we started arguing over profiteering. I didn't agree with the cop and when he got real sassy with me I hit him over the head with the empty bottle.

"And that is when the paddy wagon took me off to the county poke for the evening."

So I suppose Editor Craemer will never again ask me to supply him with a yarn on fishing.

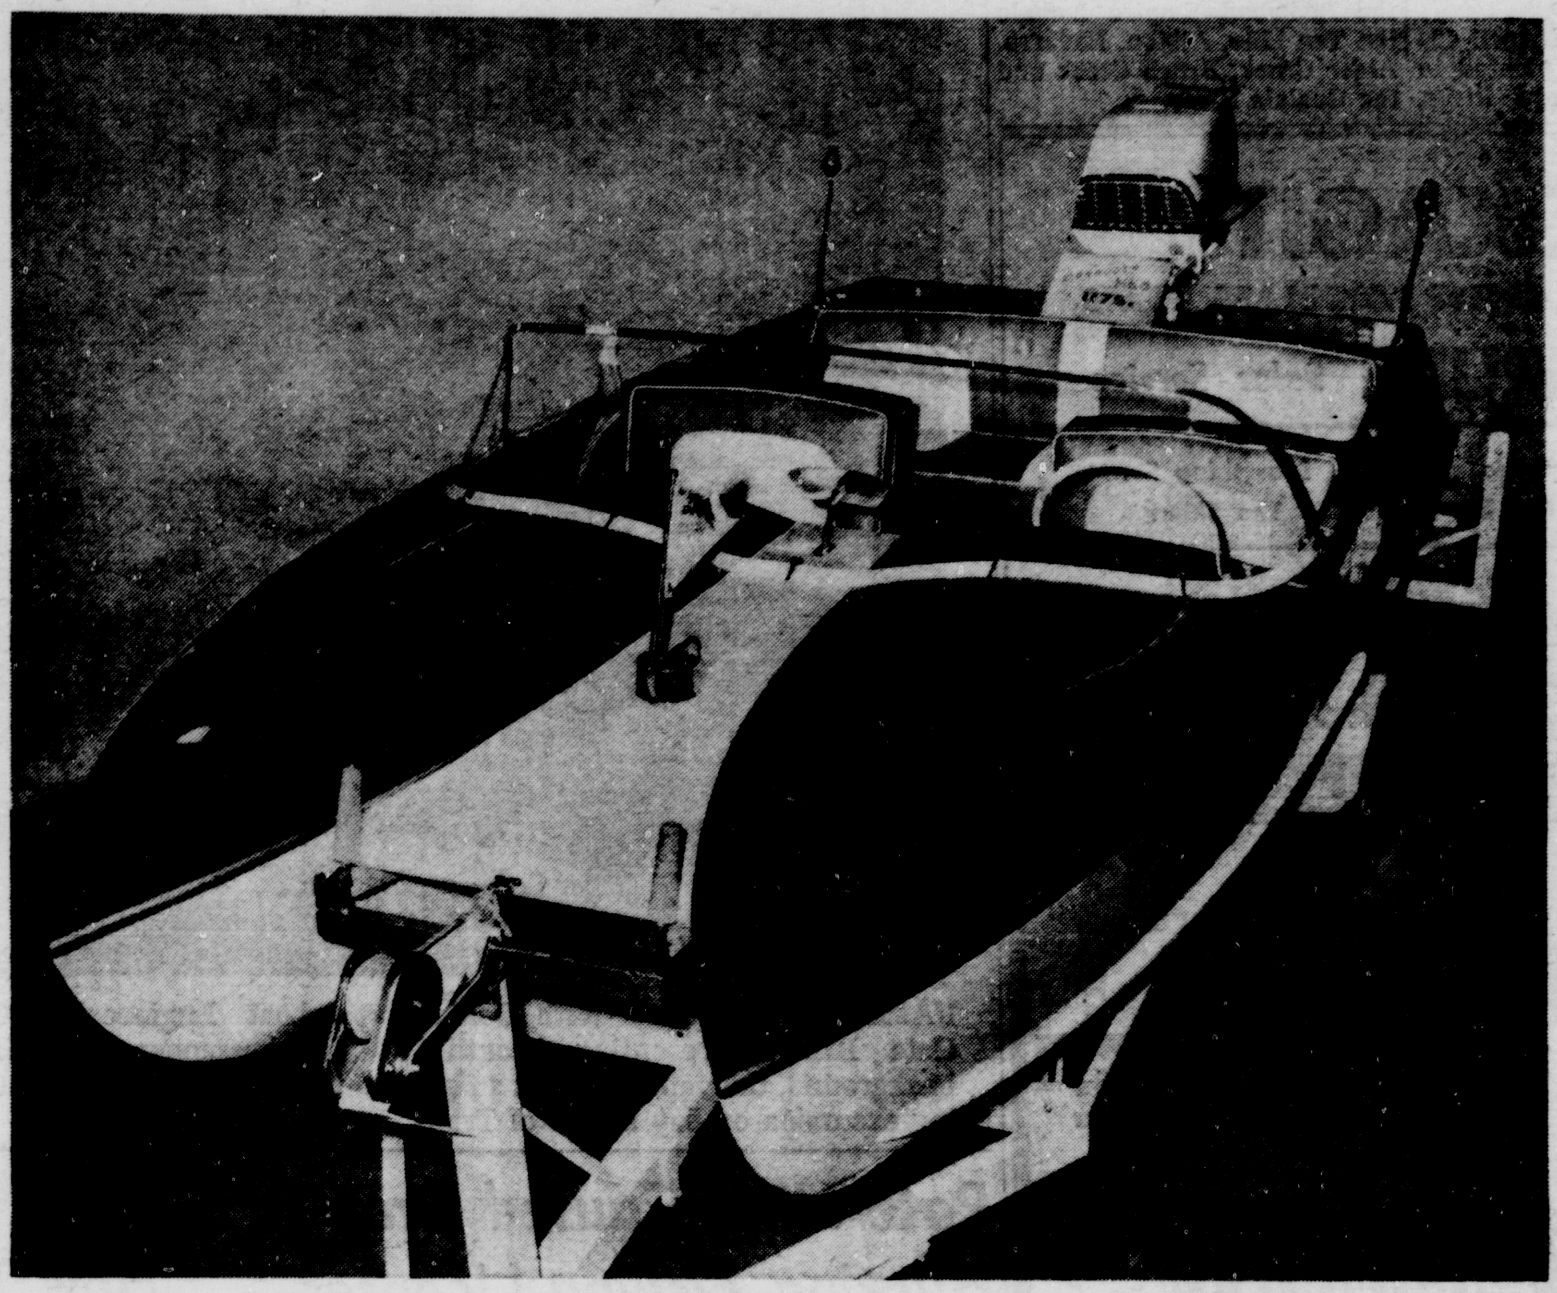
Marinites Helped Pass Prop. 4 In November Election

The passage of Proposition 4 on the November ballot established a state fund of $60 million for development of small craft harbors and boating facilities.

Marin supporters of the measure included Harry Jacobs, Ronald A. Beeker, Bud Lowrie, Herman Cohn, Fred Crocker, Bert Gustafson, Rufus Rhodes, Phil Wallace, Gordon Kelley, Robert Barteau, Frederick Coleman, Daniel Naughton, David Plant, Marjorie and Brookner Brady, Jeanne Butcher, Ernest Box, Don Carlberg and Myron Mohlman.

"The Safest Family Boat Yet on any Water"

MARAUDER CATAMARAN* has more built-in features than any other boat in its price range!



Advanced Design . . . High Performance . . . Maximum Safety

Now! . . . thrill to "sports car" performance and handling . . . with maximum safety which the twin-hulled MARAUDER offers. Here is a FUN boat . . . a SAFE boat—ideal for fishing, skiing, hunting, cruising or just plain pleasure! It's a thrilling boat capable of high speeds and tight turns with full stability . . . it's a boat that gives you that comforting extra assurance of safety when the family is aboard. One ride in a MARAUDER Catamaran will convince you that this is the most outstanding boat you have ever seen! See it at the Sport and Boat Show this weekend in San Rafael. 14', 16' and cruiser models available starting at $795.

BETWEEN-HULL TUNNEL IS KEY TO MARAUDER'S HIGH

The tunnel formed by the twin hulls is 100% functional, is the key to the MARAUDER'S unparalleled performance. Air trapped in tunnel becomes a cushion — affords a smooth, stable ride even in rougher water . . . causes spray to be deflected into tunnel instead of over bow providing a bone-dry ride . . . raises the MARAUDER quickly and smoothly in a controlled altitude to a plane where least possible amount of bottom area is in contact with the water. The negative angle of the tunnel and bow decks are such that control of air lift in the tunnel is exercised even at what normally would be considered excessive speed. At these speeds, the MARAUDER does not have the tendency, common with most other boats, to kite or skate, but instead rides dead level with exceptional comfort and safety. Smooth, tight turns are possible because of the function of the MARAUDER'S four no-trip chines — two more than possible on conventional hulls — gives you twice the bearing surface.

SENSATIONAL PERFORMANCE WITH SINGLE MOTOR • Exceptionally wide beam (6 ft.-3 in.) • Transoms locked in steel • Color impregnated fibreglas exteriors • Double thickness of fibreglas on bottoms • All fastenings silicone bronze or brass • Mahc gany interior with resin base Perma Finish • Manufactured in Marin.

State To Plant Silver Salmon Fingerlings Soon

Within the next month and a half seven Redwood Empire streams will be stocked with a total of 280,000 fingerling silver salmon, a move by the Department of Fish and Game to establish annual runs in these rivers.

During March and April 40,000 silvers will be planted in Pudding Creek, Noyo River, Garcia River and Big River, all in Mendocino County; the Smith and Mad rivers in Del Norte and Humboldt counties, respectively, and the south fork of the Eel River which flows in both Mendocino and Humboldt counties.

If the plantings for three successive years in these streams are a success, other rivers in California will also be planted with silvers. Those in the Redwood Empire include the Ten Mile, Albion, Navarro, Alder Creek, Brush Creek and the Gualala River.

Rate Hike Caused Drop In Hunting, Fishing Licenses

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A combination of hard times and resistance to the increase in fees resulted in a drop-off in nearly every category of hunting and fishing licenses and tags during 1958.

Sport fishing licenses fell off 64,327, hunting licenses dropped 37,462, while deer tags and pheasant tags sales decreased 33,941 and 6,159, respectively.

As a result the $1 increase in hunting licenses, deer and pheasant tags, plus the sale of 1,787,437 stamps for fishing licenses, resulted in increased revenue of only $2,302,922. At the time the license increase legislation was adopted, it had been estimated the annual increase would be about $3.2 million.

FISCAL PROBLEMS

The 1957 legislation contains other fiscal problems for the Department of Fish and Game, but no one is quite sure how this will be resolved. The legislation provided that 50 per cent of the new money would be "frozen" into the Fish and Game Preservation Fund, not to be spent without further legislative expression.

Thus, only $1,150,461 of the increased license and tag fees would be available for expenditure from the past year. The 1957 legislation also included in the budget an item of $350,000 to reimburse commercial fishermen whose equipment was idled by the anti-net bill. Plus that, the new budget recommendation calls for appropriation of the $750,000 for wildlife conservation projects from the license money, rather than from horse race taxes.

If both of these appropriations must come from the "free" portion of the new license money, only $50,461 would be left over for the new and expanded programs promised the sportsmen in return for the license boosts.

Of course, the Legislature will have the opportunity to change the formula this year to make more of the money available for expenditure.

El Toro Skippers Facing A Problem

Popular pine-sized El Toro sailboat skippers are facing a problem related to the future of their class. A questionnaire to hundreds of El Toro owners puts the question: "Should molded plastic hulls be accepted as official El Toro class boats?"

The Shovel, official class Bulletin, makes no plea for accepting molded hulls as regulation, leaving the standard wooden hull optional with class members. Standardization of the 8-foot hull could became a very easy matter with the El Toro Assn. mold insuring identical hulls throughout the class.

The El Toro is often used as a training boat for youngsters learning to sail. Now an international class, the boats were originated in Richmond.

New Outboard Oil

A new outboard motor oil has been produced by Bray-Go. A specially compounded outboard fuel whose performance will not be affected regardless of the gasoline with which it is mixed.

Some Tips On How To Sneak Up On Fish

Ever stop to consider how a fish looks at things—what he sees, how he sees it, and when? If you will, your feelings won't be hurt when you drag a proven lure across the nose of a lunker without making him do more than blink.

Here are some facts that could improve your fishing.

Fish see outside their environs through a round "window" immediately overhead. The width of this aperture is limited by the inability of light to penetrate water at certain angles.

The same thing occurs above the surface. We can watch fish directly under us, but not when they lie some distance away. Beyond that ,the surface acts as a mirror.

To further confound the fish's view, objects on land or in the air are strangely bent into a circular panorama. This phenomenon, coupled with the magnifying quality of water, presents a peculiar picture. Ruffle the surface a little, and the fish sees man as a wobbling, dancing creature of fantastic proportions—a fearsome monster which commands more attention than the most alluring plug or bait.

Keep your boat some distance from a likely looking spot. Ask about local currents that determine the direction fish lie. Approach from behind and with caution.

The next time your old favorites seem to be getting the bum's rush, consider the situation from the fish's angle. Maybe you're more interesting than your lures.

Hi Sportsmen!

Do You Know That 29* Out of Every 100 New Automobiles Sold In Marin Are Imported Automobiles!

Here Are Some of the Reasons Why:

Imported Autos are easy to drive, to park, to maneuver. They're ECONOMICAL to drive and maintain . . . and most of all, they're FUN to drive. When you buy a new Imported Auto from one of San Rafael's dealers on Imported Auto Row, you are sure of getting the best deal in Northern California. Most important, you get friendly and courteous treatment from your neighbors who want you to be satisfied so that you'll come back and buy another Imported Auto when you're ready. Drive down this weekend, while The Sport & Boat Show is in progress and have us appraise your old car while you test-drive a new Imported Auto. We'll make a deal this weekend. You'll be glad you did . . . FOR YEARS TO COME.

IMPORTED AUTO ROW wishes to extend best wishes to the Marin Rod & Gun Club for another successful Sport and Boat Show. We cordially invite everyone who plans to attend the show to pay us a visit this weekend.

From Litterbug To Beautybug

No wonder folks disliked me,
I was such an awful chump.
I used to treat the highway,
Like a part of the public dump.
But one day I discovered
Dumping trash along the way
Is like throwing money out the window
Every single day.
Today I am a Beautybug
With a trash bag close at hand,
I'm keeping America beautiful
And I'm loved throughout the land.

Merconomizer New Feature Gets Better Fuel Mileage

Fuel mileage is as important for boatmen as for car drivers. The Merconomizer, a feature that Mercury outboards have included in five of their 1959 models yield up to 60 per cent greater fuel mileage from the four and six cylinder Mercurys when they are throttled back to moderate cruising speeds than the '58 models.

Automotive-type fixed-jet carburetors, a Mercury exclusive, are standard in their Mark 58A, 28A and 78A, will assure a correct pre-determined fuel-air mixture for intermediate, cruising and full load operations as well as eliminate the need for adjustable high-speed needle valves.

These three models will also feature dyna-shock absorbers as optional equipment. The shock absorbers are designed to restrain the kick-up and rebound resulting from impact of the lower unit with sunken log, rock or obstacle. A safety-tilt is synchronized to shut off the ignition and slow down the propeller to prevent a violent thrust surge which would otherwise occur with the propeller biting into the water at up to twice the normal engine speed.

In the fishing class, Mercury offers four engines of 6, 10, 15 and 22 horsepower. The Mark 15A incorporates underwater exhaust, glide-angle design and automatic transmission with single lever control of forward, neutral, reverse and throttle as well as a one-mile-an-hour trolling speed and one hand control for the angler.

DO YOU REALIZE — That California Sportsmen spend annually for their Fishing and Hunting nearly TWICE the sales of all the Household Appliance, Radio and T-V Stores in the state?

Fully-Equipped Boats For Rent In Marin County

The San Francisco Cruising Club offers its members a unique service. Designed for the busy executive, the club provides members with his favorite form of nautical yachting, cruising, fishing or entertaining while at anchor by renting fully equipped boats at a moderate rate at San Francisco, San Rafael, Sausalito and Belvedere docks.

The use of the available craft is not restricted to members only. You can now charter a speedboat, cruiser or yacht and in forty-five minutes be waterborne.

Operating instructions are provided for those needing them.

Rats are one of the barn owl's favorite food items. The owls are seldom seen because they hunt at night.

WATER SKIING IS EASY—That's what President Ralph Devlin is telling young Marcy Wineman as he demonstrates a "dry run" for members of the Marin Division, Golden Gate Water Ski Club. The Marin Division of the Pacific Coast's oldest water ski club was organized last month. See story below.

Don't Forget To Get Insurance For Your Boat

In the rush to equip your boat and find a mooring for it don't overlook insurance. A number of local firms will write a policy to cover outboard motors. Allstate Insurance Company has a boatowners' policy that covers the boat, outboard motor, trailer and accessories, such as oars, anchors, fuel tanks, life preservers, cushions and such boating equipment against direct physical loss or damage from fire, theft, sinking, collision, capsizing, explosion, wind, hail, lightning and vandalism.

The policy will also protect you against loss from a boating accident liability lawsuit.

Premium rates for the policy are based on whether the boat is old or new, the per $100 of value and whether the boat has a horsepower of under or over 20. Policies have a $25 and $50 deductible clause. The rate on a $25 deductible policy for a new boat under 20 horsepower would be $3.20 per $100 of value; over 20 horsepower the rate would be $4.10 per $100 of value. The rate on a $50 deductible policy for a new boat under 20 horsepower is $2 per $100 of value; for a new boat over 20 horsepower is $2.70 per $100 of value.

Marin Organizes Division Of Pacific Water Ski Club

First meeting of the Marin Division of the oldest water ski club on the Pacific Coast was held Wednesday evening, Feb. 25. This marked an important date in the expansion and growth of the Golden Gate Water Ski Club.

Several months ago the Marin County members of this widely known Bay Area ski club decided to divisionalize.

It was mainly through the efforts of the 1958 parent club president and secretary, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Devlin of Fairfax, and the staunch support of the Marin members that the Division became a reality for 1959.

The policies and aims of the Golden Gate Water Ski Club have always been to bring persons together interested in water skiing. The presentation of water ski shows and active competition within the club develops a well-skilled skiier who can compete in meets with the other clubs in the west as well as on a national level.

JULY 4 PROGRAM

On schedule for July 4 this year will be the largest show yet. It will be held on Lake Merritt in Oakland and some attractions will include ski-ballet, girls, clown acts, pyramids, jumping events and barefoot and kite skiiers.

The charter families of the Marin Division include Messrs. and Mesdames Robert Wineman, Fred Casella, Bob Miller, Norman O'Keefe, Dick VanWie, Ben Cessna, Richard Meagor and Ralph Devlin.

The main project on hand for the Division is to establish a skiing headquarters for the club within reasonable distance of Marin County. This would give the club a permanent location for a jumping ramp and slalom course so necessary for competition practice.

TWO BIG DATES

Two important dates set by the Division at its February meeting were the first inaugural dinner dance to be held at Trader Horn, San Rafael, Saturday night, April 11. On April 12, an organized Marin boat inspection day will be held. Chairman, Mr. Bob Miller, has arranged for the Coast Guard inspectors to be on hand so that all divisional boats will be examined before the coming skiing season opens.

For anyone interested in obtaining information about this forward-moving Water Ski Division, president Ralph Devlin at 431 Cascade drive, Fairfax, will be happy to answer all inquiries.

Lake Merced Club Wins Nimitz Cup

To encourage youth in yachting, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz has offered a special trophy to be awarded to the Pacific Inter-Club member club judged to have done the most to promote good practices on the water on the part of children. The first name to go on the Admiral's Trophy is that of Lake Merced Yacht Club, which received the award for its excellent sailing classes and the racing performance of the club's young sailors in small sailboats.

California Third In Outboard Use

California with 357,000 outboard motors in use during 1958 ranked third among the States behind New York and Michigan.

San Francisco was seventh among the cities with an estimated 74,000 kickers in use.

Outboarding is increasing at such a rate along the Pacific coast that the OBC expects California to move into second place by 1960.

New Yachting Facilities Popping Up In Marin; More Are On The Way

Construction was begun last December on the Sausalito Yacht Club's $20,000 clubhouse development with club members driving piles to support the deck at the site of the old ferry slip.

A certain amount of volunteer labor on the part of the membership will be used to bring this long-held dream to reality. The original design of architect Ted Boutmey won a national architectural prize a year ago, but bids exceeded the club's budget, so this design was scaled down. With membership support, the Sausalitans hope to see considerable progress on the club house this spring.

Fred Crawford, commodore, and John Sweeney, building committee chairman, are spearheading the effort.

Though nearly homeless, the Sausalito sailors are by no means orphans when it comes to proficiency in the sport of sailing.

John Ford and his crew retained possession of the historic San Francisco Bay Challenge Cup in a match race against a Corinthian Y.C. crew this summer. A brand new Small Yacht Racing Assn. Challenge Trophy also came into possession of the Sausalito sailing men, when skipper Jim Enzenperger brought the Mercury "Frenzy" in ahead of a Corinthian Y.C. crew.

STILL IN the planning stage is the 56-berth harbor which Corinthian Y.C. hopes to add to its facilities. An estimated $100,000 project, the design calls for a 500-foot breakwater off the point of the clubhouse, with a bend to the east side of the club's property. One row of berths would be against the breakwater, and one row on a floating pier. A turning basin is reserved in the plans. Ronnie Buist of Tiburon is the newly-elected commodore of Corinthian, with Robert Evans of Belvedere chairman of the building committee.

TOMALES BAY Sailing Club members have combined forces to construct a movable float 20 by 30 foot, which they use to assist in launching of small boats for sailing races and to accomodate their race committees. Since the float is mobile, it can be towed to any part of Tomales Bay to give the skippers a variety of courses. Members have been meeting the first weekend of each month to help build the float, and make other improvements at the club property at Marshall. Marvin Franke is commodore.

SAN FRANCISCO Y.C.'s 136-berth, $302,000 harbor development at Belvedere Cove has attracted both local and national acclaim. Financed entirely by the club membership, the harbor was completed in November, 1957. The Harbor Development Committee was headed by past commodores Raymund J. Millzner and Leonard G. James, and included A. Donham Owen, Leonard von Schultheis and the present Commodore, Paul De Silva.

Bay Area Yacht Won Bermuda Race

Bay Area boatmen braved the Atlantic Ocean in last summer's Newport to Bermuda race, and covered themselves with glory. Jack Hedden's Good News, manned by San Franciscans, was the first to cross the finish line in the 650-mile race. It was the first time a boat from San Francisco Bay had made the classic ocean race.

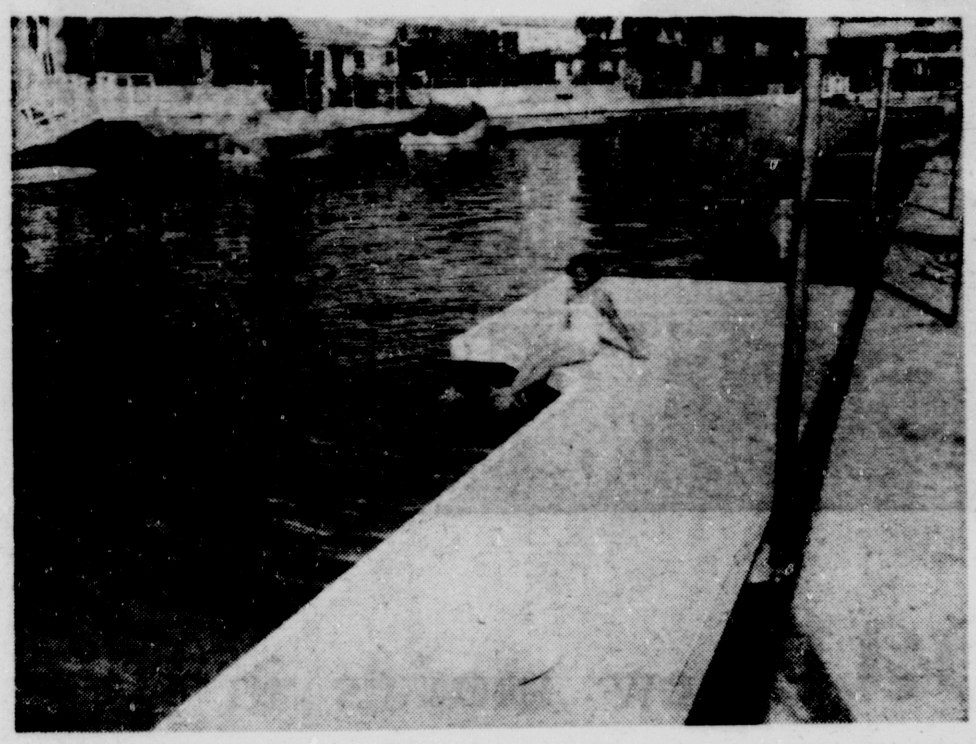
NEW Advance in Small Boat Mooring



tomorrow's marine docking float . . . TODAY!

LONG LASTING • unit assemblies. One of the most significant advances in small boat mooring in more than two decades, the UNICRETE floating concrete docking assembly provides a new and vastly improved mooring facility, outmoding all types of structures previously used for this purpose. The Unitfloat is virtually maintenance-free, being made of lightweight concrete, and will give good service for fifteen years or more.

STABILITY • Unit assemblies remain level, and little, if any, motion is evident due to normal chop or wave motion.

WORKING LOAD • Unitfloat assemblies displace 91 pounds per square foot of deck surface and have a dead-weight of 23 lbs. per sq. ft. The normal working load rating is 28 lbs. per sq. ft., with an over-factor of 40 pounds per sq. ft.

The float is available in three, four, six, and eight-foot widths, and may be joined together like dominos to provide any combination of walkways or fingers desired. Costly waterfront construction in installation is eliminated, with no painting required.
